PERSONALS AND NEWS ABOUT KENDRICK FRIENDS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ruddel of Myrtle were in town Monday visiting her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Blewett, and her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ben P. Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ruddel and children of Myrtle; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Ruddel and baby of Lewiston and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Pabst of Gifford were here for the Culesac game Friday evening, and were guests at the Ben P. Cook home following the game.

John Deobald, U. of I. student, was home over the week-end.

Word has been received by Mrs. Frank Abrams that her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Havens, have moved to Tenino, Wn., as the bank Mr. Havens was associated with at Oakville, Wash., was moved to that city.

Joyce Armitage and Kay Abrams took part in the piano recital Sunday, given by the pupils of Mrs. Vivian Bennett of Gussik Studios, in Lewiston.

Miss Virginia Hartung, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August W. Hartung, of Richmond, Calif., arrived here Sunday morning for a visit in the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter McCall and family. Walter McCall has received word that his uncle, Will Hechtner of Lapwai, was seriously ill, and in a hospital.

Little Johnny Lind returned Saturday to his home in Moscow, after having spent a week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lind.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schupfer were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Norris Walker in Clarkston.

Word has been received that Mr. and Mrs. Phil Johns, former Juliaetta residents, but who for the past several years have made their home in California and Arizona, have now moved to Clarkston, Wash., where they expect to reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith have received word from their son, Clinton, who enlisted in the U. S. navy, that he is now in "boot camp" at San Diego, Calif. — and finds navy life "not too bad."

Among the students home over the week-end were Marilyn Schupfer and Amelia Steigers.

Raymond Hudson left Sunday for the Veterans' hospital at Boise to undergo a physical examination. Unless the unexpected happens, he is expected home this week-end.

Bill Johnson, who is working at Walla Walla, was home over the week-end.

Mrs. L. A. Wallace received a call from her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Thiesen, who are at the Dalles, Oregon, on their way home from California, saying they would arrive here this week.

Several from here, including the K. H. S. basketball team, attended the Lapwai-Genesee basketball game at Lapwai Tuesday evening — and found "plenty of action" both during and after the game

Grange Met Tuesday Eve

The Kendrick Grange met in regular session Tuesday evening. At the business session a resolution was drawn and voted sent to our legislators urging the retention of N. I. C. E. and our elementary school system and finances as they are at present.

Plans were discussed for a March of Dimes dance and the date set for Sat., Feb. 10.

At the close of the business session cards were played, with Mrs. Frankie Benscoter and Clarence Weaver receiving high: Mrs. Wm. Johnson and Manning Onstott, low; and Ed. Kent the "Gallop and Goose."

The evening closed with refreshments being served in the banquet room.

The next meeting will be on Feb. 6 — and for entertainment there will be square dance instruction and dancing.

Dollars "Dot" Drive

Returned through the mail, to Mrs. Howard Hoffman, March of Dimes chairman for the present campaign, for Kendrick, was a total of $20.50, or nearly $3.00 per family reporting. To date the largest contribution has been $10.00.

The March of Dimes organization is very grateful for such prompt and whole-hearted participation, and hope that the first day's returns are just "a sample."

The need is great — and the reward is great.

It is suggested that you teach your children how to give, by giving through them to the school program of the "March of Dimes."

Injured In Freak Accident

Leonard Wolff suffered a severe cut on his right arm Monday, while milking, in a freak accident.

A cow crowded him against a window in the barn, and the pressure shattered the glass, driving a long, dagger-like sliver clear through his arm just above the elbow, despite a heavy leather jacket which he was wearing.

Mr. Wolff pulled the glass out, and was then driven to town, where Dr. Christensen used three stitches to close the wound.

Is Polio Drive Chairman

Envelopes made their appearance in the mail Tuesday asking contributions for the polio drive — and it is sincerely to be hoped that everyone will be generous in their giving. Mrs. Ruth Hoffman is the local March of Dimes chairman.

Smoke Control Ordinances Being Adopted by Cities

Cities are broadening and tightening up smoke control programs in an all-out effort to lift low-hanging smog clouds, the American municipal association reports.

