Certified Seed Growers Listed

Of interest to farmers in this area is announcement that a book issued by the Idaho Crop Improvement Association of Boise, listing certified seed growers, will be ready for free distribution at the office of Nez Perce county agent J. W. Thometz, in the courthouse, this week.

The catalogue contains only seed raisers who have passed all field inspections during 1945.

Among those from this area who qualified were the following, who raised a total of 280 acres of red Mexican beans: Walter Koepf, Cameron; Gordon Peters, Kendrick, and Marvin Vincent, Kendrick.

John Longeteig, Southwick, had 100 acres of Midland red clover which qualified, and Andrew and Fred Vincent, Myrtle, raised the same acreage in Ladino clover.

Weather Like March

This section has certainly been "enjoying" March weather the past week — rain squalls, snow storms, wind and "what have you."

Tuesday a nice, wet snow began falling and covered the ground to a depth of about two inches. That afternoon it began thawing — but Tuesday night old man winter decided to come again, and the thermometer dropped to a low of 10 above — with the result that streets are covered with about half an inch of solid ice, which makes traveling by car or even on foot plenty hazardous.

On top the hills some drifting was reported, there being about four inches of new snow in those areas.

Atomic Bomb Test

The United States navy is most anxious to find out how effective the atomic bomb would be against modern fighting ships, and it announced some time ago that a test was going to be made at sea on captured enemy vessels.

But Washington reports tell us that it will be quite some time — maybe next summer or later — before the test can be made. Apparently the problems in connection with staging the atomic show are popping up so fast that the officials assigned to handle the affair are being kept on the jump.

One of the principal concerns, so it is said, is how to get close enough to observe the bomb in action and yet be far enough away to be thoroughly safe. After all, the admirals don't want the atomic bomb tried out on them, and they have no desire to go sailing off into space in all directions at the same time.

There has even been some talk about the A-bomb creating a tidal wave, and that the Atlantic ocean isn't big enough for the test. These fears, however, are groundless, according to atomic experts.

One thing is certain — it will be quite a performance when it comes.

The Home-Town Discovery

War conditions here at home have brought about a good many changes in our ways of doing things — and some of these changes are definitely for the better.

Prior to Pearl Harbor, for example, when our cars were "young" and tires and gasoline could be purchased as easily as a loaf of bread, many thought nothing of jumping into the family automobile and driving a 50 to 60 mile round-trip to do some shopping.

But when gas and tire rationing came into effect we couldn't travel about so freely. We discovered, however, that we had many things right here in our own community that we once went miles to obtain. Our local explorations made us more appreciative of the fact that our own home town independent merchants were well equipped to meet the needs.

We became more aware of their modern retailing methods which enabled them to obtain goods and produce every bit as good as those in "big-name" stores in other places — and often items were obtainable locally that the "big name" store did not have, or if it did, reserved them for their "big name customers."

What is more, support of our home town enterprises is just plain, common sense. Not only can we do our local retailers serve us just as well, or better, than those in distant towns, but the money we spend with them helps them to prosper and this benefits the whole community.

The taxes they pay help to build and improve schools, parks and public buildings and serve other useful purposes.

It's human nature to think that "the pastures are greener over the fence," but now we know that our own are just as good or better.

Moral: "Buy it in Kendrick!"

Plenty Of Errors Last Week

We realize that we, like everyone else in newspaper business at least, make plenty of errors. But in last week's issue there was an unusual number, for which we apologize.

The worst of these was in L. S. Thurber's advertisement, in which appeared the lines: "Boys' Slack Suits, regular price 28c and 35c, Special 23c." This item should have read "Boys' Slack Socks, etc." Another error appeared in the Kendrick Co-operative Creamery ad., in which lines had become transposed in making corrections, which somewhat distorted the reading, although careful examination made the meaning clear. Other errors also appeared in the type.

