Milk Standard Can Be Raised by Flavor

Odor, Flavor and Grade Controllable by Farmer

Farmers are improving milk at a rapid rate. Grade A milk meets the standards of the certified milk of 30 years ago. In another 30 years the improvement will be even greater. Further advance will be aided or hindered by flavor of milk.

The producer can exclude abnormal flavors and odors from the milk. While it is generally known that wild garlic flavors the milk to such an extent that it will be objectionable, and usually rejected by receiving stations, there are other factors that should be watched.

A rye pasture is capable of imparting to milk very undesirable flavors. Silage and flavor-producing substances should be fed after milking, or not less than five hours before milking. Alfalfa, ladino clover, silage and certain weeds will give flavor to the milk. Common concentrate feeds may be fed before milking. Milk from cows late in lactation or those having mastitis should not be mixed with the regular milk.

Barny milk is one of the most uncommon of all these defects. It is also the easiest to do away. Proper sanitation, good ventilation and clean utensils will eliminate this trouble. If silage can be fed away from the milking barn it will aid in eliminating barny milk. Grains and dry hay in addition to the concentrated foods, are safe to be fed in the barn.

Agriculture In the News

Sheep's New Jobs.

Like many other farm animals, sheep are beginning to come into their own. The U. S. army has found that the sheepskin is the warmest of all furs and an up-to-date tannery has been erected in Australia to make leather of sheep pelts, a product formerly wasted.

The intestines of sheep are used to make surgical sutures. An expensive-looking fur is now being made from wool. The synthetic furs are said to be more durable than the genuine article. The chamois skin is made from the skin of sheep. A new wax is a wool product, as is also a vitamin D product.

New processes have been discovered to make wool shrink-proof, non-irritating, wrinkle-proof and sterilized.

Strange as it may seem, wool is not the natural covering for sheep. In the dark ages the wool was a kind of under-fur or down, but was developed by selected breeding.

Storing Potatoes

Cut, skinned or bruised potatoes should be culled out of those intended for winter storage to protect the remainder for long range holding. Vegetable specialists report potatoes dug during hot, sunny weather are likely to rot in storage unless picked up within a half hour.

Skinned or slightly cut potatoes can be "cured" if, immediately after digging, they are placed for 10 days in a very moist atmosphere as close to 60 degrees F. as possible, it has been found. A corky new skin will form that is a good substitute for the original, not only keeping out rots but also preventing the shriveling during storage. After the curing period, the same temperature should be maintained but only a moderately moist atmosphere is needed.

Cottonseed Handling

Cotton farmers and ginners can increase returns from both fiber and seed by preventing field and storage damage of the seed. The cotton should be harvested as soon as possible after the bolls open, should be dry when harvested and should not contain more than 12 per cent moisture when stored or ginned. Weathered and unweathered pickings should not be mixed. Well-dried seed should be stored in tight bins or metal containers.

BOB HOPE TELLS OF TRIP ENTERTAINING SERVICEMEN

Bob Hope, who dedicated a recent radio program to the Idaho War Fund and the National War Fund, is one of the most widely-traveled troupers of all the U. S. O-Camp Shows' thousands of entertainers.

One of his most recent trips, which he talked about in the broadcast, was an eight-week island-hopping tour of the South Pacific theatre of war. Together with Frances Langford and Jerry Colona, he entertained the G. I.'s in Hawaii, Australia, New Guinea, Guadalcanal, in the Marshalls and the Gilberts — and even further.

But long-distance travel is no novelty to this global thespian, who had previously been to the British Isles, North Africa, Sicily, Iceland, Canada, Alaska and the Caribbean to bring laughs to the servicemen. Altogether, Hope's Camp Shows' mileage amounts to well over a 100,000 miles — equal to four times around the world!

Bob Hope's fan mail gives a pretty clear indication of what it means to our men overseas to have Camp Show performers appear before them "in person," like the fighter pilot's letter that he reprints in his book: "I Never Left Home."

"To see you and all the rest brings a quick realization that America and all her people whom we love so dearly are really not far away, but right beside us, pulling for us all the time. That the good old U. S. is still 'cookin' with gas' right this minute, and the dreams we left behind us are more than dreams — they really exist."

