Weather Warming Up

Locally the weather has been warming up quite rapidly the past week, with Friday, Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday as glorious a spring weather as anyone could wish. The later spring flowers, including peonies, are now in bloom, and late-leaving trees are showing their true colors.

Out on the ridges the farmers have now plunged into spring work with a vengeance, and the lights and rumbling exhausts of tractors can be seen and heard in many places all night long — since most farm work is estimated to be about two weeks behind the usual schedule, late and heavy showers keeping draws too wet to plow.

Installing Air Conditioners
John Davis was busy the fore-part of the week installing two air conditioning units in the Kendrick Cafe — a small one in the kitchen, and a large unit for the cafe itself.

It's getting the time of year when such items will prove a distinct help.

NORTHWEST MARKETS ARE INDEPENDENTLY FIRM

The principle cash wheat markets in the Pacific Northwest held fairly steady showing only slight fluctuations during the past week, according to reports to the Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. D. A.

The action of the cash wheat in the local markets was largely independent of the May futures in the Chicago market, which showed a net loss for the week of 3 cents per bushel, while the ordinary export classes showed a net gain of 1 cent per bushel, and high protein Dark Hard Winter 6 cents in the Pacific Northwest markets during the same period.

Despite the firm tone and the advance in prices, trading was rather light, with reports from the producing areas indicating that stocks of wheat remaining in the hands of the growers are very small and are being firmly held.

On the other hand, demand was not aggressive, with the mills furnishing the principal outlet, and purchases were generally limited to small quantities of special types of wheat to fill in stocks.

Movement of wheat to the Pacific Northwest terminals for export was speeded up materially during the past week.

Reports by the Weather Bureau indicate that the winter wheat crop in this area continues to make excellent progress, and recent warm weather followed by rather widespread precipitation, though measured amounts were rather small, has been very beneficial in speeding the growth of both winter and spring crops.

The cash wheat at Portland remained fairly steady during the week as compared with other recent weeks.

Bid prices on the export classes of wheat advanced 2 cents per bushel but the last day of the period declined 1 cent showing a net gain of 1 cent on the export type of wheat, but 12 percent protein Dark Hard Winter showed a net gain of 6 cents per bushel for the same period.

Demand for wheat was rather with local mills not generally active in the market, and reports in the trade indicate that most of the mills in this area have largely provided for their wheat requirements for the next two months.

Wheat buyers from the Mid-Western markets have apparently lost interest in Pacific Northwest wheat, as available supplies of wheat of suitable quality and properly located for shipment East are reduced to low levels.

Wheat receipts at the Columbia River terminals during the week were 487 cars and at the Puget Sound terminals 595 cars, compared with 536 and 370 cars, respectively, the previous week.

Bid prices on the Portland Grain Exchange were as follows: Soft white, soft white (no Rex), white club, western red and hard red winter, ordinary, all $2.37 per bushel, basis No. 1, bulk, 15-day shipment, coast delivery.

Purchases by the Production and Marketing Administration, beginning at noon April 11 and ending at noon April 13, inclusive latest available figures, were as follows: 5,233,000 bushels of corn; 850,000 bushels of grain sorghums; 30,000 bushels of barley; 22,420,000 pounds of flour; Cumulative purchases, July 1, 1946, through April 13, 1947, included 155,100,926 bushels of wheat, approximately 2,600,700,000 pounds of flour; 62,166,000 bushels of corn; 13,797,165 bushels of barley; 7,236,500 bushels of oats and 2,375,000 bushels of grain sorghums.

All of these purchases have been made to fill export allocations. The total of 155,100,926 bushels of wheat bought since July 1 was purchased as follows: Kansas City, 80,819,512 bushels; Minneapolis, 11,754,972; Chicago, 27,427,635 bushels, and Portland, (Oregon) 35,098,757 bushels.

Wheat receipts at Ogden declined somewhat from other recent weeks and totaled only 64 cars for the period, with 25 cars billed to eastern markets and 7 more diverted south.

