GRAIN MARKETS STEADY TO SOMEWHAT HIGHER

Grain markets ranged from steady to somewhat higher during the first week in April, reports to the U. S. Department of Agriculture indicate. Continued drought in southwestern Kansas, western Oklahoma and the panhandle of Texas, together with insect damage in parts of this area were strengthening price factors in the wheat market. Light offerings, along with a good demand and an announcement by the Department of Agriculture extending loans on 1949 crop farm stored grains to April 30, 1951, strengthened the market for feed grains. Corn and oats advanced 2c to 3c per bushel at the principal markets and reached the highest point since June of 1949.

Millings and exports of wheat continued to fall short of those of last season, causing a corresponding increase in the prospective carry-over. About 44,000,000 bushels of wheat were milled and 20,000,000 bushels exported during March, compared with nearly 47,000,000 bushels milled and over 32,000,000 exported during March of 1949. For the period, July through March of this season, approximately 398 million bushels of wheat were milled for flour and about 205,000,000 bushels were exported. This compares with nearly 474,000,000 bushels milled and 281,000,000 bushels exported during the corresponding season last year. Of the 1,249,000,000 bushels estimated as available for milling, export or carry-over this season, a little over 645,000,000 bushels remained at the first of April compared with 625,000,000 bushels on that date a year ago. Allowing for millings and exports, April through June, equal to last season, the carry-over of wheat on July 1, 1950, will amount to a little over 425,000,000 bushels. If, however, the utilization during the next three months fall short, stocks remaining July 1 would be about 450,000,000 bushels compared with the 307,000,000 bushels remaining on July 1, 1949.

Marketings of wheat dropped off slightly during the first week in April and less than 4,500,000 bushels arrived at terminals. Market stocks continued to decrease and about 180,000,000 bushels were in store at terminals at the close of the week. Offerings were about in line with trade needs at most markets and prices showed little change compared with last week. No. 2 hard winter wheat was quoted at Chicago at $2.34, Kansas City at $2.30 and at Fort Worth at $2.49 per bushel. No. 2 red winter brought $2.28 at Chicago and $2.33 at St. Louis.

Pacific Northwest cash wheat markets were rather quiet during the past week, reflecting lack of any export business and a narrow outlet for all other classes of trade. Offerings at current values, were not burdensome and prices held steady and unchanged from the previous week. With a large portion of the remaining supplies of Pacific Northwest wheat under the government support program, producer selling is very small at values much below $2.25 per bushel for ordinary milling grades. According to trade advices this price will pay off the loan plus storage and interest charges in most areas. Demand from millers remained quite moderate, reflecting a slow domestic flour business and lack of any export flour trade. Higher corn prices made for slightly better interest in wheat for feeding purposes but feed industry buying continued of small volume. At the close of the week ordinary white or red wheats were quoted at $2.24 per bushel and hard white (baart) was nominally quoted at $2.35, basis No. 1 grade, coast delivery, 15-day shipment.

Receipts of wheat at Columbia river and Puget Sound markets were 894 cars during the week, compared with 1,013 a week ago. Inspected wheat for export during the last week in March amounted to 2,372,000 bushels at Pacific Northwest ports. This made the total for the month of March nearly 6,000,000 bushels, and the total since July 1 of 47,382,000 bushels against 33,052,000 bushels for the same period a year ago.

The oats market was firm to slightly higher with a good demand for the smaller market receipts, which totaled only about 1,125,000 bushels at the principal terminals. At the close of the week No. 2 white oats were quoted at Chicago at about $2.50 per ton.

Oats prices held about unchanged at Portland. There was, however, a slight pickup in trading. Offers of Willamette valley oats were easily adequate to meet the slightly better call with No. 2 white bringing about $50.00 per ton, unchanged from the previous week. Buyers were in and out of the market and a slight inquiry prevailed from California dealers. Oats for coast delivery, principally the Washington-Palouse type, remained quite scarce and No. 2 white grade was nominal at $56.50 to $57.00 per ton. Receipts at Portland totaled 12 cars for the week, while the Puget Sound markets had at Portland barley prices advanced from $1.00 to $1.50 per ton and moved up $1.00 to $1.50 per ton and was quoted nominally at about $56 per ton. Offerings were quite light and demand was improved. Local supplies remained at low levels and marketings were still largely from south Idaho and an occasional car from Montana. Receipts of barley at Portland amounted to 13 cars and at Puget Sound markets, eight cars.