We apologize for these mistakes. We were trying at the time to put out a paper, learn the operation of our new press, etc., and all short-handed, due to illness in the family.

Helps Archie With Traps

Bud Gephart claims he is entitled to a "share in the profits" in Archie May's owl trapping campaign, as the other day he assisted in the recovery of one of Archie's traps.

On returning home from town one day a couple of weeks ago Bud noticed a large owl sitting in the top of a tree near his home. Slipping into the house he got the .22 and began slipping up within gun range.

He fired, and the owl came tumbling down to the accompaniment of a rattling and clanking sound. On examining his prize, Bud found one of Archie's traps holding fast to one of the owl's talons.

The bird had a wing-spread of 42-inches. How it was ever able to pull the trap staple loose from the post, Bud does not know — but it did. Now Archie has his trap back and Bud has the owl carcass.

He will put a stake body on the old one and continue to use it.

Purchases Fuel Business

Farm Record Book Saver It is not too late to get started on a good system of records for the farm, says Elbert McProud, county agent.

Many farmers are taking their inventories at this time of year, and if they will also systematically record their receipts and expenditures as they occur, they will be well on their way to developing a set of farm records that will prove valuable in many ways.

Many Latah county farmers are finding that the record book they started last year is a big time, money and worry saver when they sat down to make out their income tax report this year.

There are many small items of expense that are paid in cash, even though a checking account is the major means of carrying on the farm business. Failing to record the smaller cash payments increases the possibility that these small items will be missed when income tax return time rolls around.

Farmers who have not worked out a system of records and bookkeeping for their farms will find "The Idaho Farm and Ranch Record Book" a big help. It is well adapted to keeping all the inventory, expense, income and depreciation information needed for income tax returns. Spaces are also provided for breeding records, crop records, farm maps, farm business summary and miscellaneous records. Copies of the book are obtainable at the Farmers Bank or the county agent's office in Moscow for the cost of printing.

Hitler And History January 30, 1933, you may recall, was the date on which a funny looking little man with a "Chaplain" mustache and a loud, rasping voice became chancellor of Germany.

Comparatively few persons in America had heard of him. But we, and the world, were destined to hear more and more of him. And the time came when we wished we had never heard of him at all.

Adolph Hitler lasted longer as the leader of the German people than most of us ever dreamed he would. Yet he was a failure before he rose to power and he proved a still greater failure in the end.

For a time he appeared successful. But that "success" was attained by throwing away all the principles of decency and writing his own barbarous rules of the game. Eventually, time and justice caught up with him.

Within the short span of 13 years Hitler came to power, conquered almost all of Europe, narrowly missed his goal of world conquest, and then disappeared into oblivion. But behind him he left a trail of unparalleled havoc, poverty and misery.

What is even worse, he has left the seeds of his violent doctrine of hate. These seeds must be uprooted and destroyed before they can bring forth another crop of death and destruction.

Adolph Hitler may be dead, but he is not forgotten. The world dares not forget the man lest it permit another of his "stripe" to arise and succeed him.

$25,000 Paid In Bounties The Idaho Fish and Game department said today that almost $25,000 was paid to hunters last year for the extermination of predatory animals and birds.

The kill of coyotes alone, with a bounty of $5 each for 4,200 of them, totaled $21,000. The state paid a bounty of four cents each for 64,000 magpies and crows. The report was presented at the annual fish and game commission meeting. The commission took under advisement that the bounty for magpies and crows be increased to 10c each and a proposal that all beaver trapped in Idaho be sold at an auction sale in Boise.

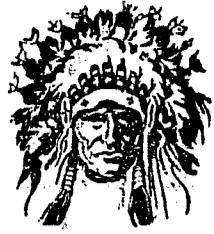

Fishing Season Opens May 21 The state fish and game commission meeting at Boise last week set dates for the general fishing season for 1946, the same as for last year, but with a revised bag limit. Fishing season will open May 21 and last to November 15. Bag limit will be 20 fish, or not to exceed 10 pounds and one fish. Last year the bag limit was 20 fish, not to exceed 25 pounds and one fish.

