NEWS ITEMS ABOUT LELAND RESIDENTS AND FRIENDS

Observe 80th Anniversary

A group of relatives and friends pleasantly surprised Mrs. Dora Heffel at her home on Friday, Oct. 20, at 2 o'clock in honor of her 80th birthday anniversary. They presented her with a beautiful table lamp and many lovely cards.

Mrs. Heffel entertained the group, telling of her pioneer days. She was born at Carthage, Missouri, in 1870. She came to Idaho when 9 years old, in 1879 with her aunt, the late Mrs. Sarah Jane Hartinger, a cousin, William Hartinger, and her sister, the late Mrs. John Vincent, Sr.

They made the trip by covered wagon and a mule team. She told of her aunt working along the way so as to have money to continue on their way. During the trip her aunt became ill with mountain fever, which of course delayed them. They arrived at Boise the night before an Indian War broke out there.

When they arrived at Juliaetta they forded the team of mules and the occupants of the wagon were ferried across the stream in a basket. They came up the North Juliaetta grade, it being only a trail then. They homesteaded on what is known as "The Grandma Whittinger" ranch, now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reinhart Wilken and daughter. Only three families were then living on Potlatch ridge, the Chas. Hoffman, Sr., family being one of them. They got their mail at Juliaetta, going for it on horseback. She attended school at Cameron, but only for a short time.

The first church in Leland was the "North Methodist." Mrs. Heffel joined the church when a young woman, and is still a member of the Methodist church. Whenever ceremonies were purchased, they either went to Lewiston or Moscow by team.

On January 28, 1898 she was married to Stewart Heffel at a very quiet ceremony at the Whittinger home. For a few months they made their home with his mother, Mrs. Sybil Heffel on the North Juliaetta grade; next moving to a farm on Cream ridge, now the home of Mrs. Frank Carey and son.

In 1902 they purchased school land at the top of the Juliaetta grade and made that their home for 35 years. To them three children were born, the elder son dying at birth. The others, Jesse Heffel and Mrs. Roy Craig, both have homes near Kendrick.

In 1937 Mr. and Mrs. Heffel retired from farming and moved to Kendrick, where they made their home until his death on Oct. 18, 1943. Since that time Mrs. Heffel has lived with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Craig and daughter.

After Mrs. Heffel told of her pioneer days, games were played, with Mrs. Oral Craig winning the prize.

Two beautiful birthday cakes, a bouquet of roses and eight large pastel candles formed the center decoration on a lace-covered table. Coffee and ice cream was served with the cakes. Hostesses were Mrs. Robert Draper, niece of Mrs. Heffel; Mrs. W. H. Weyen and Mrs. Roy Craig.

Guests present were Mrs. A. G. Peters, Mrs. Ben Hoffman, Mrs. Marvin Vincent, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Alex Larson, Mrs. Chas. Hoffman; Mrs. Jack Abbott of Clarkston; Mrs. Oral Craig, Mrs. Jesse Thornton, Mrs. Lloyd Craig and daughters, Marcella and Jeanne, Mrs. Ervin Draper and son Gary, Erma Lohman, Mrs. Chester Vincent, Carol Lynn and Bruce, and Paige Craig. Included in the guests were four generations in her family.

As the ladies departed they expressed a very enjoyable afternoon and wished Mrs. Heffel many happy returns of the day.

Still Indian Summer Weather

This section is still enjoying the finest Indian Summer weather that anyone could wish. There have been some light showers, some cloudiness, but considerable sunshine has been a part of every day — and farmers are taking fullest advantage of the weather by plowing, seeding, discing, and otherwise preparing for another crop.

Monday night there was a brilliant moon in a cloudless sky, and the thermometer promptly "nose-dived" to a low of 28 degrees, the coldest this season. This definitely will cause the last of the leaves to fall.

LINDA LOUISE PARKS BRIDE OF HARRY LLOYD ROACH

Miss Linda Louise Parks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Parks, pioneer residents of the Kendrick area, was united in marriage to Harry Lloyd Roach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roach of Potlatch on Sunday evening, October 22, at 7:30 o'clock in the Emmanuel Lutheran church at Cameron, in a beautiful candlelight ceremony.

