 OF YOUR ELECTRIC DOLLAR
 GOES FOR TAXES!

Twenty-five cents out of every dollar you paid our company for good electric service in 1943 went for taxes. Year after year, the proportion grows larger. For 1943, our company's total tax bill was $2,647,000 — an increase of 25% over our 1940 taxes. Since the war began, other costs, too, of providing your electric service have gone up, but in spite of these increases, your electric rates are still as low as ever.

Like other electric companies over the nation, we are continuing to meet wartime demands for electricity, and supply all essential civilian needs as well.

Age Brings Bigger Ears And Broader Features

The ears get larger, the nose gets longer and broader, and the mouth gets wider as one grows older. The curious age changes in the dimensions of these facial organs, sufficient to change materially the appearance of the individual, have been established by Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, curator of physical anthropology of the Smithsonian institution, by measurements of thousands of men and women—white "Old Americans," Pueblo and other Indians, Eskimos and Negroes.

When one meets an old friend after a lapse of years, there is often a vague unfamiliarity about his features which cannot easily be explained. "You've changed somehow, but I can't say just where," is a common remark. Part of the change, it is probable, is due to these altered dimensions of the mouth and nose.

Among the white "Old Americans," says Dr. Hrdlicka, "both the nasal breadth and length increases during adult life, but the increase in breadth exceeds somewhat that in length. With the ears, conditions are reversed—they increase more in their length. Both the Pueblos and other Indians show similar conditions, and at least as pronounced. The length of the nose and the breadth of the ears increase with age but slightly; the nasal breadth, however, and the ear length increase decidedly."

The effects of age on the mouth, Dr. Hrdlicka pointed out, are even more marked than those of the nose.

Where Did Cabot's Ship Land? Opinions Differ

When one of John Cabot's crew of 18, peering through the mists at 5 a. m., June 24, 1497, joyfully shouted "Land, ho," what land was he looking at? That the North American continent was at that moment being discovered historians generally agree. But there has been learned disagreement on whether Cabot's ship, the Mathew, was putting in at the northern tip of Cape Breton island or somewhere in Newfoundland or Labrador.

Prof. Leo E. F. English, recently inspector of Roman Catholic schools; has now placed arguments before the Newfoundland Historical society which he says indicate that Grates cove was the disputed landfall.

Professor English claims to have found a large rock on the foreshore of this harbor on which are letters, undecipherable now with the naked eye. When a photograph of the letters was placed under a microscope, however, he said the letters were found to be:

IO COBOTO

Professor English contends that the Italian Cabot placed his Venetian name, Giovanni Caboto, on this rock. He explains that the RIC is no doubt part of the name Henricus, or Henry VII, the Tudor king of England, under whose patronage Cabot put out from Bristol, England, May 2, 1497.

British Guiana

British Guiana is about the size of England, Scotland and Wales—and has a population of 344,000.

The Mazaruni diamond fields are extremely rich but almost inaccessible. In one year—the largest thus far—214,474 carats of British Guiana diamonds were produced. That is more than $5,000,000 worth of sparklers.

British Guiana possesses one of the world's great natural wonders—Kaieteur falls. It is only 150 miles from Georgetown, the capital, but has been seen by few white men! The trip from Georgetown to Kaieteur and return takes seven days and is made by rail, river steamer, motor car and launch. The falls have a sheer drop of 741 feet, making them five times as high as Niagara!

Dutch Guiana

Dutch Guiana figured in one of history's most spectacular trades—and most spectacular blunders. In 1667 Holland gave New Netherland (roughly what is now New York state)—to England in exchange for the colony that is now Dutch Guiana. Tropical colonies were more valued at that time than those in colder climates—and South America seemed more promising than North America.

Today the population of New York state is about 75 times greater than that of Dutch Guiana—and there are 13 cities in the modern New Netherland which surpass Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana's largest city, with its 54,852 inhabitants.

Today Dutch Guiana figures again in history for the world's major supplies of bauxite, principal source of aluminum, are located there.

Golf Ball Speed

Getting hit on the head by a golf ball an instant after it takes flight from the tee easily might write "finis" to one's life. This is indicated by research which appears to prove that such a ball, if struck by an expert, is traveling at a speed of around 150 miles an hour! And the head of the club is moving at a better than 100-mile-per-hour velocity just before impact with the ball.

These findings were made possible by trick photography in which pictures of a driver in action were taken at one 1-100th of a second intervals. Bobby Jones was the test subject.

Plan 16,000 Acres In Rope Plants

Use Vast Areas to Overcome Shortage of Fiber.

WASHINGTON.—In order to relieve a threatened war shortage of manila and other fibers used in rope and twine, caused by Japanese seizure of the normal supply sources, probably 16,000 acres will be planted to the manila fiber plant in Panama and Costa Rica, by the end of this year, the Office of War Information said.

