Harvest Almost Over

Harvesting operations in the Potlatch area are rapidly drawing to a close, although there still remains some late-sown spring wheat, a few peas and a few fields of clover yet to cut — not including beans — which will probably bring out over the next month or more, due to the late, cold spring and various delayed planting operations which resulted.

To date, weather for harvest has been almost ideal, sunny skies, and little dew, which has permitted machines to work from dawn to darkness. At times it has been a bit too warm for human comfort, but then, 'as Mark Twain said: "Every body talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about it."

Rev. Gustav Meyer Writes
In renewing his subscription to the Gazette, Rev. Gustav Meyer, Merrill, Iowa, says in part: "It has been a joy, weekly, to peruse your paper and learn of the many pleasant occasions and events, which continually refresh our minds regarding relationships, friends and acquaintances. It was indeed surprising to us to read of the terrific cloudbursts out there which were a rarity out west years ago. Climatic conditions must be changing there as the world gets older. Notice that crops are good and the weather has been very favorable.

"The middle west was rather dry for a while this summer and the fall corn suffered to some degree. Less and rain storms were much less than usual. Of late we have had pleasant rains, which will still be of great benefit to the corn, which still has some weeks to grow.

"It may interest our relatives and friends in Idaho, that which I have gation here in Iowa, which I have been serving for almost 30 years, is celebrating the Golden Jubilee of its founding on the first of September. It would be a pleasure to us if some one from Kendrick, Cameron, Leland or Southwick would drop in on us. That would be a happy surprise.

About Bicycle Riding

The Village Trustees have decided to begin strict enforcement of the local ordinance against riding bicycles on the sidewalks — and the move meets with the hearty approval of all, especially the business men.

It's not pleasant to have a customer step out of your place of business and have to dodge someone on a bicycle every time they do so — and the way some of them went whizzing along was quite dangerous for elderly people.

Kendrick has good, smooth oiled streets, Jack Kuykendall has been enforcing the speed limit and other traffic measures, and there is no reason why bicycles should be ridden on the sidewalk.

LIGHT TRADING AND QUIET MARK NORTHWEST MARKETS

The cash wheat markets in the Pacific Northwest have been unusually quiet with very light trading during the past week, according to reports to the Production and Marketing Administration by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The grain trade generally has been awaiting developments. In the early part of the week it was for a decision concerning price ceilings on grain and grain products, while later in the period it was for more information from a committee investigating the possibility of securing more cars for the movement of wheat now piled on the ground in this area, to the terminal mills and elevators. The final outcome on the ceiling question appears to have been more favorable to the grain trade, at least for the immediate future, than efforts to secure more cars. Wheat prices have remained practically unchanged with the exception of highest milling types which have advanced from 1c to 2c per bushel. Mills are not able to secure enough suitable wheat to permit operation at full capacity, and the flour output for the domestic market has not been built up to the normal level for this time of the year. The O. P. A. has announced that effective August 23, flour prices will be increased by enough to enable millers to meet parity requirements for wheat despite reduced returns on millfeeds, which are being returned to June 30 ceilings.

In the Portland cash wheat market trading has been confined very largely to wheat in transit, with car numbers furnished, or to the purchase of country warehouse receipts. Trading on 15-day shipment has been impossible as a result of the car shortage. Prices for the special delivery have been somewhat higher, but for indefinite delivery they were only slightly higher than the June 29 ceilings. Wheat receipts at the Columbia river terminals during the week consisted of 314 cars, while at the Puget Sound terminals 836 cars were reported, as compared with 460 and 849, respectively, for the previous week.

Bid prices at the Portland Grain Exchange were as follows: Soft white, soft white (no Rex), white club, western red and hard red winter were all $1.82 per bushel, basis No. 1, bulk, 15-day shipment, coast delivery.

