Our dealers join us in making this frank report to

THE FARMERS OF AMERICA

INTERNATIONAL Harvester is get-I ting back into production with all possible speed. Extra shifts are being employed wherever conditions permit, to try to overcome the production losses of the recent strike. Everything is being done to get parts and machines to

While we and our dealers would like to tell you that this means an immediate end to the shortage of service parts and machines, it is more accurate to say that it means the beginning of the end of it. If illness or bad weather delays you seriously in the Spring, you know how much it throws you off your schedule. The strike has thrown our schedules off balance, too. There are many "chores" we must do before new machines reach you

Material shortages

The preliminary chores of getting our plants back into shape for full production are finished But dis.

turbances in other industries and resulting material shortages may affect our plans. Light gauge steel sheets, brass and copper, fractional horse power motors, and many other items are all very short. The coal situation may also prove serious—we hope not.

Refilling the well

Both our dealers and our branches have run dry on parts and new machines. So the biggest chore is to get their working stocks back to normal. It will take time to fill the pipeline to dealers-just as it takes time for you to refill a well or cistern after it has run dry.

Stock and display rooms of our dealers represent not one, but ten thousand reservoirs which must be refilled. The most heroic production efforts will mean that your local dealer can expect only a small number of parts and machines at a time. Since we must play fair with all our customers, there will be a sprinkle of parts and machines all over the country-not a downpour in any one

You will be glad to know that all repair parts production schedules are far beyond normal.

No hoarding

You may be sure that every ma. chine will be shipped to dealers as soon as completed. We do not and will not hold machines off the market. At the start of the strike we had on hand at all our factories and branches just 837 tractors of all kinds-less than two days' production-and 405 of these were not completed. Many of those on hand had one or more important parts missing-principally radiator cores. Most of the rest represented the normal daily "float" between the end of the assembly line and the shipping platform. Naturally no tractors were made during the strike.

What dealers may have for you

We can report to you that our current production on TRAC-TORS is good and we are shipping at a normal rate. Even so, there will not be enough to go around. The situation on PLOWS and DISK HARROWS is reasonably good. On COMBINES, MOWERS, HAY RAKES, ONE MAN HAY BALERS, CORN PICKERS and many other items, our schedules have been seriously disrupted. We must in fairness say that many of our customers are likely to be disappointed on delivery of these machines. On MILKING MACHINES, STA. TIONARY ENGINES, and some other small units we are hopeful of making practically normal delivery.

We know you will understand the reasons why your dealer can. not fill your orders overnight. He would like to give you the kind of delivery on machines you would like to get, but his situation is a difficult one and not of his own making. He is doing the best he

No cutting corners on quality

There is one thing you can be absolutely cer. tain about: We will NOT cut corners on qual. ity in order to increase production in this emergency. For years we have said: "QUALITY IS THE FOUNDA. TION OF OUR BUSINESS." Today we say it—and mean it as much as ever.

·We know you need new machines-and need them badly. But we believe it will pay you to wait just a little while longer it you cannot get all you want immediately. By waiting you can be sure your new equipment will have the quality so rightly associated with INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER for so many years.

Nation's Steel Capacity Is Widely Distributed

Not only is the iron and steel industry's present annual capacity bigger than ever-ample to meet all peacetime requirements—it is more widely distributed over the nation than ever before. Part of the industry's 1945 steel ingot capacity of 95,505,280 tons is located in four states: Oregon, Virginia, Tennessee and Utah, which in 1938 had no such facilities. The grand total of states having steel capacity is now 27.

Altogether, 25 states have open hearth capacity now against 22 states in 1938. Six states have capacity for the production of Bessemer steel currently and 16 states contain electric furnace capacity against 12 in 1938. Tennessee, Virginia, Oklahoma and Oregon are the newcomers in electric furnace steelmaking as a result of the industry's expansion during the seven-year in-

The nation's present capacity for making 67,313,890 net tons of pig iron and ferro alloys per year is now located in 18 states. The industry's coke is produced in 16 states. Pennsylvania is still the leading state in open hearth capacity. It has 26,218,350 tons of capacity annually and 374 furnaces. The run-ner-up state is Ohio, which has 169 open hearth furnaces with 15,350,000 tons capacity. Other states which constitute the top ten in open hearth capacity are Indiana, Illinois, New York, Maryland, Alabama, Michigan, West Virginia and California.