MRS. EDGAR H. TAYLOR, JULIAETTA PIONEER, PASSES

Mrs. Elsie Roberts Taylor, wife of Edgar H. Taylor, long-time Juliaetta resident, passed away at the Grifman Memorial hospital in Moscow, Thursday, April 6, following an illness of about three months. She was born March 28, 1880, in Ashville, North Carolina. All her girlhood was spent in North Carolina, and there she married Mr. Taylor, August 14, 1900. In December of that year the couple came west to Wallace, Idaho, where Mr. Taylor engaged in mining. After a time he became ill and on Feb. 15, 1902, they moved to Moscow, where he recuperated. Following his recovery, the family moved to Juliaetta, where they have resided until this time.

To Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were born four children, two sons and two daughters. Edgar H. Taylor, the eldest son, died August 15, 1949, in Pocatello, leaving his wife, Margaret and four sons. Gertrude, Mrs. P. A. Nilsson, Genesee; Eugene Taylor of Juliaetta, and Margaret, Mrs. Dennis Racicot of Sandpoint, survive. There are eight grandchildren, Jack, Gene, David and Lee in Pocatello; Charles in Juliaetta; Ann and Jon Nilsson of Genesee, and Janu Racicot of Sandpoint. Two sisters, Mrs. Walter Coble, Seattle, Mrs. Wilbur Kennedy, Sandpoint, and one brother, Ted Roberts of Spalding, also survive.

Mrs. Taylor was an active member of Canyon Chapter No. 67, O. E. S., was formerly a Rebecca, and always chose the Presbyterian church for her religious affiliation. She will be greatly missed by her many friends who have felt her kindness through the years. Children and flowers were ever of interest to her.

Services were held in the Methodist church at Juliaetta, Monday morning at 11:00 o'clock, with the Rev. Don Clayton of the Presbyterian church, Moscow, bringing the message. Music was furnished by Burke Sower who sang as a solo, "Going Home," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. H. C. Schupfer. Pallbearers were life-long friends of the Taylor family, Otto and Herman Schupfer, Bruce Sherman, Jasper Nutting, Ben Weatherly, Jr., and Caus Clark. Interment was in the Juliaetta cemetery with Brower-Wann funeral home in charge. It was the expressed wish of Mrs. Taylor that flowers not be sent — rather, that such expressions be in the form of gifts to children at the Lewiston Children's Home, or to the Cancer Drive.

Sun Dogs Put On Show

Tuesday morning between the hours of 9 and 10, the skies were a-lit with a brilliant display of sun dogs, a huge white trail completely encircling the heavens, and another encircling the sun, with spots of brilliant color showing where the two circles met. Branching off from the smaller circle around the sun in the southeast heavens, still a portion of another circle showed, with its edges pointing earthward, rather than toward the heavens. A radio broadcast from KRLC at 9:30 called everyone's attention to the phenomena. These sun dogs are said to indicate bad weather — something the residents of this area definitely do not want!

Resume Road Work

Wednesday morning of this week the F. H. DeAtley Construction Co. resumed work on the mile link between Kendrick and Juliaetta — and to begin with dumped a bit of gravel into holes here and there, which was indeed a welcome improvement for those who travel this road.

Completion of this link just can't come too soon — with a great deal of damage — yet damage probably running into the hundreds of dollars, has been done vehicles forced to travel it.

Weather Bit More Like April

The weather this past week has been a bit more like April, even though it still remains quite chill at night.

There has been a brief rain storm or two, but on the whole, the days have been quite nice. Some later spring flowers are now blooming, mainly daffodils and primroses, and tulips and lilacs are budding — so perhaps spring isn't too far away.

Oh, yes, swallows and blue birds are now to be seen, generally a sure sign of warmer weather.

As the days warm up, winter damage is beginning to make itself more and more apparent, particularly on raspberry and strawberry plants, as well as grape vines.

