NO. 46

SAYS IDAHO ROADS NOT BAD — IN COMPARISON!

Idaho roads aren't too bad. That's the observation of Tom Cuning, Idaho's travel promotion director, who after completing a 5,000 mile tour of the west and mid-west, taking in Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri and Kansas — came back to report that "in comparison to many we have nothing to be ashamed of."

Cuning made the tour to contact editors of newspapers and magazines relative to the placing of Idaho publicity material. He also attended the annual meeting of the National Association of Travel Officials at Chicago.

Upon his return Cuning commented on the highways, service and conditions in general. About highways he said: "I don't want anyone to get the idea that I think Idaho roads are as good as they should be, or that they shouldn't continue to be improved, but I do want to say that we have nothing to be ashamed of in comparison. Idaho highways are better driving roads, actually smoother and better kept than the highways of any state I drove through except Illinois. We make Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado and Wyoming look mighty bad."

Cuning suggested: "That we continue to work for better roads in Idaho, but that we quit telling ourselves and everyone else how bad they are when, by comparison, they aren't."

About the travel business, Cuning said, "Travel business in 1947 was greater in number of travelers than in 1946. Trouble is, people weren't spending as much. We haven't been operating the state board of publicity set-up for very long, but people, particularly newspaper people, are beginning to know something about Idaho and are asking for more information."

"There are a couple of observations I should like to make," continued Cuning, "which have to do with the service the traveler is apt to get and shouldn't. These things I know because I spent a couple of weeks being a tourist instead of trying to lure them to Idaho."

"If people who meet the public would only learn to treat all alike it would improve the service, or at least the attitude of the traveler. He resents being treated like a stranger with a couple of gruff grunts by a waitress or a clerk, only to see the same employee go to the next table or counter and greet somebody like a long-lost friend. The easy way is for the employee to be equally friendly with all customers, and save the 'mutual admiration' performance with the home-towner until after working hours."

"The matter of tipping is getting to the ridiculous point. Personally I believe in tipping for service rendered, but I don't see any reason to tip if no service was given. I talked to many travelers on this trip that feel the same way. Perhaps it would improve service if employees over the land learned that they would not get a tip unless they earned it."

Our Note: We hate to take issue with Mr. Cuning about "Idaho roads being nothing to be ashamed of." We invite him to drive over the "highway" from Juliaetta to Kendrick!

Need Volunteers For Ceremonies

World War II veterans serving in the Enlisted Reserve Corps may enter on active duty on a purely voluntary basis to participate in paying homage to the war dead being returned from overseas.

Lt. Col. Henry F. Taylor, acting senior instructor of the Organized Reserve Corps, said that in order to provide fitting escorts and ceremonials for the returning dead, Enlisted Reservists might return to active duty for a six-month or one-year period, at the option of the applicant.

It was emphasized that men accepted for these duties will be on a selective basis; that the action is being taken solely to furnish veterans for escort and ceremonial duties, and that their services will be used only in connection with the return and reburial in the United States of fallen comrades-in-arms.

Selected enlisted reserve corps men will be placed on active duty in grades held in the ERC with the full pay and allowances of these grades for the duration of their services.

Applications for return to active duty may be made by letter or by calling ORC offices in Boise, Pocatello or Moscow.

Dinner Well Attended

The Victory dinner held in the Community church basement last Thursday evening was well attended and an evening of fellowship enjoyed.

High points of the evening were a talk by Dr. Beall, and a report on the Youth Conclave at Tacoma given by Benny Cook and Dick Coulter. The boys took up a collection to be sent to CARE and enough was received to send three $10.00 boxes.

Musical numbers were also enjoyed. A song, "God Is Near" by five Junior girls, Joyce Armitage, Ann White, Ann and Donna Kankkeberg and Arlene Maynard. Ann and Donna Kankkeberg also played two duets on the piano and Dick Coulter gave two piano solos.

Businesses Closed Tuesday

Almost all business houses in Kendrick, with the exception of the confectioneries, garages and Gazette office were closed for Armistice Day — for the first time in a number of years.

