Wildcats Trim Tigers 2-1 Last Monday afternoon on the Lapwai baseball field the favored Lapwai Wildcats edged past the local Kendrick Tigers in a thrilling base- well satisfied with their present ball game, 2 to 1. The game saw representation — but even so there Kendrick in the lead by one point must be at least one slate filed in in the first half of the sixth iming, but the Wildcats scored in the second on the ballot. ond half on two runs, both of which were touched off by errors. The game A. Wallace, mayor; Burton Souders had been scoreless until the sixtn and Elmo Eldridge. Lapwai maintained their lead through The three offices the seventh inning — proving long enough, as the contest went only seven innings.

Kendrick was first "behind the bat" with Lapwai's Isaac doing the pitching for the Wildcats. Isaac allowed two hits in the game, these going to Ronald Craig with a single and to Max Clemenhagen, who con-nected for a "double." Kendrick's Stan Smith pitched exceptional basegame of the season. Stan allowed only ten men on base and of these two managed to trot over the home up for that by striking out seven.

Kendrick's only run came when Don Fairfield flashed across the home base — just seconds after death.

Max Clemenhagen swung on a fast Surv and Eddie Madson were the scorers Jones at Merlin, Oregon. for the Wildcats, both players making it on base after errors committed by Kendrick.

CANCER DRIVE EFFORTS GOING INTO HIGH GEAR

Boise (Special) - The 1951 Cancer Crusade in Idaho moved into high gear today as it enters the second week of a month-long effort by more than 3,500 volunteer workers to project the message of cancer control into thousands of Gem state homes.

The volunteers are endeavoring also to better their record of 1950, when they raised more than $91,000 to finance the cancer education and training program in Idaho and to contribute toward the coordinated national research and related pro-

"The preliminary phases of the crusade are just about completed," stray or truant cat, without benefit said Mrs. Grant Hess, Idaho state of ropes, pickaxe, or human aid, commander for the American Canthe week-end at their home here, returning to Pendleton, Oregon, where he is employed, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude King called at the Clay King home Sunday afteration.

total received in 1950. "We cannot afford to weaken the counter-attack undertaken against cancer — an offensive which consists of scientific research and the dissemination of life-saving facts about cancer.

Mrs. Hess said that this year, as in 1950, 60 percent of the amount received during the crusade will remain in Idaho. The rest of the funds will go toward financing the national programs, whose benefits will return to Idaho, she added.

Leo J. Falk, Boise, state president of the society, said that great strides were made in the past year. He said that 359,574 pieces of educational literature were distributed. This included elementary school material to 43,416 students and 1499 teachers. It also conducted four regional training schools for 400 key workers. Falk said that forceful messages on cancer were pounded home to 24,-329 persons who attended 432 meetings, at which 499 cancer films were shown. These meetings also heard 221 medical talks and 380 other talks by trained workers. Falk said that despite its financial imitations, the Idaho division has provided service to cancer patients in a direct way. Since 1947, it has received 652 requests for special help. Direct financial help was given in many cases, Falk said, including transportation for 95 patients, testoserone for 21 patients dressings and equipment for 31 patients, visiting nurse help for 21 patients and maintenance aid for 136 patients. Others, Falk added, were given guidance that enabled them to get treatment through established chan-want to plant this spring for fences, game food and refuge, or for erosion control. We have been short of them for the past several years since the big demand started, but the number now on hand ought to furnish brambles aplenty for all uses."

Pitkins opinion of the rose fence, as he states it, is to the effect that it is not "all roses."

"We're still going to need a lot of wire fences even when all the farm folk have all the multiflora that they want," he says. "We're not sure yet about the growth in the growt on the roses or what some of our disastrous losses than those which Idaho winters will do to them. actually occurred. There's a place for them, but their use is limited."

There are well defined uses for the roses. Some farmers use them for the beauty of the hedge row and make them an attractive part of the landscape plan. Others plant them where the hedge can be mowed or where livestock will keep the bush from becoming too large. Many of the hedges appear where a loss of 12 feet of land to the brambles will make no difference.

Pitkin and his fellow foresters say spring is the best time of year to plant the roses. Orders are already coming in for spring delivery on the shrubs as well as on a near half-million trees to be delivered to farmers shortly after the first of April

Ladino Clover Requires Care U. of I., Moscow - Idaho farmers are finding that Ladino clover is doing a good job at improving pastures, but they are also finding that it takes top-notch management to keep it coming along year after year. "It's ability to make rapid recovery after each grazing period makes it a favorite with many livestock men looking for a good, cheap feed," says K. H. Klages. "Because of Ladino's larger size it outyields white clover, thereby helping caetlemen save on costly feed bills."

