Grade School News

The following had perfect attendance in the first grade for the first nine weeks: Diana Swears, Sharon Templeman, Dianne Johns, Byron Bowen, John and Richard Dunham.

In the second grade with perfect attendance: Beverly Bowen, Connie Howell, George Garner, Jackie Mabbott and David Shove.

The Third graders invited the first and second graders to their Halloween party. Games were played on the school ground, then a short and interesting program given in the first and second grade room because it was the larger of the two rooms. Delightful refreshments were served.

Gary Emmett of the sixth grade is ill with bronchial pneumonia.

The fourth grade surprised the sixth grade Friday afternoon, the occasion being for Halloween. Mrs. Gruell read a Halloween story, and her pupils supplied the sound effects. Fortunes were read from slips of paper. Candy was the treat.

Fifth grade pupils with perfect attendance for the first nine weeks are: Ernest Abey, Hartzel Dowdy, James Armitage, Robert Dunham, Norman Bisbee, Dorothy Stephens, Sheila Westendahl and Marilyn Magnuson.

Receiving high spelling honors in the sixth grade for the first quarter are: Sheila Westendahl, Dorothy Stephens, Marilyn Magnuson and Kaye Abrams.

Sixth grade pupils surprised their teacher, Mrs. Janice Jones, with a birthday party Monday afternoon. Tables in the lunch room were attractively decorated, and two large birthday cakes and ice cream served.

Fourth grade pupils having perfect attendance for the first nine weeks are: Delores Gaskill, Leland Slind, Darrell Brocke, Nita Benschoter, Gene

No Damage Halloween

From what we were able to see, and by questioning others about town, it appears that no real damage was done to anyone Halloween.

True, the streets were a litter of everything moveable, from signs to cordwood, including old tables, a wagon, trash barrels, etc., and windows were liberally soaped and waxed — which might be a good thing, as it forces their washing at least once a year.

Still not located by the village police force are a number of meter box covers — but these appear to be about the only items which have not been returned to their rightful positions.

"Trick or treat" was a popular pastime with the children — and from all reports, they stuck by their bargains, and when properly "bribed" respected the property about that home which might be loose.

SHORT NEWS ITEMS FROM OUR LOCAL SCHOOLHOUSE

Report cards were issued in the 8th grade and High school last Wednesday. The honor roll for the first quarter is as follows: Highest honor, (straight As), James Holt, Freshman and Dan Crocker, Senior.

A recent count of students in the district has revealed the following statistics: First grade, 39; second grade, 48; third grade, 31; fourth grade, 37; fifth grade, 58; sixth grade, 37; seventh grade, 41; eighth grade, 32; Freshman, 33; sophomores, 34; Juniors, 26 and seniors 21. This gives a total of 310 grade pupils; 115 High school students, for a grand total of 425.

An election was conducted in the High school by Mr. Jacobs, Social Science teacher, last Tuesday morning. The results seemed to indicate a similar trend to that of the national and state elections. The results follow: President, Truman 59; Dewey 55, Wallace 1. U. S. Senator: Dworshak 74, Miller 39, Wengert 2 and Derr 1. U. S. Representative: White 47, Goff 64, Wood 3. State Senator: Moore 35, Brocke 75.

Play Night (Thursday)
"Curtain Time" will be the call tonight at 8:00 p. m. at the Kendrick High school auditorium, when the play "Grandad Steps Out" — a hilarious comedy in three acts will be presented. In it, Felicia Metcalf, with her true-to-life comedy reaches into every home to bring you a laugh because "it" happens just like it does at home.

Observe Bus Regulations
Bus drivers and school officials have observed that many persons driving cars do not obey some of the regulations governing the operation of motor vehicles in the vicinity of school buses. No doubt most of the violations are due to lack of knowledge on the part of the driver.

Various states differ in some of these regulations. In Idaho it must be borne in mind that whenever a motor vehicle approaches a school bus from the front or rear which is stopped for any reason, this vehicle must also stop. If the bus has the stop arm extended or if it is apparent that children are being loaded or unloaded the vehicle must remain stopped until the stop arm is withdrawn or the driver signals the vehicle to proceed. If the stop arm is not extended and children are not loading or unloading, the vehicle must stop, but may proceed again at a speed not to exceed 10 miles per hour until the school bus has been passed.

Bus drivers are required by law to turn in the license numbers of any violators of these regulations and will do so, at all times in the future, when violations are noted.

Concert Scheduled
A musical concert will be held at the Lutheran church on Big Bear ridge on Friday evening, Nov. 5, at 7:30 o'clock.

Orben Sime of the Mission of Music will be the artist. He plays six different instruments.

Easterbrook, Clinton Trout, Erma Young, Helen Luman, Carol Swears, Karen Nelson and Vaden Bisbee.

