KENDRICK HAPPENINGS OF TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mrs. Bertha Beard of Moscow arrived Thursday afternoon for a visit with her sister, Mrs. W. A. Perryman and family.

Frank Roberts of American Ridge is drilling a well on his place. The drill was set up the first of the week by George Broeke.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schupfer and baby drove to Moscow Sunday to spend the day at the home of the E. E. Bechtel family.

Amos Spekker of the Cameron community stated last week that he had never had a finer stand of beans than he has this season.

Harry Fowler bought a new Overland car from the Kendrick Garage company the first of the week.

There is a stalk of sweet clover growing in the back yard of the Gazette office that has reached a height of over six feet and is just beginning to bloom.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spencer spent the week-end in Kendrick at the Leith home. Miss Edith Dammarell and Clarice Leith returned to Moscow with them Monday morning.

Tom Bleivins and Velma Ameling each won a box of candy last Saturday, given by the new confectionery for the best name for the new firm.

Tom handed in the name of "Brooke Brothers," while Velma proposed "As You Like It."

Both names were adopted and the firm name is now "Brooke Bros." while below is the slogan "As You Like It."

Marden-Bailey Word was received this week of the marriage of Curtis P. Bailey, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Bailey, to Miss Josephine Marden of West Los Angeles, Calif.

The importance of beans as a money crop in the central Idaho region is causing farmers to grow them more extensively each year.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mielke returned last Saturday from a visit to their old home in Minnesota and with their son Henry in Chicago.

Henry is in the interior revenue service and is making rapid progress in his work, having received a number of substantial promotions since entering the service a few years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mielke returned last Saturday from a visit to their old home in Minnesota and with their son Henry in Chicago.

Joe Watts underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis at Moscow Monday morning. At last reports he was recovering nicely.

Many Hides Contributed

Idaho is credited with contributing 6,600 deer and elk hides to the leather trade for use of the armed forces as a product of the 1943 big game season.

The contributions by Idaho hunters amounted to nearly half the hides from all deer and elk killed in the state.

For the entire nation the number of hides donated to the armed forces was 238,362. Minnesota contributed the most, 61,000. Utah was listed as second with 55,500.

WHAT CAMERON FOLKS ARE DOING THESE DAYS

Harry Newman was the honor guest at a party Thursday evening given by the young folks of the community.

Creamery Meeting Instructive

The annual meeting of the Kendrick Co-operative Creamery, held Saturday of last week, was marked by a smaller than usual attendance.

The talks presented by the various speakers were interesting and instructive, and those present said the day was a profitable one for them.

The program of the meeting appeared in last week's issue.

INTERESTING PERSONAL AND LOCAL NEWS NOTES

Mrs. Walter McCall and son Bobby arrived home from Richmond, Calif., Wednesday, where they had spent the past two weeks visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hartung, and other relatives.

Mrs. Boyd Cook and son Lawrence were callers in the Paul Lind home Monday. Their home is at Lenore.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lind were visitors in the Paul Lind home Tuesday.

Louise Stenson of Spangell, left for her home Wednesday morning, after spending several days here visiting her cousin, Mrs. Everett Fraser and family.

Bob Fraser returned Saturday from Oregon, where he had spent the past several weeks.

Mrs. A. O. Kanikkeberg left for Astoria, Oregon, Saturday, upon receiving word her daughter, Mrs. Judson Lee, was critically ill in a hospital there.

Mrs. Milton Wilken was a Lewiston visitor Saturday.

Mrs. Kenneth Powell and children spent the week-end in Spokane.

Mrs. G. W. McKeever was a passenger for Moscow Friday.

Mrs. M. O. Raby was a Moscow business visitor Saturday.

Mrs. W. A. Watts visited with her son, Joe, in a Moscow hospital Tuesday.

CASH WHEAT PRICES DECLINE AT PORTLAND

Expanding new crop movement kept domestic wheat prices on the easy side during most of the week ending June 23, but declines were held to narrow limits.

The downward trend in cash wheat prices at Portland continued during the past week with most classes down 1c to 2c per bushel compared with a week ago.

Bid prices on the Portland Grain Exchange on June 23 showed: Soft white, $1.44; soft white (no Rex) $1.46; white club, $1.48; western red, $1.46; hard red winter, $1.44 per bushel, all basis No. 1 grade in bulk, 15-day shipment for coast delivery.