The importance of the fibers to the war effort was described by the OWI announcement.

"Without them," it said, "we could neither fight nor eat. Without rope no warship could race to battle against the Nazis and Japs; no cargo ship cross the seas with tanks and guns for the armies fighting Hitler. They must have hundreds of millions of feet of rope.

"Without binder twine there would be famine in the midst of bumper crops, because the crops could not be harvested. The farmers who grow the food we eat must have hundreds of millions of feet of binder twine for their harvesting machines."

Manila fiber can be obtained from the abaca plants 18 months after they are planted and they reproduce themselves annually, the report said. Another and slightly inferior form of rope and twine fiber is sisal, which normally came from the East Indies, and the Combined Raw Materials board reported a doubling of the sisal plant acreage in Haiti.

A third fiber source is hemp, which can be grown in many parts of the United States. The department of agriculture planted thousands of acres of hemp this year in order to obtain seed with which to plant hundreds of thousands of acres next year.

Youth 'Likes Funerals' So Shoots His Sister

MILLERSBURG, OHIO.—Holmes county juvenile authorities said that Manuel Maft, 17, an Amish, had admitted shooting his sister and trying to poison a brother because he "likes funerals" and "just wanted to shoot somebody."

The sister, Sarah, told officers that she had antagonized her brother by trying to persuade him to join the Amish church. She was recovering from her wound.

Manuel will be committed to the state bureau of juvenile research at Columbus for 30 days' observation.

Ancient Dwellings Are Unearthed in England

LONDON.—Ancient pit dwellings of a type never before unearthed in England came to light recently as a result of war activities.

Mrs. Stuart Piggott, who described the find to the Royal Archeological society, had with her an amber necklace which she said was probably made about 1500 B. C.

A pit dwelling was a miniature house in which a corpse was encased. None had been discovered in Britain before though it was known, this burial custom existed in Northern Europe in prehistoric times.

Old Silk Stockings Are Now Used for Bandages

PORTLAND, ORE.—An ingenious means of sending bandages to China is being conducted by the American Bureau for Medical Aid to China.

Women are asked to contribute old silk stockings. These are fumigated, then used as padding in shipments of other goods—thus saving cargo space.

With each 25 stockings which are unpacked at various Chinese points is found an illustrated folder, printed in English and Chinese, showing how the stockings may be used in bandaging various wounds.

'Ghost Ship' Has Prow Painted Like a Whale

CLEVELAND.—The coast guard station at Cleveland received a hurry-up call from a group of ore boats in Lake Erie about 18 miles off shore. The lookout on one of the freighters said he sighted a whale with a "harpoon sticking in it." Other freighters heard the call, moved closer and deck-hands exclaimed that a "ghost ship" was roaming the lakes. Coast guardsmen closed in. They found a sailboat, with its prow painted to resemble the gaping jaws of a monster whale, which had broken loose from its mooring.

She Filled Job Too Well

TOPEKA, KAN.—A girl service station attendant, hired to replace a man called to war, was fired. The manager said her language was too tough.

28 Guns Are Seized From Oklahoma Man

OKLAHOMA CITY.—Seizure of 28 guns and 138,089 rounds of ammunition from a German alien was reported by W. G. Banister, special agent in charge of the FBI here.

Whether the alien was arrested was not disclosed. Banister said the booty included 15 shotguns, 10 rifles and three revolvers.

In the good old days it was necessary for the high school boy and girl to know something about the numerator and denominator. Now all they are interested in is the carburetor.

A lady motorist whose car had swerved across a suburban street and crashed through a plate glass window was being questioned by the local traffic cop after the accident. "Surely," said the policeman, "on such a wide street as this, you could have done something to prevent this accident?"

"I did," the motorist assured him quite earnestly, "I screamed as loud as I could!"

Squirrels cut grain, dig gardens, start erosion and spread disease. Quick, sure, low-cost way to kill these pests is to use CYANOOGAS. One whiff of the gas it gives off kills squirrels instantly. Actual results in a series of official government tests showed 95% effective kill.

Just drop a tablespoonful of easy-to-use CYANOOGAS down the burrow. Or blow it down with footpump or knapsack duster.

Modern Times!

O Mother, may I go out to swim? Why not my darling daughter, you're so darn near naked anyhow, You'd look better in the water!

"You look worn out, dear," said the wife of a businessman as he sat down to dinner.

"I am. I've had a trying day. That office boy of mine tried that old gag about wanting the day off to attend his grandmother's funeral. I thought I'd teach him a lesson, so I said I'd go with him."

"Well, wasn't it a good ball game?"

"No. It was his grandmother's funeral!"

The new farm hand was awakened at 4 a. m. by the farmer, who announced they were going to cut oats.

