Trials Indicate Jack Pine Is Satisfactory for Pole

Jack pine is plentiful in the tim bered sections of central and eastern Canada, but in the past this species was considered to have little value for poles or other structural uses However, recent studies by the Canadian forest products laboratories, coupled with results obtained from actual installations, have indicated that satisfactory poles can be obtained from this species.

A number of jack pine poles were installed by the Canadian Pacific railway company in 1923 along 31 miles of the main line in northern Ontario. The project was undertaken more or less as an experiment since, insofar as was known at the time, this was the first pressure creosoted jack pine installation of any consequence in Canada.

A total of 1,360 of these poles was set in the 1924 project. They were hand-peeled, fully seasoned, roufed, grained and bored before treatment with eight pounds of creosote-coal tar solution consisting of 70 per cent creosote and 30 per cent tar. At an inspection of this line in 1942 no sign of decay or failure of any kind was found.

Proved Oil Reserve Soars To Peak of Trillion Gallons

Despite tremendous production, the oil industry has managed to build reserves to a new high level. The industry has pushed proved reserves - oil known to be in the ground - to more than a trillion gallons. Geologists estimate that twice that many gallons still await discovery.

In order to get oil delivered to the ultimate consumer, the 34,000 companies making up the American oil industry now are engaged in a four billion dollar expansion program.

Exploration and drilling for new sources during 1947 ran about 14 per cent ahead of 1946; more than 24.000 miles of pipeline are planned or under construction, new tankers, barges and tank cars have been ordered, refineries to process oil are being built and new storage facilities erected near points where oil is used.

Illustrations of Books

Early history of book illustration is identical with that of wood engraving. Earliest printed book illustrations, which appeared about the second quarter of the fifteenth century, are the "block books," in which text and illustrations were cut in the same block of wood. After invention of movable types in 1454, wood engraving became almost the only form of book illustration, culminating in Germany in the works' of Durer and Holbein.

Oil Demand Grows

Anticipated annual world demand for oil will reach four billion barrels, or more than 160 billion gallons, in 1951, according to a study made by American institute of mining and metallurgical engineers. To meet this requirement, crude output and refinery runs must be increased about two million barrels a day above the 1947 average. This increment, together with pipelines. tankers and other facilities, according to estimates, will require in excess of 10 billion dollars of new capital in the next four years. When the pipelines from the Middle East to the Mediterranean are completed, the Middle East supplies will relieve the strain on western hemisphere retroleum resources.

More Scrap Needed

Scrap, an essential material in making new steel, has been so scarce at times in the last year that production of more than three million tons of steel ingots has been lost in mill shutdowns. Prospects of similar conditions this year have brought about such emergency measures as scrap drives, surveys of old battlefields and war zones, and compulsory arrangements by which steel users must send scrap to their steel suppliers. Although these steps are considered important, the industry believes that real relief can be provided only when the government makes available its large tonnages of idle merchant ships, old shells, tanks, guns and hundreds of other war items left over in government hands. This can be done without interfering with national defense, the industry asserts.

The Meteorologist's Job

Predicting the weather is a complicated task. In a large city, for instance, a substantial crew of trained men and women get reports each hour from stations throughout the particular area. The reports include temperature changes, the kind of clouds in the heavens at the time, the direction and speed of the wind, visibility and other 'celestial data. Pressure change maps then are drawn showing in which direction the air masses are traveling. When this has been done the meteorologist is equipped to predict with a fair de-gree of accuracy what kind of weather can be expected for 24 or 36 hours. The velocity and direction of the wind is recorded by the triple register, which also interprets how much sunshine or rain is in the air.

Humble Peas Used to Sell

As Luxury for $62 a Pint Most people do not know that peas once sold for $62.50 per pint enough money to buy 400 cans of peas at the grocer's today. Nor do they know that most of the 30,000 farmers for whom peas are an all-important cash crop get paid on the calculations of an instrument called a tenderometer, which crushes a given quantity of green peas and determines their tenderness. The easier the crush the higher the price the canner pays the far-

Last year canners packed nearly 800 million cans of peas, which, if placed end to end, would girdle the globe twice.

Peas costing over a cent a piece, or $62.50 a pint, were a delicacy indulged in by members of the French court during the reign of Louis XIV. The author of the Life of Colbert wrote in 1696 that peas were 'both a fashion and a madness." Flavor and quality in peas are captured by canning them as soon as they reach the correct stage of maturity. Even a small pea cannery can turn out 300 cans per hour. Working night and day during harvest time, members of the industry in 27 states last year packed enough peas to provide everyone in the United States with 25 generous servings.

