Several carloads of young folks motored to Deary Saturday evening, the occasion being the Junior Prom. Recent Lewiston visitors were Mrs. Thorvald Nelson, Mrs. Claude Jones and Elizabeth Jones. The Ladies Guild met at the home of Mrs. King Ingle Wednesday afternoon. W. R. Johnson of Lewiston was present and helped to plan for a new chapel. Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon.

Had Black Bear In Town — Walter Eigham, who is probably more of a naturalist than any one else in this section of the country was in town last Friday exhibiting a tiny black bear cub that he had captured in the Boulder creek section. The little fellow was as tame as a dog, and seemed quite devoted to his master. Too bad he has to go up.

Southwick — Mrs. C. A. Betts and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Berreman were Lewiston visitors Monday. Jack Travis is carrying mail this week for Mr. Phay, as he has a case of the flu. Edith Bateman and Helen Winegardner spent the week-end on the Winegardner farm at Crescent. The Attlee and Given Mustoe families from Kellogg visited several days with relatives and friends here.

Attends Agricultural Course — As a delegate from Kendrick High School, Walton Morey attended the Vocational Course at the U. of I. from May 1 to 3.

Kendrick Wins Sub District Contest — Taking all three places in Shorthand, Bookkeeping and Typing II, the K. H. S. won the sub-district contest last Thursday, April 24, at Moscow. In Shorthand I, Doris Emery, first; Marjorie Davidson, second; Eleanor Herres, third. Bookkeeping, Doris Emery, first; Raymond Lyons, second; Daniel Lyons, third. Typing II — Eleanor Herres, second.

Appears In News Reel — Little Jackie Easterbrook, son of Mrs. Bonnie Easterbrook, Marysville, Wash., a former resident here, appeared Sunday through Wednesday in a newsreel at a Lewiston theater — he being chosen from among the hundreds at the Children's Orthopedic hospital in Seattle — as the most photogenic.

Jackie's friends, both young and old, will be glad to know that he is no longer confined to the hospital, but is at the family home — and is getting along nicely.

Commercial Club Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Kendrick Commercial Club will be held next Wednesday evening, May 17 — with the 6:30 dinner being served at the Kendrick Cafe.

At this time the Kendrick Tiger basketball squad and their coach, Ross Armitage, will be the guests of the club. A short period of entertainment is also planned.

Following the dinner a business session will be held in the city hall and we understand one of the chief items for discussion is the work to be done on the ball diamond — which must be considered soon.

All members and their friends are urged to remember the date and be present.

SCHOOL DISTRICT LEVY ELECTION SET FOR MAY 13

The annual school district levy election is set for Saturday, May 13 at the Kendrick school house for all the voters of Joint District No. 283. Qualifications for voters may be found set forth in the official notice carried in this issue.

First may it be pointed out that the millage to be voted upon to run the school for the coming term is exactly the same as that voted for last year — a matter that voters should bear in mind when going to the polls.

The sum being asked for carries 9 mills for current expense, and 1 mill for playground and gymnasium, so the usage of this money is plain to be seen.

It should be pointed out that without this sum, the school can operate only so long as funds under the regular levy last — then would have to close down. Should this shutdown shorten the school term to less than 172 day of actual school (which would be likely to happen), no state or county funds would be available, and the high school would no longer be accredited by the state. This state and county apportionment is $46,682.46.

Should this sum, plus the levy requested, be not available, it is plain to see that there would be no schools conducted within the district in the coming year.

Last year, due to failure of many loyal school patrons to vote, the levy was voted down at an election held on Saturday, June 11. Thereupon permission was given by authorities to hold a second election on Friday, June 24 — and at this one the levy carried by an overwhelming majority.

It is sincerely to be hoped that school supporters will be out in force at this duly advertised election, in order that the expense of a second election may be spared the voters of the district this year.

Remember — If our schools are to operate, we must have these asked-for funds.

The polls open at 1:00 p. m., at the Kendrick school house, Saturday, May 13. Be there and vote.

CANCER ASSISTANCE OR INFORMATION AVAILABLE

The little red door on the third floor of the Continental bank building in Boise stands open — ready to serve any person desiring assistance or information on one subject which is near to the heart of virtually every Idaho family.

The door, marked 312 and painted a vivid red in contrast to the conservative gray of the surrounding entrances, is the entrance to the state headquarters of the Idaho Cancer Society, and this state's official information center in its year-around crusade to control the dread disease.

It is here that Mrs. Grant Hess, state commander of the organization, almost daily receives requests for information and for aid which during the past year brought direct financial assistance to 227 Idaho victims.

As information and education is the primary purpose of the headquarters office, the space behind the Little Red Door was a beehive of activity last year as 482,179 pieces of literature were distributed, including elementary school material, to 34,529 students and 1169 teachers.

Individual requests for information concerning cancer were answered by the thousands. How many lives were saved by this timely information will never be known but in the cases where direct financial assistance has been provided the society has a complete record.