Premiums were not paid for higher milling grades, and $2.47 per bushel was the generally quoted price, f. o. b. Ogden, down 1c per bushel from last week's price.

Despite a decline of about 7 per cent in grain prices at the principal central western markets from the March peak, prices are now about 35 per cent above a year ago and 25 per cent above the ceiling prices in effect in June, 1946.

Wheat prices have been above ceiling levels during the entire 1946-47 marketing season, reflecting large exports and domestic demand and are now a little over 50 per cent above a year ago.

At Kansas City No. 2 hard winter brought $2.69½ per bushel on April 23, a decline of 20c per bushel from the March peak, but current prices are still almost $1.00 per bushel higher than the average of a year ago, and 75c per bushel above the August level during the heavy marketing season.

Idaho Industry To Alaska
The Washington-Idaho Lime Products company plant, which was too dusty for Orofino and therefore enjoined, will be shipped to Homer, Alaska, and set up to manufacture cement there. Parker T. Lyle, Anchorage, formerly of Lewiston, has announced. The Alaskan location will be close to a 500,000 ton limestone deposit and seven miles from a coal mine. The re-assembled plant will have a capacity of 600 barrels daily and will employ 60 workers. Cost of moving and re-assembling the plant is estimated at $125,000.00. Fresh fruits and vegetables, fresh and cured meats, cereals and hot cake flours of all kinds are always obtainable at Blewett's Grocery Market, Kendrick.

U. OF I. TO ENTER EXTENSIVE DRY BEAN RESEARCH
The University of Idaho will launch this summer the second phase of its research work for one of south-central Idaho's largest agricultural industries — dry bean production. Scene of this new research will be eight acres of leased land on the L. W. Moore farm, Route 2, Twin Falls. Doing the work will be the agricultural experiment stations, departments of agronomy and plant pathology of the university agricultural experiment station.

Hike Potato Sales By New Packaging
Paper Bags Provide Ideal Retail Units

Millions of pounds of potatoes are getting a new ride to market this year. They are riding in new paper bags, made of "wet strength" paper which absorbs moisture without breaking. They are going in 10, 15 and 50 pounds quantities which retail stores can sell immediately without further sorting, sacking or handling.

Wet strength paper bags meet with consumer acceptance.

At one time, not so long ago, all grades, sizes and quantities, including culls, were shipped in burlap bags. Merchants had to sort and package the vegetables. Today an ever-growing number of shippers are pre-packaging potatoes in the new paper bags. This means a little more work, but it pays in providing a better-selected, higher quality and more uniform product. The store gets clean, graded potatoes packaged in retail-size bags which can be sold at once.

Wet strength paper was developed before the war but its merchandizing potentialities were not utilized until this year.

KNOW YOUR BREED
Cheviot
By W. J. DRYDEN

Cheviot sheep are one of the oldest purebred varieties in the world. Prolific, hardy, with little oil in their wool, they produce an exceptionally high class of fleece.

The mutton may be classed as among the very best. It contains about the right degree of fatness and is high in grain and flavor.

A beautiful breed, with fleeces from 4 to 5 inches long in one year, and rams clipping between 8 and 10 pounds, it has proven its worth as a general purpose sheep. According to breed standards a mature ram in good flesh should weigh 185 pounds or more and a mature ewe, 140 pounds or more.

Keeping the Farm in The Family Forever

Thousands of elderly farmers carried on while their sons were fighting the war. Many of them now are seeking a way to retire and transfer their farms to younger hands. Those retiring farmers want to be fair, both to the son and to his brothers and sisters. Today's swift-moving events demand that farm property arrangements be kept sound and continuous for the welfare of nation and family.

