NEWS FROM LOCAL MEN IN THE ARMED FORCES

Dear Bill:
I expect to leave here for the states in a short time, so am asking that you stop sending the paper. I really enjoyed receiving it, and want to thank all those who made it possible for those of us in the service to get it.

On the U. S. S. Presque Isle (Official Dispatch) — E. W. Kuykendall, seaman, first class, Kendrick, Idaho has advanced to his present rate on this 2,500-ton auxiliary bar- racks self-propelled vessel aiding in the occupation of Japan.

Mrs. Raymond Hudson has received word from her husband that he has been promoted to the rank of corporal. He is now in Japan, but writes that he hopes to be home sometime in April.

Cpl. C. H. (Sonny) Daugherty, Jr., who has been visiting at the Herman Johnson home for the past ten days, was a Gazette caller last Friday, thanking all concerned for the paper.

Clyde was called to the colors in July of 1944, following his graduation from the high school here. He was sent to Fort Bliss, Texas (the sage brush and sand country) for his preliminary training.

Upon completion of this training he was sent to Fort Lawton, Wn., where he remained for a short time, leaving there for overseas service on January 28, 1945. After a rather rough trip the unit landed at Honolulu in early February, and remained stationed there for six weeks.

The outfit left for Okinawa on April 1, 1945, the day of the original American landings on that island. They sailed into the Marshalls, where they spent a week; thence to the Caroline islands, for another week, going from there to Okinawa, landing there on April 29, 1945. He said that their unit and its guns went into action against regular Jap planes as well as "suicide units."

After spending three weeks on Okinawa, they loaded aboard ship and moved to Kerana Retto islands, one of a group of tiny atolls 20 miles north of Okinawa. This new base was only about a half mile wide and two miles long, and it was almost a solid mass of A. A. guns, as their duty was to guard "Suicide Bay," a naval anchorage and harbor, and Clyde says that here they really saw action, often firing for hours on end as the Jap suicide planes tried time and time again to crash through. He went on to say that when the Jap planes gave them a rest they still had plenty to do, as two neighboring atolls were "crawling with Japs," hopelessly bottled up there, and they would oppress the muzzles of the 90-mms. and give them a few rounds just for the sport of the thing. He also said that the boys would often crawl to the edges of the narrow straits separating the islands, just before dawn, and when the Japs tried to get rice from the paddies there, would use them as targets — and plenty were killed.

On the night of August 12, the news reached them of the surrender of Japan, his unit was loading ship in preparation for an assault landing on Korea. They completed the landings, however, and then lay aboard their ship for two days in the harbor before orders reached them what to do — then it was a case of back to Okinawa, landing there again on August 15. The unit remained stationed on that island until December 8, when they sailed for the states, reaching here December 21. They were tied up in Seattle for six days, and he reached the home of his parents in Spokane December 28, coming down here on February 5.

Clyde said that he felt a real desire to see more of the islands and of Japan itself, so, in order to realize this ambition, he re-enlisted at Okinawa on November 15, for a "one-year stretch," and reports to Fort Lewis for re-assignment Feb. 25. Of the "one-year stretch" he received a 60-day furlough plus travel-time one-way, which will leave him about 10 months to serve, and he feels this will be about right.

In speaking of the lighter moments of actual combat he tells of the capture of some 450 Japs on one of the tiny atolls. Among these Japs was a colonel (or corresponding Jap rank) and this colonel had with him his favorite "Geisha" girl, and her hand-maiden. These promptly landed in a small stockade away from the rest of the prisoners, and the G. I.s had lots of sport teasing both of them. They had, by this time, learned to say a few words in Japanese, and would stroll by the stockade and say "good morning, little one." The "Geisha" girl would then let loose with a string of Jap invective, try to spit on them and

"Invade" The Moon?
Now that the moon has been contacted by radar, the talk of sending rockets to the moon has been publicly revived. Discussions on this subject have been going on more or less constantly for years among the rocket experts and in the newspaper "comics."

The president of the U. S. Rocket Society says that the recent radar achievement proves that it is possible to send a radio-controlled rocket to our nearest heavenly neighbor and to bring it back. Well, we'd have to take his word for it since it's all too deep for us. There is one slight drawback about the rocket, however, and that is its cost. It would require about $10,000,000 to build such a missile. Still, it might be worth $10,000,000 to find out if the moon is habitable. Just think of the thrill of having a week-end place on the moon, which could be reached by over-night rocket service!