The San Francisco wheat market weakened with increased offerings from the new central California crop meeting slow demand. Trading was very slack and prices were generally down 5c to 10c per 100 compared with a week ago.

Receipts of cash wheat at Minneapolis were light during the week and still showed the effects of the embargo which was in force last week.

Damage from stem rust from present indications will be slight in Texas and Oklahoma. In western Texas, including the Panhandle, there is liberal sprinkling of rust but not enough to cause appreciable damage.

Winter wheat is ripening rapidly in the Ohio and lower Missouri valleys, with cutting beginning unusually early in Ohio and in southern Indiana.

Harvesting is well advanced in Texas and good progress was made in Oklahoma.

Plans for Fourth Now Complete -- Waiting Day

Plans are now complete for Kendrick's annual Fourth of July Picnic. The day will begin with a program of sports on Main street, cash prizes being awarded the winners.

At the conclusion of the sports program there will be an intermission of an hour and a half, the program being resumed at 1:30 with songs and a talk by a prominent speaker.

At 2:30 a baseball game is scheduled to the village diamond, with Kendrick meeting Gifford. Plenty of action should take place in this one.

At the conclusion of the ball game there will be an intermission until 9:00 o'clock, when the big dance will begin at the school house and will run until 12:00.

Last year there was a shortage of refreshment stands, due perhaps to stricter rationing -- but the concessions committee feels that this year there will be plenty of refreshment and amusement stands to care for all.

The complete program of the day will be found on another page in this issue.

Move To New Home Mr. and Mrs. Herman Travis and family are now settled in their new home, purchased from Harold Thomas, on the schoolhouse hill.

Norfolk, Virginia June 22, 1944

Dear Bill: Well, I made it O. K. but I'll only be here for the time being, so I guess it wouldn't do much good to send any papers. Norfolk is quite a town -- all you see is sailors.

The trip back here was much better than when I came home. The connections were much better and faster and the trains cleaner.

Just thought I'd drop you a line to let you know I made it O. K. I'll write again when I get a permanent address.

As ever --Tup-- (Eldon S. Baker)

Gowen Field, Boise, Ida. June 20, 1944

Dear Mac and Bill: Just a note to give you my change of address. I am still here at Gowen Field and have been terribly busy for the War Manpower Commission.

Sincerely Sgt. Neal Southwick Somewhere In New Guinea June 6, 1944

Dear Bill: It's been some time since you've heard from me. I don't know what you had to give the postal authorities to have them bring me a few copies of the paper -- but whatever it was, it worked. I can say that I've received more papers (four in number) the last two weeks than I have all told for this year.

Fay Heavy Taxes

The Washington Water Power company paid $9,531.42 in taxes on its real and personal property in its Latah county, Friday, June 23, according to W. H. Lucas, district manager for the electric service company.

Checks for the taxes, representing payment of second half taxes for 1943, were handed to Leola R. King, tax collector of Latah county Friday, by Mr. Lucas. Payment of the first half of the taxes for 1943 was made in December.

Eight other counties, Benewah, Blaine, Clearwater, Idaho, Kootenai, Lewis, Nez Perce and Shoshone, also received tax payment checks Friday, according to W. H. Lucas, Spokane, manager of the company's claim, tax, and right-of-way department.

Total amount of taxes paid the counties Friday was $117,797.48. The Washington Water Power Company's total real and personal property taxes for the nine Idaho counties for the year 1943 is $239,133.50. In addition to these taxes the company also annually pays more than $100,000 in other taxes to the state of Idaho.

Building New Warehouse

A crew, under the direction of Paul Lind, is busily engaged in the construction of more warehouse facilities for the Kendrick Bean Growers. This new building is being built directly across the street from their first building, near the Frank Crocker blacksmith shop, and will give them much needed shipping facilities on the railroad track.

For many years this institution has been crowded for storage and custom cleaning room, and it is felt that the new addition will provide the necessary facilities.

George Broeke, manager, stated that the institution had long felt the need of this building, but had hesitated, due to war-time shortages, to go ahead with its construction. However, increased requirements had forced their hand and the construction begun in order that it might be completed by harvest time.

Souvenirs On Display

We have on display at the Gazette office two Japanese mortar shells, a Jap soldiers shirt and a package of Japanese cigarettes. These items were sent to Jim Farrington by his son, Everett, U. S. M. C., and were taken at the battle of Cape Gloucester, in which he participated.