More than 200 municipalities in the U.S. have adopted smoke control ordinances. In general, these ordinances prohibit emission of dense smoke of more than a few minutes duration. Notable exceptions are St. Louis and Pittsburgh, where anti-air pollution laws prohibit the use of smoke-producing fuels or require the use of a type of burner that will consume high volatile coals without producing smoke.

A new set of rules drafted to enforce New York city's smoke abatement ordinance extends controls to cover smoke emission, kind of fuels sold and installation of new heating equipment. This is the third attempt by the city's board of smoke control to draw up effective regulations.

Under the revised regulations, greater control will be exercised over fuel to regulate the sulphur content of smoke, reducing its damaging power. The New York board proposes to determine the volatile content of all fuel used in the city and see that it does not contain more than two per cent of sulphur by weight.

Possible damage from air pollution is forcibly pointed up by the experience of Donora, Pa. In addition to the 20 deaths that resulted from the smog of 1948, the real market value of Donora property dropped more than nine per cent in 1949. At the end of 1948—the smog occurred in October 1948—the total actual value of real estate in the city was $34 million. A year later the market values of total property had dropped to $30.8 million although property throughout the state, generally, showed an increased market value.

Grain Belt States Reduce U. S. Farm Mortgage Debt

A handful of states, mostly in the grain belt, are primarily responsible for the fact that total U.S. farm mortgage debt currently is over a billion dollars lower than it was a decade ago, according to figures compiled by the U.S. department of agriculture.

As a matter of fact, according to these figures, 25 of the 48 states had a greater farm mortgage debt outstanding at the beginning of this year than a decade before. Some of the increases were substantial, with Florida's mortgage debt up 66 per cent in the period and New Mexico's up more than 100 per cent.

In the aggregate, the farm mortgage debt outstanding in these 25 states on January 1 this year added up to $2.1 billions, or 39 per cent of the total U.S. farm mortgage debt at that time, as against $1.8 billions, or only 28 per cent of the national total, at the start of 1940. The gain for these states combined for the 10-year period was thus close to $300 millions, or 15 per cent.

For Flock Replacements

Purchase of "started" chicks or adult males for breeding flocks is discouraged by veterinarians on the grounds that older birds are more likely to introduce disease than carefully purchased day-old chicks. The recommended procedure is to buy day-old chicks from a reliable hatchery that is known to be free of pullorum disease and other infections. The farmer can then raise his own males for the breeding flock instead of gambling on a questionable source. Use of day-old chicks also is recommended for replacing the laying flock.

Develop Immunity to DDT

War-developed DDT, hailed in the press a few years ago as the answer to all problems stemming from noxious insects, is losing its effectiveness against some important pests, the wildlife management institute reports. Strains of houseflies and mosquitoes which are resistant to the insecticide have been reported from many parts of the world. After control operations cease, swamps or marshes sprayed appear devoid of mosquitoes. Freed of competition from less fortunate members of their tribe, however, a few immune survivors present breed and multiply until, in many places, they predominate. Ten times the amount of DDT needed to curl the toes of an ordinary Aedes falls even to stagger these hardy super-skeeters.

Home Medicine Cabinets

When ghosts of the family's bygone aches and pains haunt the medicine cabinet, "it's time for action." Check of most home medicine cabinets will reveal a stock of old pills, prescriptions and remedies that often the family had forgotten what they were supposed to cure, she explains. Medicine should never be saved for future use except on specific advice from a physician, she adds, and then should be clearly labeled as to what it is, how much to take and when. Getting these old medicines out of the house, is only one of many things that the homemaker can do to make a home a safer and more pleasant place in which to live and work.

Scientist Creates 'Fog' With Aid of Ping Pong Ball

A Cornell psychologist has succeeded in creating a fog with a ping-pong ball.

Conducted for the U.S. air force, the experiment is designed to test a theory of depth perception new to psychology.

Many psychologists believe that man's ability to see a three-dimensional world is due to a process which is the brain's duty, rather than the eye's. Dr. James J. Gibson, professor of psychology at Cornell, holds another theory—that this kind of perception can be explained in terms of images on the retina of the eye.

Dr. Gibson maintains that texture is the most important property of a surface. In fact, he is trying to find out whether a surface without texture can be seen at all.

The ping-pong ball "fog", conceived at Cornell by Dr. Julian E. Hochberg and an assistant, Gideon Seaman, is being used to create a world without any surfaces.