Recalls Blizzard of 1873
To the Editor of The Spokesman-Review: The storm of today recalls to me the great blizzard of January 1, 2 and 3, 1873, when the middle west was buried under mountainous snowbanks, that snuffed out the lives of thousands of head of livestock and brought death to the door of many a home.

It was the winter that lakes froze to their bottoms, and the stock was compelled to lick snow.

It was the winter when country school teachers with their pupils got lost and perished in the storm.

It was the winter when men twisted hay for fuel and tore the casings off their doors and windows and used them for fuel.

It was the winter that smallpox and black diphtheria took the lives of men, women and children, when doctors could not get there in time.

It was the winter that the ground froze so deep that graves had to be chopped instead of dug with shovels or spades.

It was the winter that the lakes remained frozen till May 1 and it was June before all crops were in.

It was a winter that only an octogenarian can think of, and wrap his coat around him and shiver. — Will H. Head, Deary, Idaho.

Among The Sick

Robert Bakken, superintendent of schools, who was ill several days last week, attempted to go back to school Monday and has suffered a quite severe relapse. He is again confined to his bed with pleurisy.

"Rusty" Smith, who has been ill the past several weeks, was able to come down town Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. R. Easterbrook has been confined to her home with a severe cold the past few days.

Mrs. Roland Armitage, who had a rather severe case of pneumonia at the time of the birth of her twin sons, is now up and about town.

To attempt to list all who are suffering with colds and mild attacks of flu, would be impossible.

Free Shows Much Enjoyed
The two free shows and educational talks given at the local theatre Monday afternoon and evening were much enjoyed by goodly crowds.

There was fun as well as business in the shows.

At noon, preceding the first show, the Kendrick Bean Growers, under whose auspices they were held, put on a big free "bean feed," and it is estimated some 200 were their guests.

Birthday Party
Mrs. Kenneth Brocke invited in a few little boys for birthday cake and ice cream Monday afternoon in honor of her little son Lee's fifth birthday anniversary.

Since that occasion Lee's most prized possession is a shiny new steel coaster wagon, the first to come into Kendrick since the war.

Dear Really Plentiful
The deep snow on the ridges surrounding Potlatch canyon is apparently driving the deer down, for Arthur Foster, who drives the Cedar ridge school bus, reports they saw 47 Tuesday morning. Of this total 21 were in a single herd.

Something To Be Remembered
More than a hundred and twenty years ago, Daniel Webster made a statement that might well be a motto for public spirited men and women of today. Webster said: "And there is open to us, also, a noble pursuit, to which the spirit of the times strongly invites us. Our proper business is improvement. Let us develop the resources of our land, build up its great interests, and see whether we also, in our day and generation, may not perform something to be remembered."

Why travel dangerously to trade? Do your shopping in Kendrick. It's your home town and mine!

Man From The West

It's no secret that Henry Kaiser, the "Paul Bunyan" of western industry, is not the fair-haired boy to the eastern industrial giants — and the reason is not hard to guess. It has been both galling and appalling to leading industrialists on the other side of the continent to see the way this newcomer to the "big time" has been outmaneuvering them in his bid for a prominent place in the automobile world. Of course, in spite of the enthusiastic reception given both of his new cars by the public, he is by no means certain of victory yet. The "Big Three" of the auto industry are going to fight tooth and nail to prevent him from cutting in seriously on their field. But he has already completed several important steps in that direction. One of these steps was the raising of $54,000,000 in capital to finance his automobile venture. It was remarkable enough that he could acquire that much money from the public before a single car had rolled off the Willow Run assembly line. But the rush to buy his stock indicates how completely he has caught the imagination of the American people — and their faith as well. It has been impartially predicted that if his new cars do not develop any major faults in the first six months after they get on the road in substantial numbers he will be definitely "in." Regardless of how the industrial moguls may feel, there are millions of Americans (besides his stockholders) who earnestly hope that his machine will be successful. Well, with the miracles he has performed in shipbuilding, cement production, steel and aluminum and other lines he is certainly no novice at "doing the impossible."

INTERESTING HAPPENINGS FROM THE SOUTHWICK AREA

Miss Pearl Brown visited over the week-end with friends in Moscow.

Double Feature Scheduled

This week's offering at the local theatre will be another of those popular double features. First offering will be Roy Rogers and Gabby Hayes in "Sunset in El Dorado," a story of the days when the west was young — but said to have a different story than might be expected.