PUBLISHED BY THE KENDRICK CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERY

HELLO THERE, FOLKS:

Winter has caused times to change a bit and there no longer seems to be any necessity for the Creamery to remain open after 6:00 p. m. on Saturday nights, so we have decided to close on that night until further notice. When the egg and cream market have picked up, we will again stay open for the convenience of the general public.

Please keep this in mind and bring your produce in during the day. Tell all your neighbors, so they can do likewise.

We are open six days a week from 8:00 a. m. until 6:00 p. m., so try and arrange to do your trading with us during those hours.

And Remember:

We are still taking orders for Erving's baby chicks and Tilla-mook calves. Phone, write or come in and place your orders with us NOW!

Superintendent: "For this job we want a responsible man." Applicant: "That's me. Whenever I've worked, if anything went wrong they told me I was responsible."

"Have you any abnormal children in your class?" a harassed-looking teacher was asked.

"Yes," she replied, "two of them have good manners!"

Supply Salesman: "How about a room?" Hotel Clerk: "Have you a reservation?"

Supply Salesman (irritably): "Do I look like an Indian?"

Polly: "Whatever became of those old-fashioned gals who fainted when a boy kissed 'em?"

Dolly: "Whatever became of the old-fashioned boys who could make 'em faint?"

The bigger a man's head gets the easier it is to fill his shoes!

MORE ABOUT ARMED FORCES

landing his division became a part of Patton's Third Army.

After St. Lo the unit drove toward Avaranches, then close to Rennes, to Fort Monte Costre and through LeMans, by-passing Paris (the dream city of every G. I.), on through Rheims to Metz.

At this latter city they rested and spent some time, but when they again moved they forced a crossing of the Mosella river and on across the Saar.

About this time the Battle of the Bulge broke out, and his unit was one which withdrew to Luxembourg, hastily regrouped and became one of the units which drove through the German lines to the successful relief of Bastogne. From this point on, in pursuit of the harassed and beaten enemy they drove on through to Coblenz, crossing the Rhine river at Oppenheim, near Nurenberg. After the fall of this Nazi shrine city they went on into Czechoslovakia, where they were stationed when the war ended.

After a short time in Czechoslovakia they pulled back to Regensburg, where they were stationed as occupation troops, leaving that city and Germany on November 26, 1945. They moved by rail to Marsalle, France, and sailed from that port on the Mariposa on December 12, 1945, landing at Newport News, Va., December 22. Here they spent two days waiting for a train at Camp Patrick Henry — spending Christmas Day on a train crossing the state of Ohio. They were taken direct to Fort Douglas, Utah, where he was able to get train connections for Moscow, Idaho, arriving there New Year's Day, and taking a stage from that town to the home of his brother, Leon, in Gifford.

Gene brought home with him as souvenirs a couple of fine cameras, a P-38 German pistol, some bayonets, trench knives, German, French and English money, etc. He wears, but not as souvenirs, the stars of five major battles, the E. T. O. campaign ribbons, Good Conduct, etc.

Gene said he was privileged to meet and visit with Harry Newman just after the Battle for Mainz, and Harry was the only local boy he saw during his months of combat.

Gene says the destruction of war is hard for any one who has not seen it to visualize. He says he feels truly sorry for the peoples of Europe conquered by the Germans — but has no sympathy whatever for the Nazis — he saw only too well how their creed drove them and the brutalities they committed under the guise of war.

Gene plans on going to work soon and then enrolling in the U. of I. when the coming fall term begins.

Pfc. Clyde H. Daugherty, Jr., (Sonny) Daugherty, was a Kendrick visitor Saturday, having just returned from Okinawa, where he took part in the battle for that island. We did not get to see him, as he was on his way to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Daugherty, Spokane, but doubtless he will be back again — since we rather imagine "Kendrick is home."