The San Francisco wheat market showed very little change during the past week, with a continuation of the narrow trading and movement of other recent weeks. Demand was very moderate and mostly for nearby requirements alone, but firmness in other markets and a strong holding tendency among central California growers tended to hold prices largely unchanged compared with a week ago. Scarcity of cars also restricted offerings from Pacific Northwest and Intermountain shippers, although quotations for most qualities were below prices at which California wheat was being held. Bay region flour mills reported that most of their wheat needs were being filled in other areas. Sacked wheat quotations remained unusually high in comparison with bulk grain, with California grown No. 1 hard and soft white, sacked, generally quoted delivered San Francisco at $3.55 to $3.60. Washington and Oregon shippers quoted No. 2 hard red and No. 2 western white at $3.37 1/2 per 100, in bulk, delivered San Francisco and nearby points.

At Minneapolis wheat movement gained a little during the week, but would have been much greater had cars been available. Minneapolis receipts were 1,597 cars, Duluth had 944. Many country elevators were reported blocked and unable to take in grain. Mill demand for spot wheat was fair and very limited offerings were a factor in holding prices down. Receipts are now largely of new crop grain, the quality of which is excellent.

European wheat prospects are for a considerably larger crop than the reduced production of 1945, but present indications are that the output will still be substantially below the average pre-war years. The largest gains were indicated throughout the Mediterranean area and in parts of western Europe. Estimates now available show an increase of nearly 30 percent over last year's small output. Good crops in the Mediterranean area resulted from increased seedings and more favorable weather than in 1945, when a severe drought took a heavy toll of the crop. The crop in Spain, reported at 131,000,000 bushels is about 80 percent larger than the crop believed to have been harvested there in 1945. Italian wheat production is placed at 235,000,000 bushels, or over 30 percent more than the small crop of a year ago. Weather conditions in western Europe were generally more favorable than in 1945, and an early official estimate places the French crop at 225,000,000 bushels, which would be about 25 percent larger than that of last year. In the Balkan countries conditions are generally more favorable than a year ago. In the Soviet union over-all yields are not expected to exceed the low average of recent years. Wheat production, therefore, appears likely to be considerably below the pre-war level.

Sgt. James W. Holt, Southwick, arrived home Sunday, following 18 months service in the army, 15 of which were spent in Alaska. James flew down to the states, landing at Boeing Field, Seattle on August 21, Fort Lewis, Aug. 22 and home on August 25.

A letter which he wrote on August 18, reached us the same day he arrived home. It follows:
Dear Friends:
I decided I'd better drop you a line to let you know I'm coming home, and there will be no need to send the paper anymore. It's been two weeks since I had one, but think nothing of it. The mail service here sure is poor. Maybe I'll get them before I leave, but expect to fly out of here tomorrow evening.

I want to thank everyone possible for sending the paper to we boys in the service. I sure have enjoyed it, and think the rest of the fellows have too.

I'll drop in for a visit when I get home, which I hope is in just a few days.

Yours sincerely
Jim Holt.

Note: To make a long story short Jim was a Kendrick caller Monday morning, and said that his expected departure from Alaska had been delayed somewhat by a bevy of visiting congressmen, who not only upset the camp routine, but the flying schedule as well. However, he is home, and glad of it.

Jim says he likes parts of Alaska very well, and may even consider taking his family and going back there to live.

Bill Davidson Discharged

Bremerton, Wash.
26 August, 1946

Dear Mac and Bill:
Tomorrow is my last day in the navy, so this is to serve a double purpose — to have my paper discontinued and to thank you for the fine service you've performed in keeping me fellows informed of home town news. Nothing has been a better morale booster.

My sincere thanks again to you and all those who made it possible.

Yours truly
Bill Davidson.

Cattle Brucellosis Checking Possible

Testing of Cattle Eradicates Disease

There was a further increase in brucellosis last year, according to the American Foundation for Animal Health, and the increase in the incidence of the disease practically doubled in the last five years.