For example, in Gem county, a family's funds had been exhausted. It was essential for the patient to have post-operative irradiation and because of his health, daily bus trips to Boise were prohibitive. The society assumed hotel and dining room bills at a total cost of only $22.95 — just enough to pull the family over the "hump."

Then there was the case from Lincoln county where the patient had been victimized by "quack" treatment. Trips to Boise for irradiation were necessary. In a co-operative venture the county commissioners paid transportation and treatment costs while the society cared for room and board expenses.

Another example of cooperation was in Madison county, where the patient came to Boise for biopsy and treatment. The LDS church paid for the hospitalization and the Cancer society provided room and board for her and wife while diagnosis was made.

A Kootenai county case in which the patient had waited more than a year after the first danger signal required a long series of radium treatments in Spokane. The Cancer society provided room and food for 21 days at a cost of $84.00 — just enough to make the treatment possible.

Help was sought through the Cancer society for a young man with a wife and small son. Cooperation was obtained from the Department of Public Assistance, Valley county commissioners and the Veterans' Welfare bureau. The company where the young man was employed paid hospitalization and medical fees, the community subscribed $185 to maintain the family, and the Cancer society paid for room and board after hospitalization.

These are only a few examples of the kind of work the society is doing daily to provide assistance, according to Leo J. Falk, president of the society.

"Although the society is primarily geared as an organization to dispense life-saving information on how to detect and control cancer," he said, "it has proved its worth also in providing direct assistance for hundreds of Idahoans. Although we may not always have the funds to pay for the care of a patient, there is no case on record where the society has not been able to secure the necessary care for the victim."

Playing Basketball

Cpl. Kenneth Brown, who is stationed in Germany, sent a clipping to his sister, Kathryn, which read as follows:

Fuessen — Playing for the first time in their newly renovated gym, the 70th FA Bn Hurricanes dropped a very close 56-55 Constab Southern League fray to the 3rd Bn, 2d Arm Cav Regt Wildcats here last Friday night.

The game was a give-and-take battle from the opening minute until the final toot. The Hurricanes took a 24-23 halftime lead and had widened the margin to 42-36 by the end of the third quarter, when the Wildcats suddenly went wild and out-pointed the hosts 20-13 in the last stanza.

Bob (Hungry Horse) McGuire was the "big gun" for the Augsburg hoststers as he chalked up 20 markers. Ken Brown garnered 17 points for the Hurricanes.

CLEAN-UP WEEK

At their regular meeting, Tuesday, May 2, the Kendrick Village trustees set the week of May 8 through 13 as "Official Clean-up Week."

During this time residents of Kendrick are urged to clean up their property, including vacant lots, parking strips, trim trees, etc., and pile the debris on the parking strip or lawn at the front edge of their property — and the village will haul it away FREE OF CHARGE!

Anything of a loadable nature will be taken — the idea is to get the town cleaned up.

Don't forget — next week, MAY 8 through 13 — and CLEAN UP your property!

L. J. HERRES, BELOVED PIONEER DRUGGIST, PASSES ON

L. J. "Louie" Herres, beloved pioneer pharmacist of this area, passed away Friday, April 28, at the Deaconess hospital, Spokane. He would have been 73 years old on May 3rd. Mr. Herres had been in ill health for several years, but up until Sunday, April 23, had been active around the house and yard. He just wouldn't give up, but on Sunday night he collapsed, and was hospitalized on Tuesday.

Mr. Herres was born in Clinton County, Michigan, May 3, 1877, the son of Dr. Simon and Amelia Herres. Orphaned when eight years old, he went to Canada to live with his grandfather. When he attained young manhood he returned to Michigan, where he accepted a position in a drugstore in Detroit.

In the year 1892 he went to Toronto, Canada, where he was employed by the Kin Street Drug Co. In 1894 he came back to states, to Idaho, settling in Moscow, where he remained as a druggist until 1896. In that year he went to Peck, Idaho, where he established a drug store of his own.

On October 17, 1900, he was married to Lulu Kirby, and to this union two children were born — Wayne Simon Herres, who passed away in 1940, and Mrs. Eleanor Herres Johnston of Spokane.

In 1915 Mr. Herres and family moved to Kendrick, where he was employed by the Red Cross Pharmacy under the ownership of Mr. Buss.

With the exception of six years at the Owl Drug Store in Orofino, he was with the Red Cross Pharmacy until his health forced his retirement in 1948, when he and Mrs. Herres moved to Spokane. The drug store changed hands a number of times, but Mr. Herres always remained as pharmacist. At the time of his retirement he was employed by Lewis B. Keene.

Besides his widow and daughter he is survived by a sister, Mrs. W. T. Groom of London, Ontario, Canada, and three grandchildren, Mrs. Harry South of Coeur d'Alene; Miss Billie Mae Herres of Lewiston, and John Louis Johnston of Spokane.