Mistake In Invitation

A mistake was made in transcribing at the school house, the Grange invitation to a dinner and dance on November 18. As printed in last week's school notes it read: "The Kendrick High school students, faculty and their parents are invited to a supper and dance Nov. 18." The invitation should have read: "The Kendrick High school students, the faculty and their families are invited to a supper and dance Nov. 18." To entertain all, as the invitation appeared in the notes would have been a pleasure, but owing to the limited facilities of the hall, an impossibility — so it is with regret that the Grange must say: "The Kendrick High school students, the faculty and their families."

SHORT NEWS ITEMS FROM OUR LOCAL SCHOOLHOUSE

Kendrick Defeats Lewiston

The undefeated Kendrick Tigers won a "mucker" victory over the Lewiston B squad at Lewiston on November 7 by a score of 13-0.

The grass field was soggy from heavy rains before and during the game and it was hard to make running plays.

The Tigers received the kick-off. They went to the Lewiston 20-yard line but lost the ball on downs. No scores were made in the first or second quarters, but Kendrick crossed their opponents goal line in both the third and fourth quarters.

In the third quarter Brocke passed to Millard for a gain of 30 yards. On the next play Brocke lateraled to Cook and he threw a pass to J. Christensen to score. The conversion failed.

In the fourth quarter Herb Millard took the ball on a reverse and ran for 43 yards before being downed on Lewiston's 10-yard line. Boyd Thornton then scored from the 10-yard line on a line buck between guard and tackle. The conversion was then made to make the score 13-0.

Due to darkness the second half of the game was played under lights.

Tigers Finish Season Unbeaten
The Kendrick Tigers defeated the Lapwai Wildcats 12-7, Tuesday, Nov. 11, at Lapwai, to give the Tigers a season without a defeat. The Tigers scored 150 points during the season to 35 points for their opponents. The eight-game schedule was a tough one, however, and no team was a push-over.

In this, the final game, the Tigers backed-water during the first half, but came back strong in the third and fourth quarters to win 12-7. In the third quarter Junior Brocke intercepted a Lapwai pass and ran 55 yards to score. The conversion was missed.

In the fourth quarter the Tigers put on a drive for 40 yards and made another touchdown, with Bob Wars running the ball around the Tiger right end to score. Again the conversion was missed.

With two minutes to go the Tigers kicked off to the Wildcats. Hector of Lapwai took the ball on his own 40-yard line and ran it through the Tiger second string for a touchdown. The conversion was made and the score at the end of the game was Kendrick 12 and Lapwai 7.

The only casualty of the game for the Tigers was Gordon Cook, who suffered a broken nose. He was taken to Lewiston to have the fracture reduced by a specialist.

Senior Ball Friday Evening

The annual Senior Ball will be held in the school gymnasium on Friday, November 14, with the grand march scheduled for 9:00 o'clock. Music will be furnished by Ben Byers orchestra from Lewiston. This will be a semi-formal dance, and a charge will be made for spectators. Everyone is invited to attend.

Nurse Visits

Mrs. Crossley, Public Health nurse, visited the Kendrick school Monday and held a meeting with the grade school teachers.

Many Game Violations

Nearly twice as many arrests for violation of fish and game laws were reported in October of this year, than were made the same month a year ago. T. B. Murray, director of the Idaho fish and game department, announced.

Conservation officers cited 173 persons into court last October, compared with 92 in October of 1946. Total number of arrests for 1947 was increased to 844. A year ago at the end of ten months the total was 619.

October is one of the peak months from a field and stream standpoint. Big game hunting, fishing, bird and duck hunting were on the schedule for many thousands of sportsmen.

Murray said the increased number of arrests may be accounted for in part by the addition of several officers to the field staff.

School Reorganization Meeting

There will be a school reorganization meeting held at the Stony Point school house on Thursday, Nov. 13, (today) at 7:30 p. m.

This will be an inter-county meeting of Latah and Nezperce counties, to set the boundaries between the Kendrick and Nezperce reorganizations.

Armstrong, Lapwai; Ralph Williams, county chairman, and Mrs. R. Albright, who will take minutes in the absence of Mrs. Buckles.

Undergoes Tonsillectomy

Mrs. Raleigh Albright brought her small 4-year-old grandson, Ronald, to Dr. Christensen's office Saturday, where he underwent a tonsillectomy.

THE WINNER — Miss Bannye Diehl of Hermosa Beach, Calif., has been chosen "Miss Photography" of Southern California for 1947, over 800 girls in Queen of Scouts contest.