Everett wrote his father that he valued them highly, but wished them placed in the Gazette office for display.

Finds Thanksgiving Is Not of American Origin

Thanksgiving day is not the purely American invention we usually consider it, says Dr. F. J. Tschann, professor of European history at Pennsylvania State college. It's an old Roman custom, he said, and tradition with the ancient Greeks, Chinese, Japanese, Jews, and Germanic peoples too.

"All through the Middle Ages and even today the church has fostered the idea of thanking God not only on one day but every day," Dr. Tschann added. "The Puritans, however, renewed the idea of feasting."

Thanksgiving festivals were held in China a thousand years before Christ, while the Roman feast of Ceres and the ancient Greeks' feast of Demeter were closely similar in spirit, he explained.

The Jews have been celebrating Yom Kippur—Thanksgiving to God—for many centuries, and the Jews hold two harvest thanksgiving festivals each year. Other forerunners are the Germanic feast of the Harvest Home and the day of thanksgiving observed by the Norwegians on either the last Friday of October or the first Friday in November.

Citrus Fruits Help Combat Winter Colds

Increased intake of orange and grapefruit juice is advised by many doctors in combating winter respiratory colds.

The alkaline salts of citrus juices are very effective in restoring the normal alkaline balance of the body and in counteracting the overacid condition which many doctors agree makes our systems so much more susceptible to colds and influenza.

The citric acid in citrus juices, particularly grapefruit juice, keeps the blood cleansed and in a condition to resist colds, and when taken into the system "acid" fruits and foods become alkaline. Most doctors are agreed that the moment a cold or mild "grippe" or "flu" is contracted it is best to cut down on heavy and rich dishes, omit sweets and drink copiously of water and citrus juices. This will help cleanse the system, restore its normal condition and reduce danger of fever.

Before Dinner Bath Soothing

On cold and dreary winter evenings, when you come home from a long day of hard work, it often takes all the will power at your command to be a civil companion. Fatigue is the cause of many a display of temper, and certainly does not add to the popularity nor usefulness of any man or woman.

To recapture good humor and to get out of daily weariness, why not take a soothing warm-water bath? Five minutes in the tub—scrubbing and lolling—will usually do the trick. If 10 minutes are available, take a longer soak or spend the extra time stretched out on the bed. Get into some cozy lounging gown, put on a new make-up, run a comb through your hair, and you will not only be in the mood for dinner but will eat with gusto.

Wash away your troubles and the day's grime at the same time, and get the most from your dinner and the evening hours of leisure.

World's Greatest Oaks

An important discovery was made by an expedition of the U. S. forestry service, surveying the timber wealth of Central and South America—a "lost forest" of the biggest oak trees in the world, extending for miles along the interoceanic divide, within 50 miles of San Jose, Costa Rica. Some of the trees are 10 feet in diameter.

The survey revealed a greater variety of trees than anywhere in the United States, with as many as 100 species to the acre. A hitherto unknown species of vantage will be useful in building the Inter-American highway. Timber surveyed may go far to meet Europe's postwar demand, estimated at 7,000,000,000 to 10,000,000,000 board feet a year.

Wood Cure

In 1508 a wood "cure" for man's more serious illnesses was introduced by the medical profession of Europe. This wood, imported from Cuba and supposedly endowed with miraculous powers, was named "lignam vitae" or wood of life. A favorite of the courtiers, a pound of this healing tree was sold for seven gold crowns and two centuries passed before its medicinal value was questioned.

Today, however, this strong, water-resistant wood is used in substantial pulley sheaves, casters, wheels, stencil and chisel blocks, masthead trucks, and the bearings or brushing blocks used in lining the stern tubes or propeller shafts of steamships.

Banana Trade

The banana trade as we now know it is decidedly new. The first bananas to arrive in New York were brought there from Cuba in 1804. By 1830 occasional clipper ships were bringing small cargoes from Cuba and the Bahamas. This trickle gradually increased, but as recently as the Philadelphia Centennial of 1876, the bananas wrapped in tinfoil were sold as an exotic curiosity. It was not until the introduction of the modern refrigerated steamship at the turn of the century that the real banana industry was born.