Although white clover is a smaller

Although white clover is a smaller, lower yielding plant, it will stand more abuse than its larger cousin, Ladino. Klages points out that close, continuous grazing will kill out these giant white clover plants. White clover will produce some seed even with intensive close grazing. This helps the clover to reestablish itself and accounts in part for its ability to hang on year after year. Ladino is not as good a seed producer and practically no seed is produced under close, continuous graz-

Rotation grazing is necessary in order for Ladino clover to survive.

It Might Happen

One night we had a young newly-wed couple over to play bridge. During the evening the girl overbid every hand so that they went down considerably each time. Finally the long-suffering groom said: "Honey, don't you think you're overbidding

The young bride shook her head confidently. "Be patient, dear, I'm sure to get a hand to match my bidding soon." — Reader's Digest.

Matterhorn Hard to Climb, Though Cat Has Climbed It

A cat raises a question: Is Europe's mighty Matterhorn, majestically aloof among lofty Alpine massifs on the Swiss-Italian border, so mighty after all?

Hundreds of men have scaled it, the National Geographic Society notes. They include a blind man, and a cardinal who later became pope (Pius X). Scores of women, too, have won its summit. All got there the hard way. But now comes the report in the closing days of the 1950 climbing season, that a stray or truant cat, without benefit skittered to the top in the van of a party of veteran climbers. Has the Matterhorn lost stature?

The bleak rock pyramid, famous as it is, is a mere 285 feet higher than California's 14,495-foot Mt. Whitney. Most any seventh grader knows that Whitney, tallest in our 48 states, isn't really very high — not half as high as Asia's Mt. Everest, for example.

But there is the other side of the argument, notes the society, and it is the winning side. The Matterhorn is and ever will be mighty, measured by man's ability to climb. The peak's human conquerors invariably have been seasoned alpinists who have conditioned themselves for months or years on strenuous climbs. Almost as invariably, they have engaged one of the expert licensed guides who live in Zermatt or Breuil near the Matterhorn's base and who take several parties on the hazardous two-day ascent in the course of the short climbing season from mid-July to late August.

Cotton Pests Cut Yield 16.5 Per Cent in 1950

In dollars and cents insect damage to cotton in 1950 was the second highest in history, totalling $598,-565,000, according to a preliminary unofficial estimate released by the national cotton council. Loses this season have been exceeded only by the record high of $617,874,186 in

The council estimated that the boll weevil, bollworm, leafworm. pink bollworm and other pests reduced the total yield 16.5 per centmore than two and a half million bales of cotton and over four million tons of cottonseed.

Texas, the largest cotton producing state, led in the value of lint and seed destroyed, with losses amounting to $107,036,000. The toll in Mississippi was estimated at $101,239,000, and Alabama was hit to the tune of $74,031,000.

was slashed 27 per cent. An unusually mild winter which favored a high survival of weevils from 1949—one of history's worst insect years — plus unfavorable weather for poisoning during the season, both contributed to the heavy damage this year, the council explained. The council added that cotton farmers in 1950 used a record amount of insecticides and that this program of cotton insect control prevented even more

Speed of Electricity Does electricity have the same speed as light? The electrons, the charged particles which move in a wire carrying current, travel with an average progress of less than 1/20th of an inch per second. Some of these move in random directions as fast as 60 miles per second, but they make wild excursions in all directions, which balance out to a very slow net motion, vastly less than the speed of light. When an electric charge is started in motion, the kink impressed on the lines of the electric field which accompanies it does travel outward with the speed of light-186,000 miles per second. This phenomenon is electro-magnetic radiation, of which a narrow frequency band is

Body a Coordinated Community The body is a well organized community of cells with mutually beneficial functions. The alimentary tract receives and processes foods, the blood and lymph serve as a transportation system to cells where processes of energy transfer, tissue building and waste removal are carried out under local as well as central control. These controls are a part of the nervous and hormonal systems. The body is thus a coordinated community with a continued interchange of raw materials, synthesized products, and waste substances - interchanges which biologists call a dynamic equilibrium.

extreme care is taken with air circulation and humidity. Proper circulation and relative humidity are important in the oven-drying. There must be a uniform circulation of moving heated air. A relative humidity of from 30 to 35 per cent is usually satisfactory in most force-drying operations. The moisture content of the wood itself is also an important element. He pointed out that the construction time-table for the W. W. P. The Cabinet Gorge project is also inique in several other ways. It will be the largest hydro-electric project in Idaho, and is the largest under construction or contemplated by private enterprise.

