BIG BEAR RIDGE NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson and children of Spokane visited her sister, Mrs. Henry Kortemeier, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Leland of Clarkston, and the Misses Betty Halseh and Norma Broemmeling of Lewiston spent Sunday at the Ed. Halseh home.

Mrs. Gerald Ingle and her 4-H club members displayed their sewing at the county fair in Moscow last week.

Mrs. H. Sneve was taken to the Gritman hospital in Moscow last week. She is now recuperating nicely at the home of her son, Stanley Sneve and family, in Genesee.

Mrs. Adrienne Clemenhagen and sons Robert, Fred and Sidney returned home from a visit with Mrs. Clemenhagen's mother in Alberta, Canada. She is over 90 years old, and is very well and active.

This ridge was well represented at the County Fair in Moscow last week.

Donald Jones is working near Troy. Claude Jones and Norla Callison have gone on a big game hunting trip.

Mrs. Albert Nelson and Karen and Mrs. Grant Clemenhagen were Troy and Moscow business visitors Monday.

Mrs. Leonard Fairfield spent Sunday at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Halvor Lien and Mrs. Oscar Slind were Lewiston shoppers Friday.

You are cordially invited to attend services at the Lutheran church Sunday, Oct. 6th, at 2:30 p. m.

Clifford Osthus and Melvin Andral of Sioux Falls, S. D., spent the weekend at the Forest home. Mr. Osthus and Mr. Forest had spent many months together in the army, including Australia and were discharged about the same time. On Monday, the boys, accompanied by Edwin and Joe Forest, drove to Coulee Dam.

Mrs. Olaf Burnvick expects to undergo a major operation at the Gritman hospital in Moscow this week.

Enjoy Skating Party

The M. Y. F. of the Kendrick Community church were joined by the Youth group of the Cameron Lutheran church Wednesday evening of this week in a skating party at Lewiston.

A thoroughly enjoyable evening was reported.

Swine Sale To Be Held

The North Idaho Purebred Swine Dealers' Association sale of spring boars and gilts will be held again this year, announces R. H. Hauger of Penn, Idaho, president. The sale and show will be held Friday, Oct. 18, at the Latah County fairgrounds in Moscow. Cooperating with the Swine Breeders' association is the Animal Husbandry department of the U. of I., who will offer their annual swine-type conference on Thursday, Oct. 17.

"A good quality consignment of pigs from all of the more popular breeds has already been received," states Elbert McProud, Latah county agent, who is handling all details of the sale.

Any Idaho purebred swine breeder, having good type, well developed spring boars or gilts is eligible to consign to this sale. Entries are consigned by submitting registration papers or registration application forms to Mr. McProud's office. Consignments must be made within the next few days to be included in the sale.

Smaller Candy Bars Coming

Candy bars selling for a nickel and a dime may shrink in size, the OPA states, as it allowed manufacturers to compute ceiling prices under a new system.

At the same time the pricing agency took these varied actions:

Allowed users and holders of stocks of syrups and liquid sugar to use or dispose of old stocks without rationing in order to ease hardships resulting from the Aug. 22 order that tightened rationing of syrups.

Raised prices on nail kegs and western softwood shingles in order to boost production of both for the housing program.

The new price rules on the 5c to 10c items includes small packages of wafers, mints, caramels, fudges, gums, jellies and flavored hard candy tablets as well as candy bars.

Under it manufactures may either lift prices or reduce sizes, but OPA said most items will be smaller because of a desire to stay in the nickel and dime classes.

Our note: If candy bars get any smaller, they'll look just exactly like the old-time "penny candy pack" that the kids bought so avidly before the days of OPA.

THURBER'S

"Wrecking" Wrecked House
Walter and Orville Sparber are busy tearing down the former Harry Langdon home in Brady Gulch, which they purchased some weeks ago. They plan on tearing it down completely, transporting the materials to the bench on their land just above town, and building a small bunagow.