Fort Lewis Commemorates

Early American Expedition Stretching from the shores of beautiful Puget Sound to the foothills of the majestic Cascade mountains, with towering Mount Rainier in the distance, is Fort Lewis, Washington, largest military installation in the western states and home of the famed 2d Infantry division.

The fort's name commemorates the exploits of Captain Meriwether Lewis who in 1805 led the historic Lewis and Clark expedition down the Columbia river and into the virgin territory now contained in the state of Washington.

With more than 70,000 acres of land, 80 per cent of it virgin timber, the huge post has dozens of target ranges and training areas. Its reservation includes every kind of terrain on which almost any type of military problem may be practiced. Within a half-day's journey lie low hills, pathless forests, beautiful groves, rivers, lakes, and the sea itself.

The fort was originally established in 1917 as Camp Lewis, and became a permanent installation 10 years later. During World War I the hard-hitting 91st division was organized and trained at Camp Lewis prior to its participation in fighting in France. Also organized there was the 13th Infantry division during Lewis' growth as a wartime military training center.

Today, all Fort Lewis' activities are closely related to the training of the 2d (Indianhead) division which, in 1917, was organized in Europe. The division, then composed of regular army and marine corps regiments, served with distinction in World War I and was decorated with the French fourragere. In World War II the Indianheads fought all the way from Omaha beach to the Rhine. For their valiant stand during the "battle of the bulge" the command was decorated with the Belgian fourragere.

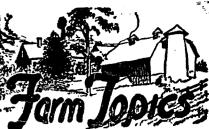

1947 Farm Income

Returns for the first 11 months indicate that farmers in the United States during the full year of 1947 received thirty billion dollars from marketings and 340 million from government benefit payments, or a total cash income of $30,340,000,000. This was the highest income in history, and exceeded by 19.8 per cent the previous high record of $25,318,000,000 in 1946. The increase from 1946 to 1947 in farm income from marketings was primarily the result of a sharp increase in the prices of agricultural products, although an increase in the quantity marketed was also a factor. Prices in 1947, reaching the highest level ever recorded, were 19.3 per cent above the 1946 level. The quantity of farm products marketed was also the highest on record, but showed an increase of only 2.5 per cent over the 1946 volume.

Wheel-Chair Kitchen

As a first step in a program to aid an estimated five million disabled U. S. housewives, a complete kitchen that can be operated by a woman in a wheel chair has been designed, in Bridgeport,

The program is sponsored by the Institute of Rehabilitation in New York, an outgrowth of affiliation between New York university and Bellevue hospital. The institute is supported by a $250,000 grant from the Bernard Baruch committee on physical medicine and by resources from the Milbank memorial fund and other agencies. According to Dr. Howard A. Rusk, executive chairman of the institute and wartime army rehabilitation head, work in the field of rehabilitation has thus far overlooked the five million disabled housewives in the United States. Of this number, Dr. Rusk asserted, "two million depend on crutches or wheelchairs. They constitute the largest occupationally disabled group in the country."

Three Diseases Take High Toll of Turkeys Heaviest Loss Occurs During Growing Period

Nearly a third of all turkeys hatched are lost during the growing period. This statement is based on findings of Utah Agricultural college survey. Of considerable importance to control program is the fact that the three diseases known to be the greatest killers of poults paratyphoid infection, pullorum disease and infectious sinusitis, which may be transmitted through the egg from parent, to the offspring-cause 61 per cent of the brooder loss.

If a grower starts with a healthy, vigorous poult, the job of keeping the bird healthy is relatively simple. Thus the first problem for a prospective turkey producer is to buy poults from hatcheries that have a reputation for producing healthy poults. As it may be impossible for a single grower to know the poult source, cooperative effort may be helpful in investigating the breeder and hatcher.

Proper housing and proper use of brooding equipment are essential to health of the poults. Basis of sanitary procedures is to prevent healthy individuals from coming in contact with the infectious agents of disease. All weak-looking poults should be kept separate from the healthy fowls and strict sanitary practices must be maintained during the brooding period.

if present in large numbers, affects the size and flavor of the fruit Also, a secretion known as "honeydew" produces a sticky and unattractive appearance of the fruit, especially if it is to be sold as fresh fruit. Development of a sooty fungus in the honeydew may contribute further to the unsightly appearance of the cherries. Sweet cherries are more commonly infested than sour cher-

Neglected Farm Forest Termed Valuable Asset

The farm woodland is paying off. That long neglected group of trees that stands on the back "forty" and which once was eyed with a resentful attitude because it occupied land that could far better be devoted to grazing, now becomes a definite and valuable asset. It is one that can be quickly converted into cash. To the owner has come the realization that the farm will produce something more thangrain, root crops, pasture or dairy products. Trees also are a crop, and a paying crop, even on the poorer types of soil where intensive agriculture is an impossibility.