Chileans Draw Dividends On School Investments

For more than six years a novel school construction program with a present record of one new school building a week has been giving Chileans a twofold return on their money. The plan enables citizens of this progressive South American republic to invest directly in schools as they might in any other enterprise and pays them a double dividend in cash and in a sound educational system for their children, through the operations of the federal Sociedad Constructora de Establecimientos Educacionales.

Each of the buildings is an attractive, efficient, earthquake-proof structure of brick, concrete or wood, with wooden construction predominating in rural areas. The design of the buildings stresses functionalism, with special attention given to safety, durability, hygienic conditions and interior planning for maximum technical and teaching efficiency. Every one of the buildings, the result of several years of study of model schools in other countries, is equipped with complete medical and dental facilities.

With its original capitalization of 210,000,000 pesos recently raised by law to 500,000,000 pesos, the Sociedad is preparing to better its present record of one new building a week. Three-fifths of its capital stock is underwritten by the Chilean government, while the remaining 200,000,000 pesos is offered for sale to the general public at 1,000 pesos a share. The Chilean peso is worth approximately five cents in United States money.

A minimum dividend of 8 per cent, for example, is guaranteed by law on their investment, one of the safest in the country. Moreover, the dividend is exempted from gross income taxes and from the Class 2 income tax of 14 per cent. In addition, the government accepts shares of the Sociedad in payment of inheritance and gift taxes, with a premium of 8.85 pesos added to the value of each share presented in payment of these taxes. As the assets of the Sociedad increase, the value of shares increases proportionately.

Method for Controlling Tuberculosis in Poultry

Tuberculosis in chickens can be controlled by selling the entire flock at the end of the first laying season if 1 per cent of the birds younger than 18 months and 9 per cent of the birds older than 18 months react to the tuberculin test, specialists advise.

These figures are based on tests conducted on a total of 3,000,000 pullets and older birds. There is no disadvantage in disposing of the ordinary farm flock at the end of the first laying season, since it has been found that hens lay an average of 30 per cent more eggs the first year than the second.

Valuable breeding flocks should be examined for evidence of tuberculosis by means of the tuberculin test. A diagnosis of the disease cannot be made on the basis of symptoms. Typically affected specimens should be taken to the local veterinarian for examination.

Observe Precautions in Keeping Medicine Chest

Keep the medicine chest out of children's reach, or keep it locked. Label all medicines plainly. Read directions carefully. When measuring medicines, remove the cork, wipe the neck of the bottle, measure the medicine, and wipe the neck of the bottle again before replacing the cork. Pour medicine from the side of the bottle opposite the label to keep the label clean.

Write on the label the date you bought the medicine and how it is to be used.

Keep poisons in specially shaped, dark bottles and use stoppers different from ordinary ones.

"Spring clean" your medicine chest twice a year and throw away old medicines. Liquid drugs evaporate. Pills and tablets deteriorate with age.

Prescriptions which have been used during an illness should not be kept indefinitely.

Cough at Floor

Whenever you feel a cough or sneeze coming on, turn your head away from other people, and cough down at the floor. The thousands of small droplets of saliva which escape from your mouth as you cough are thus thrown down at the floor, where they have little chance of getting on your associates, and especially into their mouths, to cause respiratory infections.

You have been taught to place your hand over your mouth when you cough or sneeze, but even if you were able to cover your mouth completely with your hand, so that no droplets or spray could get by it, you would still fail to protect your associates from your germs, because your hand becomes soiled when you cough on it, and almost immediately afterward you touch other people, or the things which they will touch. Thus, indirectly, germs are transferred from your mouth to someone else's mouth—or what happens more frequently—to someone else's hand, food, eating utensil or other object which will eventually reach his mouth.

Rayon Insulator

Acetate rayon yarn has replaced silk for insulating interior telephone system wires. The properties required for telephone central-office wire insulation are stability in electrical characteristics under varying atmospheric conditions and good aging properties. Experience has demonstrated the electrical properties of acetate rayon and its entirely satisfactory aging properties. The rayon covering is used today in the insulating covering of switchboard wires, switchboard cable wires and distributing-frame wires.

Fruit Pruning

It is safer to wait till late winter or early spring, when the danger of severe weather is past, before pruning most fruits. This is particularly true in the many home garden plots that are in the colder areas of the state away from the commercial fruit belts. Late freezes could ruin what fruit buds are left on the plants after pruning. If the pruning is left till later, then damaged wood and buds will be removed, and all the live buds, if necessary, can be kept to produce a crop.