They had planned on this for a winter's job, but kids with rocks were working over the windows and doors too rapidly, so they were forced to proceed with the work now in order to save these valuable sections.

Work Train Here
An N. P. work train and pile driver has been here the past ten days repairing the bridge across the creek at the foot of Brady gulch and otherwise making improvements where necessary.

Purchases Local Dray Line

A deal was closed last week-end between Charley Candler and Arthur Fraser in which Arthur became the owner of the local dray line. He began his new work Tuesday morning of this week.

Always listen patiently to the opinion of others. Chances are you won't derive any benefit therefrom, but it will please them.

Destruction And Reconstruction
Americans were very proud as re-conversion from peacetime production to wartime crowded its way to the top when the war started. Automobile factories added airplane plants and made hundreds of new articles. Shipbuilding and arms and munitions boomed. The farmers produced more than an extra 1,000,000,000 bushels of wheat a year and also upped corn another 1,000,000,000 bushels—on old machinery.

And, least you forget: The United States rescued the British Isles, saved Russia from defeat and drove enemies out of the heart of Europe. And at the same time the wars in the Pacific were won by Americans, without very much help from others —except the gallant Australians.

During late weeks people have become very much discouraged over the prospects of World peace. But we do feel proud of the magnificent efforts that have been made by our Big Three — Secretary of State Byrnes and Senators Vandenberg and Connally. Nevertheless, some of the best Washington authorities in the field of journalism insist: "There is no peace." Time will tell the international story — but it is black these beautiful fall days.

In the American picture, however, no sooner had the war been brought to a victorious conclusion than reckless labor leaders (we don't blame the workers) blocked reconversion of most of the major industries with strikes. They began in the automobile industry and coal, railroads and steel followed. The American public is faced with an automobile shortage that may last for several years. Military establishments must and will be maintained at a very high cost to the taxpayers. That means that taxes are not liable to come down very much, and maybe not at all. The probabilities are that public works, including many new roads, and the repair of old ones, and lower costs of building materials, may be delayed for many years to come.

Among the shortages, consider the things that most vitally affect the veteran now. He wants a job. He wants a home. He wants to go to school. When it comes to locating a home, the situation is desperate. Great things were expected when the Wyatt housing program was devised to build 2,700,000 homes in a hurry. But those expectations have not been lived up to. Mr. Wyatt has announced that 406,000 homes had been started this year up to the end of May. That is a long way from what the veteran had expected. Here again was the shortage spectre, lumber, nails, plumbing supplies, etc., traceable not only to the great demand, but to strike and price situations.

Well, like the "There is no peace" belief on the international situation, time alone can tell what will happen nationally.

It would be far more comfortable for the average man if his doctor would write his prescriptions in English and send the bills in Latin!

A man often thinks a woman is a terrible gossip because she repeats the things he tells her.

Duck Season To Be Short
The shortest duck season in many years has been ordered for 1946 by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Idaho's dates, the state fish and game department noted today, will be October 26 to December 9. That is a spread of 45 days, compared with 80 days last year.

Population of most species of wild ducks has declined within two years from a peak of 125,350,000 in 1944 to 80,000,000 — a dangerous level. With a 36 per cent decrease in duck population, coupled with a 50 per cent increase in the number of hunters from 1944 to 1946, we would invite disaster if we dug any deeper into our breeding stock.

Bag limit for ducks has been reduced from 10 a day and 20 in possession to seven a day and 14 in possession. Bag and possession limit for geese is two. Only one wood duck may be shot in a day or kept in possession.

Not only will the season be shorter but the shooting time each day will be reduced, according to the new regulations. It will begin one-half hour before sunrise and end one-half hour before sunset. Last year the shooting day ended at sunset.

The usual regulations on hunting methods will continue in effect. Shotguns must not hold more than three shells (chamber and magazine). Live decoys and baiting are forbidden. Federal duck stamps are required of all hunters 16 or older. Hunters 12 and older must have a state license. Children under 12 may not carry a gun in the field.