This meeting is open to the public, and all farmers interested in Soil Conservation practices are invited to attend — it should be well worth their time, and might result in the saving of many hundreds of dollars worth of valuable soil.

USE OF ELECTRIC POWER SHOWS HUGE INCREASE

Kinsey M. Robison, president of the Washington Water Power Co., said in Spokane last week that "the job of rural electrification is not finished when poles are planted and wires strung."

Appearing as a guest speaker before a two-day session of the Pacific Northwest section of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, the utility president declared that "the principal objective of farm electrification, in addition to furnishing light, is to encourage a large variety of uses of power in ways that will be profitable to the farmer."

Robinson traced the development of rural electrification in the Northwest and outlined its growth in the nation, stating that at the close of World War I only 177,000 farms, or 2.6 percent, had power. He said that through the close co-operation of private power companies, REA cooperatives, and other agencies, electric power is now being served or is within reach of nearly 4,000,000 of the nation's 6,000,000 farms.

"The State of Washington from about 1918 to 1939 could boast that private companies, assisted somewhat by a few scattered municipalities, had electrified 49,000 of its 81,000 farms," he said, "while at the same time the REA, just getting under way with its program, gave electric service to another 2,444 farms, making a total of 64 percent of Washington farms electrified."

"Today Washington leads the nation with 95.1 percent of its farms electrified," the W. W. P. president stated. He also indicated that Idaho had made great progress in its unified program of rural electrification.

He further stated that the WWP had what it felt was a sound promotional policy in its special farm development program designed to put trained farm men into the area to advise farmers in many uses of electricity.

"Our efforts are directed mainly toward improving the status of the farmer in any way possible as relates to electricity," he said. "We are confident that if farm working hours can be shortened, if greater profits can be pointed out through the use of modern methods, if health can be improved, then the farm dweller will adopt electric improvements and our end of the business will take care of itself."

The WWP president lashed at what he termed "armchair critics" of private power development and said companies in the utility business are pushing with all speed to get electric service to every farm possible. He said that private utilities welcomed the governmental assistance that had hastened farm electrification.

"Our support has been, and is today, behind the many worthwhile activities of the REA," Robinson stated. "Differences that may have arisen are traced to the fact that a few politically ambitious men wanted to use appropriated funds to compete with and drive out private industry. The total amount of money appropriated by congress for use by the REA now stands at $1,068,436,000. We believe there is a place for both private and existing public agencies. Our cooperation has been demonstrated by our willingness to let public agencies use our power lines to carry energy to their customers. We shall, however, resist wasteful duplications which cost the taxpayers money, and we shall oppose every effort to socialize the power and light industry in America."

Study Class

The W. S. C. S. Study class will hold their meeting Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 in the home of Mrs. A. O. Kanikkeberg.

NORTHWEST GRAIN MARKETS INDEPENDENTLY FIRM

The Pacific Northwest cash grain markets showed considerable independent strength during the past week, with a rather active demand meeting light offerings, according to the Market News Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The net gain in Chicago December wheat for the week was only 3/4c, while the export classes of wheat in the cash markets of the Pacific Northwest showed a net gain of 9 cents and the better milling grades 11c to 12c per bushel increase from a week ago. Oats and barley also were firmer, showing new highs for the season and net gains of $1.00 to $1.50 per ton for the week. Corn followed the futures markets and advanced about $2.00 per ton during the period. The volume of trading in all kinds of grain in the local markets was reported as greatly reduced compared with other recent weeks as a result of light offerings from the producing areas.

The cash wheat market at Portland did not follow the declines in the futures during the week ending Nov. 6, but maintained a firm tone. Prices on the export grades advanced 9 cents per bushel and on the higher milling grades 11c to 12c per bushel compared with a week ago. The demand was quite active but offerings generally were light and reports indicate that quotations were being boosted in some producing areas in order to bring out more wheat, which was being firmly held. Mills continued to operate to capacity and furnished the principal outlet for wheat during the period. Trade reports indicate that the C. C. did not follow the full advance in the local markets from day to day and purchases were comparatively light, with only 222,276 bushels purchased during the past week.

The shipping situation continues to be serious as receipts at the terminals are not sufficient to meet export quotas and terminal stocks are being rapidly reduced. Wheat receipts for the week at the Columbia river terminals totaled 324 cars and at Puget Sound terminals 280 cars, compared with 298 and 301, respectively for the previous week.

