

Weather Clear And Cold
 Locally, the past few days, the weather has been about all that could be desired.
 Following a couple of rather chill, damp days, with blustery wind, Saturday morning dawned clear and cold with a thermometer reading of 30. Saturday was a clear, crisp fall day, and the Sunday morning reading was again 30 degrees, with another beautiful day following.
 Monday morning the mercury recorded a low of 24 degrees — and when the sun came out the locust leaves from trees along Main street were falling like snow.
 Tuesday morning canyon residents were greeted with the sight of snow running about half way down the canyon side, and residents of the ridges reported a fall varying from one to two inches, Sanford and Alex Weaver reporting a good two inches on Cedar ridge.
 Hunters took advantage of the fine weather to give the Chinese pheasants a very unpleasant time Friday afternoon, Saturday and Sunday. Some got their limit, but more reported getting only one, or none. Birds seemed quite plentiful before the season opened, and what has become of them is something of a mystery, although the Potlatch canyon looked like "Homecoming", so thick were cars parked along the road from Juliaetta to Arrow, that it is highly possible there were two hunters for every bird, rather than two birds for every hunter.

 Hunters taking to the top of the hills reported the same kind of luck, so it is possible that this year's crop of birds is already in the skill-let.
Reward For Lost Hunter Up
 Grangeville, Oct. 17 — A total of $1,500 in rewards for the finder of Eddie Grant, lost in the Nezperce National Forest east of here, were posted tonight.
 Grant, 22-year-old Gifford hunter, has been missing since Oct. 5, when he left two other hunting companions in a solitary search for big game.
 Meanwhile, Glenn Altor, Grangeville, Idaho county corner, suggested Grant may have met with foul play. He says an investigation of that possibility is in progress.
 Altor declared the region where Grant was last seen, near Baldy mountain, about 30 miles east of here, is a country a man could easily walk out of.
 Ernest Butler of Fall Creek, in the search area, said about 25 tramped through the forest today looking for Grant. Little hope remains of finding the man alive.

To Observe World Day
 Mrs. Roy Ramey will entertain the Circle of the Kendrick W. S. C. S. Friday afternoon at 2:00 in her home.
 World Community Day will be observed by members packing a box with yard goods, thread, tape and other sewing materials — also any good garments will be acceptable.
 These articles will be sent to provide women in Europe and Asia with cloth, so that can make with their own hands, clothing necessary for themselves and their families.
 World Community Day is being observed by church women all over the U. S. A.
 All members and friends are urged to be present and to bring a gift for the box to be packed.
Enrolled In University
 Lawrence, Kansas — Barbara Jean Maxwell of Kendrick, Idaho, is enrolled at the University of Kansas for the fall term of 1949.
 There are students from every Kansas county, the 48 states and District of Columbia, and 107 foreign students from 40 geographical divisions outside the United States, registered at the university.