Modern Stock Barn

War-born quonsets have been adapted to many farm uses. Above photo shows how a Brighton, Mich., farmer utilizes a quonset. Note the improved window arrangements.

Prompt Action Required To Relieve Cattle Bloat

Removal of the gases from the rumen is the primary object in treatment of bloat in cattle. If bloating has just started, the animal should be forcibly exercised and the distended abdomen massaged or kneaded with the clenched fist to bring about belching of the gases from the stomach. A wooden gag can be placed in, and across, the mouth of the bloated animal.

Britain Gives Welcome to 325,000 Refugees and DP's

Britain has opened her doors to more than 325,000 refugees and displaced persons since the outbreak of World War II. During 1947 alone, she gave refuge to nearly 33,000 homeless war victims-more than any other country in the world.

At the outbreak of war in 1939, some 80,000 refugees from Hitler had already found sanctuary in Britain. A number of these have since returned home or emigrated elsewhere, but the majority have settled down in Britain, and many have now become naturalized British citi-

A further 70,000 civilians led to Britain for safety during the early years of the war, when enemy forces had overrun most of Europe.

Then there are the displaced persons from camps in Germany and Austria, known as European volunteer workers, who are making a new start in life in Britain. By the end of 1947, Britain had welcomed almost 40,000 displaced persons (both workers and dependents) under organized schemes like "Westward Ho." Almost as many other displaced persons have entered Britain under private arrangements since the end of the war.

The doors are still wide open. More than 1,200 volunteer workers arrive at British ports from European "displaced persons" camps every week. Some 800 Jewish orphan children found in Nazi concentration camps have been brought to Britain and are being cared for by private individuals and voluntary societies. More than 5,000 distressed persons in Europe and the Far East have been reunited with their relatives in

St. Louis to Build Unique Jefferson Memorial Design

A stainless steel arch 590 feet tall will be the central theme of the proposed 30-million-dollar Jefferson river front memorial in St. Louis.

First prize in a $125,000 architectural contest was won by Eero Saarinen, 38-year-old Finnish-born architect of Bloomfield Hills, Mich. in association with his wife and three other members of his firm.

The arch is to be erected near and parallel to the river levee in such a manner as to frame the old St. Louis courthouse, four blocks from the river, which is to be restored as it was in 1862.

This "Gateway to the West" will contain a funicular elevator for public access to an observation gallery atop it. Site of the proposed memorial is an 83-acre river-front area, 12 blocks long and extending three blocks west from the river.

The memorial project was conceived in 1933 by a St. Louis lawyer who, with others, organized a civic group to get behind it. The memorial is to be a tribute not only to Thomas Jefferson and the Louisiana purchase, but to the Lewis and Clark expedition, the fur trade, and the pioneer spirit of the old West and all the historic background of St.

Puerto Rico's Junior TVA

The $10,000,000 Caonilla hydro-electric and irrigation project is the largest in Puerto Rico, and was fi-nanced by the island's two million population. It is part of a 100-milliondollar "industrial comeback" that is causing a mild boom throughout the island. This is the latest step in a drastic move by the Puerto Rico government to change the island's principal source of power, imported oil to make steam to hydro-electric power, a task that will be completed by 1970. The Caonillas dam started in 1942 is 230 feet high. It will create a reservoir of 50,000 acre feet. This new unit will give Puerto Rico 400 million kilowatt hours a year, sufficient to handle its new industries.

Pollen Trap for Bees

Man has again figured out a way to get the tiny bee to do a better job of pollinating fruit trees. Three hives of bees, in three days time, may now do the job of pollen-gather-ing and distributing that would cost from $500 to $1,000 to do by tedious hand work. A pollen trap and distributor has been made by J. C. Kremer, Michigan state college re-search horticulturist. With the trap he was able to gather a pint of pollen from the feet of the bees as they returned to the hive. This pollen was then taken more than a hundred miles away and placed in another hive equipped with a distributor. Bees leaving this hive to visit apple trees carried the pollen with them.

Gives Crowl to Church

When Italy invaded Ethiopia in 1935, Empress Menen, wife of Hailie Selassie, took shelter in Jerusalem. She promised that if her country was delivered from its enemy, she would give her gold jewel-encrusted crown to the Church of the Nativity, in Bethlehem. Fulfilling her pledge, a special representative from Addis Ababa in Jerusalem presented the crown to Greek Orthodox Patriarch Timothy, to be installed in the thurch. Built over the site of Christ's birthplace, the church is owned by the Greek Orthodox, Roman Catholic and Armenian churches. Empress Menen is a member of the Coptic church in Ethiopia.

Isotopes Represent Gains

In Medicine and Chemistry Atomic weapons produced during the war were laboratory products, experimental devices not only designed but also largely fabricated and assembled by the scientists who conceived them at Los Alamos.