The school benefit entertainment Friday evening was attended by a large crowd. The auctioneer, Asa Calvert, quickly disposed of a large variety of articles. The climax of the auction was a large cocoanut cake donated by the Kendrick Bakery. This was sold by means of a "Chinese auction" which netted $28.00. Cecil Gruell received the cake. The school cleared $183.00, and everyone is thanked for making it a very satisfactory evening.

PERSONALS AND NEWS ABOUT KENDRICK FRIENDS

T/Sgt. and Mrs. Archie Candler, who have just returned from the Philippine Islands, where he has been stationed, spent the past ten days here with relatives and friends. Has Completed Course

Official Dispatch — Wallace D. Miller, electronics technician, second class, U. S. N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Miller, Kendrick, has successfully completed a course of instruction at the Electronics school, located on Treasure Island, San Francisco, Calif.

Miller joined the naval service July 8, 1947, and received his recruit training at the naval training center, San Diego, Calif.

Before entering the navy he attended Kendrick High school, graduating with the class of 1947.

P.-T. A. Membership Drive

Mrs. Elmo Eldridge, Membership chairman for the local P.-T. A. announces that she, with her committee, are this week launching a membership drive, and hope to contact not only parents, but everyone in the community who is interested in the local schools.

As everyone knows, the projects of the P.-T. A. for the year are buying band uniforms and grading the Juliaetta school playground — so every membership fee will help put these projects over.

Local Students Honored

U. of I. Moscow, Nov. 1 — Gabriella Deobald, Kendrick, was in charge of a picnic given by the Home Economics club at the University of Idaho for freshman home economics students, this fall.

Bob Lind, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lind, is a member of the Vandaleers, student choir at this school.

SOIL CONSERVATION WEEK PROCLAIMED AS NOV. 7 TO 13

Proclamation
It is now imperative that universal recognition be given the fact that our Republic needs realistic soil, as well as other natural resource, conservation. As a matter of national survival we must recognize that our destiny tomorrow largely depends upon what we now do with our resources.

So that the people of our State may be reminded that their Government can exercise leadership with success in this as in every program, only so long as it has the informed support of the people.

I, C. A. Robins, Governor of the State of Idaho, do hereby proclaim November 7th to 13th, as "Soil Conservation Week" and urge that Idahoans take steps to further inform themselves concerning the restoration of our State and Nation to a position of plenty in natural resources.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Idaho to be affixed this 18th day of October, 1948.

C. A. Robins, Governor
Attest: J. D. "CV" Price
Secretary of State.

Word has been received by the board of supervisors of the Latah Soil Conservation District to the effect that Gov. C. A. Robins has proclaimed "Soil Conservation Week," November 7 to 13, as shown above.

K. D. Ingle, a member of the Latah board of soil supervisors, commenting on the governor's proclamation, remarked that the special week is concurrent with the annual meeting of the Idaho Association of Soil Conservation Districts at Moscow on Nov. 11, 12 and 13. "This is the first proclamation of this type to be issued by the governor of Idaho and, so far as we know, it is the first such proclamation to be issued in any state," said Mr. Ingle.

"We soil supervisors feel that this proclamation has a significant meaning to us in this county. Agriculture is our basic source of income and the soil is the basis of agriculture."

The growth of the soil conservation district movement in Idaho has been a great contributing factor in advancing better land use. The first district organized in the state was in Latah county in 1940. Since that time there have been 25 other soil conservation districts organized to give assistance to farmers along conservation lines according to a report of the Idaho State Soil Conservation Commission. The report further states that the state is now one-third covered by soil conservation districts.

Two-fifths of all irrigated land and 91 percent of all dry farm land is within soil districts. Conservation farm plans have been completed on nearly 5,000 farms, and 1,250,000 acres have had conservation practices applied, as of July 1, 1948.

"It is our contention," Mr. Ingle continued, "that soil conservation should be stressed not only during the week of Nov. 7 to 13, but it should be proclaimed the other 51 weeks of the year, going to hold the soil we have left."

A special function in this area, to be held the Monday and Tuesday following the proclaimed week, is the Second Annual Inland Empire Soil Conservation Conference. The conference, sponsored by the Lewiston Chamber of Commerce on Nov. 15 and 16, will highlight conservation activities of the north central Idaho and southeastern Washington counties.

GRAIN MARKETS MAINTAIN FIRM TONE DURING WEEK

Grain markets in the Pacific Northwest maintained a firm tone, with the exception of corn, which continues its downward trend to a new crop basis, during the past week, according to reports to the Department of Agriculture. Prices of corn dropped around $3.50 to $4.00 per ton, reflecting the sharp decline in central western markets.