LOST HUNTERS CAUSE OF SOUND ADVICE GIVEN
 "If you lose your body, keep your head." That is probably the wisest advice that can be given to hunters during the current deer and elk season. As thousands of hunters tramp the wooded hills this fall, in all probability there will be several, not as woods-wise as they believed, who will get lost.
 A few simple steps, however, will reduce the possibility of getting lost in the woods. First, never venture afoot into a strange area without a forestry service map, or a home-made one showing the general lay of the land, such as ridges, streams, outstanding mountains, etc.
 Orientation is perhaps the most important aspect of safe woods travel. Knowing where you are, in relation to your car or camp, will forestall your getting lost. The careful hunter will note landmarks, outstanding physical characteristics of the country, which can be seen for a considerable distance, and locate your camp in relation to them.
 A compass is a necessity for some. Compass course running is a sure way to avoid spending a night in the woods, or a day of wandering. Don't depend on the sun for direction, it might be a cloudy day. On a sunny day, a watch can be made to serve as a compass in a pinch. To find directions, hold the watch level, point the hour hand in a direct line with the sun, then due south will lie directly between the hour hand and the figure 12.
 If you do get lost in a tricky terrain — keep your head. Sit down and make up your mind there is nothing to get panicky about. If day is drawing to a close, it is best to start preparation for a night in the woods, rather than become terrorized by stumbling around in the darkness.
 Find a naturally sheltered spot: a rock ledge, an overhanging boulder, a large downed log, or heavily foliaged evergreen tree. Lay in a supply of firewood for the night. Dead branches of conifers are the best material for starting a fire, or whittle dry shavings from the underside of a downed log.
 When you get lost, realize that there are others who will be looking for you. Keep calm, remember you aren't very many miles from your starting point, or civilization. You might fire signal shots to aid possible searchers. Three shots, with an interval of ten to fifteen seconds between each shot is the usual signal. These shots should be given every half hour. Stifle the urge to shoot oftener and preserve your ammunition. It takes a long time to walk out of range of the sound of a rifle shot.
 A night in the woods can be spent without too much discomfort, if you are prepared. Knowing you are properly equipped brings a fine and helpful sense of confidence. In addition to your weapon, the following items should be included: Compass, knife, matches in a waterproof case, a few chocolate bars, a small roll of twine and a light belt axe.
 Try your best to keep from getting lost, but if you do, keep your head. If you can't work your way out within a reasonable time, stay put and wait until the searchers find you. — Idaho Fish and Game Dept.

Why this isn't your 1950 model car

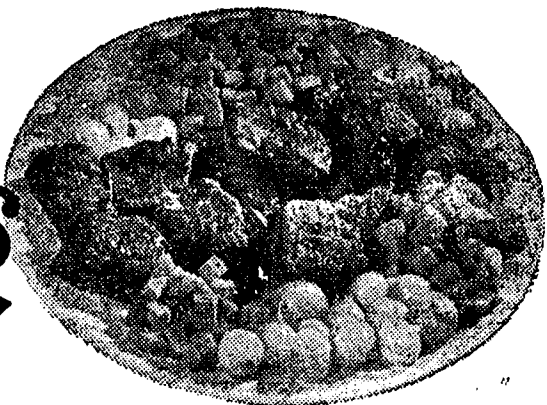

This gasoline buggy, now safely tucked away in dusty photograph albums, was quite a car in its day. It buzzed along at 20 miles an hour, had a jaunty, rakish air, and the people who could afford to buy one thought it was perfectly wonderful.
 In fact, it was so good it might still be the car you drive but for one reason. Competition. Healthy competition among both automotive and oil companies that resulted in constantly better, lower-cost automobiles and steadily improved oils and gasolines.
 For one example: Here at Standard of California, we've pioneered literally thousands of improvements in gasolines, motor oils and other petroleum products since the days of the horseless carriage. Those you use in your car today are unsurpassed anywhere. The world's first service station built by Standard in 1907 has grown, including outlets of all companies, to a network of more than a quarter of a million stations across the country.

 This progress, spurred by competition, will not stop. Just since the war, we've spent more than $450,000,000 in plants and facilities to serve you better.

4-H Achievement Week
 Members of 4-H clubs looking forward to celebration of achievement week, Nov. 5 to 13, were complimented this week by Charles F. Brannan, secretary of agriculture, on their 1949 results.
 The message was passed on to the groups of farm boys and girls throughout Idaho by Dan E. Warren, state 4-H club leader.
 "Achievements of 1949 have exceeded those of any previous year," Mr. Brannan said, "and through them you have made a very real contribution to better living for a better world."
 "You have demonstrated in a practical way how we may have better living for ourselves, how we may share our better living with the less fortunate, how we may prepare ourselves to be better citizens and to make this a better world. You have also gained much through your experiences in putting new discoveries of science to work in your demonstrations and in practicing good citizenship in your programs."
 "We in this department join the agricultural colleges and your friends and neighbors throughout the country in heartiest good wishes."