How Idaho will fare on the duck migration in this year of expected scarcity is unknown. The flight from Canada is expected to be light and late.

Home For Homefolks

Homes for veterans were so much in demand in the last six months that 225,000 of them were finished — this special class of houses having been given priority. Due to the building boom more than half of the houses that were started were not finished, principally because of the soaring prices of material and labor. Most prospective home-folks have decided to join the "waiting list" instead of digging in head-over-heels in debt. The big cities are, quite as usual, crowded with people from everywhere, and house-building is not near as popular as house-hunting.

You'll have to study something more than economics and the relation of our national resources to figure out any reason why the cost of new houses ballooned almost to the stratosphere. Ten thousand dollars for a new home for the family of a veteran (or any family for that matter) is an outrageous price.

Some lay the blame at the door of the real estate dealers — some to labor leaders — some to OPA. It may well be that all have had something to do with the situation — but it is with us, whatever the reason.

SALES DAY KENDRICK SATURDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1946

Kendrick's Annual Sales Day will be held on Saturday, October 13, for the auctioning of farmers livestock, implements, household goods—in fact, anything of which they may have a surplus and wish to turn into cash. The sale will start at 10:00 a. m. sharp, with Auctioneer Roy Glenn crying the sale. All goods will be auctioned ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE! Farmers are asked to bring in their articles in sufficient time to have them listed by Henry Jones or Ira Foster at the City Hall. No goods will be auctioned for town residents until all farmers' goods are sold —then only if time permits!

AGRICULTURAL EXHIBIT PRIZES

Vegetable Awards: Largest table squash, $2.00 first prize; $1.00, second. Largest cow pumpkin, $2.00 first prize; $1.00, second. Largest potato (any variety) $2.00 first prize; $1.00, second. Largest ear of field corn (any variety) $2.00 first prize, $1.00, second.

Field Crop Awards: Best pint jar Small White dry beans, $2.00 first prize; $1.00 second. Best pint jar Small Red dry beans, $2.00 first; $1.00 second. Best pint jar Pinto dry beans, $2.00 first; $1.00 second. Best pint jar Great Northern dry beans, $2.00 first; $1.00, second. Best pint jar Alsike Clover Seed, $2.00 first; $1.00, second. Best pint jar Red Clover Seed, $2.00 first; $1.00, second. Best pint jar White Dutch clover seed, $2.00, first; $1.00, second.

Flower Awards: Best bouquet of fall flowers (any variety) $1.00; 50c. Best bouquet roses, $1.00;

50c. Best bouquet asters, $1.00; 50c. Best bouquet perennials, $1.00; 50c.

Miscellaneous Award: Largest dozen eggs (all one color) $2.00 first; $1.00, second.

Note: Displays will be in Walter Brocke's freight depot. Entries for exhibit may be left at White's Confectionery prior to day of exhibit if desired.

Rules of Display: All agricultural entries must have been produced on the farm owned or operated by the one entering each item. All entries must have the owners name and address attached and must be registered at White's Confectionery on or before Sales Day.

Notice: All entries become the property of the Kendrick Commercial Club, which in turn will auction them off at the conclusion of the regular sale for the benefit of the Living War Memorial Swim Pool Fund. In case of a tie, the prize money will be divided equally.

Bring in your articles. Buy and sell at the Big Free Auction! Spend the day visiting and comparing notes with your neighbors. See the Flower and Agricultural Exhibits. Auctioneer Glenn predicts a big crowd and many items for the sale — since there have been but few farm sales so far this year. Norla Callison will be the sale clerk.

Then — in the evening — there's the big dance at the High School Gym., a Nylon Stocking Booth and Nylon Stocking Auction—also at the gym. — and all benefit of Living War Memorial Swimming Pool Fund. Any person residing in the Kendrick trade territory is eligible to enter agricultural or flower exhibits.

The Auction Sale will take place on the street between the Red Cross Pharmacy and White's Confectionery — or in Auto Freight depot.