CANCER DRIVE GOAL SET AT NINETY THOUSAND

The present goal of $90,000 of the Idaho Division of the American Cancer Society during the April campaign must be met to meet minimum requirements of expanded service and education projects, Leo Falk, Boise, president of the organization, said this week.

The goal in that amount was set by the board of directors of the organization upon recommendation of district commanders and other officers of the society.

After a review of the proposed budget and noting the sharp increases in requests for services offered to patients, Falk said that less than $90,000 for the next fiscal year would cause curtailment in some programs or make it necessary to deny requests by cancer patients in need.

In a special message to volunteers and published in the current issue of the Cancer News, official organ of the state cancer society, he said:

"I have great confidence in the continued support of the program of cancer control which has already been emphatically endorsed by Idaho residents.

"With the remarkable increase in the number of volunteers in the field, we can, each year, come nearer to our ideal — which is to reach every home in the state with life-saving knowledge about cancer.

"Volunteers who are giving so generously of their time, talents and energy to this humanitarian cause know that lives can be saved, and their's is a responsibility of saving them.

"Few opportunities are offered to save a life. This is our challenge, because we know that half of those who died in Idaho last year — 253 persons — should be with their families today. Half of those who die of cancer need not die from this cause.

"It is our duty and privilege to carry information into every home. Every person should know the early danger signals of cancer; every person should see his family physician immediately if one appears; every person should have a thorough physical examination by their family physician at least once a year.

"Succeed not only in placing Idaho over the goal among the first in the nation (as you have during the past five years) but, far more important, succeed in giving your friends and neighbors the life protection they must have."

About Local Cancer Drive

Don Millard, Kendrick, hit a home-run with the bases loaded, and Parks of Kendrick and Sabotta of Lapwai, each hit three-baggers.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, much of the world is in distress, in turmoil, and clouded by uncertainty; and

WHEREAS, a renewal of our concept of the importance of the spiritual life appears to be vitally necessary to our proper recovery from this discord and uncertainty; and

WHEREAS, the American Legion has, as a nationwide program, determined to initiate a program with this as its objective, thus adhering to the words of its Preamble: "For God and Country,"

NOW, THEREFORE, I, C. A. Robins, Governor of the State of Idaho, by the power vested in me do hereby declare the week of April 16-23 as

"DIVINE GUIDANCE WEEK" requesting our people to unite with those of all faiths in an effort to bring into operation the power of spiritual strength.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State of Idaho, this 7th day of April, 1950.

C. A. ROBINS, Governor

Attest:
J. D. CY PRICE
Secretary of State.

Scout Party
International Month was belatedly honored by the Kendrick Girl Scouts on April 10. The girls appeared in appropriate costumes representing such countries as China, Argentina, Scotland and El Salvador. Short talks were given about each country; about the trees of various continents, and modes of transportation.

Three parents and two Scouts participated in a 15-minute "Radio Script" entitled, "Dinner at the Taylors," topic: "Peace." Those taking part were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Abrams, Mrs. D. A. Christensen, Lottie Wilson and Janice Christensen. The purpose of the script was to explain the Juliette Lowe Fellowship Fund. This fund sends qualified girls — expenses paid, to Switzerland, to an International Encampment, and any girl has the privilege to qualify. The fund is a lasting tribute to our founder.

A display of foreign made articles was well worth seeing. There were items from Bali to Denmark, and from Italy to China.

One of our Scouts had quite an experience in auctioning off articles made by the Scouts, Chinese fashion. We were surprised and so pleased with the results, having no idea we would gain $18.00. Half of this will go to the area office at Ritzville, as our part of the Juliette Lowe Fellowship, and the rest will go into the troop treasury for cook-outs and camping this summer.

Bounteous surprise refreshments were served by the Scout mothers, as a tribute to their daughters.

We were so happy to have guests who did not have children involved. All the girls appreciated them in the audience.

Finally "taps" was sung and pantomimed. — A great big thanks to all!

Soybeans Will Hold Own if Given Chance

Industry Making Real Demands for Big Crop

Since America's pioneer soybean processing plant began operations in 1922, soybeans have become a byword in agriculture and industry, ranking as the nation's fourth largest cash farm crop.