Farm Acres Double In 25 Years
 Boise — Idaho's farm land is pushing the desert back steadily, the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce reports.
 In 1920, Idaho had 5,283,604 acres of farm land. In 1945 the state's total farm acres had increased to 12,503,332.
 Proposed irrigation projects will eventually bring in another 3,000,000 acres of land for farming.

Forest Fire Damage Cut By 'Keep Green' Program

Citizens of the state of Washington are organized to prevent any repetition of forest holocausts like that which occurred in the state in 1902 causing millions of dollars worth of damage.

In eight years this public spirited group operating under the banner "Keep Washington Green" has worked wonders in helping to reduce the number of forest fires, acreage burned, and resulting dollar loss to the state.

Gov. Arthur B. Langlie of Washington in a speech before the annual meeting of the Keep Green group pointed out that in 1941 a total of 1,446 man-caused forest fires burned 46,600 acres. Last year, he said, less than 500 fires, including those caused by lightning, burned a little more than 6,000 acres.

He gave credit to all the forest protection forces in the state working to prevent and suppress timber fires, but particularly stressed the splendid work the state and local organizations of Keep Washington Green has been doing in educating the public on forest fire prevention.

The Keep Green program idea was launched in 1941 in Washington to enlist citizens' support in reducing the state's forest fire damage. Since then it has spread to 25 other states under banners of Keep Florida Green, Keep Maine Green, etc. The program is sponsored nationally by American Forest Products Industries, an organization supported by the lumber, pulp and paper, and plywood industries.

Do not Blame the Shipper For Poor Quality Potatoes

If potatoes found on the retail market are of poor quality, the fault is probably centered around the conditions under which they were grown and harvested. The tubers suffer very little from the handling they receive in transit and merchandising, investigations conducted by W. A. Lee and M. J. Caraccia, agricultural economists of the Pennsylvania agricultural experiment station, indicate.

Numerous inspections were made last fall of potatoes originating in nearby counties and destined for the Philadelphia markets. Eighty-five lots inspected at shipping points averaged 5 per cent grade defects; 121 lots in wholesale warehouses, 5.6 per cent; and 138 lots in retail stores, 5.8 per cent. External defects of these potatoes ranged from 93 to nearly 100 per cent of total defects. Old cuts, bruises and sunburn accounted for almost three-fourths of all defects.

In a midwinter investigation conducted in Philadelphia stores a year ago 1,242 lots were inspected, which averaged 14 per cent external defects. These potatoes originated in various parts of the United States and only 20 lots had no external defects. Only 3 per cent of the external defects consisted of new cuts and bruises.

Our Weight on Moon

How much would a person who weighs 200 pounds on the earth weigh on the moon and other planets? He would weigh about 33 pounds on the moon, 58 pounds on Mercury, 172 pounds on Venus, 74 pounds on Mars, 528 pounds on Jupiter and 234 pounds on Saturn, while at the surface of the sun his weight would be about 5580 pounds. This depends both upon the mass of the planet and its size. Jupiter, for example, is about 318 times as massive as the earth but the surface of Jupiter is about 11 times as far from the center as we are from the center of the Earth. This reduces the net effect, so that the force of gravity on Jupiter is only about 2.64 times that which we experience.

It's No "Cow Town"

Long famous for its livestock and meat packing industries, Fort Worth, Tex., continues to be the largest livestock market and packing center in the South, and now is the largest sheep market in the nation. It also claims an industry of the imminent present—the most important military aircraft production in the world. It has the world's largest aircraft factory, Consolidated-Vultee, and is also the headquarters of Convair. Adjacent to Convair is Maj. Gen. Roger M. Ramey's Eighth air force. This air force, employing the giant B-36 superbomber, is the only atomic bombing military organization in the world.