Funeral services were held at Kendrick Tuesday, May 2, at 1:30 p. m., with Dr. J. H. Coulter of the Kendrick Community church bringing the message. Roy Ramey sang "Death Is Only a Dream," accompanied on the organ by Mrs. H. C. Schupfer, who also played the interlude music.

Palbearers were Frank Benschoter, Edgar Long, E. A. Deobald, Frank Crocker, B. F. Nesbit and Lewis B. Keene, all friends of many years standing. Interment was in the Kendrick cemetery. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Ball & Dodd of Spokane.

The well-filled church and the numerous floral offerings gave mute testimony to the high esteem in which Mr. Herres was held. During his long illness, which began months before he retired, he never complained, and always had a smile, a cheery word and perhaps a "wise crack" for all with whom he came in contact. Mr. Herres made friends with all whom he met — and if he had an enemy in this world, we knew him not.

Among The Sick

Gust Luckens, who has been gravely ill at his home here for some time, is described as still "critically ill."

W. B. Deobald was taken suddenly ill Thursday morning, and that evening was taken to St. Luke's hospital at Spokane by his son, W. A. Deobald of Moscow. Mrs. W. B. Deobald accompanied them and is now at the hospital in Spokane with him. At last report he was classed as "seriously ill."

Latest report from the bedside of Fred Zimmerman, at St. Joseph's hospital in Lewiston, is that he is recovering from surgery nicely.

Last Thursday, while practicing pole vaulting on the school grounds, Charles Christensen, son of Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Christensen, landed on one arm in such a way as to chip the bones near the wrist. It is now encased in a cast.

Participate In Field Trips

U. of I., Moscow — Kendrick students have participated in three field trips scheduled at the University of Idaho. Richard Benschoter was with a class of agronomy students who visited the state and federal grain inspectors' offices and other grain marketing points in Spokane.

Theodore Deobald was in a group of chemical engineering students who toured industrial plants in 12 Idaho and Montana cities.

Elbert Long was in an advertising class which visited a large Spokane store.

Robert Lind, Kendrick, has been named by Phi Mu Alpha, national music honorary for men at the University of Idaho.

KENDRICK MUSIC STUDENTS TAKE PART IN FESTIVAL

Friday and Saturday were very busy days for the musically interested students of the Kendrick Schools. The North Idaho Competition Music Festival is the highlight of a year's work and any one of the 101 participants from the Junior High and High School can give you a personal account of the interesting activities.

The first event which concerned Kendrick was the bands playing for the ratings, and Thursday evening was the time for our band to appear, and a very good performance was the result. The thing that surprised the band members most was trying to fill a big auditorium after practicing in a room with an 8-foot ceiling. As you can well imagine everyone felt conspicuous. The band made the return trip as soon as possible after playing.

On Friday morning the busses (three of them) left for Lewiston with some rather anxious youngsters as both the Junior Hi and Girl Chorus and the Senior Hi Girls chorus had to perform in competition. After considerable delay both groups had their turn on the stage of the Junior Hi auditorium, and they were much relieved when it was all over. The audience seemed to enjoy the efforts very much as the applause indicated, especially the "Oklahoma" selection, sung by the Senior Girls. After the pressure was off, everyone let up and enjoyed themselves listening to what the other schools had done musically during the past year. Because of the bus situation, the return trip was started at 3:00 o'clock so the regular bus schedules could be met.

Saturday morning shortly after 8:00 o'clock, found two busses again on their way to Lewiston and the singing on the busses was beginning to lose some of its usual enthusiasm. Upon arriving at the auditorium all the singers went directly to the massed chorus rehearsal and the others just had a lazy morning.

The massed chorus rehearsal lasted until noon, at which time all the band members prepared themselves for the afternoon parade. After a band bus was loaded it went to the Kendrick parade sign, which was about a mile from the Lewis-Clark bridge — in other words, next to last in the parade.

After a late start the band finally got lined up and under way. From the side line, near the end of the parade, the band still looked and sounded very good. One thing for sure — you could really tell whose band it was by the fine banner that preceded the group.

At the end of the line all the band members stepped up for their usual bottle of pop, and some I am told, went back for more. When the bus was again loaded, it went directly to the High school, where the massed band practiced until 5:15, so you can see why some of the youngsters were a little weary.

While the parade was going on a group of about 70 singers was having an extra rehearsal behind the scenes. It was a very profitable one, judging from the excellent performance in the evening.

After eating and relaxing in a variety of ways and places, the students began assembling for the evening concert. With all the tooting and warming up, you could tell there was still plenty of pep left in these young musicians.

At the scheduled time the curtain was drawn in the Senior High school auditorium stage and a wonderful pagentry of music was forthcoming. The orchestra started with an average size group, followed by a very impressive chorus that spread clear across the stage.

As the grand finale, the curtain was drawn on a whole stage full of horn blowers of every kind, description and number. The sounds were just as tremendous and the whole concert is to be commended for a fine performance.