Continued testing and retesting of our cattle herds is the mainstay of the nation's fight to eradicate this costly problem, as shown by the sharp increase it has made during the time when there were not sufficient veterinarians available to carry on with the testing program. Altogether too many farmers in recent years, have come to look upon vaccination as an easy answer to brucellosis control. Vaccination is highly desirable, but it should always be looked upon as an important adjunct, not a replacement of the testing program.

With the recent return of thousands of veterinarians from military service, livestock health authorities have expressed hope that the sharp wartime upswing in cattle brucellosis may be checked in the early future.

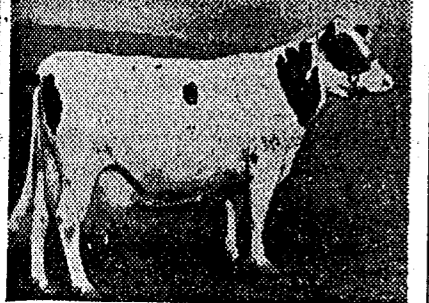

Know Your Breed

Holstein

By W. J. DRYDEN

The first importation of Holstein to be established permanently in the United States was made by Winthrop W. Cheney at Belmont, Mass. in 1857.

The breed traces back before the beginning of the Christian era. The breed known as the Holstein-Friesian had its beginning in the Netherlands.

There are now in the United States nearly as many purebred Holsteins as all other dairy breeds combined. Many world champion milk and butter producers are to be found among the breed.

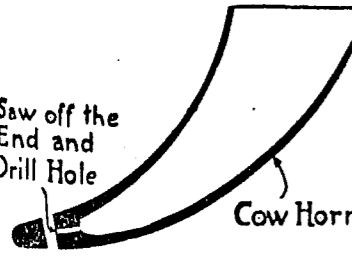

Guard Rail for Pigs

To decrease the large number of litter pigs killed by the sow stepping or rolling over on them, the guard rail arrangement in farrowing house taken at Texas station has proven satisfactory.

Easy to construct from lumber found around the farm, it will aid in preventing the heavy toll in the farrowing house.

Horn Medicine Funnel

CROSS SECTION

Administering liquid medicine to livestock is dangerous when a glass bottle is used. The accompanying drawing shows a funnel which can be made out of a cow horn. First boil and clean out, then saw off about an inch from the tip and drill into the natural cavity.

Ladino Clover Proven Valuable for Pasture

Ladino clover, the giant form of common white clover, is showing considerable value as a pasture crop. High in protein, minerals and vitamins and low in fiber it is much valued as a feed. Ladino is aggressive under favorable conditions and retards most weeds and many undesirable grasses. Being a perennial of medium long life and of value in soil improvement it will prove valuable on many farms.

Acetate Rayon Requires Different Laundering

Acetate rayons are entirely different from animal or plant source fabrics and should be laundered in a different way. Hand laundering is recommended, but machine washing is usually safe if garments are left in no longer than three minutes. Stubborn spots are removed by smoothing the wet fabric out on a flat surface and rubbing extra soap into the spots before actual laundering.

Acetate garments should be hung up without wringing just as they come from the last rinse, or the water may be blotted up by rolling them in a towel. They should never be wrung or twisted.

Acetates iron best when quite wet. They need not be ironed dry but should be hung up after ironing and aired until thoroughly dry. They have the best appearance when ironed on the wrong side and finished on the right with a pressing cloth. This avoids flattening the fibers so they reflect light — in other words it prevents those shiny surfaces that add six months' wear to the appearance of the garment.

Cut Down Grain Foods

If You Plan Reducing

Do not attempt to reduce except under a physician's guidance, if you are under 20 years of age, or if you are a young mother, or have organic complications, such as heart disease, experts say. And do not think of reducing if you are not above average weight—say, at least 10 per cent.