Soybeans, when processed, enter largely into three fields of use—farm, home and industry.

Farmers know soybeans as a crop which can be planted late, if necessary, and which brings comparatively high return per acre. They know soybeans, also, as a superlative source of protein concentrates for use in livestock and poultry rations.

Products made from soybeans go into hundreds of food items. Soybean oil is used in production of about 50 per cent of all shortenings. More than 40 per cent of all margarines are made from soybean oil. The soybean oil produced from nearly 1,500,000 acres is used in making margarines.

One of the subsidiary uses for soybeans is the field of medicine, where soybean oil is used as a carrier in capsule-packaging of vitamins.

The health-giving value of soybeans long has been recognized by the farmers of health foods. These things are secondary to the farmer. Yield and profit per acre and use of soybean oilmeal as a feed have been the farmer's first consideration. If the production of soybean is to continue to increase, all uses of soybeans must be developed and expanded.

SHORTCHANGE THE SOIL

The benefits of clover depend on how much nitrogen and organic matter it produces, and how much of those materials is returned to the soil as clover or as manure. When sweet clover is out in the fall and removed from the field the resulting loss in nitrogen and organic matter reduces the yields of crops following in the rotation. When clover is not cut, those yields increase. The above chart illustrates results of crop rotation tests at the Carthage soil experiment field by University of Illinois agronomists. In a three-year rotation of corn, oats and wheat, sweet clover was seeded in the wheat and plowed under for corn the next spring. On one plot the stubble sweet clover was cut in the fall and removed. On another plot the sweet clover was left uncut. Both plots were plowed the following spring. The effect on yields of corn, oats and wheat following on each plot is summarized above.

New Type Spray Oil For Fruit Trees

A new superior type oil for use in dormant sprays for fruit trees has been developed by Geneva experiment station. The new type oils are said to be more effective and to be safer to use on fruit trees. It is estimated that 25 million gallons of oil are used annually throughout the world for horticultural sprays, sufficient to make about a billion gallons of dilute spray.

New Machine Aids Deep Fertilization

A machine capable of placing fertilizers at plow-sole depth and covering as high as 30 acres a day has been developed by an Illinois farmer. Fertilizer placed at root depth in the soil or in the bottom of the plow furrow has been gaining advocates at a rapid pace. The present slow method of application has delayed its general application. It allows late season application after weather has become settled.

Misstatements Of Fact

A short time ago, according to a New York Times account, the chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority said that the "cry of socialism" in connection with the issue of public control of electric facilities had been initiated by "special privilege" groups that were unable to show a record of progressive public service. Going on, he warned that private power interests were trying to buy electricity to the point of its manufacture by the government-owned, multi-purpose dams so they could sell it over their own transmission lines "and dictate their terms to the consumers."

He also said, "What happens to the ownership of the utility industry has very little to do with the real free enterprise of this country."

These are far-reaching statements. And it is a matter of the highest public interest to analyze them and see how accurate they are.

First of all, the claim that the utilities have failed to show a record of progressive public service is absurd on the face of it. They pioneered with private funds every major scientific electric development. They are now engaged in the greatest expansion program in their history, with special emphasis on completing the job of electrifying rural America. During the war, to take a particularly outstanding example, they carried the great bulk of the electric load imposed by war industry, and met every necessary demand.

Second, the statement to the effect that the utilities want to distribute government-produced power in order to gouge the consumer shows a reckless disregard of the facts. When a government dam sells electric current to a private company, the government (or authority) determines the wholesale price and the company pays it. And when the power is retailed by the company to the consumer, the rate charged is regulated and dictated, not by the utilities, but by state regulatory commissions. The "utility" is allowed only a small profit on its capital investment, usually five or six percent. Government-owned electric projects are the one that are free of all state regulation that protects consumers, and they are the only ones free to make their own rates without regulatory restrictions.

Finally, to say that ownership of our utilities has no bearing on the free enterprise question is ridiculous. If government controls an absolutely essential domestic, industrial and agricultural service, government can call the tune for all business and all economic activity. State and local rights of regulation and taxation are destroyed. Political appointees become our masters. And, once they are in the saddle, the people have no effective recourse because government business, as set up by "authorities" etc., is above the laws and taxes applying to private business.