Here Are Pointers for Buying Pots and Pans

Points to check when buying pans and kettles, say house m magement specialists are: (1) Balance—the pan and its handle should be wellbalanced so that the pan stands steady even when empty. Too heavy a handle makes a tipsy pan that is awkward to use and may cause dangerous spills of hot water or food.

(2) Surface — the fewer the cracks at joinings, the more durable and easy to clean it will be.

(3) Bottom — a flat bottom helps keep a pan steady and means faster heating and more economical use of fuel. Pans for use on electric stoves should have dull-finished bottoms to save the fuel. A dull finish absorbs heat in contrast to a shiny finish which reflects it.

Straight sides are more economical of heat and also of space on the stove than flaring sides. Handles of pans and covers should be comfortable to grasp and insulated against heat. A close-fitting cover is essential for many cooking processes, so buying a pan and cover together is often worth the extra money. Thin, lightweight aluminum is less expensive and less durable than the heavy metal. Thin ware is easily dented, bent and scorches easier than heavy wear. Heavy wear is economical.

Sheet Durability Durability in sheets and pillowcases depends on weight per square yard and thread count-that is, the number of threads running in each direction per inch. Many sheets come marked as to thread count, and some manufacturers also indicate weight per yard. For muslin sheetings, this count should not be less than 62 or the fabric may lack tensile strength. In percales it will be higher still. In fact, the only difference between muslin and percale is the fineness of the weavewhich is another way of saying that percale has a much higher thread count. The housewife should note the weight of the sheets she considers buying because thread count alone doesn't tell the whole story. The size and strength of the yarn, indicated by weight, should be taken into account. If the yarns from which the fabric is woven are as strong as they should be, the sheet will have a good weight.

Frozen Milk Frozen homogenized milk, used by the army during the war to supply milk to men on hospital ships, now offers promise for sea-going travelers as well as for milk-short areas such as the Panama Canal Zone, Bermuda and other outlying islands, dairy specialists of the department of agriculture believe. The milk served on hospital ships is pasteurized, homogenized and kept frozen in paper containers until thawed for serving. It holds its fresh flavor well for as long as three and four months, and has been favorably received by military patients who drank it at the rate of thousands of quarts a week. To save space on ships, the army experimented with frozen concentrated milk, but it did not prove successful because it does not hold its flavor nearly as long as the frozen whole milk.

Sheet Classifications

Textile experts in the department of agriculture group sheets into five classifications—light, medium, and heavy weight muslin, fine counts and percales. Heavy muslin is the strongest of the lot; but it is heavy for the laundress to handle and the weight swells laundry bills if sent to commercial laundries. At the other end of the scale, percales are tops for fineness and good looks, but they may be slow in returning to market. Any sheet worth the money is firm, almost sizing-free, is torn rather than cut from the bolt and is hemmed with strong thread and short, even stitches.

Soil Fumigation Has Been Proven Sound

Machine Application Successfully Tested

By W. J. Dryden WNU Farm Editor While fumigation of the soil for the control of soil-born plant pests has been undertaken during the past' 20 years, it is only recently that the practice becomes of commercial importance. With the develop-ment of hand and drawn machines, it is now possible to fumigate the cold frame, hot bed or greenhouse soils as

Improved Machinery Farm Welder

A new electric welder suitable for rural power lines has just been released by the Lincoln Electric company, Cleveland, It has a maximum input current of 35 amperes and provides a machine which meets the new NEMA standards for this type of welder. Under modern farming, practical electric welding has become a must.