"Air-Conditioned Capital"

Phoenix calls itself the "air conditioned capital of the world"—and with justification. All homes, restaurants, office buildings, theaters, hotels and motor courts are cooled by refrigeration or air conditioning, assuring complete comfort at all times. Motorists traveling over state highway 87 and those on U. S. highway 80 and 89 certainly should pause to visit the Casa Grande national monument, located only a few miles from the town of Coolidge. Those funneling into the state from the east on U. S. highway 60 pass through the very heart of the Fort Apache Indian reservation, offering sights seen nowhere else.

Bird Season October 14

Idaho shotguns will turn their attention to waterfowl and upland birds, as seasons in several sections of the state open at noon, Oct. 14, the game department reminded hunters today.

Hunters will have ten and one-half days of pheasant hunting in the north Idaho counties of Boundary, Bonner, Kootenai, Benewah, Shoshone, Latah, Clearwater, Nez Perce, Lewis and Idaho. Bag and possession limit is two cocks in this section. Hunting dates are October 14 (noon) 15, 16, 18, 23, 26, 30, November 2, 6, 9 and 11. The pheasant season was closed in the five northernmost counties last year. Species allowed are Chinese, Mutant and Mongolian only.

Duck and goose hunters will be primed to open the first day of a split waterfowl season at noon on October 14. First half of the migratory bird season extends until Nov. 2, with the last gunning period December 9 (12 noon) to December 28. Shooting hours are in effect upon waterfowl from one-half hour before sunrise until one hour before sunset. Bag limit — 5 ducks in one day, including not more than one wood duck. Bag and possession limit for Canada geese is two.

Rifles are not permitted in the shooting of upland birds or waterfowl. Persons over 12 years of age are allowed to hunt by the purchase of an Idaho hunting license.

The Idaho fish and game commission has recently passed a ruling prohibiting the shipping of any species of upland birds either by residents or non-residents by common carrier to any point outside the boundaries of the state of Idaho. The action was taken as an emergency measure. Ducks and other migratory waterfowl are not affected by the shipping closure. Two legal limits of ducks per week may be shipped by permit.

Wants To Teach In Indian School

Boise — Although used to all kinds of requests, the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce can always look for something unusual to turn up in the mail.

An Orange, New Jersey, man wrote this week: "I will greatly appreciate any information which you or your staff can obtain for me regarding the availability of permanent teaching jobs in the Indian schools throughout your state."

The man also inquired about the climate and living conditions in the areas where the Indian schools are located.

One-Story Home Grows in Favor Plan Well Suited To Farmers' Needs

The one-story home with basement for the laundry storage purposes and the heating plant is growing in popularity.

Highly suited as a farm home because it eases housekeeping, its popularity is demonstrated by the number of ranch-type houses being built today in both rural and metropolitan areas.

The one-story and basement house pictured here offers features that justify the popularity of homes of this type. Planned as a farm home, it includes the conveniences of modern design found in city homes.

The narrow kitchen is accessible to both the dining area at one end of the living room and to the dining porch. Sink and storage shelves are along the outside wall, with the stove and additional storage area on the inside wall. This arrangement provides numerous economies.

The work room is adjacent to the dining room porch but far enough from the living and bedrooms to confine disturbing noises. The two bedrooms, each with two exposures, contain ample closet space and are close to the bathroom.

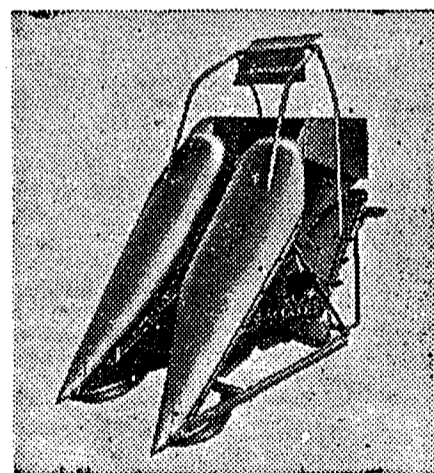

The garage is separated from the house by a breezeway, which can also serve as an outside porch.