Second offering is "The Cheaters," a comedy that vividly depicts the doings of a wealthy family who suddenly discover they are poor.

In addition the usual news and shorts will be shown.

Tourists To Invade West

The national park service expects 1946 to equal if not exceed the record year of 1941, when some 21,000,000 visitors were checked in and out of the national parks and monuments of the nation.

About 10,100,000 visitors were recorded in the season ending September 30, 1945, an increase of 2,204,000 over 1944.

Final figures for the past season, with 1944 figures in parenthesis, include: Yellowstone, 178,296 (85,347); Grand Teton, 38,889 (19,668); Bryce Canyon, Utah, 25,812 (9,868); Zion, Utah, 66,407 (41,855) and Glacier, 67,179 (36,192).

I have a nice assortment of Everly cards for sale. Anyone interested may see me at the Telephone office after school. Stella Weaver. 7-2x

THOSE WHO KNOCK UPON MY DOOR

O'ft as I sit by my fire,
 Alone in my cozy "rock,"
 There'll come a knock upon my door,
 Which often calls me back —
 From dreaming of a far off shore.

The first was a lonely "G. I." lad,
 Who in the night had lost his way,
 From New Mexico he did ride,
 To Moscow — to see his lovely fiancée.

When to the door this time I strode,
 To see what the night had sent,
 To ask about an earthly road,
 I found a Padre, old and bent,
 Then giving thanks for setting him a-right —
 He merged again into the night.

Old friends then did seek me out,
 Our acquaintances to renew,
 And as we sat, and chat and knit
 I find their love has e'er been true.
 A neighbor brings a loaf of bread,
 My body and my soul are fed,
 His crust so brown and good,
 More by the act than by the food.

An apple for the Teacher,
 An orange and a cookie too,
 Daily these given by childish hands,
 Prove that little hearts beat true.

I heard a little rap one day,
 And found it to be our Jo,
 Saying in her lilting way,
 "Is it to Grange that you would go?"

Jack came one eve out of the storm
 Doing favors — yet he was gay,
 I asked him in, his toes to warm,
 For in a snowbank he was stuck,
 He thought it was indeed bad luck;
 But he needs must soon be on his way.

They came at dusk one wintry eve,
 To take me home to stay,
 For by the storm I was marooned,
 These shall I call friends, for aye.

My old friends, I do love dear;
 But when one is far from home,
 You'll find if you but seek them here,
 That new ones to your door will come
 And bring you love sincere.
 Melva Woody.

They Don't Strike

The refusal of nationwide farm organizations to sanction a farm strike (at least at this time, when millions in Europe are starving) expresses the true spirit of the American farmer. However much the vast majority of the farmers may be incensed by labor strikes, especially those which delay desperately needed farm equipment, they realize that striking against strikers would, at this time, hurt only the innocent.

The unselfish and consistent service of American farmers has been paralleled only by the service of such groups as the independent grocers who market the greater part of the nation's food products, either as fresh fruits and vegetables or as processed foods.

The independent grocers, whether in business in metropolitan centers or in crossroads villages, have been keenly aware of their responsibilities to their customers and communities and they have as a whole conscientiously fulfilled that responsibility.

One can well imagine the chaos that would result if either the independent grocers or the farmers were actually to go on strike. We would realize as never before just how valuable a service they perform.

Meeting To Be Held

There will be a meeting of the Second Idaho District Trustees' Association at the Student Lounge building of the Lewiston Normal school, Saturday at 1:30 p. m., Feb. 16. Asher B. New Stars On The Flag

If either Hawaii or Alaska comes into the Union it will mean that the 49th star will have to be added to "Old Glory."

Reports from Washington indicate that there is considerable talk as to where that star would be placed. The present 48 stars make a square with eight stars across and six down. If one more were added the stars could be rearranged in rows of seven each way. What happens, though, if both Hawaii and Alaska come in, and there is a good likelihood they both will, how would we arrange 50 stars?
 Time was when the flag was changed so often that flag designers had plenty of practice. But it has now been 34 years since the last "remodeling of Old Glory" and the designers have grown rather rusty.