The beautiful double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Sherwin Schmidt of Chewelah, Wash., and uncle of the bride, and by the Rev. Theo Meske of Cameron.

The altar was decorated with baskets of red, gold, yellow and white chrysanthemums, and lighted candles.

Mr. Sherwin Schmidt, an aunt of the bride sang, "At Cana Lord Thou Didst Appoint," and "O Perfect Love," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Theo Meske, who also played the professional and recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white satin entrain, with lace yoke and long fitted sleeves. Her fingertip veil hung from a halo of lace and white satin ribbon, and she carried a bouquet of roses and stephanotis.

The maid of honor, Leone Parks, a sister of the bride, wore red taffeta. The bridesmaids, Mrs. H. L. Wallace of Bradpater, a sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Marvin Silflow of Cameron, a cousin of the bride, wore gowns of green and gold satin, respectively. The flower girls, Judith Christensen and Sherry Schmidt, cousins of the bride, wore yellow taffeta. They all carried nosegays of blending colors.

Dale Silflow, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Silflow, as ringbearer, was attired in a white suit and carried the rings on a miniature white satin pillow.

The groom wore the conventional dark blue suit.

The best man was Delbert Raby of Kamiah, and the ushers were Luther Parks and Charles Parks, brother and cousin of the bride.

A reception was held at the Cameron hall immediately following the ceremony. The wedding cake was in the form of a large white cross, topped with a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Gerald Schmidt and Mrs. A. C. Glunk cut and served the cake. Mrs. Hugh Parks and Mrs. Herman Meyer, poured. All are aunts of the bride.

Another aunt, Mrs. Wallace Christensen, had charge of the guest book. The many beautiful gifts were in charge of the bride's attendants.

The bride graduated from the Lewiston High school, and is a registered nurse, graduating with the class of 1950 at the Deaconess hospital in Spokane.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the Potlatch High school, and the past year has been employed on the Gerald Schmidt ranch.

After a honeymoon at Burgdorf the newlyweds plan to spend a short time at the home of the bridegroom's parents before he is called into the army in November.

The bride plans to keep on with her work of nursing during his absence, and also plans to study at Whitworth college to get her Bachelor of Science degree.

Honored With Shower

A pre-nuptial shower was given Linda Parks at the Ladies Aid hall in Cameron Wednesday afternoon of last week. Guests from Cameron, Leland, Kendrick and Juliaetta attended.

Decorations carried out the theme of a shower. The gift table was centered with a red and yellow umbrella, decorated with fall leaves. Yellow, brown and red fall leaves and blossoms continued the motif throughout the hall.

Miss Parks opened her many lovely and useful gifts, assisted by her sister, Leone, and cousin, Betty Parks.

Games were played, with prizes going to Mrs. E. Mielke, Mrs. Fred Newman, Mrs. Emil Silflow and Mrs. Kenneth Wilken.

A delicious luncheon, following out the shower motif, was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Theo Meske, Mrs. Herman Meyer and Mrs. Marvin Silflow.

Bell Given To Church

Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Benschoter have donated the old bell, which hung for many years at the Kendrick Ridge school house, to the Kendrick Community Church, and present plans call for mounting it above the entry-way at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Benschoter acquired the bell when they purchased the school house at public auction some two years ago.

The gift is greatly appreciated by the church.

Undergoes Tonsillectomy

Tuesday, Oct. 24, Linda Eckman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Eckman of Juliaetta, underwent a tonsillectomy at Dr. Christensen's office. She is recovering nicely.

AGRICULTURE — AN OVER-GROWN GOVERNMENT DEPT.

(By Robert L. Johnson)

The American farmer has much for which to thank his government. His lot has greatly improved in recent years. His prices are upheld by government subsidy, he receives scientific advice, he is greatly aided by irrigation and electricity, and he is restrained from upsetting the market by extravagant and unwise plantings.

Nevertheless, it happens that some of the troubles of the farmer result from well-meant but misdirected efforts by the department of agriculture to assist him. It is possible that some of the fervor of this department in the direction of regulation might profitably be applied to itself.

Like several other departments of our government, in its 87 years of existence it has outgrown itself and split up into 20 bureaus and agencies, some of which are competitive and in many areas it has become almost a burden, rather than a help to the farmer. The report of the bi-partisan Hoover commission puts it this way:

"The department has grown to its present size without sufficient attention being given to its parts as a whole. It is in many ways a loose confederation of autonomous bureaus with a strong tendency to develop independent, overlapping and duplicating programs."