The next item was to get the equipment and students back on the busses and headed toward Kendrick. After the usual amount of necessary time, this was accomplished, and they were at last on the home stretch. Around 11:00 o'clock the busses arrived in Kendrick and the tired but happy youngsters were off to their respective homes to close the account of another very successful and enjoyable Music Festival.

It seems to us that Burke Sower, as local music instructor in the Joint District schools must have the patience of "Job," and he should be highly complimented for the fine showing the local students have made this year. Too, the "shepherding and supervision" of such a group of students away from home is in itself no small task, and he, together with the bus drivers certainly earned what sleep they got that night!

Cheap At Half The Price

"Good Mawmin, Colonel," the family retainer at an old home in Kentucky greeted my friend, a confirmed civilian.

"Why this new address?" he asked. "Well, suh, here in Kentucky we got three kinds of colonels. They's the real honest-to-goodness colonels what comes from the Army. Then they's the colonels what is named by the Governor of Kentucky. And last, we got colonels like you, who just gives an old dork like me two-bits to start the ball a-rollin'!" — Reader's Digest.

True Scotch Values

On a Scottish golf course there is a sign that reads: "Members will kindly refrain from picking up lost balls until they have stopped rolling."

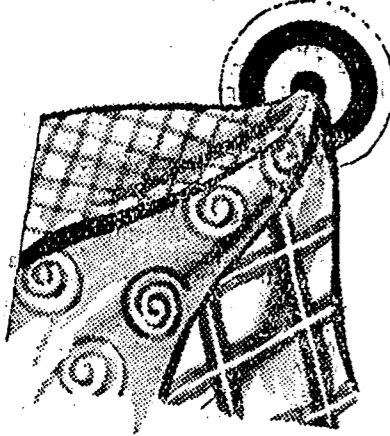

Remember: There are no parking meters on Kendrick's streets!

SHORT NEWS ITEMS FROM OUR LOCAL SCHOOLHOUSE

Eighth Grade News
April 25 we took our standard Achievement test, the results turning out satisfactorily for almost everyone concerned.

On the afternoon of April 25 we took a hike over to the ice mine. Some were fortunate enough to bring back some ice, and everyone had a good time despite the mud and brush.

The "Moons" spelling team is now ahead of the "Flying Letters" 84 to 80.

Friday the chorus and hand members of our class attended the Music Festival in Lewiston. Pupils that stayed at school attended a track meet on the play ground.

The Class pins that were ordered by some of the members, were received last Friday.

High School News
All the salesmen and book agents who were not able to come to Kendrick during the bad weather this past winter, are making up for lost time this spring. We have had lots of company the past few days.

The Home Economics class postponed their Mother-Daughter Tea, which was to have been held Tuesday afternoon, due to the absence of Mrs. Deobald.

Mrs. Elsie Deobald has been absent from school the past few days, due to the serious illness of her husband. The whole High school wishes for him a speedy recovery, and an early return of Mrs. Deobald to school.

Mrs. Joyce Brammer, former English teacher of the Kendrick High school, is substituting for a few days for Mrs. Deobald. We indeed feel fortunate to have Mrs. Brammer with us during these days.

Orchids to the cooks at the Kendrick school for preparing such a bountiful dinner for us on Tuesday. The turkey that was received from Federal Commodities helped greatly in this meal.

Take Part In Music Festival
The Kendrick High School band and boys' and girls' chorus, under the direction of Burke Sower, took part in the big area music festival at Lewiston, Thursday afternoon, Friday and Saturday, concluding with a massed band, orchestra and chorus performance at the Lewiston Senior High School auditorium Saturday evening.

Slides Plague Local Highway
Slides, which began coming Thursday morning of last week have given the local state highway workers, Clarence Perryman and Ed. Brown, something of a real headache.

The slides on the road between Kendrick and Juliaetta, on the hill near the Brammer ranch, started at the top of that cut — and just kept coming. Being above the railroad track it was impossible to use a bulldozer or patrol to push them over the bluff, so a loader was secured, and for three days they hauled by truck, dumping their slimy loads where they could.

The slides appear to have been caused by an earth fault, perhaps due to blasting when the sloping operations at the edge of the cut were begun by the DeAtley Construction Co., and then the springs above began pouring their water into the faults, soaking the ground so that it slid — and slid some more.

At any rate, this particular point presents a real problem.

Thirty-Fifth Wedding Anniversary
Old-time friends of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Winegardner helped them celebrate their 35th wedding anniversary on Sunday, April 23, at their home in Lewiston orchards.

The well-laden tables kept folks busy for a time, but through it all they talked as "remember the time —" and son on. Cards and a small gift were presented in the afternoon, and all too soon it became necessary to part again, with promises to get together at their Golden anniversary.