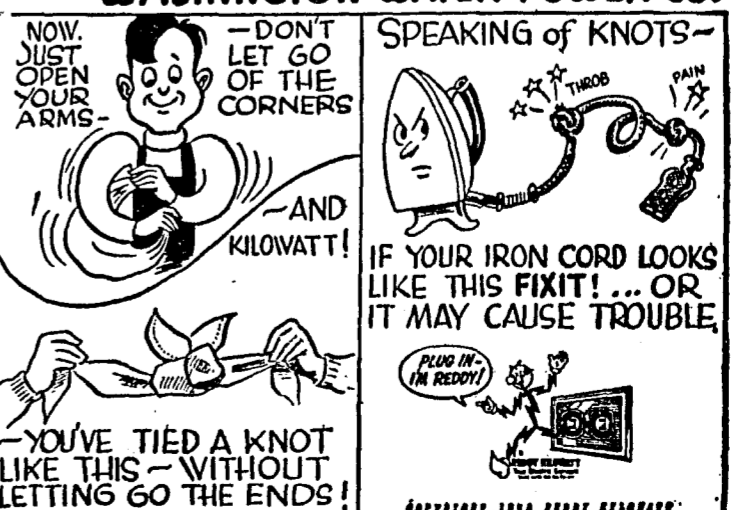

Of one thing we can be sure, however, that if and when we have 49 or 50 states we'll have that many stars — even though Betsy Ross won't be on hand to lend her assistance in arranging them.

Teacher: "What is an octogenarian?"
 Johnny: "I don't know, but it must take a long time to become one, for they are all old."

Chicks And Calves:

Come in and order your baby chicks and Tillamook calves the next time you are in town. To wait — may be too late!

Ice Cream Packers:

Several of our one-gallon ice cream packers have not been returned. If these packers are not returned soon, we will be forced to ask a $4.00 deposit from every one who borrows them. Please, folks, look around your cellars and back porches and see if you don't have one stuck away that you had forgotten about.

Disconsolate, a picture of despair, the striker dragged through the door and slumped into a chair. "The worst has happened," he said dismally.

"No!" cried his wife. "Yes," he answered. "This afternoon just before leaving the line the boss called me in and gave me the business!"

The trouble, it seems, is that when the statesmen of the world smoke the pipe of peace, nobody inhales!

MORE ABOUT ARMED FORCES

kick dust in their direction, most of which would settle back on her. Clyde said both were very good looking for Japs, the Geisha being especially pretty.

Clyde figures that on the expiration of his present term of enlistment strikes should be pretty well settled and work plentiful, and in the meantime, he is going to see as much of the Orient as possible.

He, like 95 per cent of the boys returning home is pretty bitter about the strike situation, and wonders what would have happened if "the G. I. Joes" had struck because their contracts "didn't suit them."

Jack Benscoter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Benscoter, American ridge, who has been attending the University of Idaho the past semester, enlisted last week in the navy, and left today (Thursday) for San Diego, where he will report for his "boot" training.

Leaving Sunday for Moscow where they enrolled in the U. of I. for the second semester under the G. I. Bill of Rights were Charles and Teddy Deobald, Tommy Brown, Lloyd Israel and Vern Wegner.

Sgt. Marvin Sillow arrived home Saturday with his honorable discharge papers, having been in the Armed Forces nearly four years.

S/Sgt. George Finke arrived home Tuesday after serving three years in the Forestry Engineers. He spent his time overseas in the South Pacific, most of it on the island of Guadalcanal. He says it's good to be home, although it seems a bit strange after being away so long.

Construction In 1946

One has only to glance over the anticipated expenditures of the various industries for new construction in 1946 to realize that unless labor difficulties tie things up in knots this year will be one of tremendous activity for heavy construction as well as for other types of building.

The electric utility industry alone, for example, expects to spend approximately $900,000,000 this year in new construction. This is more than double the 1945 outlay and is the highest since 1940. This large-scale work will keep the nation's electric utilities at the peak of operating efficiency. New construction and constant improvements in plant facilities help to hold down operating costs and to keep the cost of electricity low for the consumer.

In fact, the economies effected in this way over the years have cut the cost to the consumer down to half of what it was in 1925, in spite of the fact that utilities taxes have steadily mounted.

In the enormous building that will be done this year and in the years just ahead the American people can at the same time build real prosperity.

YOU ARE ASKED TO ASSIST IN PLANE RESCUE PROGRAM

San Francisco — The residents of every farm, village, town and city in California, Washington, Oregon and Idaho are being asked to assist a new search and rescue program of the Fourth Air Force, which has been organized to save the lives of flying personnel who crash or parachute from their planes. Maj. Gen. Willis H. Hale, commanding general, Fourth Air Force, has announced.