Many of these instances of duplication are costly and seem to me to be indefensible. For example:

The Commission's task force found that in one cotton producing county in Georgia 47 employees attached to seven separate field services of the department were advising 1,500 farmers.

A Missouri farmer who had asked the department for information about fertilizer, received conflicting advice from five different field services.

In Maryland 88 employees of seven different services were giving advice to fewer than 3,400 farmers.

How can the farmer be blamed for being confused? He is bewildered by the ministrations of these agencies: Soil Conservation Service, Farmers Home Administration, Farm Credit Administration, Production and Marketing Administration, Rural Electrification Administration, Federal-State Farm Management Advisors, Bureau of Animal Industry and the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine. There are also numerous county advisory committees of farmers, which cost the government about $8 millions a year. In this connection the task force suggested one committee for each county, with a saving of about $4.5 millions annually.

In the matter of finance the government is pretty deeply involved in the department. In the past 20 years its expenditures increased from $25 millions annually to $334 millions in 1948. It has an investment of $2 billions in several credit agencies created in the interest of the farmer. The commission asserts that at least $35 millions could be saved in the cost of their administration and even greater savings would follow better organization of lending agencies.

The department is greatly hampered by the interference of other agencies of the government, particularly the Department of Interior, in the planning and operation of irrigation projects. This is despite the fact that certain irrigation programs are solely the concern of agriculture. But it has happened more than once that such programs have been submitted to congress before agriculture knew about them.

There is also confusion in the set-up of bureaus which regulate food and drug products for the protection of the consumer. The Department of Agriculture has the authority to grade agricultural products and to inspect meat, animal viruses, toxins, insecticides and seeds. But the Federal Security Agency, under the Food and Drug Acts, regulates the adulteration of foods, the standards of containers and various milk requirements. Meanwhile, the Federal Trade Commission regulates false advertising of Foods and the Bureau of Internal Revenue administers the taxes on oleomargarine and renovated butter.

Most of these authorities were originally held by the Department of Agriculture and the commission recommends that they be restored. The effects of this dilution of authority is confusing troublesome to all concerned, especially as they vary. The standards for grading fruit and vegetables set up by the Department of Agriculture are different than those standards developed for consumer protection by the Federal Security Agency.

There is great confusion and duplication in the management of forest and range lands of the public domain in the western states. Two government agencies are involved and have different standards.

In the mountain regions of Ogden county, Utah, the ranchers own the valley lands and the Forest Service manages the high altitude forests and grazing lands. The Bureau of Land Management administers the lands between. The two services impose different fees and have different standards regarding the numbers of livestock, acceptable for a given area.

The commission concluded that these problems of duplication and overlapping services call for basic organizational changes. It recommends the streamlining of the department, with the Secretary of Agriculture in charge and with the return of those agencies which have strayed away into other departments or an independent existence. The department would handle its own finances and accounting and duplication of effort would be abolished.

BIDS CALLED FOR TRUCK TO CARRY SPOKANE MAIL

Bids have been called to operate a star truck route mail truck between Lewiston and Spokane in place of two trains to be discontinued by the Northern Pacific Railway, it was learned Oct. 19.

James F. Robinson, district superintendent of the postal transportation service, said that if the postal department approves, trucks will transport the mail between Spokane and Lewiston, stopping at communities between.

The trucks would replace trains 312 and 313 that will be cut from the N. P. schedules Dec. 1.

According to present plans, Robinson said, the truck would leave Spokane at 10:15 p. m. daily, arriving at 3:15 a. m. It would start the return trip as soon as possible, arriving at Spokane at 7:00 a. m.

Robinson said the proposed route from Spokane would take trucks through Rosalia, Oakesdale, Garfield, Palouse, Pullman, Moscow, Troy, Kendrick, Juliaetta and to Lewiston.

The trains that will be discontinued now approximate the same schedule, one leaving Spokane at 9:45 p. m. daily; the other leaving Lewiston at 8:30 a. m. each day.

But as far as freight and passenger service to the communities of Juliaetta, Kendrick and Troy, truck and bus line officials in the Lewiston area showed little interest in extending operations to replace the trains.