Sidney and Allan Johnson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnson, left Sunday for Pullman, where they enrolled as students at W. S. C. under the G. I. bill of rights. The two young men were paratroopers.

Pvt. Wally Newman arrived Saturday from Camp Roberts, Calif., to spend his furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Newman, and other relatives. He reports at Camp Ord, Calif., on February 15, enroute to the Pacific.

Mr. and Mrs. August Brammer have received word from their son, Pvt. Harold Brammer, that he had landed safely in Italy, having made the ocean crossing by plane.

arrived in Kendrick Tuesday from Pomeroy with the avowed purpose of seeing the Kendrick-Genesee basketball game, and to spend a few days visiting friends. This is Bob's first trip to Kendrick since receiving his honorable discharge December 11 — and he says he has now learned to wear civilian clothes comfortably and has no trouble forgetting to salute officers.

Bob enlisted in the navy December 8, 1941, but was not called to active duty until February of 1942. At that time he was sent to San Diego for his boot training. On completion of this he was transferred to Norfolk, Va. After two weeks at that station he boarded the transport Milwaukee for Brazil, October 10, 1942. In Brazil he was stationed at Recife and Bahia, naval air stations, as a radio operator.

He served at these two stations until July of 1944, when he was transferred back to the states. On his return he was stationed at Vero Beach, Florida, but served on temporary of detached service at Seabring, Florida, staying at this station until he received his discharge on December 11, 1945 — making him four years and three days in the navy — three years, nine months and 23 days of which were spent on active duty.

Bob says he is thoroughly enjoying his visit home in town — having plenty of "bull" sessions with other discharged local boys.

He extends his sincere thanks to all for the Gazette, received during his years of navy duty. It was often weeks late — sometimes one failed to arrive at all — but when they did come, they were "home-town" news.

Many Veteran Applications
More than 2,600 applications for education or training are on file with the vocational and education division of the Veterans Administration in Idaho. William O. Lemon, chief of the sub-division on education and training told the state's editors and publishers at their mid-winter meeting in Pocatello, January 18 and 19.

Of the above number 400 are now enrolled at educational institutions within the state, Lemon said, and 300 are in on-the-job training. The balance are in the process of having their applications acted upon. A large increase will be noted in all the state's institutions of higher education at the beginning of the next semester, he predicted.

Many of those eligible for education or training will seek on-the-job training situations, Lemon said, in outlining the comparatively simple steps necessary for an employer to place a veteran on the job. Veterans with no dependents and without service connected disability now receive $65 a month for subsistence or $90 a month if they have dependents, as a result of amendments to the original Servicemen's Readjustment Act.

The subsistence allowance for disabled veterans, he pointed out, has been raised from $92 a month for those without dependents, to $105 a month; $115 with one dependent, plus $10 for the first child, $7 for each additional child and $15 for a dependent parent.

Other changes in the act include eliminating the age factor, allowing any veteran with 90 days or more of service or with a service connected disability to take advantage of the educational program. They are entitled to one year of education or training for the first 90 days service, and day for day for the time spent in service up to a maximum of four years.

About Those New Stoves
New gas and electric stoves, which now are beginning to reach retail stores, have been placed under dollar-and-cents ceilings at 1942 levels, says an O. P. A. dispatch.
Both types of stoves will be available in two sizes — the standard range and the apartment size cooker. Manufacturers are required to pre-ticket each stove with its OPA retail ceiling price. Since each price includes the installation service charge and the federal tax, it represents the total cost of the stove to the consumer.
Our note: It seems to us the above is rather ambiguous, since it would be possible for someone to purchase a stove whose house is not wired for it — or even for electricity!
Atomic energy may eventually control the weather, we are told. Which would mean government rule — and that's not for us. Unsatisfactory as the weather now is, it would be even worse if the bureaucrats in Washington got hold of it!
