Although the exact site for it has not been determined, Mr. Buchanan indicated the new building would be placed somewhere near the Memorial gymnasium.

As with other buildings provided under the federal aid program, the university will finance preparation of the site and the utilities, using gymnasium bond fund residues, with the government paying the cost of moving and erecting the building. The new building should be ready sometime during the summer of 1948, Mr. Buchanan indicated.

LATAH COUNTY UNITED OVERSEAS RELIEF DRIVE NOW ON

Latah County United Overseas Relief is a county-wide drive to collect money, food, clothing, and other usable material for shipment overseas in a campaign throughout the nation in an effort to get immediate relief to the needy peoples of Europe and Asia. This drive is the unified, coordinated effort of all church, fraternal and civic organizations, and will consolidate during the drive the relief work of existing agencies into one big effort.

Church World Service is the agency through which the supplies will be distributed overseas. Church World Service is the official agency of 23 Protestant denominations and several Orthodox churches, which maintains a co-operative program on relief and reconstruction on a huge scale, distributing materials in forty different countries, a larger area than any other volunteer agency.

Though Church World Service has handled over 18 million pounds of relief supplies in its less than two years of operation, the overhead has been but 1.43 per cent, with less than 1 percent of loss. Volunteer workers, pastors and missionaries distribute the materials in both Europe and Asia on the basis of greatest need, without regard for race, creed or political affiliations.

Every shipment of Church World Service supplies through its worldwide network of shipping facilities is followed to its destination by the shipping department and reports are carefully compiled as to where and how each shipment has been handled by the local committee. On-the-spot committees investigate all applicants prior to distribution of supplies and distribute wholly on the basis of personal and family needs.

The Northwestern, Montana and Oregon, Washington, Christmas ships from the ports of Seattle and Portland to sail in December with cargoes of food, clothing and other materials to reach the needy countries as quickly as possible.

The drive, which is now officially underway will last through December 18th. Every individual and organization in the county is asked to cooperate.

Cash contributions may go to the local church relief agency (Dr. J. H. Coulter, Kendrick, chm., Mrs. Lewis Lindquist, Juliaetta, chm.) or may be sent direct to Latah County United Overseas Relief, Box 225, Moscow, Idaho. Contributions of clothing, grain, shoes, etc., should be made to the receiving stations as designated by the local chairman. Canned goods should consist of fish, meat and lard in tins only, and should be collected in case lots when at all possible. All clothing should be clean and in good repair, and all shoes tied in pairs and in a repairable condition.

In Kendrick the receiving stations are N. B. Long & Sons store and the Community church.

The donor may make his gift a personal one if he so desires by putting a Good Will message into the garment or package. Enclose a sheet of paper and an envelope, self-addressed, for a reply, if so desired.

The Moscow Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Moscow Council of Church Women are sponsoring the Latah county drive because they believe the citizens of Latah county do care and do wish to share during this Christmas season with those less fortunate peoples throughout the world the blessings of our free way of life — the American way.

Chairman designated in the various communities are: The Rev. Harold Darling, Deary; Mrs. Fern Lindquist, Juliaetta; Dr. J. H. Coulter, Kendrick; and Rev. Earl M. Bengtson, Troy.

Let's go, folks — let's make this a pleasant Christmas for others as well as for ourselves. You have old, but, good, serviceable clothing, shoes, etc., hanging about your home. Give, that someone else may be warm.

Idaho Accident Total High
George Vaughn, Idaho state safety director stated this week in Boise: For the past 11 months of 1947 there have been reported to my office 158 traffic fatalities. Most of these accidents have occurred in rural areas where roads are in good condition and it is possible to travel at a high rate of speed. The contributing factors in these accidents are: Too much speed; overdriving the existing conditions such as poor visibility and slick roads and lights; no signals or improper ones; and many by carelessness alone. The pedestrian fatalities have included a number who were walking on the wrong side of the road, entirely disregarding all safety practices.

"Traffic fatalities in our state will increase until everyone realizes that traffic and safety regulations are passed for their own protection and well-being."

Do your Christmas Shopping in Kendrick. Local store shelves are piled with holiday items.