Wheat markets held firm and in some instances gained about 3/4c per bushel over last week. Barley prices advanced about $1.00 per ton, while oats were quoted $1.00 to $2.00 per ton higher for the week. Trading at Portland continued quiet. Offerings were light in the face of a slightly improved demand. Central western markets, except the corn market, continued firm and made some slight advances. Wheat receipts at the principal terminals continued of good volume and totaled about 9,250,000 bushels with large quantities being placed under loan. The quantity placed under loan through September 30, amounted to 150,500,000 bushels. In addition government purchase agreements totaled nearly 16,000,000 bushels. Central western corn markets declined about $4.00 to $4.25 per ton as marketings of the new record crop increased.

The Portland wheat market continued inactive because of the embargo and longshoremen's strike. However, cash wheat gained fully 1/2c per bushel over last week, influenced by other market advances and continued light offerings in the face of a slightly improved demand. Growers were still placing large amounts under government loan. Country prices for the week on ordinary No. 1 white or red wheat averaged $2.20 per bushel, compared with $2.19 1/2 the previous week. Wheat receipts at Columbia river terminals totaled only 55 cars compared with 70 cars last week and 298 a year ago. Puget Sound markets received 419 cars, compared with 310 cars last week and 301 a year ago. The local office of the C. C. C. (Portland) reports purchases of 880,903 bushels of wheat during the past week, making a total of 17,343,806 bushels purchased since July 1, 1948.

Bid prices on the Portland Grain Exchange were as follows: Soft white, soft white (no Rex), white club, western red and hard red winter, $2.20 per bushel.

Winter wheat prices advanced about 2c per bushel in central western markets and at the close No. 2 hard winter wheat was quoted at Kansas City at $2.23 1/2 to $2.25 per bushel. Receipts at Kansas City increased from 300 to 1022 cars for the week.

At Minneapolis No. 1 dark northern spring was quoted at $2.26 to $2.31 per bushel.

There were 100 cars of wheat received at Ogden during the week. Quotation basis, No. 1, f. o. b. Ogden mills for ordinary white or red wheat was $2.07 per bushel. Prices at country shipping points were approximately 20 cents per bushel under Ogden.

ONEY Walker, who is employed in Lewiston, spent Saturday at his home here.

Due to the rain on Hallowe'en night a party was held in the church basement. Games were played, corn was popped, and Mrs. Gordon Peters showed some moving pictures.

At the close of the evening refreshments were served.

Girl Scouts Hold Party
Saturday evening the Kendrick Girl Scouts, Troop No. 1, held a Hallowe'en party at the A. O. Kanikkeberg home. Invited guests were Mrs. Marvin Long and Mrs. D. A. Christensen, who are members of the Troop Committee.

Everyone enjoyed a scavenger hunt which took them all over town, and then they returned to the Kanikkeberg basement for apple dunking and other games. The playroom was very prettily decorated for the occasion with orange and black crepe paper. A Hallowe'en ghost occupied one corner of the room, while a skeleton stood near. The room was cleverly illuminated by grinning pumpkin paces.

After refreshments of apple cider and doughnuts the girls departed for home, reporting a most enjoyable time.

Entertain At Buffet Supper
Mr. and Mrs. Ben Westendahl entertained at a buffet supper Monday evening honoring the twins' birthday anniversary. The event was held two days early to permit T/Sgt. and Mrs. Archie Candler to be among the guests.

About Sunday Hours

TO OUR FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS:

During the past two and a half years that we have operated this store, we have remained open three hours each Sunday morning as a part of our regular service.

Our trade during these hours has always been light — and we would like to have your opinion on its continuance.

If it's an accomodation to yu to maintain these Sunday hours, we will gladly continue them — but we would like to have you express your opinion — so please drop us a card or tell us personally your wishes in this matter.

You see, we, too, would "kinda like a day off."

New Magazine Published
 "Reddy Kilowatt's Farm News" is the title of a new 12-page illustrated magazine being published by the Washington Water Power Company. Al. Estep, farm development representative for the WWP in this area said the first issue of the bi-monthly publication is being issued this week to various farm groups throughout the territory served by the power company in Washington and Idaho. Information on the development of new and valuable farming methods and new applications and suggestions for the use of electricity on the farm as a labor-saving device, has a place in the magazine, the farm development representative said. Also included are articles about 4-H club and FFA activities, as well as items about soil conservation. A woman's page features helpful hints for the farm housewives. News for the new magazine is being gathered by WWP farm representatives under the direction of A. G. Mayer, manager of the company's farm development department, and edited by members of the WWP publicity department.

Slight Danger Noted In DDT Dusted Corn

Tests of Silage Show Minute Trace in Milk

Farmers are being told to use DDT dust or spray for control of European corn borer. This raises a question. Can corn dusted or sprayed with DDT be used for silage for beef or dairy cattle without danger to the animals, or to people who use the milk?

Tests in Wisconsin showed there was a trace of DDT in the milk of dairy cows fed silage made from canning factory pea vines which had been dusted with DDT. The amount of DDT was so minute, however, that it was not considered dangerous.