DDT-Soybean Flour

Spray Reduces Loss DDT mixed with soy bean flour and sprayed on apple trees at intervals which will not prove dangerous bees, has proven an effective means of reducing spraying costs and eliminating serious pests. Four treatments with the DDTsoy bean flour mixture are usually required for effective control under general conditions. The spraying must be done prior to the time when the bees start pollinating.

Small Settlements Mark Vast Northwest Territory

Lying between the Arctic ocean and the northern boundaries of the provinces of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, the Northwest Territory accounts for more than a third of Canada's area. On its more than a million square miles live some 11,000 people, most-live Eschimos, and Indians, an average of the statement of the same and Indians, an average of the same and Indians. ly Eskimos and Indians—an average of one person to 116 square miles. "Centers of population" in northern Canada signify trading posts, missions, police barracks, military stations and Eskimo and Indian villages.

Civilization has made Eskimos and Indians less inclined to volunteer their services, less receptive to pay for menial work. Some Eskimos have developed large-scale trading stations, and pay the Dominion government substantial income taxes. Eskimos are usually more friendly than Indians. Penetration of the white man has improved far-northern diets. The larger trading posts stock California canned fruits and tinned delicacies from England. Before the war fresh oranges and bananas were no longer regarded as

From the highlands of the Stikine, Mackenzie, Ogilvie and Richardson ranges in the west, northern Canada levels off into an area which is the northern extension of the continent's great interior plain. Farther to the east are the broad stretches of the Laurentian Upland or Canadian Shield, a treeless tract broken by the wide expanse of Hudson bay. The breadth of this land belt is indicated by the fact that it includes five time zones. When it is 8 a. m. in the east it is only 4 a. m. in the

Seek to Boost Citric Oil

Price With Concentrate Citrus peel oil is in fair demand as a flavoring agent (its largest use is in beverages), but less oil is produced than could be: its recovery is more or less optional in canning operations for oranges and grapefruit. A way around the comparatively low price for orange oil ($1.40 to $1.75 per pound) has been sought by one Florida canner who makes a concentrated oil.

A 10 to 1 concentration removes most of the limonene, the terpene which constitutes about 90 per cent days and most plants within four of orange oil and is largely responsible for its instability. Cotton Electricity

The popular parlor magic effect of static electricity in causing the hair to stand on end on the head of a suitably charged subject standing on an insulating rubber mat is no joke when it is injected into the cotton ginning business, the department of agriculture points out. In areas where both cotton and air are very dry, static electricity is generated by the movement of the cotton through the gin. The effect is to clog the gin with balls of cotton; large lumps adhere to metal part; and the fire hazard goes past the danger point. The ginning machinery must be stopped and the electrified cotton cleaned out before operations can be resumed. When the lint cotton gets into the press it is so fluffy and resilient that it is often impossible to press it into a bale of the desired weight. Many remedies were tried by the Cotton Ginning Laboratory at Stoneville, Miss., including mechanical de-electrifying and moisture, but nothing proved satisfactory until a fine mist composed of water and sulphonated oil was introduced into the system.

Like Snow Suits For playtime in cold weather, children like snowsuits better than any other type of garment. It doesn't make any difference whether they are "hand-me-downs" or "brand new," just so they are warm, durable and comfortable. A suit doesn't need to be made of a heavy material to be warm. Two or three layers of light-weight fabrics tightly woven and specially treated, will keep out wind, rain and snow. Be sure the trousers have extra width and length in the seat so that the child can stoop and bend easily. The legs, too, should be wide and bloused at the ankle over a tight cuff so the child can kneel and squat without difficulty. One-piece suits are best for the child from two to six years old. Then no matter how vigorous the play, the suit won't pull apart at the waist to let in cold air.

Dust Dims Light

Sometimes a room hides its light not under a bushel but und - layers of dust. Even a very thin film of dust can obscure considerable light, household management specialists say. If your home suddenly looks dim and gloomy, it may need a little extra dusting and polishing of all light centers, lamp bulbs and shades, mirrors and windows as well as all decorative objects. Dust often clings to volatile oil from cooking or smoke which has settled on light bulbs, windows and mirrors. Washing is usually a better way to remove greasy dust than dusting.