List Guides in Selecting Durable Home Furniture

Here are some guides to help you in deciding which piece of furniture will give your family the greatest service:

Frames should be well-seasoned hardwood with dowel (peg) or tenon joints and fitted corner blocks at the points where there is the greatest strain. These should be glued or screwed in place. Springs should be made of well-tempered steel and tied firmly to each other and to the frame with a regular spring tying cord. This will prevent the springs from shifting. The springs should be sewed, before tying, to interlaced strips of woven jute bands tightly stretched across the bottom of the furniture. This type of construction is more resilient and simpler to repair than any other. The cheaper the piece of furniture, the wider and farther apart the webbing is.

Of the padding now used in furniture, sponge rubber is found in the highest priced and best pieces. Next in quality are horsehair, down, feathers, cotton felt, moss, cotton and excelsior padding. The outside cover of the furniture should be firm and closely woven to give durable service. Simple tailored lines are the most practical. Furniture with straight legs looks well in the majority of rooms.

Accident Leads to Better Care of New-Born Pigs

An ingenious life saver for little pigs—as simple as it is practical—is the result of an accident in Kentucky. The accident was the failure of the foundation in a farrowing house. This let down one side of the floor and caused it to slant. The slanting floor proved a life-saver for the little pigs born in the pen a few days later. Now the general recommendation is for slanting floors in farrowing houses—a slope of an inch and a half to the foot works well.

This new idea in swine husbandry takes advantage of two simple facts in porcine behavior. On a sloping floor a sow prefers to lie down with her back to the high side. Clumsy little pigs stagger a bit the first few days, and even on a slightly sloping floor tend to tumble to the low side. The life saving is as simple as that. When the mother pig is ready to lie down she is likely to choose the high side of the pen, and the little pigs are likely to be bunched on the low side. Thus the mother is not so likely to lie down on and crush one or several pigs.

The actual gain has proved much greater than most would suppose. One swine grower in Kentucky had one farrowing house with sloping floors and one with level floors. On sloped floors he saved an average of 9.2 pigs to the litter compared with 7.2 pigs on level floors. Kentucky farmers are gaining from one to four pigs to the litter, according to reports extension workers are sending to the department of agriculture.

Woodchuck Delicous

The woodchuck is strictly a vegetarian and despite his rough-looking exterior is a stickler for cleanliness. The meat of the "sod-pig" tastes a bit like raccoon but he is somewhat fatter. For stewed woodchuck — clean woodchuck, remove glands and some of the fat. Cut meat into serving pieces. Soak overnight in a solution of equal parts water and vinegar, with the addition of a sliced onion and a little salt. Drain, wash and wipe. Par-boil 20 minutes, drain and cover with fresh boiling water. Add one sliced onion, one-half cup of sliced celery, a few cloves, salt and pepper. Cook until tender. Thicken gravy with flour. Other vegetables may be added if desired.

New Insect Killer

Phenothiazine, the sensational chemical compound that controls more kinds of internal parasites in more kinds of animals than any other drug known, has found a new field of economic usefulness — as an insecticide for the control of the codling moth. Combined with lead arsenate, the new grade of phenothiazine, which differs somewhat in composition and physical makeup from the regular phenothiazine, has given outstanding control of this devastating apple pest in numerous experiments and demonstrations, particularly in Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey. In some cases stings and worms were reduced to 1 per cent.

Setting Strawberries

In setting strawberry plants, be careful not to put them in too deep. Try to set them at the same depth that they originally grew. If the buds in the center of the plants are covered with soil, the plants will be delayed in blooming or may not bloom at all and in some cases they may die. Space the plants about 10 to 12 inches in the row, and to get the job done faster, two people should co-operate — one dropping the plants ahead and the other making the holes and setting the plants. Pack the soil tightly around each plant to keep the roots from drying out. Strawberries are adapted to a very wide range of soil and climatic conditions and are the first fruit to ripen in the spring. Less time is required from date of planting to date of harvest than any other fruit.

Urges Pooling Medical Facilities for Efficiency

Competition and lack of integration may result in degeneration of the medical profession into a trade unless a more efficient organization of medical services can be developed, Dr. Henry B. Makover warns in an article in the Modern Hospital magazine.