All articles purchased at Auction must be settled for before being removed. All articles put up at the auction must be sold! Cash in on your surplus goods!

WARNING! Hot Money!

THE FOLLOWING RULES APPLY IN THE SALE OF BEANS THIS SEASON:

Dockage to be on a Federal Grade Certificate, issued by the Production and Marketing Administration, Moscow, Idaho. Samples to be drawn by a Federal sampler. Certificate to be issued to grower owning the beans. Samples that have been drawn by other than Federal Sampler are not legal, and contract and sales basis are void.

Bags to be furnished by the seller of the beans.

Dockage per Federal Sample Certificate is to be deducted in pounds from the weight of the beans, and the beans are to be figured at the ceiling price for the variety of beans sold. No buyer can pay for dockage.

Beans are to be delivered to warehouse. No buyer can pay for the hauling. If hauling is paid by the buyer, it must be deducted from the sale price of the beans.

If beans are sold on a clean basis, seller of beans does not need Federal Certificate to sell beans, as price will apply to clean beans.

You will be offered all kinds of deals in the selling of your beans by outside buyers. Check these deals before you sell, and make sure you are within the law, as the Government is out to stamp out the black markets.

Remember — We will pay you the legal ceiling prices for your beans. That we are here to serve you the year around, doing our best to take care of your needs.

Peach Tree Borer PDB Control Urged

Pest Biggest Peach Problem in America

By W. J. DRYDEN

Fall is the time to forestall the 1946 peach borer. Material increase in the average productive life of peach trees can be brought about by the effective control of peach tree borers.

Masses of gum mixed with sawdust-like refuse at or near the base of the trees reveal the presence of infestations. The injury may extend about a foot above or below the ground line.

Best control is obtained by applying powdered crystalline paradichloro-benzene (PDB) to the ground in a ring around the tree as shown in the illustration. The ring should be mounded with three to five spadefuls of earth.

The amount of PDB to be used will depend upon the age of the tree. For trees 1 year old, use ½ ounce; 2 years old, ½ ounce; 3 to 5 years old, ¾ ounce, and for older trees, from 1 to 2 ounces.

Know Your Breed Jerseys

Originating in the Island of Jersey, the Jersey breed of dairy cattle first was imported into the United States about 1850.

Jerseys are said to be more evenly distributed in the United States than any other breed. They possess to a great degree those qualities ideal for dairy types. Alert, clean-cut, angular and refined in conformation they still have large barrels.

Their milk test is right and cost of butterfat production is low. Average butterfat content is 5.35 per cent, highest of all breeds.

Fall Versus Spring

Fertilized Pastures

It is becoming increasingly evident from tests at New Jersey station and other states that except on very sandy soils fertilizers containing nitrogen for grassland and pasture sods, may be applied in late summer or early fall.

Fertilizers containing phosphoric acid and potash only, such as the mixtures usually recommended for alfalfa and Ladino clover fields, can be even more efficiently applied in the fall than in the spring.

Mineral Hopper for Hens

Laying hens and growing chicks need a constant supply of calcium in form of oyster shell or limestone. This hopper may be hung on the wall of the chicken house.

Conquering Flax Wilt

By Resistant Strains

During the early 20th century the flax industry was faced with a serious problem. "Flax-sickness" was making the industry unprofitable. It was found that "flax-sickness" was the result of a flax disease called wilt. This wilt fungus was introduced into the new soil when cropped to flax, where it lived and multiplied ready to attack later flax crops. The remedy was the introduction of new wilt-resistant varieties of flax.

Double-Cross Corn Not Fit for Reproduction

All plants in a field of corn planted with hybrid seed of a given strain are related—first cousins. The seed coming from such a field is definitely inbred and should not be saved for seed, points out the USDA. Reduction in vigor and grain yield is always the result of inbreeding in corn. The alternative is to plant each year the freshly crossed seed of tested strains of hybrid corn.