INTERESTING HAPPENINGS FROM JULIAETTA AREA

Home From Germany
Prof. B. E. (Gene) Groseclose arrived home Friday evening from Frankfurt, Germany, to spend a month's vacation at his home here and with relatives in this section. This is Gene's first visit home in five years, having been home on furlough five years ago, although he has actually been away seven years — five in the army, and two as a civilian employee of the army, a status he now occupies — being employed as a historian. He expects to be here about three weeks, and then go on to Portland to spend Christmas with his sister. He will leave by plane from there for his station in Germany, and expects to be in Germany by New Year's Day.

Gene states that conditions in Germany are plenty bad — but also he believes the situation slowly improving, and that with patience and understanding, plus re-education, the Nazi ideal can be pretty well eliminated and Germany again become a respected nation. He reports housing one of the big problems after that of food — but that too, is improving.

ROCKET LAUNCHING MARKS NEW ERA IN NAVAL WEAPONS

Marking "the beginning of a new era in Naval weapons," the United States Navy fired a captured German V-2 rocket from the flight deck of the 45,000 ton aircraft carrier USS Midway on September 6, 1947. This was the first time in history such a bombardment rocket has been launched from ships or a moving platform. The primary purpose of the experiment, held at sea several hundred miles off the East Coast of the United States, was to ascertain if large bombardment rockets could be fired off modern aircraft carriers without modifications affecting flight operations. The rocket traveled six miles and exploded.

FARMERS HAVE DEFINITE RESPONSIBILITY IN ANIMALS

A very serious problem faces the livestock men, farmers and the public in general, due almost exclusively to the present high price of grain. As a result of this situation many farmers and stockmen are cutting heavily into breeding herds and flocks. For the third year in a row, cattle are being slaughtered faster than they are being replaced, with prospects of another year or so before replacements can match the slaughter.

Sheepmen have cut breeding flocks from the all-time peak in 1942 to the all-time low last January, and the flocks are still shrinking. Next year the pig crop will drop to an estimated 80,000,000 head, compared with around 85,000,000 to 86,000,000 the past four years.

Some farmers and cattlemen are selling good breeding animals because they want to cash in on the present high prices. They figure they will buy back foundation stock from their neighbors later on. The only trouble is, their neighbors are selling with the same idea in mind, and they won't be able to re-stock as readily as they think. In addition to the individual stockman's loss, the liquidating of breeding stocks may mean short meat supplies and high prices later on. These high prices would undoubtedly apply particularly to breeding stock, following a general drop in grade animals.

Other stockmen are selling breeding stock because they're short of feed. But whatever the reason, livestock authorities urge farm residents to hold on to those breeding animals with good proved records behind them.

Farmers and stockmen can save breeding animals and still save grain. You can rely more on grass and other forage, and skimp along on grain. It perhaps won't keep the animal in the best of condition, but if not fattening for market, this is not too important. Some grain, protein and rich vitamin feeds for the breeding animals should be held back and fed during the gestation period.

It's a serious matter. If you are selling yourself out of the cattle or sheep business, and don't have to, you may be making a sad mistake. It is expected that next year there will be about $150,000,000 for agricultural conservation payments, a sum about half what there was for this year. An important meeting of state PMA chairmen and federal PMA men will be held in Colorado Springs, Colo., the second week in December. From advance discussions, it would appear that the states will take considerably more initiative than ever before in arriving at a list of authorized practices. The trend seems to be in the direction of definitely long-time conservation practices, and those that have been generally accepted by farmers as good farming would be eliminated from the program. It is assumed that farmers will carry on these practices without the stimulus of payments, since farm products now yield some of the highest returns ever known.

These ideas, derived from government reports, are worthy of the deepest consideration by stockmen, sheepmen and farmers. Their living, as well as that of the general public, and perhaps Europe, is wrapped up in what they do.

We Are Indeed Fortunate

In his summary to congress on long-range programs and policies the secretary of agriculture re-emphasized the following points:

"Although we face many problems as the result of our increasing agricultural efficiency, we do have the opportunity to meet these problems and by so doing to advance the welfare of both farm and city people immeasurably.

"We are extremely fortunate in two ways. First, we do have potential markets for the potential production of our increasingly efficient agriculture. The wants of our own people and a fair amount of world trade offer as much of a market as we could want. Secondly, the wants of our people coincide to a remarkable degree with the needs of our soil, water and forest resources. By practicing conservation, as we must if our people are to survive in the future, we tend to produce the kinds of food and fiber and the amounts of wood products that our people want.

