We two mother-in-laws hired us a plane yesterday and went on a sight-seeing tour. The plane was a four-passenger new Stinson Station Wagon, a pretty maroon color with "Alaska Sporting Service" painted on the sides. Our pilot was a very nice kid. Imagine he is about 25 years old and a native of Kansas. He told us he would guarantee we would see mountain goat, sheep, moose and possibly bear. We saw all of them. We left the airport at 7:20 a. m. We got in and buckled our belts and were off. There I got my first surprise. We drove across those of 1913. the lot where the plane was parked. He took us over the most beautiful country. Flew between the mountains all the way and he flew low so we could see the country. The mountains were so pretty. Of course they were all capped with snow, and the canyons down the sides of them were filled with snow, too, but they were a beautiful green where there was no snow, and the valleys were the most beautiful sight anyone could ask to see. The valleys are all quite swampy tween Juliaetta and Kendrick, it is with lots of little lakes, and the streams are crooked and seem to flow on level ground - no banks. Lots of fir and cedar trees and a lot of birch, with shrubbery, too. I never saw so many shades of water all shades of blue and green. Three Fires In Area A report from the office of Henry Jones, district fire warden, discloses two grass fires in the past week. The first of these was at Arrow last Thursday, a small grass fire which covered about two acres. On Saturday they were called again to put out a grass fire below Spalding, which flashed through about six acres of tinder dry grass. No difficulty was experienced in putting out either blaze. An account of the third fire re-norted appears under the Stony Point News. Mr. Jones urges everyone to be constantly aware of the fire danger at this time. The woods and grass lands are very dry, and anvone motoring, picnicking or camping must observe every safety measure.

This program has been a co-operative undertaking between the University of Idaho agrisal this week. cultural experiment station, the U. The flag is being taken to Boston S. department of agriculture and by Dr. John Booth, secretary of the the Idaho crop pest control and regearch commission.

Dr. C. W. Hungerford, head of the plant pathology department at the university and project leader, re-ports that two new green snap beans are being given their final tests this summer by seed companies. At the Parma branch station, the new beans are receiving freezing and canning trials. Forty more promising garden varities are nearing the final test stage. This summer they are included in field trials at the Caldwell and Parma branch stations, the Jerome field station, and at Prosser, Wash., in co-operation with the Washington agricultural experiment station.

Development of new garden bean varities will strengthen Idaho's position as a major source of seed beans for the nation's home gardens.

"Idaho now produces around three-quarters of all the garden seed beans," Dr. Hungerford explains.

New varities also are on the way from the university's field bean development project.

Within the next two years we hope to introduce Pinto and Red Mexican field beans resistant to the new mosiac disease," Dr. Hungerford said. "New mosiac is a variation of the common kind. However, it attacks plants which are resistant to the common strain."

The new Pinto and Red Mexican varities are getting field trials this summer near Twin Falls.

Potato Growing Began In 1882

Boise - The first record of Idaho's now famous potato crop is 1882, according to statistics unearthed by the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce. The information was secured from the U. S. Department of Agriculture. In 1882 there were 2,400 acres of potatoes grown, with a yield of 104 bushels to the acre, for a total of 250,000 bushels. No information is available, however, on shipments from the state.

In 1917, the potato crop had increased to 39,000 acres; the average vield to 156 bushels per acre, for a total of 6,084,000 bushels, with 7,-120 carloads shipped, the first figures available on shipments.

Better seed and better methods continued to be reflected in the figures from year to year. By 1930 there were 117,000 acres, averaging 230 bushels to the acre, for a total of 26,910,000 bushels, and 32,862 carloads shipped.

The banner year, however, was 1948, when a total of 147,000 acres were planted and 42,630,000 bushels harvested. The average per acre was nearly 290 bushels

Americans hasten to the beach and pools for happy hours of sun and

This is the time for caution. What you may gain from sunbathing must be balanced against the harm possible from overexposure. Too much sunbathing may put a strain on the kidneys, result in toxemia or shock, or even lead to skin cancer. For every person who buys a sunburn preventative, there are 50 persons who buy a remedy to treat sunburn.

How long can you stay out in the sun? The people of the tropical countries are protected from the sun by their dark skin coloring, but the white race is not so fortunate. If you are light-complexioned, take especial care. "Condition" your skin by very short periods of exposure at first, until a protective tan is established. Some people

When you begin to turn pink, then is the time to get out of the sun. A few more minutes may cause a blister-producing burn. Don't forget that ultraviolet rays are present even when the sky is cloudy.

Use an effective suntan lotion to protect your skin, and be sure to re-apply it to replace loss from evaporation or rubbing-off.

By using care in exposing your body to the sun, you will help avoid painful sunburn and shock. In case of serious sunburn, call your Physician, Your Rexall Druggist will fill his prescription with fresh ingredients; double-checking for accuracy. European Relief Costy

Boise - Taxpayers of Idaho will be called upon to pay an estimated $14,973,000 as their share of the cost of ECA and other foreign aid programs now awaiting congressional approval. This figure was made public this week by the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce. It is based on a study made by the Council of State Chambers of Commerce which

State Chambers of Commerce which maintains a research office in Newark, New Jersey.

"All federal spending is paid for by taxes collected from the people and businesses in the 48 states and from nowhere else," the Idaho State Chamber said in a statement accompanying the figures. "A total of $4,015,900,000 is being requested for foreign relief — and that figure is given as a minimum by ECA Administrator Hoffman. While it is generally agreed that some postive type of foreign aid is essential, congress should approach the problem with the thought that there must be adequate protection for our domestic economy, too. Taking nearly $15,000,000 from Idaho, and $676,000,000 from the eleven western states could be detrimental to our economy and welfare.'

HELLO, THERE FOLKS:

Notice Of Meeting:

A special meeting of the Stock-holders of the Kendrick Co-operative Creamery, Inc., will be held at the Kendrick Theater, Kendrick, Friday, July 22 at 10

This is strictly a business meeting. It will be brief, but we urge every stockholder to take an hour or two off and attend, as it is important.

Hot, "Ain't It?"

Well, here are a few suggestions to help beat the heat:
For a cooling, refreshing drink with or between meals, try our buttermilk. Cooling, nourishing — and "there ain't no headache the followin' morning."

For salads, you just can't beat
"Potlatch Chief" brand cottage cheese — served plain, or with pinapple rings and lettuce, or other fruit and lettuce.

And for dessert — ah! You just can't touch "Potlatch Chief" Ice Cream. Cooling, refreshing, nutritious. Just the thing for dessert or a between-the-meals "cooler." Get it at the creamery, in a cone, by the quart, half gallon, gallon or 2½-gallon lot. Always keep some in your refrigaretor.

About The Care Of Cream:

This hot weather, cream can soon become rancid unless quickly and properly cared for. So, don't wait for a quantity to accumulate. Bring it in often, or send it in with your neighbor. No quantity too small — none too large. And remember: Not only depend on the fail market with the fail market do you get the full market price, but a dividend from profits besides. So sell the co-operative way — through us.

Gene: "What kind of oil do you use in your car?"
Moe: "I usually begin by telling them I'm lonely."