On corn, an application of 30 pounds of dust (containing 5 per cent DDT) per acre might amount to two ounces of DDT per ton of silage; that is, if all the dust stayed on the corn, which is extremely unlikely. Even that much would result in only about a gram of DDT daily in the ration of a cow or steer.

DDT toxicity studies at a private research farm indicate no danger to animals from considerably larger amounts. Even so, if any farmer fears a trace of DDT in milk from silage made from sprayed or dusted corn, he can feed the silage to steers, heifers or dry cows.

Domestic Rabbit Competes With Chicken in Many Ways

Many people feeling the high cost of food, are raising rabbits for themselves and neighbors or for the market. Meat of the domestic rabbit is so different from wild rabbit meat that many will not believe it is the same animal, notes Mrs. Andrew Rice, nutrition consultant of Nevada agricultural extension service. It is good any time of the year and can be produced and prepared much quicker than chicken.

As for cooking, explains Mrs. Rice, it can be broiled, fried, baked or casserole. In fact, rabbit can be cooked and served in just about as many ways as chicken.

Many persons tell the story of serving rabbit to guests without comment and having them think it is chicken. In taste, this white, delicately flavored meat is comparable to chicken breast. As to food value, rabbit meat is classed with poultry, lean meat and fish.

In cost, rabbit is about the same as chicken when the higher proportion of edible meat on a rabbit is considered.

Domestic rabbit production in the far West now has reached such proportions that rabbit meat is served regularly in many restaurants, hotels and homes.

Priority on Coldest Space Demanded by Certain Foods

Where and how food is placed in the refrigerator is important for keeping it fresh and wholesome, especially in hot weather, household equipment specialists of the department of agriculture say.

Priority on the coldest space in the cabinet, which is usually nearest the freezing cabinet, should be given to the most perishable foods, for which a temperature of 40 degrees or slightly colder is recommended. The foods which need coldest storage because they spoil most easily are: fresh and cooked meat, poultry and fish, meat broth, gelatin dishes, milk, milk-and-egg dishes like custard, and cottage or other soft cheeses.

Modern refrigerators are designed to encourage this arrangement of food by providing tall shelves for milk bottles beside freezing units and a covered compartment for meat just underneath. In general, these very perishable foods keep best if covered. Uncooked meat should be loosely covered, or simply taken out of its wrappings and placed in the meat compartment of the refrigerator which provides it with enough ventilation for good keeping.

Remedy for Carrot Yellows

If carrot tops have many small young leaves which appear to be undersized and are yellowish or reddish in color it is probably due to a disease known as "carrot yellows." Carrot yellows, explains A. A. Granovsky, professor of entomology at University of Minnesota, is a virus disease transmitted by a species of leafhopper which spends the winter in weeds and in spring and summer moves to carrots. In addition to bushy, yellowish tops, carrot yellows show up in woolly, undersized roots. Yellow-infected carrots are hard and have an off-flavor characterized as a bitter taste with an astringent effect which clings to the mouth for some time. Best way to prevent carrot yellows and to control leafhoppers is to dust carrots with a 5 per cent DDT or spray with DDT, using one or two teaspoonfuls of 50 per cent DDT wettable powder.

Steps for Preventing Mildew

Leather shoes often mildew in humid weather. Here are some simple ways to protect them against this damage. Keep shoes on high shelves in the clothes closet. High shelves are drier and therefore safer against mildew than the floor or low shoe racks. Because damp air is heavy, it tends to settle along the floor and encourage mildew. Heat from an electric light bulb kept burning in the closet often will keep the air dry enough to prevent mildew on clothes and shoes. Frequent airing with an electric fan also helps. To absorb moisture from the air and thus help keep the contents of a closed closet dry, a jar of calcium chloride is an old standby. Its disadvantage is that as it absorbs moisture, it becomes liquid and must be drained and new solid chloride added.

River Steamboats Mere Memory

Most of the famous old Mississippi river boats have been scrapped, but to oldtimers their memories linger on. Each boat was a personality to the men who followed the river or just loafed along its shore. Probably the most distinguishing thing about each craft was its whistle. In the golden years of steamboating, no owner would think of sending a new packet to ply the Ohio or the Big Muddy without a beautifully toned blaster. Now, like the steamboats they once graced, the whistles and bells are gone from the scene, although many still are close to the river. They can be heard at cotton gins, lumber mills and steam powered plants, or calling hands to work on the big plantations.

Sugar Country

Puerto Rico's principal crop is sugar. The 1948 sugar crop is expected to bring 120 million dollars to the little island. In Puerto Rico there are immense fields of sugar cane as far as the eye can reach. Three hundred thousand acres of it make the island the third largest sugar-producing country in the western hemisphere.

Four Measures Listed To Curb Elm Disease

Increasing Toll Noted Over Widespread Area

The dread Dutch elm disease, killer of thousands of trees, is spreading rapidly over large areas.