Dr. Gibson has constructed a pair of goggles from the two halves of a ping pong ball. When a subject, wearing the goggles, is placed in a specially-lighted perception room, he can see brightness or darkness but he can't see any surfaces, because the celluloid is so close to his eyes that he can't make out its texture. Because of the absence of texture, he has the sensation of being enveloped in a fog. By this means the Cornell scientist can study what we see when we can't make out the surfaces.

Cooperative, Democratic Teachers Most Admired

The nation's school children have their own ideas of what it takes to make an effective teacher. And the youngsters' ratings of their teachers are apt to be much different from the ratings of school supervisors and superintendents.

This is the opinion of Dr. Paul A. Witty, Northwestern university professor of education, who analyzed approximately 90,000 letters from American school-age youngsters. The letters on the subject, "The Teacher Who Helped Me Most," were written to the Quiz Kids radio program.

Prof. Witty found that the teachers most admired by the first to twelfth grade pupils were those with a "cooperative, democratic attitude."

In one of the letters describing her favorite teacher, one school child said: "Our class is just like one big happy family; I am not afraid of school any more." Another youngster wrote: "She made me feel good and comfortable at school—just like you were home in your living room."

Other teachers who ranked high with their students, according to Prof. Witty, were those who had such qualities as "kindness and consideration for the individual," "patience," "wide interests," "pleasing personal appearance and manner," "fairness and impartiality," "sense of humor," and "good disposition and consistent behavior."

In Grandma's Day

When grandma kept house some half century ago she and the maid worked hard from the time the sun came up in the east until it set in the distant west. In those gay 90's there was an old saying that a housewife's work was never done. That epitomized the fact that in those days housework was something of real drudgery. There were no labor saving devices which the housewife and maid enjoy today. These modern conveniences are the electrical harnessed servants that do the work in minutes that in the long ago required hours.

Venezuelan Ore Development

The U. S. ambassador to Venezuela, said at a recent press conference in Caracas that "there was prosperity and peace in Venezuela." He added that the country was progressing, supported by the petroleum industry and by the recent development of the iron ore fields. It is estimated that Bethlehem and U. S. Steel corporations have invested one hundred fifty million dollars in the development of this industry.

Boost Steel Output

Five western steel producing states made 5.3 per cent of the nation's raw steel in 1948 compared with 2.5 per cent ten years earlier. The tonnage output of these states west of Missouri increased nearly fivefold during the same period. Steelmaking furnaces in California produced 2,013,800 tons in 1948, exceeding the record of the previous year by 12.3 per cent. Colorado, Utah, Washington and Oregon combined to exceed their 1947 peak output by nearly 5 per cent.

U.K. Hydroelectric Plant

Lock Sloy—a mountain lake 800 feet above sea level and about two miles northwest of Loch Lomond—is the site of the largest hydroelectric development in the United Kingdom. It is the first of 29 such Highland projects to be completed. After centuries of oil lamps, coal and peat heat, Highland homes are now beginning to enjoy the luxury of electricity.

Recover Indian Artifacts From English Trade Post

A considerable variety of European and Indian artifacts recovered from excavation of perhaps the second oldest English trading post in the New World has been added to the collections of the Smithsonian Institution. They were presented by Alvin W. Brittingham, of Hampton, Va., who, together with his brother, conducted the excavation of Kicotan on the shore of Hampton Roads. Here, according to an old local tradition, a trading post had been established by the Jamestown colonists. The land has been under cultivation for many years, and many artifacts have been found during plowing.

The articles range from Indian tomahawks and pipes to pottery utensils, a sword hilt, and spurs. The quantities and type of artifacts found indicate that this was the traditional site of a settlement established for trading with the Indians. There is no historical record of the Kicotan trading post, although the materials recovered establish that it was contemporary with Jamestown and that colonists and Indians probably lived there together.

The site was occupied by the Keoughtan Indians, who were distinguished for their friendship with the colonists. Capt. John Smith paid them several visits. They were a people with whom it was easy to open trade relations. The post must have been established sometime before 1610. At that time all Indians were driven from the neighborhood by the English governor, Sir Thomas Gates, and their lands occupied by the colonists.