"So you see how a laugh or two and seeing people from the States clears up our vision which gradually seems to get mixed up with blurred images of 'Jerry' fighters boring down on you with guns spouting flame and lead. With smoke in your eyes you see your buddy going down. Then Jerry throwing everything he can up at us with his ack-ack. Now and then hitting our boys. These and a million other impressions try to drive away our dreams and plans of the life we love back home. So, again, may I say many, many thanks to you for bringing us closer to the land we love."

"It's letters like that," Hope goes on to say in his book, "which prove there's something much more important than billing, Crossley, and breaking the house record in Denver. And the hundreds of your, unknown performers who are regularly touring with U. S. O-Camp shows all over the world, are returning much wiser people and much better performers than they were when they left the States."

Bob Hope knows how important it is for the morale of our fighting forces to give them a lift and a laugh now and then. That is why, in addition to traveling those hundreds of thousands of miles to do his share to "keep 'em laughing," he has contributed the royalties from his book to the National War Fund, to help support U. S. O-Camp Shows and the Fund's other war-related agencies.

Hope believes in giving for this purpose, because, he says, "dying is always harder than what we at home are asked to do. We can't give until it hurts, because it doesn't hurt to give money. Until a lot more of us realize what our men have gone through in planes and tanks, in landing barges and on foot in the jungle, desert and on the beaches, it's going to be tough to talk to the men coming back. And in the case of those who aren't doing all they should, it's going to be tougher to look them in the eye."

About Mustering Out Pay
A total of $474,500 in mustering out pay has been mailed to World War II veterans residing in Montana, Idaho, Nevada and Utah by the United States Army Finance office at Fort Douglas, Utah, since last February, it is announced.

Col. R. E. G. Ople, finance officer, in a report, stated that since February 4, 1944, payments ranging from $100 to $300 have been made to 2,227 honorably discharged veterans in the four states.

Mustering out payments, based on length of service and location of duty, are given to all honorably discharged veterans of the present war, except those eligible for retirement or those who left the military service under the over-age discharge provision to accept employment in essential industry.

Although soldiers now receive their initial payment automatically upon receiving final discharge army pay, Col. Ople declared that soldiers discharged prior to February 4, 1944, have two years in which to file claims for mustering out pay.

Veterans living in Idaho, Nevada and Utah must contact Col. Ople's office at Fort Douglas.

Chinese Co-operatives Produce
Chinese industrial cooperatives throughout Free China are now producing more than a score of articles for the Allied Expeditionary Force in the Chinese war theatre. This service to the Allied armies by the small Chinese cooperatives, is said to have solved an acute problem of supply, and to have relieved the heavily-taxed India-China transport service.

Before the cooperatives began producing for the Allied forces, all supplies had to be first shipped to India and then flown over the Himalayas, according to a report received today by Laurence E. Huff, county chairman for the Idaho War Fund.

The American committee, participating through United China Relief in the National War Fund, has reported that the Chinese cooperatives are producing for the Allied forces, shoes, overalls, belts, mattresses, beds, chairs, clothes cabinets, screens, desks, bed linens, cutlery, etc. Even plumbing equipment and buildings have been turned out the past year by the co-operatives.

Personnel Center
Designation of Fort Douglas, Utah, as one of the Ninth Service Command personnel centers — to process personnel inducted into the army or released from active duty — has been made by the War Department.

Planned Construction High

The Idaho Department of Highways spent $3,118,000 in contract obligations for construction and maintenance of roads in the 1943-1944 period to October 1, and has surveyed and planned for almost immediate construction after V-Day $4,500,000 in new and needed construction, Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen says in a dispatch.

All contract construction during the period was made at the request of the army and navy or with W. P. B. approval. He added that the department carried on an intensive seal-coating program in the period in order to rehabilitate existing surfaces and to keep the roads up to par for wartime traffic conditions.

The department, he said, has acceded to the request of the War Department to curtail all highway work not necessary to the war effort.

Of the 90 projects contracted for, seven were requested by the army or navy; 10 were W. P. B. approved access roads, five were for military routes and 16 were for roads serving important military or production areas. Twenty-five were seal-coating jobs and 22 were for stock-piling of gravel. In the campaign to keep the roads travel-worthy 826 miles of highway were seal-coated by contract and state forces.

