That "Million Dollar Rain"

The first installment of our spring "million dollar rain" fell last week, three days of good, ground-soaking moisture, and it came just when it was needed to sprout bean seed, or give that necessary boost to beans already up, as well as to clover, and to spring grain, some of which was damaged by frost.

Tuesday of this week still more warm rain fell, and was welcomed by most, although some farmers were about ready to cut hay.

For many years rain has fallen when the locust trees bloom in Kendrick, and this year was no exception. The moisture has, however, stopped logging and timber work.

U. OF I. SCHOOL OF EDUCATION TO BE EXPANDED

Extensive reorganization of the school of education at the University of Idaho to provide a complete program for elementary teachers and supervisors of elementary education was announced this week by President J. E. Buchanan, following board of regents approval.

"The program has been geared to take care of the state's needs in elementary education — now and in the foreseeable future," said President Buchanan. "Both broad and specialized training are to be offered."

The university's new emphasis on elementary teacher training comes as a swift follow-up to the closing of the state's two teacher colleges. With a modest beginning in 1949, elementary teacher instruction at the university has been steadily growing.

More than 100 students were enrolled in this field during the past year. But now the program is to be expanded.

Dr. J. Frederick Weltzin, dean of the school of education, said that there will be four separate fields of preparation for prospective elementary teachers:

1. General elementary work.
2. Primary teacher training.
3. Training for the handling of groups of children requiring special teaching, including handicapped children and those with unusual abilities.
4. Graduate instruction for elementary school supervisors and administrators.

In this connection, 10 new courses in elementary education were recently added.

"To facilitate the handling of the new program, a department of education has been established within the school of education and a chairman appointed especially to handle elementary education," explained Dean Weltzin.

Since 1946, the school of education has been a steadily growing division of the university and now ranks third among the university's nine colleges and schools in number of students. The college of letters and science and the school of business administration rank first and second respectively. The school of education, however, has by far the largest number of graduate students.

The new department of education within the school takes its place beside the school's departments of psychology and physical education. There are also cooperative programs for music education, business education, home economics education and agricultural education, besides programs in the fields of school librarianship and industrial arts education.

Named by President Buchanan to head the new department of education was Dr. Ray M. Berry. After many years as a public school administrator and teacher in the state, Dr. Berry joined the university staff as a professor of education in 1946.

The university's first chairman of elementary education will be Prof. John A. Snider. He was an elementary school administrator in Oklahoma and Colorado before coming to the university in 1949.

Frances V. Farrell, who is widely known for her elementary teacher instruction at S. I. C. E., joins the university staff as an assistant professor and will be a specialist in primary education. Holding bachelor and master's degrees from Colorado State College of Education, she taught at S. I. C. E. for 20 years.

Other guests were Mrs. Fred Stedman, Mrs. James Ireland and daughter Judy, Mrs. Dolores Brocke, Mrs. Oscar Medallin, Mrs. Robert Clemmehagen and daughter Lorraine, Mrs. C. E. Harris, Mrs. Harry Baker, Mrs. Fred Gladen, Mrs. Wallace Emmett, Mrs. Henry Kortemeier, Mrs. Herb Weber and daughter Geanine, Mrs. Carl Painter, Mrs. John Wilson, Jo Darby, Dee Dee May, Pat Turner, Sharron Snyder, Bonnie Arubuckle, Tootsie and Susie Warren, Dorothy Warren and Pearl Brown.

The weather will govern the date, but suffice it to say, the local kids may be said to be "lining the fence" awaiting that time.

FRANCES MESSER WEDS MAX E. DAMMARELL MAY 20

Walla Walla, Wn., May 27 — The marriage of Miss Frances Messer and Max E. Dammarell was performed last Sunday by the Very Rev. John Callanan in the parish house of St. Patrick's Catholic church.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Messer of Tacoma, and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Dammarell of Kendrick, Ida.

For the 11 a. m. service the bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of pink satin, styled with a pink net gathered over an ankle-length satin skirt. The closely fitting, long-sleeved bodice was set with tiny buttons below a Peter Pan collar and the bridal veil fell from ruffles of net.

The bridal bouquet was a nose-gay of pink roses and pink and white carnations, interspersed with pale blue delphinium, and with a center corsage of two white phalaenopsis orchids, from which fell streamers of stephanotis.