Residents of Juliaetta and Kendrick receive no public passenger service other than the trains. Two remain on NP schedules, 311 and 314, however, providing one round trip daily.

Trucking officials said it was doubtful that any revisions of schedules or extensions of cargo service would be made since three truck lines already serve the communities. They doubted that enough freight was available to make extra service pay.

As to passenger service, James Ward, Lewiston manager of Greyhound lines, said he had not received word that his company would extend its routes to cover Juliaetta, Kendrick and Troy.

"It's doubtful that enough passengers would ride to pay expenses," Ward said.

Edward Gaffney, Orofino, operator of the Gaffney bus line operating between Lewiston, Orofino and Headquarters, said he was not interested in the route.

Virgil Boyd, Grangeville, operator of the Clearwater Stage line, running between Lewiston and Grangeville by way of Spalding, Winchester, Craigmont, Kamiah and Koozika, said he would not extend his line and doubted that a Moscow-Troy-Juliaetta-Lewiston route would pay.

Lester Evon, Elk River, operates a stage line from Moscow to Elk River that serves Troy, Deary and Bovill, but officials at Lewiston said an extension of his line appeared impractical. — Lewiston Tribune, Oct. 20.

Note: We don't quite understand Lewiston's sudden worrying about our freight and passenger service. The train to be removed has never carried freight (being a passenger train) and this territory is amply served by the NP and the Kendrick Auto Freight on that score. Passenger service, however, will be missed.

On the mail score, the truck's leaving Spokane at 10:15 p. m. and arriving in Lewiston at 3:15 a. m. will suit this area nicely — but why turn it around and rush right back to Spokane without awaiting the morning papers and night's accumulation of mail, or giving business men in this area a chance to mail early morning letters to Spokane, Seattle, etc.? Why not approximate the train schedule on the return trip? Surely Lewiston would be as well pleased and it would be of far greater benefit to towns along the line.

For another suggestion — Why not have the truck follow the state highway to Deary from Troy, then on to Kendrick? That way a plowed-out year-round route would be assured and Deary would benefit, as well as possibly, Lewiston.

The thing that "gets under the hide" of local residents is the sudden apparent lack of co-operation between the Lewiston Chamber of Commerce with similar organizations in other towns. Not only did they fail to protest or help in any way to fight the train removal — but now seem to want to regulate local freight and passenger service, but care nothing about mail to the surrounding northern route. So far as we know, no invitation has ever been received from the Lewiston Chamber for representatives from Kendrick, Troy, Moscow or other towns to meet and discuss the situation. Perhaps they feel that they are now so big "others don't matter."

Watch Your Hunting Dates

Some confusion seems to exist regarding hunting dates for Chinese and Hungarian pheasants in this area, so we repeat them, according to the game "map." Saturday, Oct. 28 (opens 12:00 noon), Oct. 29, Nov. 1, 5, 8, 11, 12, 15, 19, 22 and 23. Bag and possession limit, 2 cocks.

For Hungarian pheasants the same hours and dates apply, but bag and possession limit is 5.

Be sure you do not shoot before 12:00 noon, Saturday.

However, locally, birds are so scarce as to be almost non-existent, so opening day, hour, dates, etc., mean almost nothing.

Sales Day Real Success

Kendrick's Annual Sales Day was a very pleasant one from every point of view. The weather was excellent; there was a "full house" beginning with the 9:30 a. m. picture show, and continuing on through the free auction and the football game. The dance in the evening, however, was not too well attended, it being one of the smallest crowds ever to attend a Sales Day event.

Almost without exception Kendrick's business institutions offered Sales Day Specials of some sort, and all reported a very good business — stating that customers took advantage of the Specials in volume.

The 4-H Club displays were excellent, showing all the training the members of this organization are receiving, and leaving no doubt in anyone's mind but that they were doing excellent work — those who missed these displays, missed seeing something really worthwhile.

There were also booths and concessions of numerous varieties, ranging from cooked food sales to games, operated by various institutions, including the Boy and Girl Scouts, Grangers, etc.

Items at the auction, which lasted until 2:00 p. m., brought from "fair to good" prices, although there were no large items (tractors, horses, etc.). As usual, some removed goods without paying, and a little time will be required to obtain a settlement from these parties.

