Break Ground For Pool

Tuesday morning work began on the clearing of ground at the rear of the Village park in preparation for the construction of the Living War Memorial Swimming Pool, with Jack Kuykendall in charge of the brush clearing and tree cutting work.

There have been those who doubted that this project would ever be put through to completion — but this action should remove those last vestiges of doubt.

Frankly, there is not yet enough money in the fund to complete the project — but Commercial Club members know it is here and feel that area residents will donate enough more to see completion this spring.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

ART: "Saw you at the movies last night, Judge. That was quite a weekend that alcoholic went through, wasn't it?"

OLD JUDGE: "Sure was, but I'm afraid most people won't really understand it."

ART: "What do you mean, Judge?"

OLD JUDGE: "Simply this. That poor chap was really a sick man...not just a drunk. Studies by famous psychiatrists and the medical profession show that alcoholism is not caused by a craving for alcohol...it is usually the result of some deep-rooted social, physical or emotional condition. If that fellow had not turned to alcohol for escape, he would have turned to something else."

ART: "Are there many that get in that condition, Judge?"

OLD JUDGE: "Fortunately not, Art. Scientists at a great university have stated that approximately 95% of the people who drink do so sensibly. Only 5% are immoderate at times. In that 5% is the small number known as alcoholics. And the beverage distilling industry which does not want a single person to use its product immoderately, is cooperating fully in the solution of this problem."

CASH WHEAT HOLDING AT CEILING IN PORTLAND MART

An extremely active export and milling demand for wheat continued the leading factor in domestic grain markets and served to keep the general tone strong for all grains, according to reports to the Production and Marketing Administration from the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Old crop wheat futures at the important midwestern markets remained frozen at the O. P. A. maximums. Supporting influences in the market were little changed from a week ago. Consumers were unable to acquire sufficient supplies of wheat. Additional sales of flour to the government assured mills of near-capacity production for some time to come. Medium to heavy snow covered much of Kansas and Nebraska, giving much needed moisture as well as protection to winter wheat. As in wheat demand for other grains continued strong, and prices remained against ceilings. Cash wheat bid prices for ordinary qualities held unchanged at Portland for the past week, while asking prices were at full ceiling. A broad demand continued to prevail. Mills, exporters, elevator operators and feed manufacturers, as well as the C. C. C., were all in the market for their current needs. Lack of sufficient box cars continued to hamper the free movement of wheat and other grains to terminals and this is handicapping operations of all classes of trade. Relatively heavy receipts of about 1,320 cars of wheat at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals, of which Portland had about 585 cars, principally represented deliveries on earlier sales for which cars had been ordered for some time. Some growers are reported showing a tendency to wait until after the first of the year before disposing of remaining supplies of wheat. Little wheat was reported being sold on a prompt delivery basis, with most sales on a "to arrive" basis, at ceiling prices at time of delivery, shipment when cars are available. Trade reports indicated Pacific Northwest crop conditions were about normal for the season of the year.

Bid prices as posted on the Portland Grain Exchange showed: Soft white, soft white (no Rex), white club, western red and hard red all at $1.64 per bushel, in bulk, basis No. 1 grade, 15-day shipment, coast delivery.

The San Francisco wheat market held firm, reflecting the continued scarce offerings and keen demand. Ceiling prices prevailed for all types and qualities. Trading, however, was quite slow due to insufficient supplies. Bay region dealers continued to comb central California producing areas for additional offerings but with stocks reduced to unusually low levels, growers generally were unwilling to make additional sales at this time. Shippers in other states also were offering considerably smaller quantities of wheat than earlier in the season, although central California dealers were bidding full ceiling price, f. o. b. shipping points.

The cash wheat market at Kansas City was nearly at a standstill with only an occasional sample reaching the trading floor. Full ceiling prices plus all earned markups governed all transactions. Arrivals were the heaviest in many weeks, and represented deliveries on contracts of long standing. The nine principal southwestern markets received 2,783 cars for the week, compared with 2,755 cars the previous week.

Trade in free wheat on the Minneapolis cash market all but disappeared during the past week. Receipts practically all were applied on "to arrive" contracts leaving little for free sales. Transactions posted during the week therefore, were almost entirely for later deliveries. These contracts were readily made at ceilings and in some cases included an extra merchandising markup. "To arrive" tie-in sales with oats were frequent.

The condition of winter wheat is reported good in all areas except the Great Plains, where more moisture is needed. In the more northern sections, wheat is well protected by snow cover. Some damage to wheat was reported done by winds in north central Montana.