The bride's only attendant, Mrs. Esther Elsey, wore an aqua gown with white stole, and with white slippers and mits. She carried tall-tasse roses, with pink, yellow and white carnations and dark blue delphiniums.

Sebastian Messer, brother of the bride, was best man.

A wedding breakfast was held at the Red Apple immediately following the wedding for members of the family and a few close friends. Later a wedding reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Johnson of College Place.

The bride attended St. Leo's high school in Tacoma and her husband is a graduate of Kendrick high school. Until he enters military service they will live at 35 Park street. —Walla Walla Union Bulletin.

Mrs. W. W. McAllister Passes
Mrs. W. W. McAllister, a pioneer resident of this area, passed away Monday, June 4, at 4:30 a. m. in the Gritman Memorial hospital at Moscow, where she had been a patient for 11 days. She had, however, been ill for about a month, spending part of this time with her sister, Mrs. Susie Spray, at Juliaetta. Her death was due to the infirmities of old age.

Mary McAllister was born in Sullivan County, Missouri, Sept. 5, 1869. She came west with her parents when but a girl, settling in Palouse, Wash., where she grew to young womanhood.

On January 19, 1898, at the home of her parents in Palouse, she was united in marriage to W. W. McAllister, and to this union was born one daughter, Mrs. Annie Kiele, now of Orofino.

Some 32 years ago the family moved to a ranch on the Big Bear Ridge bench, where she continued to make her home, Mr. McAllister having preceded her in death some 15 years ago.

Funeral services were held at the Christian Church in Palouse, Wash., with the Rev. Barnes in charge. Interment was in the Palouse cemetery by the side of her husband. Pallbearers were six nephews.

Survivors are one daughter, Mrs. Annie Kiele, Orofino, Ida.; one grandson, Roy D. Hill of Pomeroy, Wash.; two brothers, J. H. Burch, Tekoa, Wn., and E. L. Burch, Spokane, Wn.; two sisters, Mrs. Susie Spray, Juliaetta, Idaho, and Mrs. Nancy Lynch, Palouse, Wash. Three great-grandchildren also survive.

Word was received here Monday of the death of little Bobby Vaughn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Vaughn, Kendrick, that morning.

Details are lacking at this time. All that is known now is that he passed away in a Seattle hospital Monday morning.

Sparber, Jr., and Sgt. and Mrs. Rolland Quigley, all of Bremerton, Wash., arrived here Saturday evening and visited until Wednesday morning with Walter and Orville Sparber. Mrs. Quigley is a daughter of Mrs. G. W. Sparber, Sr., and will be remembered here as Mana May Sparber, a former student in the Kendrick schools. Sgt. Quigley, a veteran of the Korea fighting, is on leave from Madigan army hospital, having had both legs shattered by Chinese machinegun fire, and also suffered a severe shoulder wound when an American tank blew up. All interested farmers are asked to assemble on Troy's Main street, from which point the tour begins at 9:00 a. m. sharp.

Things to be viewed on the tour include: Alfalfa grass plantings; winter wheat on sweet clover ground; sweet clover-grass green manure; contour strip cropping; clovers for seed production; grass seedings in solid stands; commercial fertilizer tests; chemical weed control; stock ponds; movable granaries; grade A dairy barn; 4-H dairy and beef calves; beef cattle management; farm forest management; winter cereal nurseries; clover seed weevil control.

There will be a group lunch and entertainment. Come and bring a neighbor and a businessman.

Fish Dumped in Potlatch

Tuesday evening a state fish truck drove up and dumped some 1400 big trout into the "swimming hole" near the Lewiston Grain Growers upper warehouse — and did not post the stream.

Within a few minutes the news got around — and so thick were the fishermen that it was almost impossible to get a place along the bank to stand.

We don't know how many have been caught, but there are far fewer now (as we go to press) than there were Tuesday evening!

No one understands why these fish were not distributed up the Potlatch, as well as near Kendrick, for a good road leads along the stream for many miles, and access to it by the fish truck would have been easy.

Social Security Act Covers Farm Workers

Half-Million Eligible For Insurance Benefits

As of January 1, about 500,000 regularly employed workers on farms and in farm households became eligible for social security.