All-in-all, it may be described as "a most satisfactory day."

Grange Booster Night

On Tuesday evening, October 31, in the Grange Hall, at 8:00 o'clock, the Kendrick Grangers are holding their annual "Booster" night — which is an open meeting. Grangers are urged to attend and to bring their friends.

Gnats By The Billions

Wednesday morning, as Kendrick folk began going about their business and around their homes, they were greeted with "billions" of tiny blue-winged gnats — the air along the streets literally dancing with the tiny pest. For pests they really were, lighting on clothing, faces, and anything exposed.

We have an annual visitation or two from the tiny insects but never can we remember seeing them so late in the year.

Watch Employment Practice
Washington, D. C. (EPA) — For a farmer whose products go into interstate commerce either directly or indirectly to hire children under sixteen during school hours is now a violation of Federal law. The law, however, does not affect children working on their parents' farm, or farm work done by children of any age during a holiday, vacation, or on school days before school.

Crusade For Freedom Scrolls
While thousands of Idaho citizens this week signed their names on scrolls of liberty the nation heard a message from Germany advocating a determined fight against "the forces that press the world into slavery and dictatorship, and the most unscrupulous propaganda machine the world has ever devised." Idaho headquarters of the Crusade for Freedom, a national roll call of men and women making a contribution to the freedom of the world, said John McCloy, United States high commissioner for Germany, had sounded a plea for "the determined adherence of the people of the United States to the concept of a free life." In a letter to Lucious D. Clay, leader of the famous Berlin airlift and now national chairman of the Crusade for Freedom, McCloy said:

"All about us we can see the people of Europe hating communism and its brutalities and distortions. Yet many hesitate to speak for freedom because of the physical fear with which they are faced. If the concept of a free life could be imparted through the Crusade to the people of Europe a sense of determination and hope will be stimulated and those who seek peace and freedom will again prevail." Encouraging reports of eager response have come from many Idaho communities, Theo. H. Wegener, the state chairman, reported. Hundreds of signed scrolls have been completed. Many more will be signed before the Crusade ends in time for Idaho's packet of names and cash to be included in the contribution that will launch a democratic information program in countries under the shadow of the iron curtain Oct. 24. On that day a freedom bell will ring in Berlin. Funds collected by the crusade will finance a sustained program of radio broadcasts and other information for populations subjected to the propaganda of Communism.

HOME TOWN, U.S.A.

America's greatness stems from her communities! . . . Your own home town is just as important a segment of the United States as any part of the nation! . . . You know that, of course—but have you ever stopped to consider why your community is such a good place in which to live?

There are many reasons—reasons you're hardly conscious of because they've become such an integral part of your daily life . . . Your home town is made up mostly of people such as you —folks who love the community, who are just as much interested as you are in making it a better place in which to reside, and make a comfortable livelihood. Your hometown hardwareman is such a person.

Truly, when we come down to it, the local hardware retailer is a pretty important asset to your way of life. And he, too, is a part of the community—a man whose business helps pay taxes, provide better schools, improve roads. He deserves your business—not alone for the better values he offers, but because his shoulder, as well as yours, is to the wheel—the wheel that makes your community everything that it is!

Fairs Seem To Be Fairs
Blackfoot, Ida. — Down at the roots, Turkish farmers and Idaho farmers have a lot in common. The similarity comes to the front at that ancient activity — the fair. Necati Kaskaloglu, a Marshall plan trainee from Turkey, was a beaming visitor at the Eastern Idaho State Fair at Blackfoot last week. He took in the fair, as part of his indoctrination in American agriculture under auspices of the University of Idaho extension service.

"Very much like home," Kaskaloglu said as he looked at the buildings bulging with produce, the exhibits of 4-H clubs and the seething swarm of humanity on the midway riding Ferris wheels and buying balloons in an atmosphere heavy with the odor of hotdogs and onions. "We have fairs in Turkey. Lots of fairs. Many little fairs. Sometimes a big one. This is not a fair. It is an exposition. A very big and very fine show where people learn much. The community fairs are more for fun. The farmers come here and meet each other and everybody says hello and wins prizes for raising things and has a good time.

We have luna park. You have midway. All the same. All very good."
