Sidney D. Dicks Takes Life
Sidney D. Dicks, 56, Lewiston plasterer, Sunday afternoon was found dead of what investigating officers said was a self-inflicted bullet wound, at his apartment at 716 6th Ave, Lewiston.

He was believed to have been dependent over ill health.

Investigating officers said he shot himself in the right ear with a .38 caliber pistol. Dicks is believed to have died almost instantly. The body was discovered by F. W. Hamill, owner of the apartment.

Dicks had moved to Lewiston about a year and a half ago from Clarkston, where he had lived about 12 years. He was born in Missouri on Sept. 17, 1893, and spent 20 years farming in the American ridge vicinity at Kendrick. In 1933 he moved to Troy, where he was in business about two years.

He married Pearl Bachman of Moscow in 1919. Besides his wife, Mr. Dicks is survived by a nephew and niece in Canada. He was a member of the Christian church and Elks lodge. — Lewiston Tribune.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS
Britain's devaluation of the pound has been followed by a period of watchful — and in some cases, anxious waiting — to see just what the result will be. Directly after devaluation, in the words of the Wall Street Journal, "Price changes for everything from Dunhill pipes to black pepper were announced — or gossiped. The basic commodity markets trembled, retailers began taking a new look at British products they had been scoring as overpriced, and even the man in the street showed a spark of interest."

Whether this country will now be flooded with British goods of low price and high quality remains to be seen. In some instances, such as motor cars and chinaware, the price cuts may be substantial — 25 percent or more. Other goods — such as Scotch whiskey — are so inflated by taxes and tariffs that it is doubtful if prices to the consumer will materially change. Raw commodity prices — wool, fats and oil, and so on — will possibly decline only moderately.

The unknown factor lies in what the attitude of the British people, and particularly British labor, will be toward devaluation and its consequences. British labor — and this is also true in varying degrees of labor in all the western European nations — has been growing increasingly restive under conditions of strict austerity and low pay. Indications are that widespread demands for wage increases will soon be made. Yet as Walter Lippmann has written, "The crucial issue — is how to reap the benefits of devaluation without suffering all the pains. The benefit of devaluation is to become solvent. But devaluation in itself will not balance accounts unless the painful fact is accepted or imposed that real wages must fall." If this view is correct — and it is difficult to argue against it — a critical impasse is in the making.

If British export prices go down, she must sell more goods to get as many dollars as she was earning. She must greatly increase production if she is to increase her dollar credits. But, if the cost of production goes up because of higher wages or any other factor, she will be in the same position as she was before devaluation — she won't be able to sell enough as prices will again be too high.

Walter Lippmann's pessimistic conclusion to his article is worth repeating. He wrote: "The devaluation in itself is only a relief, like lancing a boil without curing the infection. . . The devaluation has registered but it cannot liquidate the continuing crisis which is the aftermath of the wars, the revolutions and the disorders of this dark and barbarous century." — Industrial New-Review.

Following the opening of the gifts delicious refreshments were served from a beautifully decorated table by the Mesdames Roy Craig, Lloyd Craig, Willis Thornton and Oral Craig.

Those attending from Kendrick, besides the guest of honor, Mrs. Allen Medallen were Mrs. Floyd Millard, Mrs. Oscar Medallen and two grandchildren, Mrs. Eugene Brocke, Mrs. C. E. Harris, Mrs. Wm. Johnson and children and Mrs. Oral Craig.

Annual Harvest Feast
"Farmers and Farmerettes" of the Kendrick Grange will be host and hostess (wearing overalls and print dresses) at their annual Harvest Feast, Tuesday, Nov. 1, at 6:30 o'clock. Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish.

Following dinner there will be a Hallowe'en pinocle party — complete with prizes, and during the evening a pair of beautiful pillow cases will be sold at Chinese auction.

Please bring card tables and cards. Grangers are urged to invite their friends — and bring them.

Meeting Is Scheduled
There will be a meeting of the church school officers and teachers of the Community Church on Sunday evening at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. W. L. McCreary.

Notice is also given of the adjourned session of the Quarterly Conference to be held on Sunday, Nov. 6, immediately following morning worship, to act on a motion regarding the property of the American Ridge Methodist church.