Socialism always ends in tyranny. And all the deceiving arguments in the world cannot disprove that fact. —Industrial News Review.

Barley Grades Issued

Farmers were notified this week that malting grades for Hannchen and Hanna barley have been issued by the department of agriculture. Word of the new standards was received by Eugene Whitman, University of Idaho extension agronomist, and passed on to farmers in Latah county by Albert McFroud, county agricultural agent. Hannchen and Hanna barley are grown in many parts of Idaho.

Two special grades have been added, effective July 1, to the official standards. They are choice caking two-rowed western barley, and malting two-rowed western barley. The choice malting grade is limited to barley of the Hannchen or Hanna types which contains not more than three percent of other varieties and which also meets requirements for grade No. 1 western barley. Such barley must also have a test weight of at least 52 pounds and contain not more than five percent thin barley and not more than five percent skinned or broken kernels. The malting grade differs from the choice malting class in that it applies to grades one, two and three western barley of Hannchen or Hanna types which contains not more than five percent of other varieties, has a test weight of 50 pounds, and which contains not more than 10 percent of thin barley and 10 percent skinned or broken kernels.

The grade factors based on varietal purity emphasize the importance of using good, clean seed.

Mistakes in Wearing Sun Glasses Could Cause Eye Damage

NEW YORK.—Two mistakes in wearing sun glasses can cause you serious eye trouble.

One is to wear them too much, movie star fashion, keeping them on in shady places or when they aren't really needed. Doing this can make your eyes less tolerant of ordinary light. Then, even moderate light may make your eyes uncomfortable.

The second mistake is to look directly at the sun. With very dark colored glasses, you might be able to do this without feeling pain or discomfort. But people who do this for even a few minutes have been made partially blind. The sun's rays actually burned holes in the retinas or back screens of their eyes. These people have permanent blind spots and see black circles in the middle of everything they look at.

Other persons got the same blind spots by looking at eclipses of the sun either too long or without proper protection. Heavily smoked glasses are best for observing eclipses.

The warnings on misuse of sun glasses come from the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness. Each summer brings new cases of people who have damaged their eyes, says Dr. Franklin M. Poote, executive director of the society.

The job of good sun glasses is to cut down glare or unwanted brightness that fatigues the eyes. Good sun glasses should absorb both the infrared, or heat rays of the sun, and ultraviolet light.

Wisconsin Crow Drinks Only Richest of Cream

HARTFORD, WIS.—This is a crow, Hartford residents say, is no ordinary bird.

The crow can talk a little, but that's nothing new with crows. This one, though, has a taste for the finer things of life.

He tries it out each morning on the milkman. The vagabond bird pulls off the bottle caps and drinks the cream. He won't touch homogenized milk. The milkman hid the bottles, but the crow found them.

The only thing the milkman can do is cover his deliveries with heavy cardboard cartons.

Society Seeks Descendants Of Early Portrait Painter

NEW YORK.—Where are the descendants of Gilbert Stuart, the Artists' Fellowship, would like to know.

The fellowship has been trying to find a lineal descendant of the famous portrait painter of George Washington. They have had no luck.

The fellowship ran into the genealogical mystery when it decided to give Stuart first mention among artists of an earlier period in its newly prepared Doomsday Book. The huge, ornate book contains parchment-like testimonials to the greatness of those honored within it.

The fellowship is preparing duplicate testimonials to be presented to a lineal descendant of the honored artist.

We agree on Stuart as the top portrait man of his day," said Francis Vanadeveer Kugler, historian of the fellowship. "We had no idea there was a scarcity of Stuart descendants."

Kugler drew up the Stuart testimonial. Then he began looking. He looked in art histories. They told all about Stuart's art but nothing about his family. He looked in biographical dictionaries. One said Stuart had two daughters, one said he had 12 children.

Stuart died in Boston in 1828. His widow and four surviving daughters moved to Newport. A daughter named Ann married a man named Stebbins.

That's as far as the information goes.

Kugler's studio is at 39 East 35th Street, New York.

Arthritis Sufferers May Get Relief Because of New Drug

ROCHESTER, MINN.—Four Mayo clinic physicians reported development of a compound credited with "significant promise" in treatment of rheumatoid arthritis, a crippling disease for which no cure is known.