Keep in mind three simple calorie facts (1) all foods provide some calories, that is, units of fuel for bodily energy, (2) foods that pack the most calories are the starches, sweets, and fats, and (3) more calories than you use in work or play—that's where fat begins.

For a reducing diet keyed to the times, eat almost no grain food. Every roll or thick slice of bread or ounce serving of cereal that you don't eat trims about 100 calories from the day's meals. By substituting fruits and custards for baked desserts, such as cake, pie, doughnuts or cookies, you can trim off another 100 to 300 calories, because so much sugar and fat go with the flour in these.

Salute of 21 Guns

A salute of 21 guns to the President of the United States was prescribed by United States army and navy regulations in 1818, in accordance with an act of congress dated February 7, 1815. Officials of the bureau of public relations of the war department explain that evidently we inherited this custom from England for British navy regulations of 1772 prescribed a salute of 21 guns to the king or queen. The navy department traces the origin of the 21-gun international salute to early times when land batteries "out-saluted" ships by offering three shots for each of a warship's seven, because gunpowder, then made largely of sodium nitrate, deteriorated at sea. As gunpowder improved in quality ships began returning salutes gun-for-gun with land batteries. On August 18, 1875, the United States and England announced an agreement on the custom of returning salutes shot-for-shot. Since England had developed a 21-gun salute the 21-gun system became the custom which other nations soon adopted. It is an ancient superstition that gun salutes should be of an odd number.

Animal Intelligence

The intelligence of animals has for a long time been a controversial topic. Some people infer, from the humanlike actions and reactions of animals, that they have a high degree of intelligence, pointing out that wild beasts set sentries when danger is imminent and the migration routes of birds appear to be charted systematically to avoid travel hazards. Most authoritative writers on this subject maintain, however, that these and similar examples of so-called intelligence are the result of a fine instinct which guides animals where human beings would employ reasoning processes. They contend that an animal is incapable of figuring out a conclusion after a consideration of facts and thus is incapable of reasoning. Many deeds which have won animals great affection and applause have been accomplished as the result of their highly developed senses of sight, hearing, touch, taste and smell.

Safe Transport

Railroads handled 50,000,000 tons of high explosives for military purposes as well as great quantities of poison gas during the recent World War without a person being killed. In one month alone in 1945, the quantity of military explosives handled by the railroads exceeded the tonnage handled during the entire period of the First World War. From records available, it is apparent there was a total of approximately 50,000,000 tons of military explosives delivered as originating shipments to rail carriers during World War II. This tonnage was handled with no loss of life which can be charged directly to the transportation of such explosives. In addition, since 1938 approximately 3,600,000,000 pounds (1,800,000 tons) of commercial explosives have been handled with no loss of life due to their transportation.

Low Heating Prevents Scorching of Utensils

A little scorching on the bottom of the kettle can affect both the flavor and appearance of food. A bad scorch can entirely spoil a batch of food and damage the kettle as well, especially if the kettle is enamelware.

Most home cooks know that some foods scorch more easily than others. Milk, for example, when cooked directly on the stove, soon browns and burns on the bottom unless the heat is very low. Protein in the milk coagulates as the heat reaches it. The coagulated protein adheres closely to the pan, soon becomes dry, and then burns. This is why recipes for milk dishes, such as white sauce, cocoa, and custard, suggest heating the milk in a double boiler. Other familiar scorches are cheese and eggs. The protein coagulates in the same way—one reason for always cooking cheese or egg dishes at low heat.

Some mixtures scorch easily because the heavy solid part settles to the bottom in a close rather dry layer, leaving the liquid or watery part on top. The cook, seeing only the liquid on top, often forgets what is going on at the bottom of the pan, and scorching results. Familiar scorches of this kind are bean and pea soups, chowders, catsup, chili sauce and apple butter. Low, even heat and frequent stirring are advised to prevent scorching of such mixtures.

Internal Structure of Spoon Worms Fantastic

Life seldom has manifested itself in more fantastic form than in the spoon worms. They are like animated bags of liquid filled with a loosely integrated conglomeration of vital organs.