The basement includes several features considered essential to comfortable living on a farm. It is entered from the back porch, eliminating this traffic from the living area of the home.

The cold room is ample for storage of glassed fruits, vegetables and other farm produce. Plenty of electrical outlets in this room provide current for a food freezing locker.

In one corner of the laundry is a shower.

Automatic Harvester

Another farm job is brought closer to complete mechanization by this automatic field forage harvester. Within a few minutes the corn harvesting unit can be substituted for the hay pickup attached to the basic machine. With hay unit, the machine automatically picks up hay from the windrow, chops and blows it into a trailing wagon for removal to mow or silo. With corn attachment, the machine sweeps along the row, cutting and chopping corn for silage.

Lice, Mange Top Pests Of Those Harming Swine

Two of the most common and harmful pests on hogs are lice and mange. If insects are permitted to feed on hogs, the animals will have stunted growth and be more subject to disease, says the University of Louisiana agriculture extension division.

Farmers are reminded that by controlling insects they increase the value of pastures and feed and thus increase their earnings.

Lots 24, 25, 26, and 27, Block "D", Addition to the Town of Kendrick, Latah County, Idaho, according to the plat thereof on file in the office of the County Recorder of Latah County, Idaho,

SUMMONS
THE STATE OF IDAHO SENDS GREETINGS TO THE ABOVE NAMED DEFENDANTS:
You are hereby notified that a complaint has been filed against you in the District Court of the Second Judicial District of the State of Idaho, in and for the County of Latah, by the above named plaintiffs, and you are hereby directed to appear and plead to said complaint within twenty (20) days of the service of this summons; and you are further notified that unless you so appear and plead to said complaint within the time herein specified, the plaintiffs will take judgment against you as prayed in said complaint.

This action is brought to quiet the title in the above named plaintiffs in and to the real property described in the caption of this summons and of the complaint against the defendants above named, both known and unknown, for a decree adjudging that the plaintiffs are the owners in fee simple absolute of the real property described in the caption of the summons and complaint, and further to adjudge that that certain deed executed under date of December 5, 1921, from George R. Riggan and Sarah M. Riggan, his wife, to Frank LaBolle, recorded in Book 79 of Deeds at page 471 of the records of Latah County, Idaho, was made, executed and delivered as security for the payment of a $1,000.00 loan; that said loan has been paid; that Frank LaBolle, the grantee named in said deed, and those claiming by, through or under him, have no right, title or interest in and to said real property described in said deed, said property being the property described in the caption of this summons.

Potlatch Chief Sez

PUBLISHED BY THE KENDRICK CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERY

HELLO, THERE FOLKS:

About That Cream:

Of course you know we went to buy your cream — no quantity too large, none too small — so we aren't going to say any more about that this week.

About Our Products:

Yes, we're proud, and justly so, of our brand name and our products: "Potlatch Chief." The name on a pound of butter, on cottage cheese, ice cream, milk, buttermilk, etc., is your assurance of purity and quality — so for this week we're not going to say any more about them, and devote the rest of this ad. to fun.

We hope you enjoy reading it.

The woman had only one fault to find with her maid. The girl ignored the telephone when it rang.

"You must answer the telephone, Clarissa," she told the maid in exasperation. "Yes'm," replied the girl glumly. "seems kind of silly, though. Nine times out of ten it's for you."

Customs Officer: "Anything to declare, madam?"

Lady: "No. Not a thing."

Customs Officer: "Then am I to understand, Madam, that the fur tail hanging down from under your coat is your own?"

"Dad, what is heredity?" "Heredity, my boy, is what a man believes in until his son begins to act like a fool."

A human being is a chap who'll split his sides over the family album and then look in the mirror without cracking a smile.

Definition: "Beauty Shop, where men are rare and women are well done."