Use Cornmeal to Clean Soot From Parlor Rugs

One of the first steps in extending the life of a rug or carpet is to keep it clean. During the winter months one of the chief hazards is soot from the stove or fireplace. While it is not difficult to remove, it calls for special treatment. Instead of sweeping or brushing, which tends to imbed the soil in the material, sprinkle the spot with cornmeal. Let it remain on the carpet for a few minutes, then brush it out. Repeat this treatment until the cornmeal brushes out clean.

Grease spots are often stubborn to remove from rugs and carpets, especially when allowed to remain for any length of time. Remove such spots promptly, using a grease solvent, such as carbon tetrachloride. Use the solvent on an inconspicuous part of the rug before attempting to remove the spots, in order to be sure that it does not affect the color. Then work from the outside of the stain in toward the center and repeat as necessary.

Candle wax spots can usually be removed successfully by first scraping off as much wax as possible with a dull knife, being careful not to injure the yarns. Then sponge with a grease solvent. If the candle was colored and a stain remains, try sponging lightly with a liquid made up of two parts of water and one part denatured alcohol. As a precaution against fading, test first on an inconspicuous part of the rug.

Only 1 in 100 would know!

We were going to ask a question of 100 people. But then we decided, why not just print the question? Probably not more than one of those people would know the answer.

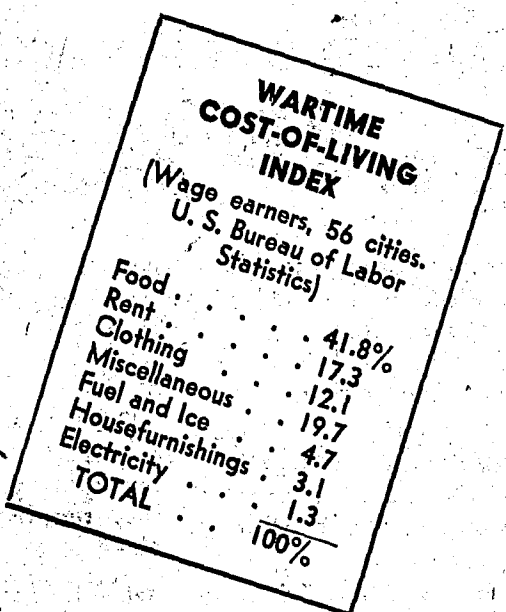

Here's the question: "What's the SMALLEST item and BIGGEST bargain in most family budgets?"

Here's the answer: "Electricity."

Look at the last item in these recent cost-of-living figures. Then remember how many household jobs electricity does.

Remember that electricity is still sold at low pre-war prices—remember that the average family gets about twice as much electricity for its money as it did 15 years ago—and you'll realize that there's no bigger bargain today!

(Of course, if you already knew all this, you're pretty smart. In fact, you're that one in a hundred!)

Why a Farmer Should Buy and Keep War Bonds

by Mark T. Buchanan
Acting Chairman, Division of Farm Management and Agricultural Economics
State College of Washington, Pullman, Washington

DURING the early stages of an inflationary period a farmer should talk like a pessimist and act like an optimist. He should extend himself by means of credit and take advantage of the rising price situation.

During the latter part of an inflationary period he should talk like an optimist and act like a pessimist. He should liquidate his debt and put as many inflationary dollars as possible into a fixed investment. No fixed investment is more satisfactory for this purpose than War Bonds of the United States.

In addition to laying aside present, easily obtained money to use when purchasing power has increased, there are several other reasons why farmers should buy and keep War Bonds.

Reserve for Needed Replacements and Improvements. Every farmer knows that his machinery and equipment gradually wear out and become obsolete. During this time when new machinery and equipment is difficult to obtain, he should lay aside funds with which to replace this equipment when it becomes more readily available following the war.

Prevent Inflation. This war is costing twice as much per year as the total cost of World War I. To the extent that the Government can borrow this required money from individuals out of savings of funds that otherwise would be available for living, inflation will be averted. That is why the Government is much more interested in selling Bonds to individuals than in selling them to banks.

Protection. This country and the war effort have been blessed with six successive years of phenomenal crop yields and agricultural production. If a penny is tossed every time, the probability of the seventh toss is still 50-50, heads and tails. Although the succession of good crop years does not necessarily portend crop failure to come, nevertheless crop failure is always something that should be considered possible. Money invested in War Bonds will provide protection for living expenses and capital during the difficult years.