It is difficult to picture animal life functioning in a more chaotic milieu than inside these liquid-filled bags in which internal organs seem to "float around" without any fixed positions. Closer study, of course, shows considerable organization of the essential life processes.

Nearly every variety of spoon worm is characterized by a long proboscis with which it gropes for food in the mud. Echiuroids are burrowers in mud or sand, where they fashion more or less permanent tunnels. Occasionally, however, they live under rocks or in mud-filled mollusk shells. Sometimes they occupy rock galleries excavated by boring clams. Naturally they live very close to a purely vegetative existence.

Sweet Foods Burn Easily

Some sweet foods scorch easily—molasses and honey, for example. Molasses and honey cakes and cookies need to bake at a lower temperature than plain cakes and cookies. Chocolate has a tendency to scorch, so chocolate cake also should bake in a slightly lower oven. When cooking any of these scorchable foods on top of the stove, it is best to use a kettle with a heavy bottom that distributes heat evenly. Heavy aluminum is good for this purpose; enamelware and stainless steel poor. When cooking over burners that cannot be adjusted to very low heat, it is wise to protect against scorching by using an asbestos mat between pan and burner. Whenever food is to be "boiled down," as in making chili sauce or fruit butter, the cook must keep a close watch on the food, whatever kind of kettle is used. When vegetables are cooked in very little water, as nutritionists advise, care must be taken that the kettle does not boil dry before the vegetables are done.

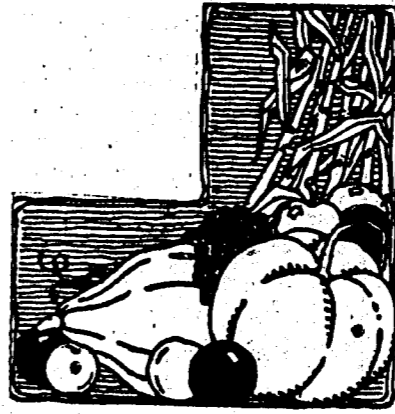

Robin Hood

Robin Hood is loved as the ideal yeoman as King Arthur was the ideal knight. He is the genial and generous hero of English legend described in the old ballads as the most virtuous and gentlemanly of outlaws who, with his band of yeomen, robbed the rich and shared spoils with the poor and the honest in distress. He and his companions including Friar Tuck, Little John, Scadlock and others lived in Sherwood Forest, Nottinghamshire, and depended for food on supplies taken from travelers and on the king's deer which they shot. Whether such a man ever lived has been a subject for much discussion. Literature about him is extensive for poems, stories, operas and dramas have been built around his exploits. The earliest notice of Robin Hood yet found is that pointed out in "Piers Plowman" which dates from about 1337. The ballads date from the beginning of the 15th century.

Vegetable Storage

Packing freshly harvested vegetables in crushed ice is a good way to prevent loss of vitamin C during transportation and storage because it combines moisture and low temperature. After three days of storage in crushed ice, Swiss chard, broccoli and lettuce still held most of their original vitamin C, investigations conducted by the Wisconsin experiment station showed. Leaf lettuce, after six days of storage packed in ice and held in a cold room, had lost less than 10 per cent of its C. The common practice of sprinkling lettuce or spinach to keep it fresh in retail markets was found to be of little help in saving the C vitamin. Moisture without refrigeration is of no benefit.

Harvest Is Almost Over And It Has Been A Bountiful One!

Won't You Give a Bit of That Bounty To a Splendid Cause?

As you undoubtedly know, construction operations on the Area Living War Memorial Swim Pool, honoring those who made the supreme sacrifice in World War II, have been suspended due to lack of funds.

It is estimated that construction work is 75% complete, costs 70%, as much "detail" work remains.

So, if you have not given, please help. If you have given and can spare a bit more, it will be sincerely appreciated.