Control measures should include: (1) Pruning and burning of all dead material from elms; (2) removing of the bark before elm wood is stored or dumped, if the wood is not destroyed;

(3) piling of stored elm wood in a dry building or cellar; (4) removing and burning promptly all elm trees killed by the disease.

There are three good clues for spotting the diseased trees, according to University of Massachusetts specialists. Evidence of woodpecker work is one. Where strips of bark have been removed from tree limbs it may indicate that woodpeckers are feeding on elm bark beetles, carriers of the Dutch elm disease.

Shepherd's crooks are another sign of the disease. These crooks are twisted twigs branching out at the end of last season's growth. Third, lack of spring buds may indicate that the trees have been attacked by the disease.

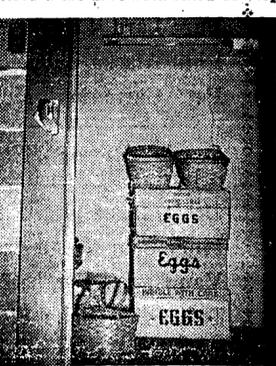

Early detection of the disease will aid control measures, foresters say.

Electricity Serves New Chore in Poultry House

Electricity has added one more chore to its list of poultry operations. It has invaded the egg storage room in a battle against mold and musty odors.

Accompanying picture shows how this battle is being fought on a Virginia farm. The "armament" consists of two bactericidal lights. From a central place on the ceiling, the lights radiate powerful germ-killing rays into every part of the room.

The egg storage room has been free of mold and musty odors since the equipment was installed three years ago. As a result, eggs stored there have been rated as "top quality" and sold at premium prices. Electricity also lends a hand in incubating and brooding operations; cleaning and grading eggs; ventilating and lighting poultry houses, debarking, watering and, finally, after killing, in removing feathers and freezing for delayed home use or commercial sale.

Use of electricity on farms has made marked strikes recently.

Farm Saw Frame

The table for this saw frame is an all-steel welded job which is not damaged by heavy poles. The frame at the back of the table and the safety guard were made from scrap pieces. The guard on the back of the saw also, is an example of fabricating useful equipment from metal scraps with an arc welder.

Wisconsin Notes Drop In Dairy Cow Numbers

At the beginning of 1948, Wisconsin, America's greatest dairy state, had 2,580,000 cows and heifers, two years old or over, kept for milk, also 1,015,000 heifer calves and heifers one to two years old kept for milk cows. Compared with a year ago, the number of milk cows declined 51,000 and the number of young stock kept for future milk cows decreased 16,000.

Twice-Day Record

With a record-smashing total of 1,118.8 pounds of butterfat, Crestview Toitilla Susan, purebred Holstein dairy cow owned by Lakefield Farms, Clarkston, Mich., has established a new all-time U. S. butterfat figure for cows being milked twice daily. "Susan" produced close to 1,400 pounds of table butter during the year.

Herds and Flocks

Fall pigs have advantages over spring litters because they are farrowed under more favorable conditions. Sows and gilts have been on summer pasture soaking up sunshine during pregnancy. Iowa State college swine specialists say fall pigs usually come stronger and more pigs are saved.

Turkey raisers are being advised now not to put baking soda or salt in drinking water for poult, because use of these in excessive amounts causes a condition known as "water belly."

Burn the carcass of every animal that dies of anthrax. Don't open the carcass. Soak in with kerosene, cover it with a load of cobs or straw, put a load of manure over them and set fire to the pile. If possible, burn anthrax carcasses right where the animal dies.

Castrate pigs any time after they are a week old. After castration, keep them on clean grass pasture where there are no mudholes, to reduce danger of lockjaw infection.

Caution Urged in Feeding Salt to Poultry Flock

Extra salt will control cannibalism for a short time after it is added to the ration of chickens, according to Pennsylvania State college. Usual amount is two teaspoons per gallon of drinking water. Salt should be fed only long enough to stop cannibalizing, except the small amount contained in the mash. Feeding large quantities actually may prove harmful.

COOKING SCHOOL DEMONSTRATORS

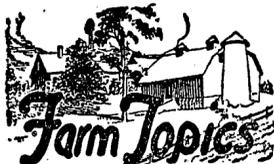

On Monday, Nov. 8, at 2:00 p. m., in the basement of the Community Church at Kendrick, the Washington Water Power Company will present to the community and surrounding area a public cooking school, "Reddy Makes Magic." Homemakers everywhere have been asking when a good old-fashioned cooking school would be held. To those who asked, this is it.

The demonstration given by Mrs. Virginia Woods and Mrs. Kathy Ricketts is designed to answer the many questions on electric cookery asked by homemakers. New suggestions for the use and care of the electric range will also be given.