B.F.Goodrich TUBELESS TIRE SEALS PUNCTURES PROTECTS AGAINST BLOWOUTS

Certified by (M) Tests

PROVED IN USE FOR 5 YEARS BY THOUSANDS OF MOTORISTS

Early tests indicated it! Reports from thousands of users who bought these tires confirmed it! Now tests conducted by the American Automobile Association prove it! The B.F.Goodrich Tubeless Tire not only seals punctures, it protects against sudden blowouts, too!

How Do Blowouts Occur?

Blowouts start with a break in he tire's fabric. In a conventional tire, the inner tube stretches in an attempt to bridge tube is forced into the break, is pinched through, chafed through or stretched to the breaking point

Certificates of Performance issued by the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association certify to the ability of the BFG Tubeless Tire to seal punctures and protect

. . . resulting in a sudden explosive release of air.

Why Doesn't The Tubeless

Tire Blow Out? The Tubeless Tire has no inner tube to fail with sudden release of air. Its air-retaining inner layer of special rubber is part of the tire. When a fabric break occurs, the flexing action gradually causes a small break in the liner and a slow release of air.

How Does It Seal Punctures? Sealant rubber under tread grips puncturing object, plugs hole when object is pulled out.

How Does It Hold Air Without a Tube? Tubeless Tire possible. Rim-seal ridges make an air-tight sea against rim. A layer of special rubber prevents air loss through the tire. Tubeless Tires fit your present wheels.

What About Cost? This BFG tire actually costs less than a conventional tire and safety-type tube.

What About Supply? We may not have your size in stock at present. But if you place your order now we will get them for you as quickly as

Berkelium Radioactive

Berkelium is a new chemical element, whose discovery was announced early in 1950 at the University of California, located in the city of Berkely, after which the element is named. It is number 97 in the list of elements and its chemical symbol is Bk. It was produced in very minute amounts by bombarding another element called americaum, which was also discovered at the University of California a few years ago, with atomic particles from a cyclotron. Berkelium is highly radioactive and in less than five hours, half of a given amount will decay to another element.

Making Farming Safer

Although farm machinery and equipment actually account for a very small percentage of all farm accidents, inventors constantly supply manufacturers with new safety gadgets to protect the life of tractor and machinery operators. The National Safety council is constantly testing mechanisms designed to make farming a safer and more profitable occupation. The latest safety item for tractors is a device that automatically turns of the ignition of the tractor when it rolls or tips.

Origin of Alphabet

Whatever nation originated the alphabet, it is generally conceded that the Phoenicians prepared and launched it for world use. Those seagoing traders and craftsmen of the Mediterranean devised a simple, effective system of 22 letters. In the process, they apparently took a sele tion of picture characters of such everyday objects as an ox or camel; made crude letters of them, and gave them names. All consonants, this symplified, easyto-read and write alphabet was used mainly for accounting purposes in business dealings.

For each dollar spent for feed for hogs, the farmer's return in 1950 was $1.80, a drop of 23 cents from the 1949 return. The 1935-39 average return, however was even lower, only $1.50.

In beef production the average return as of September, 1950, was $2.35 for each dollar spent for feed. The 1935-39 average was $1.39 and the 1949 average $2.01.

Steps to Help Curb Swine Enteritis Are Outlined

The American Foundation for Animal Health outlines seven steps to help curb swine enteritis.

1. Isolate newly-purchased swine from the home herd for at least three weeks, until they are known to be free of disease.

2. Control internal and external parasites which weaken the animals' resistance.

3. Keep swine away from old hog lots, contaminated pastures, cow pastures, stagnant pools and other sources of infection. 4. Keep feeding and watering equipment clean. 5. Check rations carefully, especially possible deficiency of B-complex vitamins. Prevent over-eating of rich concentrates. 6. Earmark sows and their litters to identify and weed out sow "carriers". 7. Watch for scouring, loss of weight, and failure to feed into gains. At the first sign of trouble, get a diagnosis and isolate the ailing animals from apparently healthy ones.

Instead of tying a tether directly to the stake, fasten it to an old automobile tire casing and then drop in over the stake. The later, of course, should be much higher than ordinary so the animal will not pull the tire off the stake. This keeps cattle from winding the tether around the stake.