The site covers approximately 100 acres. Over the past century it has yielded literally bushels of artifacts, of both English and Indian origin. The collection is of great value, per se, because of the light it throws on the early industries of the first English colonists.

Dutch Elm Disease Beetles Becoming Resistant to DDT

Indications that Scolytus bark beetles—carriers of Dutch elm disease—are becoming resistant to DDT, just as the house-fly and certain mosquitoes have built up similar immunity, have been reported.

A new strain of these beetles seems to be developing that is proving resistant both to DDT and similar chlorinated compounds.

Tests show that more and more larvae of Scolytus beetles are wintering over in elm bark that has been systematically barraged by potent insecticides.

In the DDT test, bark from elms was used which had been killed by a combination of Dutch-elm disease and Scolytus bark beetle attack. These trees had been sprayed twice the two preceding seasons, 1948-49, with DDT—the first with a high potent 12 1/2 per cent spray, the second with a 5 per cent application. Both sprays were mist-blown.

With the bark as breeding material in an insectary, as many as 644 beetles were reared per cubic foot of bark last spring.

Similarly, there were reported "excellent" results in controlling Scolytus beetles with methoxychlor in 1949. Yet when bark with the same degree of infestation was used this year, the results were not as satisfactory.

More beetles survived. Those that were killed required a greater length of time to succumb.

Fossil Finds in U.S.

No human fossils or skeletal remains have been found in the new "world" of any human group other than homo sapiens. This is the scientific name for modern man, and includes all races now living. There is some evidence that early hunters were present in what is now the southeastern U.S. and the Great Plains, some 15,000 to 20,000 years ago, before the end of the fourth glacial period. No remains of their bodies have been found, but they left tools which, in the way they were made, resemble some of those found in Europe from the later part of the Old Stone Age.

Happened in Egypt

Egyptians appear to be slow in learning that it makes a lot of difference whether an animal gets in medicine through the nose or down the throat. The British veterinary journal reports that a donkey "paid through the nose" for its owner's mismanagement in giving a drench for colic. Like many Egyptians do, the owner poured the medicine through the donkey's nostrils, causing mechanical pneumonia. The frantic owner put in an emergency call to his veterinarian just as the animal was taking its last gasp.

Jefferson as Inventor

Thomas Jefferson rates an honored place in the gallery of "Inventions That Serve You." His greatness as a statesman overshadowed his distinction as an inventor. Invention of the swivel chair was one of his earliest achievements. His carriage "mileage computer" antedates the modern speedometer. A score of gadget inventions, including a combination table and chaise lounge, may be seen in his Monticello home today.

Poultrymen Cautioned on Using Medicated Water

Poultry producers have been warned to keep a close check on the water intake of chickens and turkeys receiving medicated drinking water.

Certain types of medication, such as sulfonamide drugs, give the water a bitter taste and the birds may not drink enough to maintain normal health and egg production.

Veterinary medical authorities report that turkey poulters have a strong dislike for some of the medications used in feed and drinking water to curb the spread of infectious diseases. There have been instances where poulters refused to drink sulfonamide-treated water and died of dehydration.

The veterinarians also caution that flocks on range will pass up medicated water if there is a stagnant pool or stream they can drink from instead. In such instances, the purpose of the water treatment is defeated and diseases may get a golden opportunity to strike.

Medicated drinking water sometimes serves a useful purpose in keeping down the spread of infections, but it is not a substitute for good sanitation and efficient flock management.

Veterinarians prescribe water medication only when it does not reduce the birds' water intake to a dangerous level and when it does not produce toxic effects. The flock should be watched closely and at the first sign of harmful effects, use of the drug should be discontinued.

Severe Pneumonia Cases Cured With Terramycin

Of 25 patients with severe cases of pneumonia, 100 per cent were cured when treated with terramycin, according to reports by a group of four doctors at the Columbia-Presbyterian hospital in New York.

Authors of the report were Doctors George W. Melcher, Jr., Count D. Gibson, Jr., Harry M. Rose, and Yale Kneeland. Eighteen of the cases were bacterial lobar pneumonia, and seven were virus (primary atypical) pneumonia. The results indicated, according to the doctors, that "terramycin is remarkably effective in the treatment of both types of infection."