Home From Hospital
Mrs. Marvin Vincent returned to her home at Leland Monday morning, after undergoing major surgery at the St. Joseph's hospital in Lewiston almost a month ago. She is recovering nicely, and thanks all her friends for their thoughtfulness and remembrances during her illness.

Students Were Surprised
U. of I., Moscow — The University of Idaho was probably the only college in the nation this fall which served free coffee to registering students — well, five gallons of it, anyway.

It all started when the Student Homecoming committee invited the various house presidents to a night meeting to discuss homecoming plans for October 15, and decided to treat them to coffee. The five gallons, ordered from a restaurant, were late in arriving. In fact, all the house presidents had left when the steaming pot arrived.

Not wanting to pour that much coffee down the drain, the committee went into session again and came up with the idea of serving it to registering students the next morning. The registrants were amazed, but gulped gratefully.

Weather Still Holding Good
Weather this past week has been all that anyone could desire. We have had cool nights with temperature readings of 26 to 30 in the mornings.

The days have alternated between sunshine and clouds, but no rain has fallen, and farmers have been taking full advantage of conditions to finish their fall plowing and seeding and complete the harvesting of beans — although we understand some of the latter are still out, the night moisture preventing work until about 10:00 a. m.

Local Students Honored
U. of I., Moscow — The American Institute of Chemical Engineers has awarded a shingle and pin to Harold Grammer, Cameron, for attaining the highest average in chemical engineering during his freshman and sophomore years.

Mary E. Forney Cup — Outstanding woman in Forney hall has her name inscribed on the cup. Winner this year is Gabriella Deobald, Kendrick.

Notice To Correspondents
We note in this week's mail quite an assortment of envelopes and paper used by different correspondents. We realize that sometimes the news is written at the home of a friend, or sometimes "the first thing handy to write on" is used — but please don't hesitate to tell us when you run low or out of paper, envelopes and stamps. We will be only too glad to send you your needs.

Writes Interesting Note
In renewing her subscription to the Gazette, Mrs. Ethel Tyler, Spokane, says in part: "I have enjoyed the paper the past year, very much. I have been away from that locality for over 40 years, so there are not too many down there that I know. However, I went to school in Kendrick over 50 years ago, and still am interested in the country."

Suffers Broken Arm
Ronald Lohman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Lohman, Southwick, a seventh grade pupil suffered a painful injury last Wednesday, when he fell in the school gymnasium, breaking both bones in his right arm.

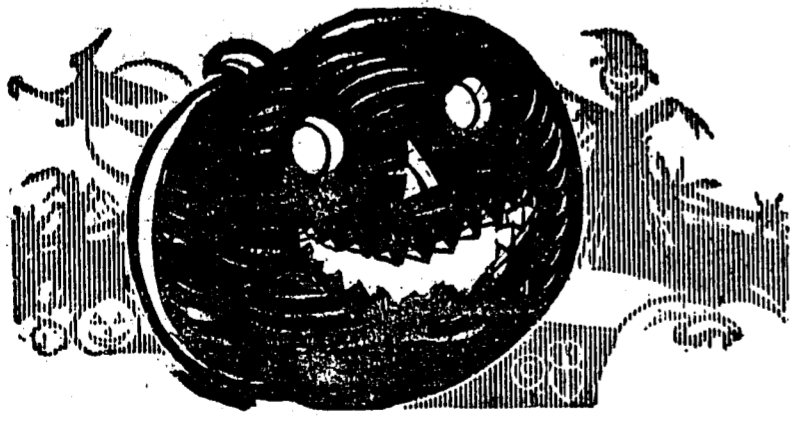

In the absence of Dr. Christensen he was taken to Lewiston for treatment.

Really Started Something
 Because Richard Jones of Anchorage, Alaska, is a sportsman who hates to see game and fish wasted and likes to see any form of animal life "get a sport chance," a controversy has been started that extends from the farthest reaches of Alaska to the United States Congress.

 The trail of disagreement on proposed legislation started last July when Jones, a welder for The Alaska Railroad, saw piles of salmon that had been snagged from Ship Creek, rotting on the banks.

"My wife and I saw between 800 and 1,000 persons snagging salmon in that section of the creek between the city pumping plant and the bridge in the railroad terminal yards," Jones recalled.
 "It made us mad and we decided to do something about such wanton waste of fish."