With the ending of the war came an interval of readjustment during which weapon development was carwhich weapon development was carried on under very difficult conditions. It became clear that for the longer-term operation, a much broader base for operations was needed to insure against "bottlenecking" at any stage.

During its first year, therefore, the weapon program was directed toward converting from unit fabrication to a different scale of weapon production. This necessitated basic changes in organization and planning including:

Expansion of production facilities, to effect a continuous flow of component parts.

Development of new designs, stemming partly from work done during Improvement and standardization in the design of component parts. Standardization of procedures and provision of standard instructions - for storage and handling. Progress is being made towards these objectives. Active isotopes for off-project distribution are produced at Oak Ridge. The stable isotopes are separated in the magnetic machines built during the war to extract U235 from common uranium. The radioactive isotopes are manufactured by irradiation of materials in reactors constructed for the production of plutonium. Thus, isotopes are by-products of the manufacture of the atomic bomb.

If the development of atomic energy had produced nothing else, its cost would have been balanced within a few years by the gains in knowledge that the nation is making with isotopes—in medicine, chemis try, industry, and agriculture. The atomic energy commission's aim is to make isotopes available to all qualified users in qantities as large as can be profitably used, in variety as great as can be developed, and at the lowest possible cost.

Surinam, or Dutch Guiana, To Offer DP's Farm Haven

Surinam, where some 30,000 European refugees soon may get their chance to start life anew, provided three-fifths of the bauxite for America's stepped-up production of aluminum during World War II. But farming, not mining, will be the livelihood for families resettled in the Netherlands colony on South America's shoulder.

Known also as Dutch Guiana, Surinam has room for colonization. One-sixth larger in area than New 200,000 people, notes the National Geographic Society. By contrast, the Netherlands itself holds nine million people in less than one-fourth Surinam's area.

Wedged between British Guiana on the west and French Guiana on the east, Surinan has about 250 miles of Atlantic coast. Its farmable area is virtually limited to the low coastal plain, widening from a tenmile inland reach along the Maroni river on the eastern boundary to 50 miles at the Courantyne river on the west.

Much of this plain is swamped at high tide. Dutch colonists, sea fighters by heritage, have built dikes at the mouths of several rivers to protect the sick science. ers to protect the rich soil where agriculture is concentrated.

These cultivated regions, planted chiefly in sugar, coffee, and rice, total less than 200 square miles. However, much larger areas could be reclaimed. Behind the coastal lowland strip is the so-called savanna belt, 30 to 40 miles wide. Savannas (treeless plains) occur here and there, but their sandy soil is poorly suited for farming. Forestland is dominant.

'The biggest portion by far is the thickly forested interior rising to mountain peaks over 4,000 feet high. Descendants of Negro slaves and American Indians are scattered along its rivers. They live partly by logging and collecting balata, a base for chewing gum.

What Is Nylon?

Contrary to the common idea, nylon is not a single substance. It is a new and basic class of materials with many of the qualities of metals, plastics and rubber. It can be made in different degrees of toughness, hardness, flexibility, solubility and color. The individual filaments of nylon yarn are cylindrical, smooth and uniform and act differently from most other

The commonest textile form of nylon is made from two chemical compounds: hexamethylene diamine and adipic acid. The diamine is made from coal (coke), air and water; from cyclohexane, a petroleum product; or from furfural, an agricultural by-product. Adipic acid is made either from coke, air and water or from cyclohexane. The diamine and acid are combined to form "nylon salt," which gives molten nylon when heated. This is extruded through fine orifices to form filaments which are stretched to between four and seven times their original length and

HELLO, THERE FOLKS:

With a "rip" goes the last page of the 1948 calendar, and another year is added to History! With only a few hours left of the old year, it's time to forget the bad things of the year, forgive everyone for their mistakes, be thankful for all the good things and smile, and be ready to face and smile, and be ready to face a bright and Happy New Year.

Of course we all begin by making lots of New Year's Resolutions, Here's one to add to your list — "I resolve to keep plenty of Potlatch Chief Dairy Products on hand at all times," and that's a "dilly" of a resolution because a "dilly" of a resolution because it is such a pleasure to keep.

For snacks and midnight lunches Potlatch Chief Dairy Products are a real necessity. Take a serving of Cottage Cheese with a bit of left over fruit, a glass of ice cold Pasteurized milk and a dish of ice cream and your snack is complete. Not only is it delicious, but it is very nourishing and good for you. Put that resolution at the top of your list, and add Potlatch Chief Dairy Products to your shopping list. You will be starting the New Year right!

Don't worry if you didn't get those "Two Front Teeth for Christmas," you don't need 'em to eat Dairy Products.

HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ONE AND ALL!