Turbulent Ten Years Closing

As the dwindling days of 1945 drop off the calendar like autumn leaves the most turbulent decade in history draws to a close. Even before 1935, serious world troubles which led up to World War II had developed, but the events of that year were undoubtedly of prime importance in setting the stage for the great conflict of 1939-45. Late in 1935 Benito Mussolini, then rated Europe's number one dictator, beat his hairy fists on his hairy chest and boasted from his balcony that Italy wasn't afraid of anybody, that she would prove her greatness and fulfill her destiny. To prove the point he picked a fight with Ethiopia. Of course brave Benito was not unmindful of the fact that Haile Selassie's warriors had virtually no guns, no planes, and could hardly be referred to as an army. Yet, no one made effective efforts to stop him for the nations failed to realize then that his triumph would be, and actually became, a world catastrophe. Seeing how easily his fellow dictator got away with aggression, Adolph Hitler took the cue. In 1936 his troops seized the Rhineland. Spain's civil war broke out in that same year — hardly by coincidence. Austria was smothered in 1938, then Czechoslovakia and Poland — and then World War II was on. The world has paid a frightful price in lives and property for its indifference to the aggression of 1935 and the years following. But the cost will not be in vain if the world has learned the necessity of stamping out small conflicts before they can grow into a world conflagration.

Egg Prices Go Down
Retail ceiling prices for top grade eggs will be decreasing for the next three months, Harvey Guertin, district director of O. P. A. states.
They dropped two cents a dozen on December 27, three cents a dozen January 3, 1946, and will drop another four cents a dozen during the period January 10 to 16. The decline will then continue at a weekly rate of at least one cent per dozen for the next several weeks.
The drop in egg ceilings at all distributive levels is brought about by O. P. A.'s seasonal schedule of egg prices. These prices go up during periods of slow production, reaching their peak in October and continuing at the high level until the latter part of December, then decline during the late winter and early spring as eggs become more plentiful. The total decrease in retail ceiling prices of the best eggs, from the period December 26 to early March of this year, will amount to about 20 cents a dozen.

Take Care Of Your Tires
The end of tire rationing on January 1 does not mean that efforts to conserve tires ended also, Harvey Guertin, district director of the O. P. A. states.
Although production of tires has increased sufficiently to allow the removal of tire rationing, there will not be an ample supply immediately to meet all requests for tires. There will be many who will have to wait to get their tires.
For many months it will remain important that all automobile and truck owners continue to do everything possible to avoid excessive wear and tear on tires. Since farmers and other occupational users of automobiles have had preference in obtaining tire certificates under rationing, most farmers probably will find their tires adequate to tide them over for a considerable period if they take care of the ones they now have.

Sugar Allotments
Allotments to industrial users of sugar generally will be continued at the same levels for the first quarter of 1946 as during the fourth quarter of this year, OPA says.
At the same time it announces that sugar stamp No. 39 will be validated for consumer purchase of five pounds of sugar on January 1, 1946, and will expire April 30, 1946. Sugar stamp No. 38 expires December 31, 1945.
The civilian sugar allocation for the first quarter of 1946 recently announced by the U. S. D. A., is not sufficient to permit increasing rations to various types of users.

Market your products the "Co-operative Way." It pays!

This story is told of a university professor, famous for his absent-mindedness:

About 2:00 o'clock of a recent morning the telephone rang. Climbing out of bed he made his way to his desk in the library and lifted the receiver. "Hello," came a voice, "Is this one, one, one, one?"

"No," answered the professor, "it is eleven, eleven."

"Oh, pardon me," said the party at the other end of the line. "Wrong number. Sorry I disturbed you."

"Oh that is all right" replied the professor, "I had to get up to answer the telephone anyway."

"Grandpa, why don't you get yourself one of them hearing devices advertised in the papers?"

"Hell's bells, son, I'm hearing more now than I can understand. What do I want with one of them things?"

In speaking of Okinawa he said the climate was most pleasant, being moderate. It sometimes grew quite hot in the daytime, but always was cool enough at night to require a blanket or two.

Lt. Tschantz says to tell local people not to worry if they do not hear from their sons regularly, or if the boys in service complain of their failure to write, as the heavy troop movements have disrupted the usual communications flow. The men, he says, are well fed and cared for, and there is no reason to worry about them.

PHM 3/c Lester C. Slead, Juliaetta, arrived home December 26, after almost three and a half years of navy service.

PHM. Slead entered the navy on June 30, 1942, and was sent to San Diego for his boot training. Following this 90-day period he was transferred to Seattle and then to Farragut, Idaho, where he spent eight and a half months. From this station he was sent to a hospital unit in Brisbane, Australia, serving here 15 months. From Brisbane he was transferred for temporary duty to the Australian ship H. M. A. S. Manoora, aboard which he spent two months, being in charge of a surgical team, assisting doctors in operations, administering blood plasma and morphine. While aboard this ship he took part in two invasions, Tarakan and Borneo — and he says that the Australians are real fighters, neither giving nor asking quarter.