"It is up to us to capitalize on these advantages. We can do so through programs to maintain our resources, our markets, and opportunities for farm people, provided we gear our efforts to a policy of abundance.

"All farm and government leaders seem to be agreed and determined that the days of killing little pigs shall never return."

Some Idaho Facts

North Idaho's lake Pend Oreille, largest body of fresh water in the Pacific Northwest, contains 14 varieties of game fish, including the famous big Kamloops rainbow trout.

The Grand Canyon of the Snake river has an average depth of approximately 6,600 feet, as compared with the Colorado's 5,000. At one spot in Hell's Canyon, it is more than 8,000 feet from the highest point to the bottom.

Idaho county is the largest county in the state of Idaho, and one which contains some of the state's most primitive wilderness area. It is larger in area than either of the state of Rhode Island or Delaware.

Boundary county, northernmost in Idaho, is the only county in the nation bordered by two states and a foreign country. On the west is Washington, on the east, Montana, and on the north Canada. At this point Idaho is only 39 miles wide. The state of Idaho, with 21,502,389 acres in national forest lands, is second only to California, which has 24,785,071 acres in national forest. Much of Idaho's national forest acreage is in the 10 northernmost counties of the Panhandle.

New Peach Developed

The Redskin is a newly developed yellow, free-stone peach, ripening slightly ahead of and during the fore-part of the Elberta season. It is a result of a crossing of the Hale and Elberta. It has been under tests in several sections of the United States for the past 14 or 15 years, so that its commercial value is now quite well established.

The fruit of the Redskin is round, yellow-fleshed, with little and sometimes no red near the pit, is completely freestone and the flesh is firm, and its edible and canning qualities have been rated as high.

Trees of this variety are vigorous and can stand considerable low temperatures. The blossom is large and showy and it opens about the same time as the Elberta.

Tips About Raising Chickens

Every animal on the farm does better when it's kept comfortable and fed good rations, and this certainly applies to the chickens.

When the pullets don't have plenty of room, their vitality is reduced. Crowding encourages cannibalism. Three and a half to four square feet of floor space should be allowed per bird. Other factors adding to the comfort and contentment of birds are:

- One nest for each five hens.
- Twenty-five linear feet of hopper space per 100 birds.
- Plenty of watering space and lots of fresh, clean water.
- Ample ventilation, but without draft.
- Dry litter, which should be kept clean.

Many, Many Lakes

The seven national forests which blanket most of Idaho's panhandle counties contain a total of 528 lakes, while at least that many more lie outside of government lands. They range in size from tiny unnamed Alpine lakes that have not been visited by more than half a dozen white men, to Lake Pend Oreille, largest in the Pacific Northwest.

Fresh frozen vegetables of all kinds are to be found in the display case at Blewett's Grocery-Market in Kendrick — and they're Bird's-Eye, too. Try them.

Do You Like Billboards?

The billboard industry, with a powerful lobby in every state capital, is preparing a nation-wide campaign to litter our postwar highways with more, bigger and fancier signs, including even television on billboards! This means, warns New York Senator Thomas C. Desmond, in The Reader's Digest for November, that our roads will be cluttered as never before with dangerous scenery-destroying billboards, unless citizens act to prevent it.

So strong is the billboard lobby in Albany, Desmond says, that in his sixteen years' effort to prevent the disfiguring of our roads his bills have been killed in committee or smothered by votes on the floor. A $150,000,000 public-housing program which he sponsored was blocked until a billboard tax, included to help finance construction, was removed. The New York-Buffalo "thruway" measure was held up until a clause barring billboards was deleted.

The Outdoor Advertising Association of America, trade organization of the industry, disseminates propaganda and handles legislative activities. At a moment's notice, Desmond states, it can flood legislators with thousands of letters warning against the passage of any control bill. Labor's support is enlisted by telling unions that their members will be put out of work if a proposed anti-billboard measure is passed.