Safe Investment. As a rule the paying off of the "mortgage" is a farmer's best investment. During the war years, however, many farmers have accomplished this, and are now seeking a safe investment for extra cash. No investment is safer than the Bonds of our Government. Not only is this investment a safe one, but the returns are attractive. Series E Bonds held for 10 years return interest of 2.9 per cent, compounded annually—in 10 years $4.00 for each $3.00 put in.

Patriotic Motive. Not to be forgotten is the fact that this war must be won. Farmers have more sons and daughters in the service per family than any other group of our population. We must provide them with the planes, tanks, guns, ships, and other materials necessary to speed their return home.

Tomato Hornworms Destructive

One of the most "beautiful" worms, if a worm can be called beautiful, is the tomato or potato hornworm. This large green caterpillar is marked with diagonal white bars on the sides and has a long, slender horn at the tip of its body. Many of us have thought that this insect would sting us with its horn if it were touched. W. E. Shull, extension entomologist for the University of Idaho, says that this insect is perfectly harmless as far as stinging is concerned and that apparently the only reason for its having such a formidable looking weapon is to frighten away its parasites and predators. We are all familiar with the use of camouflage for protective purposes by the army and navy. Most of their ideas have been obtained from examples found in nature. The tomato hornworm is so well camouflaged that unless our eyesight is very keen we often cannot discover a worm on the stem of a plant even though we see fresh signs of where it has been feeding.

The adult of the tomato hornworm is a large moth and is known by the common name of "hawk moth." The moth flies about in the late afternoon and evening, feeding on the nectar of flowers and has often been mistaken for a hummingbird.

Hornworms seldom become abundant enough to do much damage. However, one worm can destroy quite a large number of leaves on a potato or tomato plant. Dr. Shull says that probably the easiest method of controlling this insect is by hand-picking. When infestations become heavy, spray or dust with calcium arsenate or dust with pyrethrum.

The battle for the World is on!

NOW THAT the chips are down... now that our men are writing decisive history with their blood...

There can be no halfway measures for us.

The greatest battle in the history of the world must be matched by the greatest war loan in the history of the world.

That's what Uncle Sam says... the same Uncle Sam for whom your brothers and sweethearts and husbands are fighting and dying this very minute.

They, in the front lines, are throwing in everything they have.

We, behind the lines, must do the same.

Remember, this is the battle for the WORLD. Our world. And we've got to win it. That's why Uncle Sam expects every dollar, like every soldier, to do its duty.

Double Feature And Special
Friday and Saturday of this week another double feature is scheduled at the local theatre. First of these is "The Memphis Belle," a modern airplane picture, based around the famous flying fortress of that name and her crew, members of the Eighth Air Force in England.

The second offering is "Gilder-sleeve's Bad Day," a rollicking comedy starring Harold Perry, Freddy Mercer, Nancy Gates and Jane Darwell. The usual cartoon completes these evenings' entertainments.
On July 4th two separate shows are scheduled. The morning and early afternoon show is entitled "Headin' For God's Country." It is an Alaskan picture. The late afternoon and evening show is entitled: "Adventures of a Rookie." A cartoon and shorts will be shown with each.

PUBLISHED BY THE KENDRICK CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERY

PICNIC AT KENDRICK THE FOURTH OF JULY

Come out and meet your friends at Kendrick — you will enjoy the whole day.

Our Thanks To You

May we express our thanks to the people who left their work and attended our annual meeting, and to the others who contributed to its success in many other ways. Don't forget to call for your statements and dividend checks.

We will be Closed July 4th For the acceptance of Cream and Eggs. However, we will be open for the sale of Potlatch Chief Ice Cream in gallons and quarts, or larger amounts. No cones will be served here, as several stands will give that service.

Like ice cream? Try "Potlatch Chief." You'll find it the "tops."

"I've got a job down at the Hotcha Night Club as a featured entertainer."

"Do you go on with a band?"
"No. The police insist I wear more than that."

Private Doaks wanted to slip out of the barracks unofficially to see his girl. He went to the sentry to state his case.

"Well," said the sentry, "I'll be off duty when you come back, so you ought to have the password for tonight. It is 'Idiosyncrasy'."

"Idio what?"
"I'll stay in the barracks!"