Bid prices on the Portland Grain Exchange were as follows: Soft white, soft white (no Rex) white club, western red and hard red winter, all $2.84 per bushel, basis No. 1, bulk, 15-day shipment, coast delivery.

The United States Department of Agriculture on November 4 reported that the Commodity Credit Corporation bought 7,259,188 bushels of wheat during the period from October 24 to noon, October 31. Last week's flour purchases totaled 16,860,000 pounds. Purchases of barley totaled 213,000 bushels. No oats, corn or grain sorghums were purchased.

Wheat bought through Portland, Oregon (512 165 bushels), Chicago (573,400), Minneapolis (1,630,000) and Kansas City (4,543,623) bushels. Purchases of wheat since July 1 total 175,225,311 bushels. Purchases of flour since July 1 total 878,601,700 pounds. Cumulative total for barley 4,988,012 bushels; oats, 2,981,208 bushels, and grain sorghums 2,484,000 bushels.

Wheat receipts at Ogdén improved slightly during the week consisting of 165 cars. Hard white wheat was quoted at $2.70 per bushel and all other classes at $2.63 per bushel, basis No. 1, bulk, f. o. b. Ogdén mills. Prices quoted at county shipping points were about 18c per bushel under Ogdén.

The San Francisco wheat market turned somewhat stronger toward the close of the week, influenced by advances in other markets and light local offerings. Demand was not urgent, but prices were from 5c to 10c higher compared with a week ago.

With central California poultry flocks smaller than a year ago, recent declines in egg prices made for unsatisfactory feeding ratios, and feeds also were turning more to the cheaper price milo in place of wheat. Mills were in the market for steady quantities of wheat, but were placing most of their needs in the out-of-state markets.

The cash wheat market at Kansas City advanced with futures and in addition the high grade milling types moved sharply upward, resulting in net price gains of 6 1/2c to 12c, compared with a week ago. Receipts about matched those of a week ago, and demand continued good.

Demand for wheat in the Minneapolis market was rather slow and premiums for cash wheat underwent a downward adjustment during the week. Flour sales were about normal and approximately equalled the output by mills. No large transactions were reported, as bakers were unwilling to book ahead as in former years. Receipts were fairly large at 2,125 cars.

With the harvesting of the new crop, corn prices have declined. At the middle of October farm prices of corn in the western farm-central states averaged $2.19 per bushel, compared with $2.38 in September. Farm prices of wheat in the this region, on the other hand, advanced from $2.47 on September 15 to $2.72 per bushel.

Australian reports indicate continued favorable crop prospects with a record wheat crop practically assured. Harvesting is now under way in some sections.

To Visit In California

In a note received from Mrs. Fred Crocker she says she is leaving this week for Sacramento, Calif., where she will visit in the home of her daughters, Mrs. Sam Alexander and Mrs. Ray Minton.

Why travel slippery roads any further than necessary? Do that trading in Kendrick!

Word From Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Albright received a letter last week from their daughter, Mrs. Robert D. Hayton, who is with her husband in Germany. He, a member of the army of occupation, is serving with the chief of communications. In the letter she stated they had just returned from a two-week trip in the Swiss Alps.

She had much to say of the luxurious hotels an play grounds situated at Bern, Lugana, Bahinoplatz and Grindenwald. Everything was so expensive it was almost prohibitive.

She said the value of the Swiss dollar was higher than the U. S. dollar, which was a surprise to her. They had planned to do some shopping, as there are many lovely and elegant things on the market in that country, but prices were beyond all reason.

Deer Being Killed

A number of deer have been killed locally the past week, and we know we have not heard the names of all the lucky hunters. But, included are Earl and Bud Harris, Wilbur Tarbet, Andy Galloway, Burt Souders and son Burt.

Turkey Dinners On The Way

The Washington State Extension service says:
If you save one slice of bread a day, you save almost half a loaf a week.

Half a loaf a day is what we are trying to supply people in the food-short democracies of the world.

Half a loaf a day, plus a little fat, will keep them alive. It's not a good diet, but it's better than nothing.

Save a slice a day, and each week you give another human a chance to live another day!