A series of these schools are being presented throughout this section of the country. Homemakers who have attended previous schools report that they have been both interesting and helpful to them.

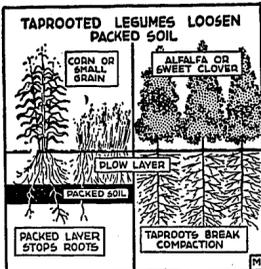

Everyone is cordially invited to attend this public demonstration. Come and bring your friends.

Legumes Open Soil To Air and Water System of Rotation Prevents Compaction

Tight "stuffy" soils are robbing many farmers of high bushel-per-acre yields of corn and small grains each year. Loams, silt loams and clay loams need large amounts of organic matter in the plow layer and deeper to keep them open and loose for high crop production.

Heavy soils that are low in organic matter and worked with heavy tractors and machinery become packed, especially just below the plow sole. These compactions slow down the intake of water. They cut down the amount of water and air the soil will hold for crop use. They keep the fibrous roots of corn and small grain "upstairs" away from water and plant food held deeper in the soil.

Tap roots of alfalfa and sweet clover, as shown in sketch, break through packed soil to assure water and plant food for growing crops.

Temporary relief can be had by using machines that reach below the ordinary plow layer and break up the plow sole compactions. Real relief, however, comes only through regular use of deep-rooted legumes in the rotation.

The driving tap roots of sweet clover and alfalfa force their way through the compactions and reach deep into the soil, thus opening it to air and water. The mineralized organic matter they leave there improves soil tilth and furnishes plant food for other crops.

Channels of the tap roots are routes for water and air and fibrous roots to follow deep into the soil. Compaction-busting alfalfa and sweet clover need phosphate and potash if they are to do a good job.

Smash Sale Records

All records for Ayrshire auction sales in the U. S. were broken when an average of $2,267.39 was paid for 23 Scottish bred Ayrshires imported and sold by Frank V. Lile of Bellefontaine, Ohio. The sale grossed $52,150.

A new record price for Ayrshire bull calves was set at $4,600 by Howard Baum and Sons of Paint Valley farm, Bainbridge, Ohio, in the purchase of eight-months-old Killoch Gay Spark (above).

Increased Yields Noted With Use of Fertilizer

Wheat yields can be stepped up 7 to 14 bushels per acre and the hay crop can be increased through use of more fertilizer in hay and pasture crops seeded in small grains, declares Dr. D. R. Dodd of the Ohio experiment station.

This practice is particularly profitable on land already highly productive, Dodd points out. As an example, he cites tests made by research men on plots at the Ohio station. The land's producing capacity already had been built up by good soil management so that it was producing an average of 85 bushels of corn, 23 bushels of wheat and 3 tons of hay per acre.

In the tests, a 2-12-6 fertilizer was applied at increasing rates to wheat.

Minnesota Starts Big Tree Planting Project

As the first step in a far-reaching tree planting program authorized by the state legislature last year, Minnesota is planting about two million trees this year.

A million deciduous and coniferous trees are being sold at cost plus handling expense for planting on private lands. Another million coniferous trees are available for free distribution for planting on public lands.

Marriages Top Divorce

Boise — Marriages performed in Idaho during June (latest month on which figures are available) averaged 32 a day, John W. Wright, director of vital statistics, Idaho department of public health, said this week, for a total of 959.

Divorces during the month totaled 283 for an average of slightly less than 10 per day.

Kootenai county lead all counties in the state with the number of marriages and divorces, with 203 and 47, respectively. No marriages or divorces were reported in Adams, Camas or Clark counties. Ada county was second in the marriage rank with 120, and in fourth position with 25 divorces granted.

Other counties and marriage and divorce totals are as follows, with marriages listed first: Bannock, 83, 21; Bear Lake, 11, 0; Benewah, 9, 2; Bingham, 14, 3; Blaine, 7, 0; Boise, 2, 3; Bonner, 8, 10; Bonneville, 60, 13; Boundary, 7, 3; Butte, 3, 0; Canyon, 74, 15; Caribou, 2, 0; Cassia, 3, 6; Clearwater, 5, 3; Custer, 3, 0; Elmore, 5, 1; Franklin, 11, 2; Fremont, 5, 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brammer were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. August Brammer in Cameron.

Grant Bateman, E. M. Millsap, Ed and Walt Luman and Mr. Jenkins of Kendrick; Ray Howard and Ivan French of Lewiston returned Sunday from a nine-day hunting trip in the Cedars country, bringing back two elk.

Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Bencoter were Lewiston business visitors on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Nichols of Clarkston brought Mrs. Ed. Kent home Sunday as she returned from a trip to Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Cox of Ferdinand spent Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Bencoter. Saturday and Sunday they were guests in the Andy Cor home.