In accomplishing the construction, the department operated on a personnel 39 per cent under the average employed in 1941; a reduction of over-all administration cost of 27 per cent and an increase in salaries to meet the increased cost of living of between 30 and 40 per cent.

The post-war building of Idaho and the great empire of the Pacific Northwest will depend on the freedom of enterprise — the freedom for men with vision and courage to build vast industrial plants and agricultural enterprises on the economic frontier of the nation.

Light Weight Gun

The Ninth Service Command Ordnance officer says that the "briefcase" sub-machine gun is a caliber .45 weapon which weighs less than nine pounds, is capable of firing 450 shots a minute, and costs less than $20.00.

Please Hold Your Bonds

A damaging impression is too widespread as to the Treasury's reason for making eligible War Bonds in the hands of individuals cashable directly by banks beginning October 2.

The new system was organized solely as a convenience for those, who, of sheer necessity, must cash their bonds. It is intended to make it possible for them to hold their bonds longer because their money will be at once available upon the actual occurrence of any dire necessity.

The government does not want War Bonds cashed! Those who cash theirs, except in extreme emergency, are unnecessarily hampering the war effort, and for every bond they cash, they or some fellow citizen must be paid two others — if War Bond drives are to be successful!

Clothing For War Refugees

A substantial cargo of used and new clothing has been shipped to El Shatt, Egypt, where approximately 25,000 Yugoslav refugees have found relief from Nazi brutality, the United Yugoslav Relief Fund of America, a member agency of the National War Fund, advised Laurence E. Huff, county chairman of the Idaho War Fund campaign.

Consisting of 11,782 pounds of miscellaneous clothing for men, women and children, the cargo is only the beginning of additional thousands of garments to be sent as soon as shipping space becomes available, not only to El Shatt, but also to other Yugoslav camps in Egypt and North Africa.

Pearl Harbor taught us a lesson. Keep remembering that lesson and buy those War Bonds!

Farm Woodlands Good Income Source

Most Wood Items
Can Be Homemade

Farmers make up one of the largest consumer groups for forest products. Construction and maintenance of farm buildings require 3 1/2 billion board feet of lumber annually, with another 2 1/2 billion going into boxes and crates. In addition, pulpwood requirements for cartons and bags, plus wagon wood stock, wood for farm machinery, and other uses take still more lumber.

Specific uses of forest products on farms include repair of farm buildings, repair of farm implements such as wagons, wood stock for wagon tongues, eveners, wagons, boxes, hayracks, tool handles, new buildings to house expanded crop, livestock and poultry production, fence posts and gates, and new buildings for replacing losses caused by tornadoes, fires and storms.

Marketing the fruit and vegetable crops only in 1944 will require some 190 million new baskets and hampers, 450 million berry cups, 50 million wirebound veneer boxes, more than 300 million nailed boxes and crates, and large quantities of paper and pulp products for wraps, liners, pads, bags and cartons. Additional containers will be necessary for other farm crops.

Increasing farm woodland production will help in meeting such marketing needs which are essential to the food production program, according to WFA, which reports that the many veneer mills, basket and crate factories, and pulp and paper mills look to the farmer for a major portion of their supplies of logs and bolts.

Limestone Will

Save War Crops

It has been estimated that farmers in the United States, excluding the arid and semi-arid areas where the natural supply of lime is adequate, could profitably use 35 to 40 million tons of ground limestone or its equivalent every year. This goal has never been approached. The nearest that American farmers have come to it was in 1942, when it is estimated that they used almost 21,000,000 tons. Of this, 18,971,000 tons, or about 90 per cent, was applied under the AAA conservation program. Owing to shortages of labor and transportation it is estimated that the quantity used fell off to around 16,000,000 tons in 1943. This year, it is hoped that at least 22,000,000 tons will be available.