Report Atomic Treatment For Minor Cancer Cases

The first practical application of atomic research by-products to the treatment of cancer was reported by Dr. Bertram Low-Beer of the University of California medical school. Dr. Low-Beer's treatment is applicable only to superficial skin cancers and warts, and he warned against any hope that it can be applied in the near future to deep-seated tumors.

The physician reported the results of treatment of more than 300 cases of superficial skin cancer and warts which he has carried on quietly since 1941. Another 100 patients have been treated recently, but have not been under observation long enough to show conclusive results.

The treatment, used in the types of skin cancer known as basal cell carcinoma and hyperkeratosis and for warts on the hands, soles of the feet, and under the fingernails, is as simple as applying a bandage to a cut. A solution containing radioactive phosphorus is placed on thin blotting paper, allowed to dry, then applied to the tumor like a bandage. It is permitted to remain up to several days, depending on the required dosage of radiation. This causes a red blotch on the skin, and the blotch and tumor disappear gradually over a period of two months.

Manufacturers Sizing Dresses to Height

Something is being done about clothing for short and tall women, average sizes of ready-made garments being sized to height. That is, garments—including slips, dresses, coats and suits—are being made in proportionate length which will fit the short, average or tall, even though all three wear size 14.

Manufacturers who made garments for women in the armed services became aware of the variations in length. To cut down costly adjustments after garments were made, fabric was cut into correct proportions. This brought about a standardization of sizes. Manufacturers are endeavoring to make sizes uniform.

The junior miss, as its name implies, is for the teen-agers or small younger women. These sizes run 9, 11, 13 and 15. Misses' sizes are 10, 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20 and are designed for the lucky person who is well-proportioned, broad-shouldered, small-waisted and slim-hipped. Sizes 36 and up are the women's sizes intended for the more mature figure of average or taller height.

Prevent Mildew

Damaging molds that cause mildew thrive on summer warmth and moisture and, unless precaution is taken, may stain household fabrics. Do everything possible to keep the house dry and well-aired. If mildew has made a start, a small stove or heater may dry out one room enough to stop the growth. If larger areas are affected, it may be necessary to heat the house for a few hours. In warm, very damp weather, keep doors and windows closed during the day. Then ventilate at night when the air outside is cooler and drier than inside. A small electric light left burning in a closet usually dries out the air enough to prevent mildew. Or, if necessary, run an electric fan in the closet to stir up air. A jar of calcium chloride kept open in a closet acts as a drying agent, but must be replaced from time to time as it can absorb only a certain amount of moisture. Now and then, leave drawers and closet doors open for an airing.

Butterfat Content

Research workers have found that the butterfat content of milk increases with each quart milked. When one quart was milked at a time the fat content was found to range from 1.4 per cent for the first quart up to 7.6 per cent for the stripings. Farmers wanting to get as high a fat test as possible should therefore get all the milk possible at each milking. It has been found that fast milking is important because cows let down their milk only for a certain time, and if the milker is slow, he may not get the last rich part. The butterfat content of milk is usually somewhat higher after cows have exercised. Usually they get more exercise during the day than at night, and yet the night milking period is often the shortest.

Grind Own Feed

In contrast to the old-fashioned method of bringing grain to the local feed mill every week, and thus wasting a lot of time waiting, the modern farmer does his feed grinding automatically. A simple elevator removes the grain from the thresher or wagon, and elevates it to a bin in the granary overhead. Chutes from these bins lead to the feed grinder below. Here, the grain is ground and then elevated to another bin, where ingredients are added to the home-grown feed to give the proper balance. The mixing operation is as simple as the grinding, the feed being mixed while it is transferred from one bin to another by the elevator. Two passes, and the feed is mixed sufficiently—and the supply is ready for use.

Work Gloves Go Up

Work gloves have joined the ranks of cotton apparel items whose ceiling prices have had to be increased because of the higher cost of cotton knitted and woven fabrics, says an OPA dispatch.

Effective September 11, work gloves went under a flexible formula which permits prices to go up or down with changes in cotton fabric prices. The initial effect of this formula will be to raise the ceiling prices of work gloves by the amount of the recent increases in cost of cotton fabrics.