Those in attendance were the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Winegardner and son Roy; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Torgeson and Ray Shinn of Lewiston Orchards; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Betts, Mrs. Helen Conrad, Mrs. Cora Lettenmaier, Gary Smith, Mrs. Sylvia Jenks, Henry Emery and George Smith of Lewiston; Mrs. Lettie Israel and Mrs. Rose Farrington of Clarkston; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoffman and Mr. and Mrs. Weyne Weyen of Leland; Mrs. Wm. New Olive Sauce for Beans Suggested by Food Experts

An olive sauce which can be used in place of meat or mushroom sauce has been tested by the University of California food technology division. The sauce is made of sliced pitted olives, chopped green peppers, salt, garlic, onions and tomato sauce, cooked for several minutes.

The olive sauce can be used with canned white beans or red kidney beans. The beans are soaked in water until plump, then drained. Water and the olive sauce are added and heated to boiling.

The college of agriculture also has developed a canned olive sauce for flavoring stews and other meats. Chopped olives, garlic, onion, chopped pimiento and tomato sauce are mixed and heated to boiling. The resulting sauce is satisfactory in flavor and appearance and can be used to flavor a great variety of meat dishes, spaghetti and rice.

Another sauce to flavor spaghetti, rice, stews and beans, can be made from the contents of two tall cans of pitted sliced olives, to which two small cans of hot sauce are added. Mixed in are also six ounces of chopped onions, two ounces of chopped garlic and four ounces of chopped green peppers.

Golden Spike Date Termed Momentous in Rail History

Of the many dates that stand out in railroad history, May 10, 1869, takes a high place for its importance not only to the carriers but to the nation as well.

It was on that day that the far western regions of the country were opened for quicker settlement and development. It was the day that ended the need for stage coach and covered wagon travel between the east and west coasts, as well as the long water voyages around Cape Horn, and to the Isthmus of Panama and through the jungle to the Pacific and then by vessel to California.

And it was also the day which western-minded easterners had envisioned when they could take their entire families, with a lessening of dangers and speedier transport, to the youngest sections of the country.

In a memorable ceremony north of Great Salt Lake in Utah, a golden spike was driven into the last rail linking the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific (now the Southern Pacific) roads, signaling the completion of the first chain of railroads to span the American continent.

Early Use of Mahogany

There exists today, preserved in the cathedral at Ciudad Trujillo, formerly Santo Domingo, a rough hewn mahogany cross inscribed: "This is the first sign planted in the center of this field to mark the beginning of this magnificent temple in the year 1514." That inscription is the earliest record of the use of mahogany. The cathedral that houses it, completed in 1940, is itself richly embellished with carved mahogany, some of which is considered the finest in the world, and is still in splendid condition after over four centuries in the tropics. First known European use of mahogany was for the chanting desk, choir stalls, shelves and desks in the great library of the Escorial, begun by Philip II of Spain in 1563 and completed in 1584.

Safest Playground Colors

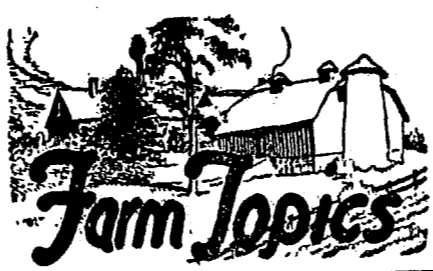

Beauty can take the beast out of potentially dangerous play equipment for children. Safety experts point to a recent study made by a paint manufacturing concern which shows that beautifying playground equipment also can serve to make it safer. Slides should be painted green, which counteracts excessive sunlight. Steps leading to the top of the slide should be yellow to draw the child's attention and make him more careful when climbing up. Youngsters are less likely to be struck by seats or rings of swings if seats and rings are painted yellow, giving greater visibility. Green is best for uprights and overhead bars.

Harvesting the Oyster

Once a year, usually in the early fall, the annual bluepoint oyster harvest begins at the largest oyster gathering and processing plant in the world, at Greenpoint, Long Island. Wooden-hulled boats chug out to the oyster grounds early in the morning. In the pale pre-dawn light they dump their large dredges over the side. Steel teeth munch at the bottom soil, scooping up the oysters, which are pulled into the boat by a winch. Then they return to the bluepoint plant where conveyor belts bring in the oysters to be culled or "shucked."

Still Heroine of Skies

Amelia Earhart and her navigator, Fred Noonan, disappeared July 2, 1937, somewhere near a tiny stretch of sand called Howland islands in mid-Pacific. She was on her second attempt to fly around the world. Miss Earhart, first woman to fly the Atlantic and part of the Pacific, was flying the most dangerous leg of her trip when her fuel evidently gave out during the 2,500 mile jump over the water from Lae, New Guinea, to Howland. She is still heroine of the skies.