There were no complications, and all patients made a rapid and complete recovery. Among the patients with lobar pneumonia, with the exception of one subject, the doctors said there was "a dramatic fall in the temperature within 24 to 36 hours after the first dose of terramycin was given." Temperatures of the virus-pneumonia patients fell within 36 hours after the first dose of terramycin.

The doctors found no serious toxic effects attributable to the terramycin therapy, and in only 9 of the 25 cases did any symptoms of gastrointestinal irritation occur. "These resembled the symptoms seen after the administration of aureomycin," the doctors reported, "but seemed less severe." In all cases, terramycin was administered by mouth.

Children's Hearing Defects

Early symptoms of hearing trouble can be detected only by pure tone audiometric testing. Home-made tests using watches, soft whippers and tuning forks, are unreliable and merely weed out the most obvious cases. Because of the extreme sensitivity of the ear, a considerable impairment can exist without being apparent. Thus, many children with hearing defects are unaware of their subnormal hearing.

Pioneer in Bessemer

Alexander L. Holley, one of the leaders in developing the bessemer steelmaking process in the United States, was also a steel plant and rolling mill designer. He purchased the English patents of the bessemer process in 1863, and subsequently combined them with the Kelly patents in this country. Important among Holley's inventions were the "intermediate ladle" which allowed the weighing of each charge of iron to the converter, and the movable furnace bottom for ease in repair.

Ancient Scrolls Displayed

Three ancient Hebrew scrolls found in a cave south of Jericho in 1947 and since acclaimed by experts as the greatest single manuscript discovery of modern times, and the most important find ever made in the Holy Land, have been placed on public display in the Library of Congress. This is the first time that these much publicized documents have ever been shown to the general public anywhere in the world. Believed to be over 2,000 years old, the three Hebrew scrolls include, among others of the sacred writings, a copy of the complete text of the Book of Isaiah in the original.

Growth of Children

Do boys grow faster than girls? A child's greatest growth in any one year is from birth to the age of one. However, during the adolescent period, usually from nine to thirteen in girls and from 11 to 15 in boys, they again make great gains both in height and weight. Then the rate of growth slows down until adult size is reached, at about 16 for the average girl and 17 for the average boy.

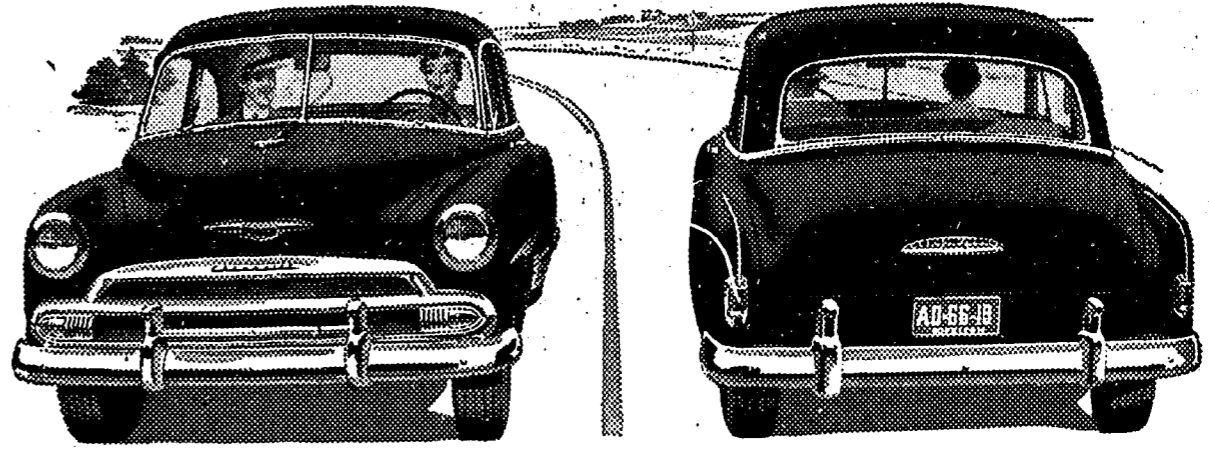

Eggs with thin shells are more common in winter. A prevalent cause, says the U. of I., is shortage of Vitamin D, which can be supplied by cod liver oil in the mash.