You'll help, wont you? We must not fail!

Latest Army Jet Fighter Leads Predecessor

The XP-83 (white plane), world's longest-range jet-propulsion fighter plane, flies ahead of the P-59 A, in recent tests. The XP-83 is capable of flying at a speed of more than 500 miles an hour. Army Regulars, who gained their training in Army technical schools, assisted in this latest development. Qualified civilians may take advantage of interesting courses by enlisting in the Regular Army. Men between the ages of 17 and 34 years of age, inclusive, are eligible.

New Navy Enlistment Policy

H. Hilbert, CVT, U. S. N., navy recruiting officer at Lewiston, states that the navy department has issued new instructions regarding the term of enlistments in the navy. He stated that now men between the ages of 18 and 30 may enlist for 4 or 6 years only, men between 17 and 18 for minority to serve until their 21st birthday only. However, there are certain exceptions, especially for electronics and former members of the U. S. N., U. S. N. R. and U. S. N.-I V-6, and for veterans.

If interested, contact Mr. Hilbert at Lewiston.

Our hot weather is being broken by frequent wind storms and a few drops of rain. Though everything but the grain needs rain, the nice breezes are a great relief from the heat.

Watch Subscription Solicitors
A warning to Idahoans of apparent attempts by magazine or publication salesmen claiming to represent the Veterans Administration was made by Del Flores of the Lewiston V. A., who advised residents that such representation should be reported to local authorities.

The V. A. has no publications for sale nor does it represent or endorse any publication or salesman thereof. Flores said. A report was made by a housewife to a V. A. representative at Pocatello that she had been asked by a salesman to subscribe to a publication. The salesman represented himself as an agent of the Veterans Administration in selling subscriptions.

Report of similar activities in the Boise vicinity has been heard by the V. A., and residents of this territory are invited to contact local authorities or the V. A. representative in such circumstances, Flores said.

OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES
One of the taxi fleets that tested the new B.F. Goodrich Silvertown before it was offered for public sale was Yellow Cab, Louisville, Ky. In addition, it was tested on police cars and the B.F. Goodrich test fleet over millions of miles in all kinds of weather under severest conditions, and even at high speeds. All these tests supported the findings of Mr. Thomas A. Ballantine, President of Yellow Cab, Louisville, Ky., that: "... their wider, flatter tread gives our cabs better traction and surer, safer stopping. And in actual mileage, tests on our fleet prove they OUTWEAR PREWAR TIRES."

Potlatch Chief Sez

PUBLISHED BY THE KENDRICK CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERY

HI, THERE, FOLKS:

Monday, September 2nd, is Labor Day, and the creamery will be closed for the day. There will be no milk deliveries that day, so tell all your neighbors. Buy your Potlatch Chief milk, whipping cream, cottage cheese, ice cream and butter Saturday — buy enough to last for Sunday and Monday.

It's Advisable —

To have a good supply of dairy products on hand at all times, especially over the week-end when you enjoy relaxing and taking life easy. Always have things on hand that are ready to serve without preparation. That is where dairy products such as cottage cheese, milk and ice cream really "fill the bill." Write "Potlatch Chief Dairy Products" at the top of your shopping list today — and everyday.

About Those Packers:

Just a little reminder folks, that if you have any of our one-gallon ice cream packers, please return it, so that we will have plenty of them on hand for this week-end.

An old codger fell for an ad for a medical youth-restorer. Following the directions, he took six pills and went to bed.

His family had difficulty waking him the next morning. After a fierce struggle they managed to rouse him, only to hear him say: "I'll get up but I won't go to school!"

Customer: "Have you a book entitled, 'Man, the Master of the Home?'"
Clerk: "I don't know, sir. Try the fiction department on the other side of the store."

Crosby: "I think we ought to teach that dizzy blonde the difference between right and wrong."
Hope: "Good idea. You teach her what's right."