In a typical case of a standard work glove, the price rise at retail is 3c per pair.

Restaurant Signs A phrase, "Our ceiling prices are in conformity with the provision of the Emergency Price Control Act as amended," will replace the longer statement which has appeared on restaurant menus since the start of price control, OPA announces. In addition, the posting of prices under the sign titled "Our Ceiling Prices" which has hung on walls of all eating spots is no longer necessary, although it must be kept with records of the establishment.

The new phraseology was ordered after changes in the OPA act required restaurant operators to compute prices on current food costs rather than on previous prices.

About That Poultry House

A tip for putting up a poultry house with a dry floor from C. E. Lampman, poultry husbandman at the U. of I. First, be sure to give plenty of thought to ventilation. This is very important and quite a good-sized subject in itself. Lampman recommends a cement floor for the building. Board floors are hard to keep clean and dry and are actually colder during severe winter weather. Use any insulation under the floor that'll tend to make it warmer. You will find that eight to ten inches of heavy coarse gravel under the concrete floor will make it warmer and keep it drier.

Test Bird and Rodent Destruction of Tree Seed

That small rodents and seed-eating birds retard the reseeded of many trees is well known. Specific information on the destruction of jack pine seeds by nine rodent species and five bird species was provided by a study made in the Chippewa national forest, Minnesota, in 1941.

The study area had been logged, the ground disked, and cone-bearing jack pine slash scattered evenly over it. Abundant jack pine seeds were available. Flocks of Brewer blackbirds and goldfinches were present as well as smaller numbers of juncos and chipping sparrows. A few birds were shot and 161 small rodents were trapped in the area.

Conclusions and suggestions derived from this study and other available information are that only a few birds and mammals seriously depleted the jack pine seed supply; the species eating the most seed were those which thrive best and occur in the greatest number on cleared areas; direct seeding the first spring after fires or logging operations will insure the least destruction of seed by animals as well as a minimum of early vegetative competition; cover the seeds with mineral soil to help hide them from animals, hasten germination and improve subsequent survival.

Hysteria Mental Malady With Dangerous Effects

Hysteria - the so-called "shell-shock" of the First World War, although probably a majority of its victims never heard a shell fired - persisted on a greatly diminished scale among American troops in the last war, according to an announcement from the surgeon general's office. It was predominantly a mental malady of the last generation. Essentially it is manifested as a syndrome which simulates, without organic basis, some pathological physical condition. A victim will develop, for example, a paralyzed arm, but physical examination shows that the paralyzed area does not follow any single nerve or group of nerves. A man may be suddenly stricken blind but nothing wrong can be found with his eyes or optic nerve.

A hysteric is not consciously faking. For all practical purposes his arm is really paralyzed or his eyes sightless. Questioning often will reveal that the victim has had a hard blow on the arm or gotten a bug in his eye. If such a condition is not recognized it may persist for years and the organ involved may actually become useless permanently through disuse.

Traveling Expenses

A marked increase in the proportion of salesmen's traveling expenses to total sales from 1944 to 1946 and a growing concern on the part of management with how such expenses can be controlled are indicated in a survey published by the American Management Association. The association's report, which covered 92 companies, showed that though transportation, automobile and hotel room expenses as a proportion of total traveling expenses declined from 1940 to 1946, the portion of expenditures on meals and miscellaneous items increased, and entertainment expenses climbed from little more than 11 per cent of the total to almost 14 per cent. Of total traveling expenses, about 43 per cent goes to transportation including auto travel, 14 per cent to hotel rooms, 18 per cent for meals, 11 per cent to personal items like tips, valet, laundry, telephone and other miscellany.