In our scientific age, medical care has become too complex for the individual physician to provide, the author contends. The medical knowledge now accumulated cannot be encompassed by any one doctor, nor can he be expected to be accurately familiar with each new advance in the field, the article states. Furthermore, the varied and complicated equipment needed in providing medical care is costly to purchase and maintain.

Group practice, described as "combined use of equipment and pooling of skills and knowledge," offers the best solution for both patient and doctor, Dr. Makover believes, and hospitals are ready-made units for organizing such groups of co-operating physicians, since needed equipment and personnel are already grouped there.

10 Questions Assist in Selecting Marriage Mate

A person should ask himself 10 questions in choosing a mate, according to Dr. Knight Dunlap of the University of California.

1. Am I happier with her than when I am with any other women?
2. When I am not with her, am I persistently wishing for her company, or does some other woman put her out of my mind?
3. Would I be not only willing but glad to spend my life with her, centering my other interests about her?
4. Would I gladly give up all interests and activities that do not comport with my devoting my life interest to her?
5. Is she the one woman whom I would choose, above all others, to be the mother of my children?
6. Do I love her with her faults of face, figure, disposition, education, or what not?
7. Is she apparently disposed to make for me sacrifices as great as those I am willing to make for her?
8. Is she disposed to adapt herself to me, to a reasonable extent, in interests, in temperamental matters and in other ways?
9. Is there a community of interests and culture adequate to a joint life with her?
10. Do I like her family well enough to be able to tolerate them and get along with them?

Taught Indians Bible

Three hundred years ago, in 1646, John Eliot, who had arrived in America from England 15 years earlier, began preaching to the Indians. Beginning in English, by the summer of 1647 he was preaching in their own language. Hoping to Christianize all the New England tribes, he began his translation of the Bible into the Indian tongue at about this time. His work, the first complete Bible to be printed in North America, was published at Cambridge, Mass., in 1663 and "constitutes the earliest example in history of the translation and printing of the entire Bible in a new language as a means of evangelization."

Sweet Fruits

Though varieties of apples and pears differ in sweetness, these fruits are, on the average, about 10 per cent sugar. The simplest way to take advantage of this "built-in" sugar supply is to eat them out of hand. But for variety, try them in salads dressed in cheese. Split a pear and fill the center with Roquefort cheese thinned with a little cream. Or chop up apples with cottage or cream cheese, and add nuts, and carrot strips. And grapes and raisins in the salad will lend it even greater sweetness. For cooked dishes, apples and pears need a little extra sweetening.

See Through Walls

Scientists in the General Electric company's research laboratory can "see" through walls and around corners with the aid of a newly-developed device called a "microwave unit," it was revealed. Combining characteristics of both the electric eye and radar, this unit is expected to have many practical applications. In contrast to the electric eye, the "microwave unit" sees by means of high-frequency radio waves, rather than a light beam. By means of a parabolic reflector, these microwaves are focused in a beam and reflected from objects, similar to the way that radar impulses and a beam of light are reflected.

Curing Meat

Curing meat is really a race between spoilage germs and salt. Chilling meat chills spoilage germs and holds them in check until the salt can penetrate. Commercial curing or pickling salts are already mixed and blended. For a home-made mixture, the proportions are 8 pounds of salt, 2 pounds of sugar (brown or white), and 2 ounces of saltpeter to 100 pounds meat. It is important to weigh the meat and the curing ingredients carefully. Too little salt may cause spoilage; too much salt makes a hard, dry over-salty meat.

Develop New Sex Hormone For Treatment of Menopause

A new synthetic female sex hormone which promises to free women from suffering in the difficult transition period of middle age has been developed as the climax of a ten-year quest in laboratories throughout the world, Dr. C. T. Van Meter and C. A. Siconolfi of the Reed and Carnrick Institute for Medical Research declared.