Andy Cox returned home from St. Joseph's hospital in Lewiston, Sunday, where he underwent surgery. Wayne Davis is building a new road into his place and is now putting on gravel.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Peterson of Deary were Sunday afternoon visitors in the Warney May home.

Mrs. Lathrop and son Cecil of Washtucna, Wash., a sister of Mrs. Dot Stanton, spent Friday at the Harley Eichner home. She also visited on Big Bear ridge.

Mr. Edgars of Troy and Walter Bencoter left for Baker, Oregon, after a load of cattle, Wednesday.

Ira Havens of Moscow and Frankie Bencoter assisted Geo. Havens in putting a new roof on the garage, Friday.

Boundaries Are Defined
At last we have official information on the boundaries of the special elk and deer hunt in a portion of Latah county - about which we have had many inquiries, and, as given to us last Wednesday afternoon by Hal Ebling, state game conservation officer - here they are: Beginning at the town of Kendrick, thence north on the Northern Pacific right-of-way to Troy; thence north on Big Meadow creek to East Moscow Mountain; thence following the divide northwesterly to Boundary Point; thence east and south on the divide to Shea Meadows; thence south and east to the Deary-Bovill highway at Hog Meadow; thence southerly on the Deary-Bovill road to Helmer; thence on the Helmer-Linden-Kendrick road to Kendrick; the point of beginning - and open to the killing of both deer and elk. However, it should be remembered that regular tags are required, just as during the regular season.

Mr. Ebling stated that there was no set date for closing the season - and that it might run until January 1, 1949. However, it can be closed at any time, but an attempt will be made to give 10 days notice of such closing.
Mr. Ebling also urged that extreme caution be used in this hunt - as much of the territory is covered with heavy brush - and to date Latah county has had no hunters killed or injured.
Wear red yourself - and watch out for the other fellow!

Raspberries Really Producing
Albert Glenn, Cameron, brought to the Gazette office Tuesday a long cane of new growth raspberry bush that is loaded with large ripe berries and also small forming buds.
Mr. Glenn says that they have a long row of these bushes at their home in Cameron, and that all of this year's growth, which in most varieties, would not bear until next year, is as loaded as the cane he brought to the office.
The leaves show but very little frost damage, and he says that he and his wife have been enjoying the berries right along.
The variety is unknown, but Mr. Glenn says it is a hybrid of some kind that they purchased in the east some three years ago.
The cane and berries may be seen at the Gazette.

Just No Duck Here!
In one of the daily papers of good circulation in this area appeared the headlines, "Duck Unlimited" just before the opening of the duck season - and two days later appeared statements by conservation officers that they had checked a large number of hunters and found but very few ducks!
That is certainly true here. There just aren't any ducks in this territory, and there won't be any until wintry weather in the north forces southern flights.
So, instead of "Ducks Unlimited" as advertised by our state fish and game department, it should be "No Ducks!"

WRITES OF EASTERN CLAMS

The Gazette is in receipt of the following letter from Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Albright of Juliaetta, who are vacationing in the east. The letter is written from Old Greenwich, Conn.

As a landlubber of long standing, my education in the appreciation of sea food has been sadly neglected. My brother and his family are striving heroically to correct this, at least partially, and have started with clams.

I never really considered the subject before. I have taken them more or less for granted. Even in my conversation I have blithely used such expressions as, "tight as a clam," "clamming up," or "such a clam bake," to express my opinion of certain occasions and episodes, not fully realizing the significance involved. I am rapidly coming to the point in my experience where clams will be forever spelled with a capital "C."

Take the digging, for instance. I am glad I made it very plain at the beginning that I was an observer only. Clam digging is a sport (a job) for enthusiasts only. It takes old shoes - or shoes worn especially for the job - since you walk in muck, water and mud or gravel as the tide goes out, and your shoes are full of them all before you are through. Old clothes, or special clothes - because the dirt is eventually smeared on them too, and they had best be worn at this time of year because the wind is cold. One of my surprises was to find the water of the sound almost warm to my hands after being in the wind a while. And that reminds me - you had better have a fine disregard for your pet fingernails and your lilly-white hands, for believe me, that gravel, muck and mud not to mention the old, broken shells, are certain destruction for both!

The equipment you take along is about the same as we take for digging potatoes at home. The old spud fork my brother uses looked quite familiar but felt entirely strange when used to turn rocks, heavy gravel and much. The queer-looking prong, on a short handle (shaped like a hoe) that some of the other fellows used looked awkward and inadequate as they struggled to turn over rocks, but they seemed to pile up as many and dig as many as we did, so I must acknowledge their efficiency - producing perspiration, oackaches and clams - of course.

When you finally get Mr. Clam out of his native environment he is anything but beautiful. In fact, I still wonder how anything edible can come from such a lay-out. Your first thought is to wash him off, so your pail or bucket is made of large mesh screen or hardware cloth or just a pail punched full of holes will do. (Be sure it is large enough, though, for it takes a lot to satisfy the appetite acquired while out digging them.) You dunk him up and down in the sea water to get the worst off before you get him home in the kitchen sink to finish the job.