Psychiatric Treatment

A British industrial psychiatrist, describing the successful work of England's first industrial Rehabilitation Center which treats patients suffering from occupational and social maladjustments, says that during one 12-month period 580 men and 460 women have been treated with satisfactory results. Many of the cases were medically and psychiatrically difficult and a minority were complicated by insoluble social problems. It is often difficult to classify the cases exactly, but the greater number were suffering from occupational and social maladjustments. Rehabilitation is a form of scientific treatment which should be a part of medical therapy of all illnesses, the psychiatrist says. The better and earlier the treatment, the fewer will be the cases of permanent disability which will require vocational training and the more satisfactory the results in those so trained.

Meat Values

Pound for pound poultry meat has the same quantity of protein, the most important value of meat in the diet, as other meat. Chicken giblets are especially rich in iron and vitamin A, as the edible organs of other meats are. Except for the giblets, however, poultry meat does not contain as much iron as the so-called red meats. In that important vitamin, B1 or thiamine, chicken rates along with beef but below lamb and veal and considerably below pork. In the other B-vitamins chicken and other meats are about the same. Dark meat contains considerably more riboflavin and probably more iron, as well as more of the extractives or flavoring substances in meat.

Huge Canned Pea Pack Credit for helping to produce one of the largest packs of canned peas on record at a time when an abundant food supply is a world problem went today to the farmers and canners of Idaho, one of the country's leading pea producing states. Although no official state or national figures have yet been compiled, L. W. Graaskamp of the American Can company estimates that the nation's canned pea pack this year will be about 38,500,000 cases, or more than 900,000,000 cans of peas. This is a conservative estimate, Mr. Graaskamp stated, and is based on the quantity of cans supplied for the crop and information obtained from growers, canners and other reliable sources of information. A pack of this size was exceeded only in 1945. The annual pre-war pack during the years 1937-41 was 23,800,000 cases. Acreage of vegetables for canning continue to show a marked increase, this stabilizing growth being due in part to the effects of the tin can in the nation's agricultural economy. It has provided American farmers with broader markets by making possible year-round consumption of vegetables produced during a short growing season.

Number "13" Lucky For Tires The much-abused "13" is the luckiest number in the book for the automobile tire, according to G. F. Brocke, manager of the B. F. Goodrich store here. "Thirteen per cent is the ideal percentage of deflection in a tire," George explains. "That is," he added, "there is that much 'give' in a tire when it is properly inflated."

It is hardly convenient for a motorist to measure the deflection of his tire, but he can easily gauge a tire's air pressure and keep it at the point recommended by the tire manufacturer. Keeping tires at the recommended pressure not only insures riding comfort, but is by far the greatest single aid in getting maximum service out of them. Under-inflation and over-inflation are the two deadliest enemies of tire life, and these twin evils cost the American driving public hundreds of thousands of dollars annually, and this is particularly serious at a time when even the present record-breaking tire production is over-shadowed by the demand and there still are not enough tires to go around.

HI, THERE, FOLKS:

We Need Whole Milk!

We are still very much interested in securing whole milk from one of you farmers. There is a real profit in selling whole milk, and no bother of separating. Think it over, then come in and talk it over with us.

About Locker Paper:

We still have a few rolls of locker paper left — but you better get your supply before it is too late.

About Locker Boxes:

To all locker renters: We feel it necessary to have all lockers paid for within two months of the expiration date. If not paid for within this allotted time, we must turn them over to one of those on our waiting list. We realize that payments on your lockers are easily forgotten, or else just neglected, but since all our lockers are filled, and we have such a large waiting list, we feel that this action has become necessary.

Amateur Financiers

The New York Stock Exchange is dancing jigs in market prices. There is a lot of lazy and crazy money around nowadays, and some of the people who are throwing it away might do worse than to buy a few shares of stock. Many market stocks will remain good while more issues will slump and stay down.

A dozen years ago most people came out of the stock markets acknowledging that they were not only amateurs, but foolish adventurers. These people, most of whom are still alive, learned their lessons the hard way, and without any attempt to smear the stock market, they are almost unanimous in believing that you can't make easy money that way unless you know how.

And as a general rule, you can't learn how — even in the school of experience.