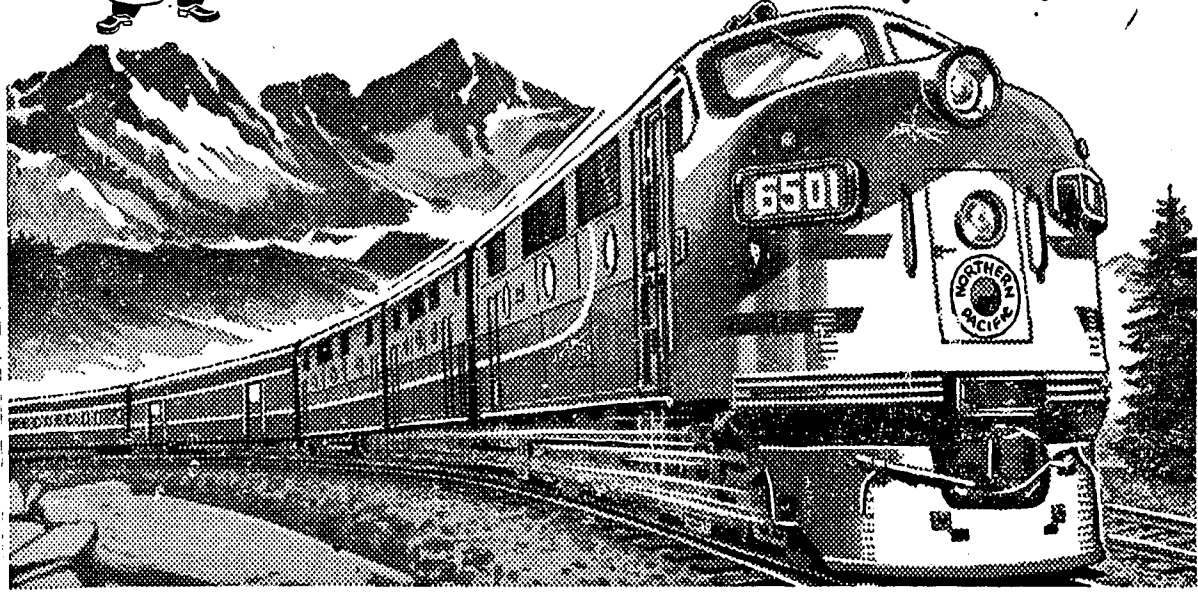

Against the legislator who opposes it, the lobby foments political trouble in his home district and subsidizes his opposition. Many legislators are indebted to the lobby for free sign-space during election time. To sell itself to the public, the industry donates space to charitable and civic causes. Ironically, Desmond observes, space is often given to safety campaigns, though an official survey disclosed that 1,521 billboards in New York State were definite traffic hazards.

In urging community action against billboards, Desmond cites advances already made. A "Blot-of-the-Month" campaign, undertaken by various women's groups to announce the worst offending billboards, "has hit the lobby in a tender spot." Periodic boycotts sponsored by irate civic groups, pledged not to buy products advertised on offending signs, have caused the withdrawal of some advertising, and some signs.

Prevent Cannibalism By Good Management

Keeping Chicks Active Is Real Secret of Success

By W. J. DRYDEN

Chicks will seldom be cannibalistic if provided with proper brooder and range space, correct temperature and air control and a balanced ration, properly fed. They must be kept alert and active. Only the mistreated, sluggish chick will turn to cannibalism.

While the chicks must be comfortable, the temperature should be reduced gradually.

Use a good starting mash. There is no substitute for the best for starting baby chicks. Give them all they will eat at all times and provide plenty of eating troughs. When the chicks are four to five weeks old they may be given grain, and made to scratch for it.

A good range and shelter should be provided. Pasture such as bluegrass, alfalfa or lespedeza will lower the feed cost and make the chickens take on economical gain. Swiss chard, kale, Chinese cabbage or rape may be planted and the leaves pulled and fed to the chicks. Alfalfa, clover or other grasses may be chopped and fed fresh, or alfalfa leaf meal utilized to aid in proper health and growth.

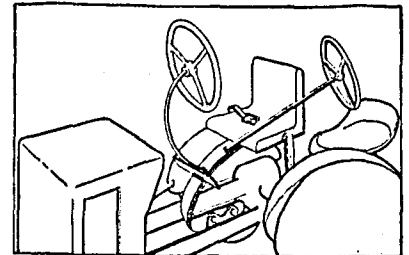

BUILD FERTILITY

Careless handling of manure causes serious losses of fertilizer and organic matter needed to help increase crop yields and rebuild soil structure.