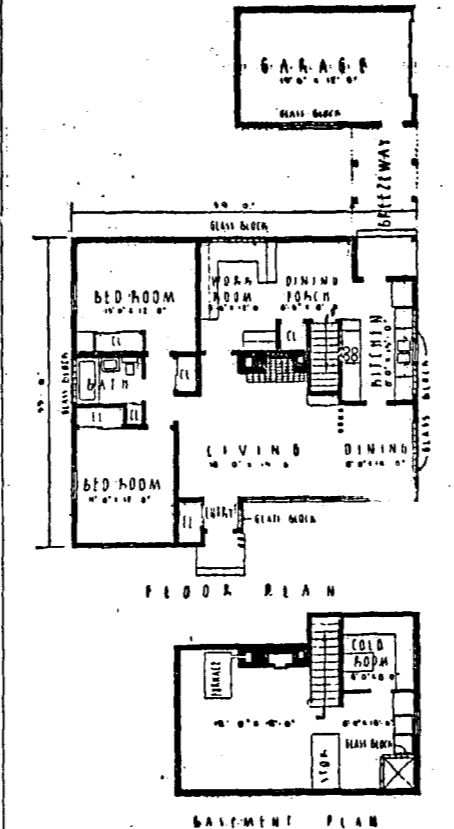

One-Story Home Grows in Favor Plan Well Suited To Farmers' Needs

The one-story home with basement for the laundry storage purposes and the heating plant is growing in popularity.

Highly suited as a farm home because it eases housekeeping, its popularity is demonstrated by the number of ranch-type houses being built today in both rural and metropolitan areas.

The one-story and basement house pictured here offers features that justify the popularity of homes of this type. Planned as a farm home, it includes the conveniences of modern design found in city homes.

The narrow kitchen is accessible to both the dining area at one end of the living room and to the dining porch. Sink and storage shelves are along the outside wall, with the stove and additional storage area on the inside wall. This arrangement provides numerous economies.

The work room is adjacent to the dining room porch but far enough from the living and bedrooms to confine disturbing noises. The two bedrooms, each with two exposures, contain ample closet space and are close to the bathroom.

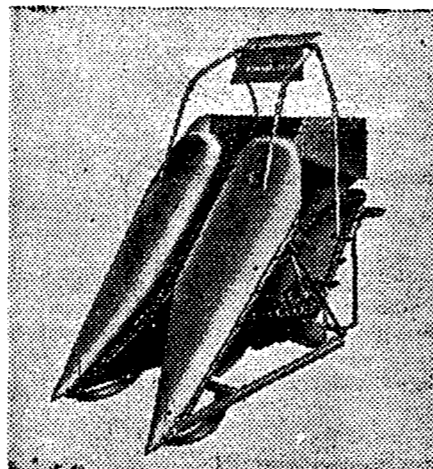

The garage is separated from the house by a breezeway, which can also serve as an outside porch.

The basement includes several features considered essential to comfortable living on a farm. It is entered from the back porch, eliminating this traffic from the living area of the home.

The cold room is ample for storage of glassed fruits, vegetables and other farm produce. Plenty of electrical outlets in this room provide current for a food freezing locker.

In one corner of the laundry is a shower.

Automatic Harvester

Another farm job is brought closer to complete mechanization by this automatic field forage harvester. Within a few minutes the corn harvesting unit can be substituted for the hay pickup attached to the basic machine. With hay unit, the machine automatically picks up hay from the windrow, chops and blows it into a trailing wagon for removal to mow or silo. With corn attachment, the machine sweeps along the row, cutting and chopping corn for silage.

Lice, Mange Top Pests Of Those Harming Swine

Two of the most common and harmful pests on hogs are lice and mange. If insects are permitted to feed on hogs, the animals will have stunted growth and be more subject to disease, says the University of Louisiana agriculture extension division.

Farmers are reminded that by controlling insects they increase the value of pastures and feed and thus increase their earnings.

To Test Japanese Cereals

Fifty-eight cereal varieties from Japan — eight wheats and fifty barleys — will get an opportunity to help University of Idaho agricultural researchers in their campaign against "winter kill," which takes a heavy toll of winter wheat and barley in the high-altitude dry-farming sections of the Inland Empire.

The Japanese grains will be grown experimentally at the Teton branch station in land heavily contaminated with the "winter kill" fungus organisms. Those that have resistance under Idaho conditions probably will be used as parent material in breeding resistance to winter kill into the grain varieties now most extensively grown in the sections affected by the disease.

PHEASANT PHACTS

Issued by the Idaho Fish and Game Commission

New Sturgeon Regulations

As "Old Man Snake River" begins to rise, Idaho's closest relative to the whale — the sturgeon — becomes the quarry of many Gem state anglers. Although technically the sturgeon is a minnow, some recent specimens attest that it is a minnow in name only. A pair of lucky anglers near Hagerman recently landed a 300-pounder after an hour-long battle.

Before you head for the river to replenish the family fish larder, better check the size of those sturgeon hooks. A new regulation passed by the fish and game commission specifies that hooks must be 1 1/2 inches from shank to barb. Only one set line may be used and minimum length for "keepers" is 30 inches, the department reminds.