We found three kinds. The common steamer, so called, because you steam them to cook, and serve with melted butter and eat immediately. The uncommon razor clam that is highly prized and found only half as often (perhaps less) as the steamers, though cooked and eaten like them. They are shaped and just about the size of an old-fashioned straight-edge razor. They are prized because they are larger and "meatier" than the steamers. The so-called hard shells are most often found under water, although we found some with the steamers in the rocks. They are larger and are the ones used in clam recipes. You open them with a knife (like an oyster) then grind or cut to fit your needs.

My appetite like my experience is gradually growing. Steamed clams? Oh yes, I've known them longest and best. Clam fritters? Only occasionally. Clam muffins? Not too often, thank you. Clam chowder? Fine, if made the New England way, tomatoes with clams are not a team for consumption as far as I'm concerned. Clam broth? Yes, by all means, any day in the week. Fried clams? Oh, boy, lead me to 'em. But for pity sakes ration them, since they are too rich for unlimited consumption by the person of undeveloped capacity!

We are leaving the coast now and heading back into the midwest states to visit some relatives before coming home. Our traveling has been much enjoyed since we have had fine roads and fine weather most of the way. The very fact that we have headed west again has turned our thoughts to home and home folks, and I, for one, will be glad to come home and rest a while. Hoping to see you about Nov. 1st, we send greetings to all - The Raleigh Albrights.

Weather Chill And Damp
Local weather the past week has been "not too good, not too bad," for we have been favored with several rather chill rains, some chill winds, at in between time with hours of bright, warm sunshine - all-in-all, it might be described as typically late fall weather.

Enough rain has fallen to put a stop to most farming operations, although some seeding is said to be still underway, and on dry, south slopes, some plowing is going on. Some clover and late-seeded oats are still standing in the fields - and but little hope is held of saving this.

Are Now Grandparents
Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cook received word Friday of the birth of a 9-lb. son to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Goff of Lewiston, at St. Joseph's hospital. Mrs. Cook left for Lewiston Tuesday to help care for them.
Mrs. Goff is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cook.

Bazaar And Supper
The Cream Ridge W. M. A. will hold their annual supper and bazaar on Saturday, Nov. 13th. Supper will be served from 5:30 to 7:30. Everyone is welcome.

W. S. C. S. Meet Friday
The regular W. S. C. S. business meeting will be held Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Jack Travels. The ladies of the community are invited to be present.

Potlatch Chief Sez

PUBLISHED BY THE KENDRICK CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERY

HELLO, FOLKS —

To All Milk Bottle Collectors:

Oh bring back, oh bring back,
Oh bring back our bottles to us,
Oh bring back, oh bring back,
Oh bring back our bottles to us!

That's our song for today, and we wish you would all take heed and return all milk bottle promptly. Paper bags just don't make good containers for milk.

About Dairy Products:

When you are buying dairy products always insist upon the brand name "Potlatch Chief Dairy Products." No meal is complete without Cream, Milk and Butter. Keep well supplied at all times. And remember, "Potlatch Chief Ice Cream" is ideal for desserts. It is so easy to serve and so pleasing to your family and your guests that you will want to serve it often.

About Cream Cans:

We have just received a shipment of 2-gallon and 3-gallon cream cans, for re-sale. We invite you to come in and inspect these sturdily-built cans.

About Marketing:

Remember — Always market your cream and eggs the Co-operative Way — and bring them to this creamery.

"What a strange looking cow!" exclaimed the girl from the city. "Why hasn't she any horns?" "Well," said the farmer, "some cows are born without horns, some shed theirs and some we dehorn. But the reason this cow hasn't any horns is that she is a mule."

A cheery fellow said to a pessimist: "At last, at last, I'm at the end of my troubles!" "Which end?" asked the pessimist, frowning.

TEAKEAN GOSSIP

Our school presented a Hallow'en program on Thursday of last week, and it was very thoroughly enjoyed. A pie social was held immediately following, the proceeds going to help pay for an oil stove for the school.

William Groseclose returned to Juliaetta for the winter on Sunday.

The Clearwater County Health nurse visited the school this week to start a health program for the school children — which includes daily doses of codliver oil, and also to check for any possible contagious diseases.

Carroll Groseclose was the first one in Clearwater county to pay the first half of real taxes for 1948. The date of payment was Oct. 28.

J. W. MacArthur recently delivered two loads of large cedar poles to the B. J. Carney yard at Ahsahka for Carroll Groseclose. Luther Proffit, Jr., delivered three loads to the same yard for Joe Wojohowski.

A shower of household articles is to be given at our Grange hall soon for Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Carey, who recently lost everything they owned in household articles when their home was destroyed by fire.