The active ingredient of superphosphate is phosphorus, which government soil scientists say is the element of fertility most often deficient in corn belt and other American soils. While superphosphate, like other commercial fertilizers, has long been used on cropland, the need for supplying it to hay and pasture land has been less generally recognized. Yet tests have shown that seven 1,000-bushel carloads of corn or oats take from the land as much phosphorus as is in the plowed surface of the average acre. Ten 13-ton carloads of mixed hay, or half that quantity of alfalfa hay, carry away as much phosphorus as seven carloads of corn.

From the inception of the agricultural conservation program in 1936 through 1942, 4,049,000 tons of superphosphate (in terms of 20 per cent available phosphorus) had been applied in the continental United States under the AAA. Of this, 1,073,000 tons were applied during 1942. In 1936, the figure was 121,000 tons.

The estimated United States production of superphosphate, 20 per cent basis, was 5,353,000 tons in 1942. It increased about 20 per cent to 6,400,000 tons in 1943, and a further increase may be obtained this year.

Agricultural Facts

One hundred and fifty thousand farmers will be unable to contribute food to the nation's war effort next year because it will take all their time and labor to raise food for rats.

Count ahead four months and then back 10 days from breeding time to determine when sows will farrow.

Culling of broody hens and early moulting will save the farmers of America millions each year.

Weather Plays Varied

Role in War Theaters

Because the weather moves eastward the Germans have to guess what sort is coming to them from the Atlantic. That is why they risked establishing secret weather stations in Greenland and Spitsbergen. Some parts of the United States forecasts are secret to prevent the Germans from knowing what to expect.

The Japs have the edge in the Pacific. Their weather heads our way. The Jap aircraft carriers that attacked Pearl Harbor sneaked in under the clouds of an eastward moving storm.

The same weather may be friend and foe. The winter weather that freezes rivers and swamps making troop movements possible will require special lubricants for trucks and tanks, and shelter for troops. Rain bogs down trucks and heavy guns, ruins unpaved landing fields, and improves the water supply in an arid country. Snow is a big help to aerial observation and photography, but makes it easier for enemy planes to spot the tracks of trucks, tanks and guns on the ground.

Cloudy weather not only screens bombing raids and hampers anti-aircraft fire, but also makes formation flying difficult and hides the target. Fog favors surprise attacks and screens targets on the ground. At the same time it hampers plane landings and takeoffs, restricts naval patrols and submarine activity.

Food Rations Differ

Among Russian Workers

Food rations are highest for manual workers in Russia and fall step by step for those in other categories, according to a report on food rationing and supply issued by the League of Nations and distributed in the United States by the Columbia University Press.

Russia divides consumers into four categories for purposes of rationing with manual workers at the top followed by office workers, adult dependents and children under 13 in that order.

Rations are honored in full in North America, United Kingdom, Sweden and Switzerland and as a rule in Germany, but not in occupied countries, the report says.

Men on the average require more calories than women, the report says, showing what the requirements are for various types of work from that of a shoemaker to the energy consumed by a farm laborer.

Muscular activity requires a basic allowance of 2,400 calories net, the report declares. The League of Nations health organization gives the following average supplement: light work up to 75 calories per hour, moderate work 75 to 150 an hour; hard work 150 to 300 and exceptionally hard work 300 calories and up.

Humus Unlocks Soil

Humus plays an important part in the chemical reactions which take place in the soil. It helps unlock from the clay, the mineral part of soil, elements which the plants need but cannot get without the aid of humus. Constant renewal and building up of humus content should be carried on and one of the best ways to do this is by making a compost pile, through which all plant debris and other organic waste matter may be transformed into humus.

Place the compost pile in a secluded corner. Shrubs may be used to shield it from view. The plant material to be decomposed should be put down in layers, with thin layers of soil between. A few handfuls of lime and complete plantfood should be sprinkled in the plant material as it is put on the piles. A small quantity of decayed material or manure scattered through the pile will hasten decay. The compost pile should not be allowed to dry out.

Grass Pasture

A good grass pasture is the easiest way to feed birds not under confinement. As a temporary early pasture for poultry, try a combination of oats, rye grass, and rape. It makes an early rapid growth and is high in feeding value. The recommended rate of seeding per acre is 1 1/2 to 2 bushels of oats, 12 pounds of rye grass, and 3 pounds of rape. The rape seed will have to be sown separately because it is too small to mix well with oats and rye grass in the usual seeding methods.