Mrs. Jones typed a petition which her husband circulated among his fellow workers and a few friends. There were 127 names on the petition when it was mailed to Delegate Bartlett on July 21.
 Mr. Jones petition was brought into the United States Congress, in the form of H. B. 1140 — and eventually embroiled the Territorial House of Representatives and the Alaska Fisheries Board — and there the matter rests, far from finished.
 The local interest in this item lies in the fact that Richard Jones is a brother of Henry Jones of Kendrick, and well known here personally.

You Can't Fool 'em
 A father sent for his younger child, aged six, and explained that early in the morning the gardner had found a lovely little baby sister among the cabbages. "Now," he said, "write to your brother Jack (away at boarding school) and tell him."
 The child, all innocence, wrote the letter and handed it to his father for posting. The father, a bit curious, thought he would see what the child had said. The message was terse and illuminating. It read: "Dear Jack: You owe me a buck. It's a girl."

White Mice Serving In Chemical Tests
Insecticide Shower Evaluates Formulae

An old-style phonograph rigged up to give a revolving shower bath to a white mouse is helping test new chemicals for effectiveness in stable fly control. The mice are pinch-hitting for dairy cows in making the tests, says the U.S. department of agriculture.

The old phonograph was one that played wax cylinder records. The test mouse is confined in a screen cage that replaces the old record holder. The mouse is rolled around several times under a sprayed solution of the new chemical, and then is rolled under an air stream until dry. The test comes the next day in another cage with 20 stable flies. If as many as four of the flies succeed in attacking the mouse without being driven off or poisoned, the chemical is not regarded as worth a full scale test on a cow. This is the first time white mice have been used in just this kind of experimental work.

Federal entomologists are searching actively for a spray that will protect animals from attack by stable flies and other blood-sucking flies and mosquitoes. Recent experience has proved abundantly how profitable it is for farmers to protect cattle from the torment of "fly time" and thus avoid the summer slump in milk production and gains in weight of animals on pasture.

This search calls for trials of hundreds of chemicals. Many of these are new synthetics.

Soil Protection

Pelting rains may be a soil destroyer rather than a farm blessing unless your land has a protective "umbrella" over cover crops.

Beating rains on bare land break the surface soil into small particles. These particles quickly fill the pores of the surface soil. The surface forms a hard crust. Water cannot soak in. Instead, it runs over the surface. The farm land then suffers a double loss. It loses needed moisture for crops and it loses valuable top-soil.

The Middle West soil improvement committee suggests these steps for protecting your soil and giving your crops better use of the rains you get:

1. Use a cropping system that gives your soil as continuous cover as possible throughout the year.
2. Thick-growing grasses and deep-rooted legumes give the best cover.
3. Small grains following corn help keep the land protected.
4. If winter wheat or rye is not feasible, a good covering can be had by mashing down corn stalks or soybean tops.

Legumes like alfalfa and sweet clover prevent washing away of soil. Their prying taproots open the soil so rain soaks in and is held for crops. Legumes well fed with phosphate and potash fertilizer add life-giving organic matter.

Land Should Be Turned Under for New Legumes

When corn is to follow first year sweetclover, it is advisable to get the ground turned under before the new growth of the legume removes too much moisture from the soil.

This tip comes from D. L. Gross, Nebraska university extension agronomist. He advises, however, not to plow under the clover before new crown shoots get to a length of four to six inches. Earlier plowing may not kill the legume.

Tires

75,000 Miles Goal

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.—Motor car tires good for 75,000 miles may be expected on the market before long, Dr. Charles P. Fryling of the Phillips petroleum company has reported.

Addressing the Northeastern section of the American Chemical Society at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Dr. Phillips said that further improvement in a new synthetic known as "cold rubber" would make the long-lived tires possible. He asserted that a production capacity of 200,000 tons of cold rubber would be available by the end of this year, enabling synthetic rubber to compete on favorable terms with the natural product.

In addition to making possible better rubber, Dr. Fryling said, the new process has reduced the cost of the synthetic product, since faster reactions with reduced overhead costs were now possible, and that fewer raw materials need be used.

Old Boy Scout Trick Works to Bring Back Man Dead 15 Minutes

LOS ANGELES.—Reid C. Lewis, 46, round-faced, slightly bald aircraft inspector, jokes about his return from the dead as the result of a doctor's recalling an old Boy Scout first aid trick.