Vaccinate Those Hogs

U. of I., Moscow — Vaccination is still the only satisfactory method of preventing swine losses to hog cholera although the world has seen giant strides in powerful new drugs during the past ten years. Cholera is still the top disease in the list of infections deadly to swine.

In making recommendations for cholera control, Dr. Lloyd Scrivner, station veterinarian at the university, says it is a wise owner who vaccinates pigs near weaning time if the young animals are in good health and free from internal parasites. Vaccination at this time generally lasts the animals through their entire life.

Close Neighbors of Earth Discovered by Minnesotan

Discovery of a pair of stars believed to be nearer to the earth than any other star except one has been announced by Dr. Willem J. Luyten, chairman of the astronomy department at the University of Minnesota. The astronomer also reported that a tremendous atomic explosion occurred on one of the new stars last December.

The new discovery, which is in the constellation Cetus (The Whale) was found, Dr. Luyten explained, by comparing photographic plates which he made at the Harvard university observatory station in South Africa in 1930 with plates taken at the same observatory in 1944.

Further observation made with the 36-inch reflector at the University of Arizona's observatory at Tucson indicated that these are among the very nearest stars, probably less than six light-years away. A light-year is approximately six trillion miles, and most stars are more than 100 light-years away from the earth.

If this preliminary determination is confirmed by further observation, Dr. Luyten pointed out, these will be the nearest stars known in space except for one and the nearest visible from most of the United States. Only Alpha Centauri, four and one-half light years distant, is nearer. However, the earth's closest star neighbor is visible chiefly in the southern hemisphere.

Traffic Noise Tolerated More than Industry's

Although traffic noise generally is more intense than industrial noise, individuals consider it less objectionable, George Bonvallet, associate physicist at Armour Research Foundation of Illinois Institute of Technology, told the annual meeting of the Acoustical Society of America.

Bonvallet listed two factors which led to his conclusion:

"1. The public may tolerate public transportation noise on the incorrect basis that it cannot be reduced, and

"2. Traffic noise, disregarding automobile horns and clanging trolley gongs, increases in intensity then decreases when the source is near the listener. Industrial noise, on the other hand, often changes abruptly. Generally it starts and stops suddenly and may be objectionable because of its characteristic quality recognizable in forging hammers, steam exhaust blasts, traveling cranes, whistles, bells, etc."

"Factory noise outside plants is not as loud as it is reputed to be," Bonvallet said. "The few plants that make noise have given a bad reputation to industry in general."

Bonvallet pointed out that only about 6 per cent of industrial noise could be considered objectionable intense on the basis of his preliminary studies.

Sights in Arizona

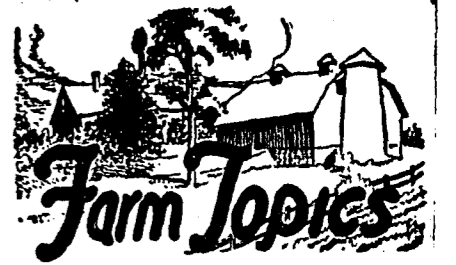

The petrified forest is situated just 10 miles south of U. S. highway 66, near Holbrook, in northeastern Arizona. Within a few miles of Flagstaff in north central Arizona are Sunset Crater national monument, Walnut Canyon national monument, Waputki national monument and picturesque Oak Creek canyon. The town of Williams, also located on U. S. highway 66, is the gateway to one of the most popular attractions in the nation—the Grand canyon. Each year thousands of people from all parts of the country and many foreign lands journey to the Grand canyon to view this breathtaking spectacle.

Overfire Jets Abate Smoke

Improvement in furnace performance and smoke abatement have been shown on all types of stoker-fired and hand-fired furnaces by the use of overfire jets, William S. Major, development engineer for Bituminous Coal Research, Inc., Pittsburgh, reported in a fuels session of The American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He said maximum benefits from jets are most likely to occur on spreader-stoker fired furnaces. The use of jets has not only been effective in substantially reducing smoke density, Mr. Major declared, but it has increased boiler and furnace efficiency, reduced soot and slag deposits on boiler and economizer surfaces, reduced both the quantity and carbon content of the cinder carryover, shortened the flame and reduced the final temperatures when surfaces are of the same degree of cleanliness and enabled furnaces to operate with slightly lower excess air without unburned combustible gases.

New Finishes in Textiles

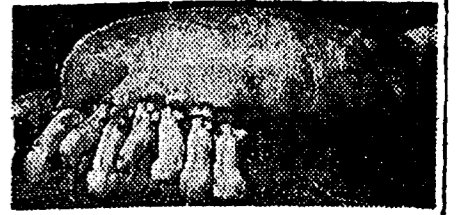

Fabrics are appearing on the market today which offer the consumer value, durability and high fashion never before available in the history of textiles. It can be expected that these new fabrics will be available in increasing quantities during 1949. These fabrics are the result of new developments, advances and discoveries in the art of "finishing." For example, it is not only possible to obtain washable colors; but, finishes and fabric qualities which are equally durable through washings.