This means they became eligible for the first time for old-age insurance benefits—pensions—and for benefits paid to survivors if a wage earner dies.

Arthur J. Altmeyer of the Social Security administration said the new program covers anyone who does planting, cultivating, or harvesting of crops; raises or tends livestock, bees, or fur-bearing animals; prepares, processes, or delivers crops or livestock to market or storage; cooks or does other household work on farms, or does their general farm work. However, each worker must "qualify" first.

A total of 500,000 farm workers became eligible for social security benefits with the extension of the Social Security Act of January 1.

Farm owners or operators are not covered. Wages paid by an employer to his children under 21 do not count, nor do other payments within a family.

Altmeyer said employers of farm workers covered by the extension of the law should get instructions from their local collectors of internal revenue concerning when payments should be made and methods for keeping records.

Disaster Relief Program For Farmers Expanding

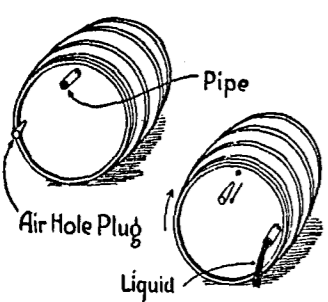

The government announced recently that the simple relief measure started in 1949 to aid snow-bound ranchers in the west has mushroomed into a tremendous business. It has grown into a $33,000,000 business and covers parts of 37 states and Puerto Rico.

The farmers home administration, in charge of the program, reports more than 26,000 loans have been made to farmers. They average about $1,192 each, although there is no limit on the amount a farmer may borrow if he qualifies as a "disaster victim" and can put up sufficient collateral. The largest loan approved to date was $400,000 to a Mississippi farmer.

One of the most recent disaster areas was the entire state of Mississippi where the cotton crop was damaged by bad weather and weevils.

"The end isn't in sight," one official said. "It looks like the program is here to stay—unless the government starts taking losses like it did in the feed-and-seed-loan program of the depression era."

Oil Barrel Rig

Men on farms and ranches have many heavy barrels containing oil, sheep dip, kerosene, etc., to empty and at times a faucet may not be at hand. Here is an easy way to overcome that difficulty. Secure a piece of 3/4 inch pipe with one end threaded, eight to 12 inches long. Place a chunk under one end of the barrel so contents will fall away from the upper portion of the head near the chime. Then bore a hole through the head with a 7/8 inch bit. Thread portion of the pipe into this hole. When ready to draw off any of the contents just roll the barrel a little until the liquid starts to run. When sufficient has been drawn, roll the barrel back to a position where the pipe is uppermost and contents will stop flowing.

Dehydrated Cheese Is Put On Sale in Netherlands

Cheese in powdered and tablet form is being marketed in the Netherlands, according to the U.S. department of agriculture. The new dehydrated cheese product is made from Gouda and Edam cheeses under a process which is said to reduce the volume of the cheese by one half. The report says that a variety of flavors can be obtained depending upon the age of the cheese used for dehydrating.

New Fabrics On Market

The parade of new fabrics has picked up several recruits, Miss Esther Nystrom, clothing specialist of the U. of I. extension service states. She said it might be a good idea for Idaho women to have some knowledge of the materials so they will be recognized as they become common in stores.

In a nutshell, here they are: Vicara is made from corn. It is soft and blends well with wool. Cloth and knitwear are its field.

Dynel is a new substance for blankets and men's socks. Other uses for which it is being prepared are boot linings, cuffs, work clothing, and household items. It is wrinkle resistant, warm, moth-proof, mildew proof and dries quickly.

Millium is a metallic springy finish applied to rayon linings. It increases warmth without increasing weight. It reflects body heat back to the body.

Orlon, a close relative of nylon, has been in the public eye a little longer, but is among the newer materials. It goes into sweaters and awnings, among other things. The words "acrylic fiber" on the label are the chemist's name for the liquid from which orlon is made. The term is used to distinguish it from nylon. Orlon is wrinkle-resistant. It will launder and dry clean well.

Rayon suitings are gaining popularity for men's women's and girls' suits. They are made to look like men's worsted suitings, and have been given a wrinkle-resistant finish.

"What's this 'integration' they're attacking you for?"