"I thought the doctor was kidding when he first told me I'd been dead and brought back to life," Lewis said in his hospital bed.

Lewis was brought back to life after he "died" on the operating table when undergoing minor surgery in the doctor's office.

The physician, who would not permit use of his name, said Lewis showed no signs of life for 15-minutes despite injections of a stimulant, coramine, directly into the heart and artificial respiration with pure oxygen pumped into the lungs.

"Then I recalled an old Boy Scout handbook first aid trick that said persons who had been drowned sometimes were brought back to life by breaking a bone," the doctor said.

"I snapped Lewis's 10th left rib with my hands. He came to life at once."

Lewis was not informed of his "death." He complained of a sore rib, his wife said, and wondered why the doctor did not perform the operation. The doctor had told her what happened but asked her not to tell Lewis until he could operate again.

"I just told him he must have bumped himself," Mrs. Sophia Lewis said. "That seemed to satisfy him."

South Declared in Need Of More Skilled Workers

NEW ORLEANS.—The South is in need of additional skilled labor for industrial expansion, delegates from 10 states were told at the first annual southern states apprenticeship conference here.

William F. Patterson, Washington, director of the U.S. labor department's bureau of apprenticeship, declared that if the industrial growth of the South continues, "There must be a great deal of punch put behind the apprenticeship program."

He said the skilled labor force of eight million in the United States was depleting itself by 5 per cent each year through the death of skilled laborers, retirement of others, and departure of some to other fields.

"The apprenticeship programs are feeding new men into the fields," Patterson added, "but there is not quite enough of them to retain the skilled labor force of the country."

He added that the unions are co-operating to build up the number of apprentices in each trade and the best job is being done by the building trades.

Dog And Donkey Killed In Weird Road Mishap

CARACAS.—In a triple crash recently in the municipality of Camunare, Urachiche district, Estado Yaracuy, a dog, a donkey, and an automobile got tangled up in such a fashion that the dog died beneath the hooves of the donkey, while the donkey died beneath the wheels of the car.

When the donkey passed the house where the dog lived, the dog ran out barking. The donkey took to its heels with the dog after it and arrived at a bend in the road at the entrance to the village just as a car approached round the bend. The donkey lashed out with its hind legs and struck the dog, killing it a second before the car, unable to pull up, struck the donkey with its front wheels, killing it. The car was wrecked—its radiator smashed in, headlights broken off, its mudguards snapped, and its bumper broken.

It was announced that a triple "Judgment of Solomon" would be made, by which the owner of the donkey would compensate the owner of the dog, the owner of the car would compensate the owner of the donkey, while the owner of the donkey would in turn, compensate the owner of the car.

4-H Membership Up
Records of 4-H enrollment in Idaho showed this week that membership has gone over 10,000. A summary by Dan Warren, state leader, said the total on July 1 of this year was 10,091, compared with 9,847 in the final accounting for 1948. Further increase in 1949 is expected to be shown in December, when final totals are compiled, giving Idaho the best record in its history.

Warren urged the organizations of rural boys and girls to continue their interest during the fall and winter, even though most 4-H projects have been completed.

"Put your club on a year-round basis," he said in a suggestion to leaders, while reminding them of annual achievement week, November 5 to 13. Outstanding accomplishments of club workers and co-operators will be recognized during the week of observance. "If you continue throughout the year many interesting things can be accomplished. Do not slack up in the fall and winter."

In addition to an achievement party which may include the whole community as well as 4-H members, parents and leaders, Warren proposed the following activities to put zip into the off season: Special programs on health and safety, a school for the young auto driver, crafts work for recreation, and community improvement.

Under the latter category, the state leader suggested that the 4-H could lend a hand in eliminating fire hazards, painting mail boxes, planting trees and shrubs, determining the purity and safety of water supplies, study fertilizer needs on family vegetable gardens, and improving public picnic grounds by building fireplaces, etc.

You Can't Second Guess

Perhaps the most disturbing consideration, as one watches the increasing conflict between capitalism and socialism in the world, is the fact that where socialism wins the action cannot be recalled.

For instance, in a democratic country such as the United States, private ownership is always on the uneasy seat. Election after election can be ordered on the same issue—say, on government ownership of power. Private ownership may win overwhelmingly today, yet tomorrow it faces the effort all over again. But public ownership if it wins just once is for practical purposes secure, not because it necessarily is more efficient but because it buries its mistakes under government funds and meanwhile the capital, enterprise and know-how for private investment and operation have been dissipated.