Found: Woman's bag left in my parked car. If owner will pay for this advertisement she can have it. If she will tell my wife how bag happened to be there, I'll pay cost of advertisement. Telephone, Jefferson 8100 — the quicker the better!

DOUBLE FEATURE

"The Memphis Belle"

A dramatic picturization of that great American Battle force, the Eighth Air Force — and founded on the many missions of one of its most famous planes — "The Memphis Belle." It's a story of modern air warfare that is especially appropriate at this time, and in order to more clearly present modern day bombing technique — a portion of the film is in technicolor.

Second Feature

GILDERSLEEVE'S BAD DAY

A rip-roaring comedy, starring the Harold Perry of "The Great Gildersleeve" on the radio. He is assisted by Freddy Mercer, Nancy Gates and Jane Darwell — and does he have his troubles? My, oh my! You'll just have to see this one to understand Gildersleeve's many difficulties.

MORE ABOUT ARMED FORCES

Pacific Area are about the only ones that haven't been home on either leave or furlough since the war began. I guess Uncle thinks it would take too much traveling and time to let them come home — but guess that in time we'll be home.

I had the good luck to run across four of the home town boys and I can say it was really a treat. Last year, about the same time, we all met in another part of New Guinea. If I don't hurry up they are going to beat me to Tokio. If that should happen I know where to find them — at the post office step, eating an ice cream cone. If I get there first I'll have the ice cream — you can bet on that.

You folks at home may think that there is lots to write about. You're badly mistaken about that. A jungle is a jungle no matter where you are. Once you've told about the natives, coconuts, palm trees and the weather you've covered it all. The things you want us to talk about are things that the censor won't let go through, and our private life in the army isn't interesting, not even to us.

I'm still hoping to come home sometime in '45. I know it won't be before that. I still have two officers in the outfit that are ahead of me and none of the two have any idea when their name will be called. At the present time I have had twenty-seven months of overseas duty — and of that nine months have been spent in the combat zone. I guess that eighteen-months deal doesn't always work. The other home town boys that are in the Southwest Pacific Area have about the same or a little more combat time than I have.

Everything is as good as could be expected.

As ever Roy.

Dear Mac and Bill:
I should have written long ago and given you my change of address, but it has changed so often I hardly knew what it was myself. As it is the paper seems to go all over the base before I get it — several weeks late most of the time. In closing let me thank you again for sending it.

Sincerely,
Sgt. Orville Sparber

England Not Dated

Dear Mac and Bill:
Just a few lines to let you know I have been receiving the Gazette and I surely enjoy reading the letters the other boys write, also the basketball scores, etc., as well as all the other news. It was really swell to be able to read all about the games.

My address has changed slightly, so thought I ought to write and let you know.

Everything is going swell over here. We have fairly good living quarters and darned good chow.

I know this is just a note, but there really isn't anything to write about that the censor would let go by — so will close for now

Sincerely
Joe Langdon, S 1-c

Dear Bill and Mac:
Well at last I've gotten around to dropping you a line. I have been so busy here that I just neglected my writing.

The base here is out in the middle of the Mojave desert, so isn't a very pleasant place to stay. The dust storms we have here are terrible. The planes we have here are B-24s and it seems they never show up unless there is something wrong with them — at least they manage to keep us plenty busy.

I manage to get to Hollywood about once every two weeks. We work here ten days and then get a two-day pass, but sometimes we don't get them right on time. I like Hollywood and Los Angeles very well.

I get my paper on Monday and want to thank you for sending it.

Sincerely
Dale Miller.

Dear McCreary:
I'm certainly glad to receive your fine home-town paper over here. It is always at least a month old, but its news of a general nature is always up to date.

In the general nature line and up to date we have the Stars and Stripes. However, late war news on all the fronts and sports news in it are well sifted and censored. We also get the soldiers' paper, "Yank." I was able to get an issue of Time, News Week and Life, all at least a month to six weeks old. These, of course, are overseas editions, with small print and no advertisements to reduce weight.

The possibility of voting over the present set-up in the Idaho Primary looks lousy. I hope it's better by General Election time this fall.

Sincerely
Cpl. B. E. Groseclose.

Sgt. and Mrs. Emil Silflow of Camp Bowie, Texas, arrived Wednesday evening of last week to spend Sgt. Silflow's furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Silflow, and with other relatives and friends.

Harry Newman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Newman leaves today (Thursday) for Fort Lewis, Wash., where he will enter the armed forces.