The new drug, called Meprane, can be taken by mouth and has none of the toxic characteristics which impaired the usefulness of some previously synthesized hormones, the report states, adding that Meprane can be produced at relatively low cost because the necessary raw materials are readily available.

Although the female hormone, or estrogen, has a variety of therapeutic uses, the report continues, medical authorities testing Meprane at several large medical centers expect the new drug to perform its greatest service in the treatment of the menopause. As this condition is approached, the ovary commences to decrease its output of true hormone, the doctors explain. The result is that the normal delicate balance between the sex hormone and certain other hormones is disturbed, and this lack of balance brings about the characteristic symptoms of the menopause.

Proper Installation Needed With New Radiant Heating

Radiant heating providing warmth from pipes buried in the floor is usually found in new homes of any size and architectural shape. Radiant heating costs somewhat more than standard systems, but savings in operating costs run as high as one-third. Adding radiant heating to existing homes is usually a big, costly job, because it means tearing up and replacing floors or ceilings, but it can be done.

Radiant heating systems call for expert design by experienced engineers because it is expensive to correct errors when pipes are buried in the building. Theoretically, heat control presents problems. In a system including gallons of water, tons of concrete, and hundreds of feet of pipe, the heat supply may lag behind the call from an ordinary thermostat. Heat control can be improved by basing it on outdoor temperature. As a balancing advantage, zone control works well with radiant heating. You can easily have 70 degrees in your living room, 65 degrees in work areas, and 50 degrees in sleeping areas.

Radiant heating was first used by the Romans, 2000 years ago. In the past 20 years, hundreds of homes have been so equipped.

Clean Garden

Refuse and plants from garden crops should be removed and carried to the compost heap or be disposed of otherwise in the fall. Any plant that might carry over diseases or insects should not be left near the garden or used in the compost heap. After refuse has been removed from the garden, at least part of the garden should be prepared for spring planting. This will make it possible to plant many early vegetables before it would be possible to prepare the ground in the spring. Lime should be applied, if needed, along with stable manure and the ground thoroughly broken, rows laid off and listed up ready for spring planting. Compost, which is valuable in the garden and on shrubs, flowers and lawns, can be made from materials that would otherwise be wasted. Refuse from the garden, leaves, straw and leaf mold may be used in making the compost pile and some manure may be added if desired.

Abundant Material

Silicone is one of the most abundant materials in the earth's surface, with millions of tons of practically pure silicone dioxide available merely by gathering the sands from our thousands of miles of ocean beaches. In the field of protective coatings, silicone resins are just beginning to make their bow, with heat resistance the outstanding virtue making them a natural for stove finishes. Panels have been baked at 600° F. for days on end with little or no color change taking place. It is a certainty that silicone research will be pursued at top speed for the compounds produced to date have exhibited unusual and unpredictable properties. Each type of finish has certain properties that recommend it for use in certain fields. The technicians of the protective coating industry, after study of specific finishing problems, can often help decide what type of finish is best for a specific application.

Deer Hunters

A total of 233 deer were taken with bow and arrow in Wisconsin in 1946, the highest bow hunter kill ever recorded in any state since the ancient weapon was revived as a hunting instrument, the conservation department said. Of the total kill, 126 deer were taken in the Necedah wildlife refuge. This take included 68 bucks and 58 does. In the other open areas of the state 107 deer were arrow-killed. A total of 39 of these were bucks and 68 does. It is estimated that more than 5,000 bow and arrow hunters were afield during the special bow hunting season, September 28 to November 11.

To Be Guests Of Salmon
The second "aviation breakfast" of Idaho's 1947 season will be held at Salmon, Idaho, last jumping-off place into one of the nation's most extensive "primitive areas" and located on the world-famous Salmon—"River of No Return." These breakfast flights are a regular function of the Idaho Department of Aeronautics — and the Salmon Chamber of Commerce will be host to the breakfast May 18th, at 10:00 a. m.