At the conclusion of this tour of duty he was transferred to the U. S. S. Rocky Mount, a communications ship, where he served for just one month, then was transferred to the U. S. S. L. S. T. No. 580. Aboard this ship he concluded his navy duty, visiting while on it Leyte, Samar, Manila, Subic Bay, Batangas, Finchaven, Holinda, Yokahama and Tokyo.

At most of these ports he was able to get shore leave and so saw considerable of the destruction of war. Lester says that Manila is in the worst state, the Japs having wrecked, burned and looted in an orgy of destruction that almost surpassed imagination. Next in line from point of damage was Yokahama — but he wastes no sympathy there.

PHM Slead returned home aboard the U. S. S. Saratoga, of which Don Dammarell is a crew member, a fact which he did not know until he reached home.

For the present he is making his home at Juliaetta, and visiting here and there with relatives and friends — a "course of duty" which he is very thoroughly enjoying. He plans on entering the U. of I. next fall.

Lester wishes to thank all concerned for the paper. He says he received it quite regularly during the war, but at its conclusion the mail service got progressively worse instead of better.

He wears the A. T. D. Ribbon, Philippines Liberation Ribbon and Asiatic-Pacific Ribbon and one Battle Star. For some reason the Australian commander failed to turn in his records to the Americans, so Lester lost two of the Battle Stars to which he was entitled.

In speaking of the Australians he says he likes them, and has no complaint on the conduct toward the Yanks. He says there is but one point of friction between Aussies and Yanks, and that was the fact that the Yanks had more money to spend, hence could take the girls to places beyond the pocketbooks of their Australian comrades in arms.

Lester added to the Gazette collection a 1-Guilder Dutch East Indies Bank Note, which he says has an actual value today of about 50c. It is not "invasion money" but of regular issue and in use today.

S/Sgt. Frank B. Arnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Arnett arrived home Monday at noon, following many months of service.

We have just glimpsed him, so as yet can give no details.

Pfc. Sidney and Allan Johnson, paratrooper sons of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnson, Kendrick, were home for a few hours Saturday, returning to Fort Lewis by car that evening.

Sid and Allen were returned to the states some ten days ago — spent four days sitting on a transport in Elliott bay, then finally got to Fort Lawton, Wn., and then Fort Lewis, from which point they drew a 40-hour pass, and used it for that "quick visit home."

The boys returner home for keeps Tuesday evening, bringing with them their honorable discharge papers. We hope to learn something of their activities in New Guinea, the Philippines and Japan in time for next week's issue.

ARROW HAPPENINGS

Harry Smith has received word that his son, Pfc. Edwin Smith, was in a hospital at Albany, New York, suffering from heart trouble.

John Groseclose is back in school again. He had been quite ill with an ear infection, following an attack of flu.

The Mike Schroder family, Harry Smith and daughters Lois and Louise, Bonnie Groseclose and George Wilson attended the basketball game at Lapwai Friday night, Kamiah meeting Lapwai.

Donald Baldwin, Orofino, spent the week-end at the Ed. Groseclose home.

A week ago last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Albright entertained a group of relatives and friends at a dinner, announcing the engagement of their daughter, Peggy Jean, to George Stedman.

Relatives have heard from B. E. (Gene) Groseclose in Germany, saying he was now a civilian and has been employed over there, and expects to be there for another six months before coming home.

Lewis Berinet, Spokane, spent the New Year's holidays visiting Donald Schroder.

Ansel Huxtable of Genesee has been visiting at the H. O. Woodruff home.

Mrs. Otto Wagner has been quite ill with flu. She is a sister of H. O. Woodruff, and visiting in his home.

George Wilson and Scotty Hallett spent the New Year holidays at Kennewick, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Emery Wilson and Bertha Rich of Lewiston visited at the Ed. Groseclose home Sunday.

The Howard Wunderlich family of Orofino spent New Year's at the Ed. Groseclose home. Howard and Ed. celebrated the day by butchering a hog. Howard was not feeling well and we hear he is now down with the flu.

LINDEN

In spite of the extremely stormy day people attended the telephone meeting Saturday afternoon. Addison Alexander was elected president; Arley Allen, vice-president;

Six to 6½ inches of snow fell Monday and Monday night, which added to what was already on the ground, gives us a nice, thick coating.

First Buttercups

Patty Tout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doy Tout brought the first buttercups of the season (at least so far as we know) to the Gazette office Wednesday morning. She said she found them on her grandmother's farm (Mrs. Amelia Riley) Sunday, but this was her first opportunity to bring them in.

They are in full bloom, and no "runts" either.
