All butter is not alike. Various lots vary in type and intensity of flavor. People also vary in their likes and dislikes of flavors in the butter they buy. To enable these people to purchase the butter they prefer, there has been evolved in the United States, over the years, a system of grading into which all commercial butter is classified. All butter passing through these markets in carefully graded by experts in line with known consumer preferences for texture, flavor and aroma. There are more than 30 distinct flavors recognized by butter judges, and each must be taken into due consideration in arriving at the final score. We strive to make the very best grade of butter according to the experts' judging and our customers satisfaction. This can only be done with the cooperation of you farmers. Keep cream in a clean, cool place, as good cream brings you better returns. You will be helping yourself, as well as us, by bringing your cream in often.