If you see a plane crash, call the police, sheriff or state highway patrol immediately, giving them the details of the incident, the location and your name and address. They will forward the information to the proper army or navy authorities.

Residents of these western states can also help in locating missing planes. Currently, a wide search is being carried on in the Fourth Air Force area for two B-24 heavy bombers missing since Nov. 1. On that date four of the huge four-motored aircraft took off from McChord Field, Wash., enroute to Portland, Ore. Later one of the planes landed at Arcata, Calif., and a second at Redmond, Ore. Nothing has been seen or heard of the other two planes — and they may be anywhere in the Pacific Northwest.

If you have any clue as to the whereabouts of these planes forward your information to the nearest law enforcement agency, who will send it on to the proper authorities, the 475th Army base unit.

The 475th has its base headquarters in San Francisco with the Fourth Air Force and controls the search and rescue activities throughout the five western states and coordinates searches with the navy, marine and coast guard units.

Since the Fourth Air Force emergency program was first established in September, 1944, 931 persons have been rescued. Many of these were due to tips and phone calls from residents on outlying farms and small towns.

Mineral Output For 1945

Once again leading the nation in silver production, as it has since 1933, Idaho, during 1945, also led the western states in lead and zinc output according to a preliminary U. S. Bureau of Mines report.

Total gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc production had a value of $36,370,800 according to the report, which showed the following production in terms of recoverable minerals: 156,000,000 pounds of zinc; 135,500,000 pounds of lead; 3,350,000 pounds of copper; 7,847,000 fine ounces of silver and 21,000 fine ounces of gold. The copper was a by-product of the smelting of silver ores, the report stated. Tungsten, antimony and other metals were not covered by this report.

U. S. Spy System?

If our government follows the advice of Army Air General Henry (Hap) Arnold, we will soon have many capable and adventurous Americans sleuthing throughout the world in the quest of information about military developments in the foreign countries which might endanger the security of our nation.

In his recent report on army air force progress Gen. Arnold pointed out that in this atomic age when weapons of fantastic destructive power are being created we simply cannot afford to be ignorant of what may be going on in other countries.

"In the future," he said, "it will be suicidally dangerous to depend upon reports of military attaches and routine or casual sources of information regarding foreign states."

We Americans would much prefer that all spying between nations be done away with through the elimination of the suspicious and world in the quest of espionage. But until a better understanding can be achieved we have no choice but to keep ourselves fully informed about foreign military developments so that we may be prepared to counteract them.

Automatic Window Closer
Worry about rain ruining the living room rug or curtains can be eliminated by an electrical device, scheduled for early production, which opens and closes windows thermostatically. Thus, if the night is hot and there are threatening clouds, it will be safe to leave the house, for if the storm strikes, the accompanying drop in temperature will cause the windows to close automatically.

"I saved 25 1/2 Quarts of oil in 325 hours.. with a FRAM."

Says Darryl C. Grover Riceville, Iowa

Mr. Grover also says: "Until now I have changed the oil every 60 hours."

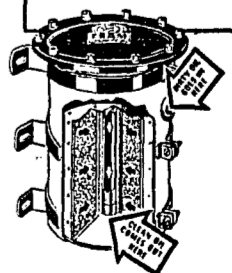

SAVED 45 GALLONS THE FIRST YEAR
Fred North of Blackwell, Okla., saved 45 gallons of oil the first year after installing a FRAM.

SAVED ITS COST IN 40 DAYS
A Caterpillar Diesel 75, formerly changed oil every 35 hours. Now, with FRAM, they change oil every 50 days.

SAVED 7 OIL CHANGES IN 400 HOURS
C. D. Goyen of Pratt, Kansas, used to change oil every 50 to 60 hours. Now, with FRAM, he changes oil 400 hours.

EASY TO INSTALL
New specially designed brackets, Fulltex oil-lines, make installations simple as A-B-C.

GUARANTEE
Install a FRAM. If within 90 days you feel you can afford to be without it, bring it back and your money will be cheerfully refunded.

Successful farmers are saving money on oil... saving the time commonly wasted changing oil... and protecting their motors by installing FRAMS on their tractors.

There is no doubt that clean oil will last longer than dirty oil, nor that motors lubricated constantly with clean oil will cost less in repairs. The FRAM Oil and Motor Cleaner keeps both oil and motor clean and free of dust, dirt, abrasives, sludge and harmful acids. That is why successful farmers are equipping their tractors with FRAMS — saving money — saving their motors — saving time. Why don't you investigate?