One hundred tons of manure contains 25 tons of organic matter, 1,000 pounds of nitrogen, 200 pounds of phosphorus and 800 pounds of potash, one-half of it in the liquid part. Piled outside and exposed to rain and weather for several months, this 100 tons may shrink to 50 tons and lose half its fertility and organic matter. Losses may be reduced by using enough bedding to soak up all liquid manure, cleaning stalls frequently and hauling manure directly to fields, or storing carefully.

Baby Rides Tractor

Those who have youngsters who like to ride the tractor will be interested in this improvised baby seat designed by A. J. Matyus for the Lincoln foundation contest. The seat consists of two auto leaf springs, pieces of one-inch round iron 24 inches long for stationary steering column and an obsolete steering wheel. The main leaves were bent in the forge and holes were punched to conform to the cultivator fittings and to give shock absorbing effect. The footrest was welded to the spring leaves. All work was done with 1/8 inch mild steel electrodes.

Thick Stand Helps in Boosting Corn Yield

Farmers who would boost their yields of corn should plant thicker stands than they ordinarily do, advises University of Kentucky. Improved soil and the use of hybrid corn seed makes it possible for most farmers to have thicker stands. About 10,000 stalks can be grown on better-than-average land, and 12,000 to 14,000 stalks on very fertile land with good moisture-holding capacity.

This Three-way Plan Means
MORE POWER
For the Northwest

Federal agencies, municipal systems, and private power companies agree on combined action through the Northwest Power Pool to most effectively generate and distribute electric power in the Pacific Northwest. Advocates of fullest development of the Northwest's resources favor this common-sense plan for electric power production and distribution: (1) Let the Federal government continue to develop generating plants. (2) Let the municipal and private companies distribute power over already existing and highly efficient systems. (3) Result: More economical and efficient distribution of electricity to the consumer, and greater reserves of power "on tap" for every user.

THE NORTHWEST POWER POOL COMBINES:

- (1) Government projects, such as Grand Coulee.
- (2) Privately owned power companies, such as Washington Water Power, pioneer of power production in the northwest and one of the originators of the Northwest Power Pool.
- (3) Municipal power systems, like those of Seattle and Tacoma.

ed to Spokane Monday on business. Monday afternoon the student body of the Juliaetta schools enjoyed a marimbaphone concert by Erman Gray, an Assembly programs musician. In addition he played several numbers on the clarinet and saxophone.

Mrs. Elsie Weber of Juliaetta arrived home Nov. 6, after a six-week visit with her son and family at Austin, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hicks and Mrs. Frank Barton and daughter Charlene have returned from their trip to Indiana and Ohio. They report a wonderful time, it being 18 years since Mr. Hicks and been back to visit his relatives.

A Thanksgiving dinner was enjoyed at the Chas. Hicks home. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Prewett and Mr. and Mrs. Dee Willoughby of Orofino; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barton and daughter of Moscow; Juanita Kite of Lewiston; Mrs. Laura Molden of Plentywood, Mont.; Frenchie Weist and his mother, Mrs. Weist, of Cloverland, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Candier and family, Tureda Sams and Woody Gebhart, the latter of Los Angeles, were Thanksgiving Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Chibberg and family at Southwick.

Neil Candier was a business visitor in Spokane Monday, returning to Lewiston with a new Ford convertible coupe.

Publicity Bureau Working
 Posting of 1196 pieces of mail during the month of November was the stint reported by the Idaho State Board of Publicity. The volume of mail included 11,713 words of publicity material; 648 photographs; answers to inquiries about Idaho, and the general business of getting publicity for the state.

The report stated newspapers in Idaho and throughout the United States received an aggregate of 1107 releases — often several in an envelope, during the month. Releases also went to 29 magazines and two wire services. The board's office supplied materials and photos to the United States Army, the United States Assistant Secretary of State, and even to one author, for use in his book.

Photos and mats were mailed in large numbers when the office supplied 42 color pictures to magazines and newspapers; a total of 80 two-column mats to Idaho papers, and 606 black and white photos, covering all sections of the state.

About Subsistence Payments
 Veterans Administration "trouble shooters" will continue their visits to colleges and universities during the second week of each month, beginning at once, to interview personally any veterans who failed to receive their subsistence checks.

Priority handling of the individual cases will be instituted on the basis of information received by the special representatives, until the veterans receive their checks.