For hot, dry weather or midsummer pasture, use the following mixture per acre: 1 1/2 bushels oats, 6 pounds rye grass, 3 pounds redtop, 3 pounds timothy, 3 pounds orchard grass, and 4 pounds sweet clover or 2 alsike.

Regenerate Land

Hand-planted forest trees grown in nurseries are a means of regenerating land on which there are no natural seed sources. Hand planting is a necessary adjunct to forest management, but not the means of providing successive forest harvests on a broad commercial basis for the future. Man can never hope to compete with Nature as a low-cost producer of young trees—he can use nursery stock to a limited extent to bring certain types of land back into production.

Millions of seedlings are raised and planted each year by both public and private agencies. Costs for hand planting range from $6 to $12 per acre. Ordinarily, at least 60 per cent of the trees planted will survive.

POWER POOL CAN SERVE IN PEACE AS IN WAR

"One thing we fellows in the armed services are all interested in is getting back home to civilian life, a job and the opportunity to prosper by our own initiative. To me, that means private enterprise. Government and private business should work together in peace as in war for the benefit of all the people. They're doing just that in the Northwest Power Pool, where federal, private and municipal electric systems are interconnected, their power resources pooled, without any one group dominating. That kind of a working set-up can mean a lot to us fellows when we return—an industrially prosperous Northwest, jobs and opportunity for all with free enterprise preserved."

TIGER TALES

PREPARED BY JOURNALISM CLASS OF KENDRICK HIGH SCHOOL

Football
 Troy rolled over Kendrick last week by a margin of 51-0. Shifty Dyer, Trojan quarterback, was their offensive sparkplug.
 In the second quarter the Tigers got into high gear and three successive first downs on a line plunge by Kanikkeberg and a series of brilliant passes by Fry brought the Tigers down to the Trojan's 12-yard line, when the half ended, with Kendrick threatening to score.
 There were three minor injuries in the Kendrick lineup. Easterbrook and Millard suffered bruised noses and Miller twisted his knee after stopping a big 210 pound Trojan tackle for three-quarters of the game.
 The Trojans come to Kendrick Friday of this week for a return game. This time we expect it to be a different story, as McCall, fullback, has recovered from a broken nose and will be back in the lineup.

"K" Klub
 The boys with "K" letters have reorganized a "K" Klub, which has been idle for two years. Officers elected were: Walter McCall, president; Jordan Kanikkeberg, vice-president and acting secretary-treasurer.

 When the Commercial club held their meeting Monday night the girls of Home Ec. II class prepared and served the dinner. The menu was as follows: Meat pie, fresh lettuce and tomato salad, hot rolls, peach up-side-down cake and coffee.
 With profits made from these dinners the girls intend to increase the present bank account enough to buy either drapes or venetian blinds for the Home Ec. room.

Science Classes
 The Science room has been equipped with tables for individual experiments in Physics and Biology classes. Almost all new equipment has been purchased to carry out these experiments.

The aquarium has arrived and will be set up next week. The U. of I. is donating the necessary material.

The customer proved most exacting and the clerk was growing impatient.

"Now, are you sure this is genuine crocodile skin?" the customer inquired, critically examining the handbag.

"Quite, madam," was the reply. "You see I know the man who shot the crocodile."

"It looks rather dirty," remarked the customer.

"Yes, madam," replied the clerk gently. "That's where the animal struck the ground when it fell out of the trap."

Mrs. Nuwed said to her husband: "Darling, will you loan me $20.00, and only give me $10.00? Then you'll owe me $10.00 and I'll owe you $10.00, and we'll be straight."

Australia
Sept. 19, 1944

Dear Mac and All:

The Kendrick Gazette has been coming through regularly and it is indeed a pleasure to read all the news from the home town and old friends.

My work is about the same. I was on an "outside detail" for two weeks for a change of duty; but am back on the ward again — now taking care of asthma cases. This is easier, but quite interesting.

Three months ago I was put on an isolation ward to take care of a patient who had tuberculosis and pneumonia. I worked on the ward and took care of him, plus what else I had time for. He was an excellent patient, but the two diseases too much for him. When he passed away they took me off the ward for a change in detail. He was my first patient to die since I've been in this work.