Suppose, for example, that the private power companies of the Pacific Northwest were all taken over by the government's power pool, who could or would repurchase them on a private enterprise basis under any circumstances?

So the victory of capitalism in any election is tentative; the victory of socialism is virtually final. (Reprinted from the Portland, (Ore.) Oregonian as a public service by the Washington Water Power Co.)

Gold Hill School News Since the "Gold Hill Cash Store" opened we have had fruits, jellies, dolls, placques, scatter pins, apples, potatoes, magazines, comics and western books, perfume, candy bars and bouquets of garlic. Most of the stock has been sold. Our store was operated last week by the fourth grade class - Foster, Zimmerman, Pederson Co. Friday they sold out to Grinolds, Weaver, McAllister Co., who will operate it until next Friday, which will be the last day of the store. Then it will be taken over and all transactions completed by the sixth grade class which has supervised when necessary all through the month. Our Specials for Today (Friday) are: 3 eggs selling at 5c each; 2 half-pint bottles of whipping cream; a large assortment of candies selling at 5c and 1c each.

During the last period of the day Friday, the fourth grade class demonstrated the making of slings and splints for broken arms. They also made a "fossil" using plaster of paris and a leaf. The sixth grade girls made advertising posters for art work. Marjory Foster visited school Friday. Visitors "in the store" Friday were Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Rowden and children, Ted Grinolds and children, Gil Erlevine and son Jerry and Clarence Weaver.

The sixth grade girls are working on outlining and developing written reports. The best one we hope to send to the Gazette next week. The school has begun the sale of Red Hearts to help the Children's Home. New Compounds Developed New rust preventative compounds appearing on the market may solve the old problem of how to prevent steel farm equipment from deteriorating while it sits out of doors or in machine sheds.

"Some of the new materials are most satisfactory in keeping farm machinery from rusting while it is not in use," says J. W. Martin, agricultural engineer for the University of Idaho. "Farmers have always found much of their equipment in poor condition due to rust after it has been out of use for some time. Expensive parts must often be replaced simply because they have rusted out while the machine sat still."

"We're finding that each of these has a definite use," Martin points out. "The size, shape and nature of the implement will determine which one the owner can best use, and of course he must have special equipment to apply some rust preventatives." PUBLISHED BY THE KENDRICK CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERY

HELLO, THERE FOLKS:

It's Time To Talk About Winter Milk Production:
You know, with the coming of winter weather, the fishing season about at an end, big game season soon to be over, and the fall work done, it's time to talk about a bit of income for the long winter months that lay ahead — and your cows are the answer to it.

A little better care of old bosy, such as a little more feed, seeing to it that she has a warm barn at night, a windbreak during the day, plenty of good fresh water (not ice cold) and plenty of salt, and you'll be surprised at the additional cream dividends that she will bring you from this creamery — and at a time when almost all other farm income has ceased.

Can you afford to overlook this income? It may be enough to pay the grocery bills, and even allow a little laid away for that vacation next summer.

And, of course, you'll be ahead by selling through us — the co-operative way! Remember it's your creamery as well as our. In fact, it belongs to the whole community! And remember, too, we return a steam sterilized, ready-to-use can — not one washed with chemical compounds, which you have to wash again before you dare use it!

NOTICE

During the next few winter months, we will close at 8:00 p. m. On Saturdays.

Woman: A creature who can weave through a grocery aisle 18 inches wide without brushing a single balanced tomato can — and then drive home and knock both doors off a 15-foot garage.

The only thing that will positively stop falling hair is the floor.

And Of Course We Feature "Birds Eye" Brand

You'll find everything from fresh frozen chicken, through fruit juices, green peas, corn, salads, etc.

As the cold winter months close in, don't do without fresh foods — for "Birds Eye" Brand can be depended on to give you the best in quality and flavor — at reasonable prices.

FRESH VEGETABLES:

Yes, indeed, we handle fresh vegetables, too — all that the seasonal market affords.

WE GIVE S & H GREEN STAMPS With all Cash Sales, or all accounts Paid on Regular 30-Day Basis. Ask about this fine plan.