New Selling System Aids Hog Producers

Price Agreed Upon Right in The Pen

Under a new system of selling hogs, buyers and salesmen at the markets agree on the price right in the pen before the hogs are weighed. Thus the old weight-schedule is being replaced by a pen-to-pen system of marketing. The buyer is given a chance to recognize quality and pay a premium for good hogs.

The quality of this Chester White sow and litter is apparent even to the casual observer; but under the old weight-schedule of selling hogs, breeders who produce such quality stock would receive nothing extra for the added time and care they had expended to bring their hogs to such a degree of excellence.

The reason advanced for increased interest in marketing is that the weight-schedule system fails to recognize the difference between hogs. It also fails to pay for true quality.

Under the old schedule-selling, salesmen and buyers at a market would agree in the morning how many hogs each buyer would get. A schedule of process was set up according to weight. "Hogs was hogs" and the scales determined the price.

But that system is gradually being abandoned. Under the old method, farmers judged probable market prices by estimating the weight of their hogs. A premium of 50 cents per hundredweight was considered unusual at the market although the real value of hogs of the same weight varies as much as $5 or $6 per animal. Such premiums offered poor pay to the expert producer who raises top-quality hogs worth more money.

Another reason for the new system is the fear that if a better job of selling isn't done, hogs may be sold on a dressed-carcase basis. This method of marketing (which is used in Canada) is being explored by many farmers, cooperatives, agricultural experiment stations and studies under the federal research and marketing act. Many public market operators also are worried about the decline in volume of hogs arriving for sale at terminal markets.

Wheat Champions

The wheat, which Victor Rasmussen is holding, is a sample of the crop from the 2,000 acres of wheat land, which is owned jointly by these two men and their brother, Reuben, who was too busy farming that day to get in the picture.

The Rasmussens' wheat, which was hard red winter of the Jache variety with a test weight of 64 pounds per bushel, took first place in the 8th annual Philip W. Pillsbury judging for best United States wheat raised in 1948. The grain competed with 37 samples from 20 other states when the judging was held in Minneapolis.

The Rasmussens rotate their wheat crop on 4,000 acres of unirrigated land. They are the sons of Philip H. Rasmussen, who won the state and national Pillsbury award in 1946.

Soil Check May Answer Slow Tile Drain Puzzle

If tile-drained land is slow in drying, check the organic matter content of your soils before blaming the tile system. Many tile lines that worked well when originally laid are now hampered because the water can't get through the soil to the tile. You open your soil and improve drainage when you grow well-fertilized deep-rooted legumes in the rotation and put back straw, cornstalks and manure.

To Treat Afflicted Children
 U. of I., Moscow — Sixty children from Idaho with speech, reading and emotional difficulties will be treated during the Child Guidance clinic at the University of Idaho this summer through a co-operative program sponsored by the university and the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults.
 The program will also help provide clinical experience for NSCCA workers, teachers and guidance personnel, Dr. Eugene Giles, clinic head, said today. Children from outside the Moscow area will be housed in a university dormitory.
 To train personnel to assist the NSCCA in their work, a specialist in the treatment of cerebral palsy, stuttering, cleft palates and auditory speech disorders will take part in the clinic.
 Two other visiting specialists will augment the university staff during the summer program. Dr. Helen Elston, child psychologist of the St. Paul (Minn.) schools, will work on diagnosis, and teach in speech diagnosis and therapy. Miss Helen I. McCoy, supervisor of remedial reading in the Spokane school system, will train remedial reading teachers under clinical conditions.
 Parents wishing to enroll children in the University of Idaho Clinic are asked to contact Miss Barbara Peterson, executive secretary of the Idaho Chapter NSCCA, in Boise, Idaho.

Guns Kill Eight During 1949
 Eight fatalities from firearms accidents have been recorded in Idaho since the hunting season opened last fall. Of this number, one was a result of target practice; the other seven all hunting accidents.
 The seven hunting deaths all occurred on big game hunting trips throughout the state. Five of the fatalities were caused when hunting companions or other hunters fired at the victims, mistaking them for deer or elk. One man was killed when a bullet struck a rock, broke into sections, and ricocheted several hundred feet to strike him in the neck. One man was killed while placing his rifle in a truck.
 Fourteen lives were lost in Idaho during 1949 from firearm accidents. The same number of deaths were recorded for the state in 1947.

Rain And Snow Hit Area

Following several rather chilly and cloudy days, Sunday was beautiful, with bright sunshine, which was warm.

Monday began with a warm rain, a slow drizzle which was welcomed by farmers and townspeople alike, as the wind had rather dried out and crusty the soil.

Tuesday morning, however, it was a different story. Rain was falling, but it was cold — and several of the school busses came into town with a white blanket laying on their tops — and reports have it that snow fell to a depth of about two inches on Cedar ridge, and in the Southwick-Cavendish area.