Student-veterans will be advised in advance of the time and place the VA representative can be seen. Because of the heavy enrollments, the VA expects continuance of this program will be a major factor in the elimination of overdue subsistence payments this fall.

MARCH OF DIMES DRIVE
 SLATED FOR JAN. 15 TO 30

Summing up the "grass roots" sentiment he encountered in a series of recent area conferences in all parts of the state, Ben Johnson, chairman, predicts that Idaho will "make history" in the forthcoming March of Dimes effort scheduled for January 15 to 30.

"The people of Idaho now have a deep understanding of the helpful policies of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, as a result of the aid which our state has received from the Foundation in connection with our present polio epidemic," said Johnson.

There is every reason to believe that this new-found confidence will result in the greatest March of Dimes effort in the history of Idaho's participation in the program. Campaign committees in all parts of the state were reported as "very enthusiastic" and anxious to get the program under way. Many business people have indicated their desire to contribute in the coming effort — a type of cooperation which has not marked many drives of the past.

Mr. Johnson said that everywhere he went campaign committees had advised him that the public at large looks upon the March of Dimes program now as a civic responsibility — one in which every man, woman and child has a role to perform.

Idaho has received $100,000 in advance to date from the National Foundation, and more money is still to come. In addition, the Gem State, in its hour of need, has received trained personnel, equipment and other aid from the National Foundation in coping with the present polio epidemic.

The National Foundation is dependent upon the March of Dimes program to finance its operations. Fifty percent of all funds raised go to the National, and the remainder stays within the counties in which it is subscribed.

Any person, regardless of financial ability, is eligible to receive assistance from the National Foundation for obligations incurred in connection with a diagnosed case of infantile paralysis, and for medical attention given while the infantile paralysis is suspected, including laboratory and other diagnostic effort.

Treasurers of the local county units were unable to cope with the Idaho outbreak of the dreaded disease this year, hence the advances from the National Foundation to meet expenses of caring for several hundred patients.

"The people of Idaho realize, I assure, that were it not for the National Foundation we could have had 80 deaths instead of just eight to date in our outbreak," said Mr. Johnson.

In addition to the financial help, he called attention to the professional personnel and equipment provided by the National Foundation.

Johnson, who headed the March of Dimes organization last year, as he does this year, declared his campaign group "ready to start work." He said the March of Dimes workers will be assisted by practically every organized group in the state, particularly farm and labor organizations. He added that we must think in terms of dollars rather than dimes, and cited the costs of providing care and treatment in the Idaho outbreak to substantiate the contention. Average cost of treatment per case is more than $1,200, and some are costing $175 per day!

TEAKEAN GOSSIP
 Rev. and Mrs. Earl Gaskill and children of Juliaetta and Mr. and Mrs. Merton Preussler and family were Sunday dinner guests in the C. Y. Groseclose home.

W. Gifford Brown recently purchased the J. A. Harsess ranch. He has been repairing the house, including a telephone, and has moved his parents to the ranch.

The local Grange met Sunday for a get-together dinner, and wood cutting bee, laying in their winter's supply of wood.

Our local weather is wet. The snow, which had reached a depth of about a foot, has mostly all gone off with a rain and the resulting high water flooded local roads at many places.

We have the beginning here of a fine epidemic of whooping cough. The origin of the same was evidently exposure to the disease at Orofino.

Sam Harp, Walter Pielt and Alvin Powell spent Thanksgiving eve and night in the C. Y. Groseclose home, after spending several hours in the afternoon getting their loaded truck to the gravel road.

Rev. W. R. Johnston, Sunday school missionary, presented some very interesting motion pictures at the Grange hall Friday evening. There was a good crowd present.

Earl Choate and Beverly Dodge were married in Lewiston on Wednesday, Nov. 24. They enjoyed (?) a charivari on Friday night at their farm at Teakean. We all wish them much happiness.

Snow Really Piling Up
McCall — November snow records of the Forest Service show more snow — 13 inches near McCall, than any November for the past ten years. Other snow depth in the area were: Warren, 24 inches; Golden Anchor Mine, 60 inches; Lick creek summit, 36 inches, and Secesh Summit, 39 inches.
On Slate creek, near Whitebird, six stockmen, walking on snowshoes instead of riding horses, went on a search for cattle marooned by the deep snow. Snow depth measurements varied from four to seven feet.