All visiting pilots and aviation enthusiasts are directed to land on the Salmon Air Park, located one-half mile south of the city. The field consists of one N-S runway, 2640 feet in length, 3980 feet in elevation, and directly parallel to the highway. If the weather permits, the breakfast will be served out-of-doors, bar-becue style. If not, proper arrangements have been made for an in-doors meal and meeting. Transportation to and from the airport will be furnished.

Following the Salmon breakfast the city of Mackay will be host for a fish fry and fishing spree on June 15. Mackay citizens urge pilots and passengers to bring their fishing tackle and try their luck in the reservoir near there.

Fresh and cured meats, fresh and fresh frozen vegetables, fresh frozen fruits, chicken for frying, and fresh bakery goods are always available at Blewett's Grocery-Market, Kendrick. 1-adv.

MAYBASKETS
'Twas on the eve of May-day,
And there hanging on my door;
In jaunty colors, bright and gay,
A row of baskets, six or more.
A timid rap, then — a hurried pace,
And as I look into the night
No one there — just empty space —
But I hear them giggling in their flight.
It could be an Elf, or maybe a Sprite
Or maybe a Fairy from above —
Here's the secret — I'll set you right;
It says: "To Teacher — with my love."
— Melva Woody.

GRADUATING CLASS OF '47

To you dear ones now stepping out
To cope with life in this great age,
For what you have been taught
You'll find much need
As would any former sage.
And while we now are much more learned
We'll ever need more teaching
And boys and girls, do you know
You'll cease to grow
Unless you keep on reaching .
Yes, reach you dears, and reach you high
For success be ever yearning,

And there's good things in store for each lad and lass,
Who are eager yet for learning.
Your vocation pick and to it stick
For the goal you wish to be nearing,
Be courageous too, in all you do,
Obstacles not fearing.
And just one don't — let your teachers down
Keep parents proud as they are this minute
Say: "I'll make something of myself
And right now I'll begin it!"
— Mrs. N. H. Stedman.

Potlatch Chief Sez

PUBLISHED BY THE KENDRICK CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERY

HELLO, THERE, FOLKS:

About the Weather And Ice Cream!

With the temperature around 90 degrees in the shade, what sounds more refreshing than ice cream? It's just the thing to serve the family for dessert these warm evenings. Just think of it — no slaving over a hot stove fixing puddings or pies. Just drop in at the creamery and ask for "Potlatch Chief Ice Cream" — the ice cream that satisfies!

For afternoon gatherings, ice cream will "hit the spot" with your friends. Also it's a treat to the kiddies who arrive home from school with that familiar chant: "I'm hungry!"

Buy a quart or a gallon today.

About Baby Chicks:

To you poultry farmers — We would like to let you know that it isn't too late to order baby chicks. Place your order now!

Flying through the Pentagon Building, a little pigeon perched on a window sill to rest. Close behind came another pigeon who stopped a said: "Where are you going?"

"Over to section M to deliver an order," answered the first. "I'm just resting for a moment."

"What order do you have?"

"No. 2345-X."

"Well, get a move on," chirped the second pigeon. "I have the order that rescinds it."

Young man to his boss: "My wife and I find it very difficult for two persons to live on my salary."

Boss: "Well, I'll see what I can do" about getting a divorce for you."

"Mama, I never see a picture of an angel with a beard or moustache. Don't men go to heaven?"

"Yes, dear — but it's always by a close shave!"

Interest In Sewing Noted
Interest in sewing is steadily increasing among rural girls. This is reflected in an announcement that 1,345 counties in 45 states named winners in the 1946 National 4-H Clothing Achievements awards program, or a gain of 144 counties over the preceding year.
The 1947 program comprises special training for 4-H Club girls in planning, selecting, constructing, repairing and caring for clothing.

They learn to dress appropriately, becoming and healthfully, in keeping with the family budget. The girls are also encouraged to make useful articles of wearing apparel and accessories by crocheting, knitting, or other needlecraft arts.
Outstanding records of achievement in this activity are again being recognized by merit awards.