Lately I've been having a lot of visitors and going out on liberty lots. The officers here are very good about letting me have special liberty.

My little brother was here for several days. We had many enjoyable liberties together. At the same time he was here I met Don Jones of Kendrick, and we had a few good talks. He was sent home a little while after I met him. I also met a lad from near Moscow, who I knew quite well.

Several of my buddies found me out here, too. Eight fellows who used to be stationed here came out to see me. What enjoyable times and liberties we had! Also, two of the boys I worked with in Farragut, Idaho, found me here. Two of my ex-patients looked me up, and we enjoyed a few liberties.

Right now I have one of my old friends from Farragut here as a patient. It is a pleasure to be able to take care of him and visit with him. Too, one of my ex-patients from the same place is a patient here again. Enjoyed seeing them and being their cormsman again.

We are still enjoying nice weather here. It will soon be too hot, but the last two days have been perfect.

In closing, let me thank each and every one for the paper. Let me hear from you!

May God Bless you at all times is my most sincere prayer.

Always
Lester C. Slead, Phm. 3-c

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fry have received a letter from their son, Dick, saying he was in the hospital at Camp Blanding, Fla. He gave no hint as to the nature of his illness, but said he hoped to be home soon.

Youth Center Plans Underway

Plans for a youth center are fast taking shape. Tuesday evening a committee from the Commercial Club met with Rev. Murray and a committee from the church board to consider the needs of a place where young people can assemble for recreation.

Ross Armitage and B. E. Markham were named to direct and organize the group, with the following council to assist when necessary: Mrs. W. B. Deobald, A. O. Kanikkeberg, Rev. Roy Murray and Mrs. W. L. McCreary.

The Methodist church basement has been offered as a place to hold their meetings, the first of which will be Sunday evening, Oct. 22 from 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock.

The plan in mind is one which will give the young people an opportunity for self-expression. This will be their organization and they will make their own laws and rules. Music, games and refreshments and a place to get together is what they are asking.

Old Pictures And Paper

Tony Kirchknopf brought to the Gazette office last week a copy of "The Kendrick Times," dated October 27, 1894 — Volume 1 No. 9; Peter and Nicholas Triesch, editors and publishers. The paper is very well preserved and shows but little "yellow" age. It was found in a trunk that belonged to his mother, Mrs. Susan Carr, Cedar ridge pioneer. Tony says he is unable to account for the saving of that particular paper, nor can we, after reading it, assign any reason.

He also brought in a picture of the big train wreck of 1900, which later, complicated by the Potlatch reaching flood stage, sent the water racing through the streets of Kendrick and all but washed away the town.

Anyone wishing to see the paper or picture is welcome to do so, but we will not put them in the window, due to light damage which might occur.

Returned Missionary Will Speak

Rev. W. W. Patterson, missionary, who escaped on the last boat to leave Soerabaja, Java, before the Japanese took over, will describe events of the battle of Soerabaja, Saturday evening at 8:00 p. m. at the Full Gospel Church, Kendrick.

Rev. Patterson, his wife and three children escaped from Java early in 1942, and when the voyage was almost over, they learned their ship had been the last one to get through safely. Rev. Patterson was the missionary who officiated at services for officers and men who fell at Soerabaja and claims that "fifth columnists" were responsible for the heavy loss of life.

There will be special music by the Patterson family, singing in the native Malay and Javanese tongues.

Rev. Patterson is preaching this week at the Prayer League Tabernacle, Lewiston.

WOLVERINE SHELL HORSEHIDES

Work Shoe Commandos Fighting Fatigue and Hard Service on Farm Front and Factory Front

"FIGHTIN'" shoes is right! It's actually amazing the way Wolverines stand up against scuffing, scraping, perspiration and barnyard acids. They'll fight it out with the hardest kind of service and win — give you months and miles of extra wear that cuts your work shoe costs way down. . . . Even more remarkable is the way Wolverines fight foot fatigue with uppers so soft and soles so flexible you couldn't work more comfortably in old house slippers. They never change, either, even dry that way after soaking. Come in, let us show you.