Hand: "Are they wild oats?" Farmer: "No. Why?" Hand: "Then why do you have to sneak up on them in the dark?"

These jokes can't be so terrible — when I threw a sheaf of them into the furnace the fire roared.

Somewhere In The Pacific
March 30, 1944

Dear Mac and Bill:

Thought I had better write and let you know my new address, however, I am still getting the paper and I enjoy it just as much as ever.

I would like to be there to congratulate the boys on their swell basketball playing — they have really done swell this year.

I saw Judd Lee a week or so ago and had quite a talk with him about old times.

About all I can tell you is that I'm on a (cut out by censor) and like it O. K.

Your friend
H. A. Thornton.

Mare Island, Calif.
April 3, 1944

Dear Friends:

Just a few lines to ask you to discontinue sending the Gazette to my New London address. We are to be transferred again soon, and will send you my new address as soon as I have one.

I will really miss the paper, but guess the delay can't be helped. Thanks a lot for the many copies that I've received up to the present time.

Sincerely
Vern Wegner, R 2-c.

Oakland, Calif.
April 5, 1944

Dear Friends:

Will drop you a few lines to let you know that I am still receiving the paper and enjoy every issue of it.

I am now spending my time in the Oakland hospital with a bad case of sinus trouble. Landed in here the day after I got back from my furlough up home — which makes it about six weeks.

The weather here in the Bay area has really been splendid, which is unusual for California, as it usually rains or is foggy most of the time.

I suppose the farmers are getting out their farm machinery and going to work.

I surely want to congratulate the Kendrick basketball team on their successful season — was very glad to read of the final outcome.

Oh, yes, would like to have the address changed on my paper. My outfit left San Francisco for Fort Douglas, Utah, the middle of last month. I am to join them when I am released from the hospital here.

I want to thank you again for the paper and for changing the address. Until later, good luck and so long.

As ever
Sgt. Allen D. Neumann.

Pfc. Wayne Lind, who is with an armored division, now stationed in Texas, arrived home Saturday at noon to spend an 8-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lind, and other relatives.

Wayne says that Texas is quite a state, and judging from some parts of it, wonders why they ever bothered to take it away from the Indians and rattlesnakes. He states that some sections, however, are very pretty.

Wayne says travel conditions are not as bad today as on his previous furlough some five months ago, but are plenty tough at that, especially around the larger towns and in sections where military camps are located.

Wayne also said that so far as he knew no other local fellows were located anywhere near him — and he had failed to see anyone he knew.

Pfc. Harold A. Bartlett called at the Gazette office Tuesday afternoon, just before leaving to report to his outfit at El Paso, Texas, to thank all concerned for the paper. Harold, who has been stationed in the north for the past 27½ months, says he will be glad to see the Texas sunshine, even if a lot of the boys don't seem to think much of that state.

While here he visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Bartlett, and with other relatives here, at Lewiston and in Spokane.

He is with an anti-aircraft unit in the coast artillery.

He also said he hoped to run into some other fellows at least from this part of the country — as he hadn't seen a soul from near home where he had been stationed.

Frank Abrams, who was accepted for military service some three weeks ago, received notice this week to report at Spokane on Friday, April 28, for duty, and is now busy getting his affairs in shape to leave.

He has resigned his position with the Kendrick Auto Freight, as City clerk and as clerk of the Kendrick Commercial club. He states that his wife will go to Bremerton and make her home with her parents for the duration, and that he hopes to sell his home here before leaving.

Frank says he has made application for Army Air Corps, and hopes to be accepted by that branch.

"And The Rains Came"

There is an old but quite famous motion picture show entitled "And The Rains Came," and that same title could certainly be applied to the deluge that hit this section of the country Tuesday night and the early part of Wednesday morning — for it didn't rain — just fell in torrents for hours.

Potlatch creek immediately started to rise and is still forging upward as we go to press (Wednesday evening). However, unless considerable more falls soon it is not believed there is any flood danger.

No Other Work Shoes On Earth Are Made or Tanned Like...

WOLVERINE SHELL HORSEHIDES

NEARLY thirty years ago, WOLVERINE chemists perfected the famous triple-tanning process that makes super-tough shell horsehide soft and pliable enough to be used in the uppers as well as soles.

Today, that process is still a closely guarded secret and Wolverine Shell Horsehides are still the only work shoes with both soles and uppers of genuine triple-tanned shell horsehide. That's why Wolverines wear so long — defy scuffing, scraping, perspiration and barnyard acids so amazingly. At the same time, they're literally as comfortable as old slippers — even dry out soft and pliable after soaking. So, for almost unbelievable comfort combined with money-saving longer wear — be sure your next work shoes are Wolverine Shell Horsehides!