However, they warned that the substance—known as "compound E"—was so rare that it probably would not be available from manufacturers before next year and could not be used immediately for treatment even at the Mayo clinic.

"No patient," said Dr. Philip S. Hench, head of the clinic's arthritis department, "has a prospect of being treated with compound E either here or anywhere else at least before January, 1950."

Hench was one of four Mayo physicians whose report on development of the adrenal cortical hormone compound—after 20 years of intensive research—was read at a staff meeting here recently.

The report was illustrated with moving pictures showing condition of patients before, during and after experimental treatment with compound E.

Bests Sergeant York

HONG KONG—The Chinese Communist radio has come up with a Sergeant York tale that goes the Tennessee sharpshooter one better.

It is said that a lone communist guerrilla, Chiu Yin-shan, armed only with a shoe, had captured 49 Nationalist soldiers while he was walking down a highway in Kiangsi province.

Chiu met seven Nationalists, the broadcast said, and having exhausted his supply of hand grenades, he pulled off his shoe, brandished it and shouted, "Hand over your arms or you die." Thereupon, according to the broadcast, the soldiers flung down their arms. Soon, 42 more soldiers appeared and surrendered when Chiu fired two shots from the captured rifles, the radio reported.

Use of Television In Religious Work Being Recognized

NEW YORK—That television will become increasingly important as a religious, as well as a cultural and entertainment vehicle, seems assured.

The possibilities of television have been recognized by religious leaders from the beginning, and church groups more and more are discussing ways of utilizing the new medium, described by one spokesman as "essential to the work of the Christian church today."

Television programs of religious interest already have become familiar to video audiences.

Latest innovation is a religious-news program, first of its kind, recently launched by station WRGB in Schenectady.

Known as "Through the Eyes of Religion," the new program consists of news analyses, talks, photo illustrations, and live shots. The program is now on a 10-minute spot every two weeks, but is expected shortly to be presented on a weekly basis.

Until now, the most impressive use of television has been in the presentation of significant church ceremonies.

God Fish Experiment Seen Aid to Far North Explorers

DETROIT — Future Antarctic and Arctic expeditions may benefit from experiments in which cod fish will get heat stroke.

The fish are Arctic cod which thrive in the icy waters of the far north. They are going to be dropped, by Dr. John Field of Stanford university, into waters comparable in temperature to those of the Pacific ocean off the California coast.

Human swimmers may shiver in these waters on a July day, but to the cod they are hot water. Although he expects the cod to die, Dr. Field has reason to believe they might survive if they could be adapted to the higher water temperatures by slow degrees. He will try this in later experiments.

Dr. Field's experiments are being carried on at Point Barrow, Alaska, under a contract with the U. S. office of naval research which is interested in the mechanisms by which animals and fish adapt themselves to extremes of heat and cold. He reported some of them at a meeting here of the federation of American societies for experimental biology.

Arctic cod, he found, can live in waters as cold as three degrees below freezing because their metabolism, or rate of bodily chemical reaction, hold up well at low temperature.

Cosmic Rays Are Born In Huge Galactic Clouds

NEW YORK — Huge galactic clouds in the interstellar space are the "birthplace" of the mysterious cosmic rays that bombarded earth from all directions, according to Dr. Enrico Fermi, Nobel prize physicist.

In reporting the new theory of the cosmic rays, Dr. Fermi believes that the rays originate from collisions between protons, atomic particles, with a magnetic field in a huge galactic cloud.

Other scientists have expressed belief the rays come from the sun or from far-off stars, but no hypothesis has been proved—hence, the many studies being made today of cosmic rays.

Dr. Fermi, inventor of the first uranium chain reaction pile that led to the atomic bomb manufacture, said his new theory was based on an idea originally proposed by H. Alfven, a Swedish physicist, who called attention to the fact that the galactic clouds in interstellar space carry magnetic fields with them as they move about.

Fermi, writing in the Physical Review, said that the fast-moving magnetic fields acting upon protons, or atomic particles in space, would gradually accelerate them to energies, ranging from one billion volts to energies of one million times larger.