Always "REDDY TO SERVE!"

Come war or peace, Reddy Kilowatt and the more than a thousand men and women of Washington Water Power can be counted on to do their part wholeheartedly, as your loyal fellow citizens and efficient electrical servants!

Washington Water Power's Reddy Kilowatt is ALWAYS "REDDY TO SERVE!"

- 1 Washington Water Power delivers electric light and power to the great majority of the large and small industries of the area; welcomes the opportunity to serve new industries; cooperates in area efforts to promote expansion of industrial activity.
- 2 Washington Water Power's Farm Development Department has expanded continuously to meet the need of farmers for in-the-field aid and advice on use of electricity in farming.
- 3 The Washington Water Power Company and its more than a thousand employees cooperate in community betterment and youth development projects continuously, wholeheartedly.
- 4 Washington Water Power's Home Service workers are well-known and welcome figures at home economics demonstrations and women's club meetings, and as friendly, helpful visitors at homes where housewives wish advice about electricity.
- 5 Washington Water Power is a charter member of the Northwest Power Pool, which was responsible for much effective war industry work of the Pacific Northwest during World War II. Since the end of that conflict, W. W. P. and other private electric companies have added over 300,000 kilowatts of generating capacity in the area.

to spend as he wishes
2. Permit him to choose his companions without restraint or guidance
3. Give him a latch key and permit him to return as late as he wishes
4. Make no inquiry as to with whom or where he spends his leisure time.
5. Allow him to think good manners are a substitute for morals.
6. Teach him to expect pay for all help at home and service to other.
7. Let him spend Sunday hours on the street or with companions of low ideals.
8. Do not trouble to interest him in the Bible or to win him to Christ.
9. Let him see that you think church attendance is unimportant.
10. Never let him hear you pray, especially for his salvation.
How to bring up a son or daughter:
1. Make home the brightest and most attractive spot you can.
2. Make him or her responsible for helping in some daily duties.
3. Never punish him in anger to relieve your feelings, but only in love for disobedience.
4. Do not ridicule his ideals, but talk frankly on matters in which he is interested.
5. Encourage him to bring friends home and to your table.
6. Impress upon his mind that service and honesty are more important than making money.
7. Live Christ-like before him that you will be able to talk Christ to him.
8. Set an example of faithful church attendance.
9. Let him see your enjoyment and profit from Bible study and prayer.
10. Be much in prayer for his spiritual growth and salvation.

nation and the future world will depend on what we do for our children now!"

The group then adjourned to the Hot Lunch room, where refreshments were served by the Kendrick ladies.

Severely Injures Finger
Mrs. Ernest Steigers, Juliaetta, had an unusual accident Monday, when she caught the index finger of her right hand in the beaters of her electric mixer.

So entangled was the finger in the "machinery" that the beater had to be cut apart to disengage the member. The finger was severely injured and several stitches were required to close the wounds.

Potlatch Chief Sez

Published by the Kendrick Creamery

HELLO THERE, FOLKS:
Well, it's been a wonderful winter to date, and we can all hope it continues so, for mild temperatures mean higher milk, cream and egg production, and greater income for you — not to mention the savings possible on the fuel bill.

"My good man, don't you realize you'll never get anywhere by drinking?" asked the kindly minister.
"Ain't it the truth," replied the drunk. "I've started home five times a'weedy."

Milk is a "health food" in every sense of the word, and during the winter months when sunshine is lacking, every child should drink at least a quart a day, and every adult a pint. — Remember — "Potlatch Chief" Brand is pure and safe — it's pasteurized!

The prim little old lady was obviously embarrassed by the presence of a man beside her at the drugstore counter. Finally a smile crossed her face. She looked the clerk in the eye and said perkily: "Two packages of bathroom stationery, please."

Remember: Ice cream is the year-round dessert — and also makes a fine "snack" between meals. Be sure you have some in your refrigerator all the time — and that it's "Potlatch Chief" brand — made for quality and flavor

A lady drove her car up in front of a garage. A mechanic came out:

Lady: "Can you fix up that fender so that my husband won't know it's been dented?"

Mechanic: "No-o-o-o, but I can fix it up so that in a few days you can ask him how he bent it."

And don't forget — we want to buy your cream!
