Influenced by large supplies, grain markets declined sharply during 1948 and at the close of the year, market prices of grain averaged 35 percent below those at the beginning of the year. Prices of many grains reached record peaks in January of 1948 with No. 1 dark northern spring advancing to $3.12 per bushel at Minneapolis and No. 2 hard winter $3.06 at Kansas City - for ordinary protein types. No. 1 soft white advanced to $2.91 per bushel at Portland. Prices dropped sharply in Firemen's Ball Enjoyed the latter part of January and Kendrick's first annual Firemen's early in February and then strengthened slightly and held fairly steady Decorations were very pleasing, ful prices declined to the loan level. market offerings

Trading in feed barley at Portland continued slow as country offerings lated on their fine dance as well as were of light volume, as in other recent weeks. Feed manufacturers and dealers were light buyers and mostly on a nearby basis. Some low grade feed barley continued to move and a few sales were reported at $54.00 per ton during the week. The cash oats market remained firm and prices were largely unchanged from a week ago. Offerings of local oats continued extremely light and demand was seasonally

Veal.....Or Capital? A calf is born. The farmer can enjoy it as roast veal. Or - he can deny himself that enjoyment, raise the calf to a cow, and then sell her

It's a good thing for you and your children that so many farmers denied themselves the veal and saved the calf for cow's milk. This is exactly what happens in industry. Thousands of people, with a little money each, can spend that money on themselves. Or, they can deny themselves, save the money, and invest it in machinery. It's a good thing for you and your children that so many people have denied themselves, and saved enough to pay for today's machinery - without which modern high-wage er has helped everyone and has a right to the earnings from his cow. No one can deny that the saver has 1-2 benefited workmen and has a right to the earnings on his savings. That's all there is to capital and dividends. — Idaho State Chamber