Fresh frozen fruits, berries, juices, vegetables, fish and poultry are obtainable at Blewett's Grocery-Market. Remember: "For a Better Buy, Buy Bird's Bye." 1-adv.

AN EDITORIAL

It is seldom that we take pen or pencil in hand to write an editorial — preferring to leave that to the large city papers, who have access to a great deal more finger-tip information than falls to our lot — but this is one of the times we are going to express our views — and our topic is to be:

"Idaho Wild Life"
As this hunting season draws to a close and we listen to reports from hunter friends, and men whom we know are good hunters and true sportsmen, come back with reports of: "No luck didn't see a thing," "Slim pickings, our bunch of five only got one deer and one elk," and on down the line, the inevitable conclusion grows clearer and clearer.

"Idaho is rapidly losing one of its great natural heritages, big game." Notice in the above dispatch the implied invitation to the non-residents to come and help destroy "one of the continent's largest remaining elk herds." And this commercialism we do not blame alone. We have the so-called "special hunts" of our state game department, in which reserve areas are opened — if you have the money for the special fees — and that, we call "commercialism" by our state game department.

The solution to the problem? Well, we don't claim to know it, but one suggestion would be hiking the price of non-resident licenses to the sky, or forbidding them altogether, for that big game is a heritage of the people of Idaho.

Secondly: Issue but one game tag to a hunter. Let him, on that tag, kill a mountain goat, or a deer, or an elk — but in no circumstances more than one animal. Perhaps it might even be worked out some way on a basis of one animal to a family.

Thirdly: Stop the commercialism of the game department special hunts and privileges for special fees. Make it as fair for one as the other. But retain reserve areas for what they were originally set up to be "Reserve Areas."

Fourth: Select State Game Commission men on a basis of training and character rather than on political influence, and conservation officers on a like basis.

Fifth: Prohibit all commercial advertising (out of the state) on Idaho's big game.

The writer of this article has hunted big game for many years — and enjoys it to the limit. But unless some steps (and soon) are taken for the protection of this natural heritage, our children won't know what a deer, an elk, mountain goat sheep or bear looks like in his native habitat, he'll have to depend on a zoo!

Body Of Stanley Johnson Found
The body of Stanley Johnson, 19, was found at the base of a tree stump at 9:10 Tuesday morning, pierced through the heart by a bullet from a .30-06 deer rifle. Johnson had been the object of a 400-man hunt since early Sunday afternoon when he failed to return after a hunting trip in the wooded country northeast of Troy with Joe Nilson. His body was found two and one-half miles from where he and Nilson left the road and went into the timber on a deer hunt.

J. F. Jordan, Moscow, Latah county deputy sheriff, said Johnson had evidently climbed upon the stump to get a better view and had stood with his hands over the muzzle. The rifle apparently slipped and was discharged, the bullet entering his stomach and ranging upward into the heart after wounding both hands.

The body was discovered by John Shodene, Troy, who was one of a long line of searchers spread out over the countryside only a few feet apart.

Johnson was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Johnson, pioneer Troy residents. He was graduated from the Troy High school last spring.

Mistake In Reporting Leveling
In last week's issue we stated that E. M. Millspap was doing the bulldozing for Walter Sparber and C. G. Arnett, with his new equipment.

Such was not the case. The Millspap dozer leveled ground for new cabins he is building across the street from his home.

The dozer work for Mr. Sparber and C. G. Arnett is being done by Lewis Porter, who brought his big equipment in from the woods.

Weather Is "Miserable"
The Potlatch country has been "enjoying" about as miserable weather as could be wished out. We have had leaden skies, rain, snow squalls and raw winds for the past ten days — with the sun shining only occasionally.

Underfoot there is mud — deep mud, and it has effectively stopped all farm work and logging operations.

But then, nothing is ever so bad but what it might be worse.

Birthday Party
Mrs. Manning Onstott entertained a group of young people Sunday afternoon honoring her daughter Geraldine's birthday anniversary.

The afternoon was spent playing games, after which Mrs. Onstott served punch, cake and ice cream.

Those present were Shirley and Donna Travis, Judy White, Bobby McCall, Parker McCreary, Donna Knox, Dorothy Wilson, Maxine Slind, Roger Jones and Geraldine Onstott.

The reclamation area in Idaho known as the "Twin Falls Project" is believed to be one of the largest, single irrigated areas in the world.