One of the complaints that a certain minority in this country is now making about big companies like Standard Oil Company of California is that they practice "integration". This word is made to sound so evil that you may wonder what it means as it's used in this case.

The fact is that integration is common in American businesses both large and small. They use it as a natural part of their system of increasing efficiency, cutting costs and improving products. Integration doesn't make a good company bad. To understand integration at a glance, look at this parallel:

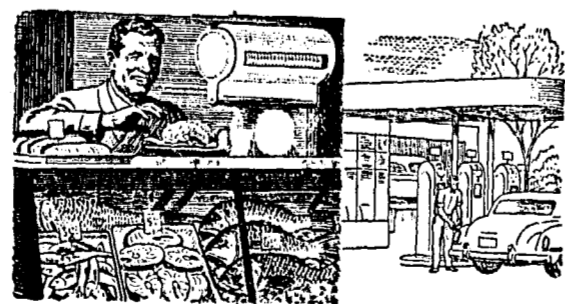

A fisherman takes his boat onto the ocean and makes his catch. Standard discovers oil and brings it up out of the ground. If both then sell to somebody else—the fisherman to a buyer at wharfside, and Standard to a buyer at the well—there's no integration. Suppose each takes the next step...

When the fisherman cleans his own fish, he has become an integrated business. So, too, Standard. Like him, we work to put the product into the form you want. We refine the crude oil we produce—turn it into gasoline, lubricants, chemicals. This is the practice of integration.

If the fisherman now carries his cleaned catch to the market-place, he is further integrated, for he is now also in the transportation business... as is Standard when we operate our own pipelines and tankers to carry oil from well to refinery, or refined products to areas where they'll be used.

And if the fisherman then sells his product through a store of his own, he completes his integration. Standard does it, too, through Company-owned stations (about 1 in 7 stations where Chevron gasolines are sold). Integration helps companies do better for you and the nation.

I'd Like to Know... Many people write to Standard asking pertinent questions about the Company. We answer all letters individually, but some points seem of general interest. We take this way of discussing them for everyone. If you have a question, we urge you to write in care of: "I'D LIKE TO KNOW," 225 Bush Street, San Francisco 20.

Flag Shop Owner Made Flag For Gen. George Washington

Betsy Ross wasn't the only American woman of the Revolutionary war period who gained fame for her flagmaking prowess.

According to Childcraft books, a young matron named Rebecca Young made the flag that General George Washington carried when the Continental army took part in the siege of Boston.

Mrs. Young, who had a flag shop in Philadelphia, was noted in the colonies for her exquisite needlework. Her fine stitching, embroidered scallops, and beautiful patchwork quilts were the talk of the countryside.

The flag that General Washington requisitioned Mrs. Young to make had thirteen alternate red and white stripes. Applied on the blue field in the upper left-hand corner were crosses of Saint Andrew and Saint George—a design which represented the union of Scotland and England.

It was named the "Grand Union Flag" by General Washington, and flown by troops of the Continental army for the first time about January 1, 1776.

Like Betsy Ross, who is credited with having made the country's first official flag, Mrs. Young did not design the flag General Washington ordered from her. He is said to have adopted the design for it from an ensign that had been raised by John Paul Jones from the deck of the ship Alfred on December 3, 1775.

Mrs. Young worked on General Washington's battle flag with loving care. She stitched together the thick stripes of red and white bunting by hand and sewed in the blue field with a precision that guaranteed perfection.

Anesthesia for Livestock Marked Important Advance

The year 1950 marked the 100th anniversary of painless surgery for animals.

It was just 100 years ago that veterinarians first reported successful use of anesthetics for operations on animals. The development came a short time after physicians and dentists began to use nitrous oxide, ether, and chloroform in eliminating the pain of human surgery.

Veterinary medical leaders say that the introduction of anesthesia in veterinary medicine stands as one of the most important advances in man's age-old fight against the ailments of livestock and pets.

Horses and dogs were the first animal patients for anesthesia. Horses were put to sleep with chloroform during operations for lameness, and a dog was anesthetized for removal of growths in its mouth.

An early bar to use of anesthetics was failure to properly restrain the patient. After inhaling either, horses sometimes went wild, endangering the lives of the veterinarian and onlookers.

In recent years, new types of anesthesia have been developed which put animals to sleep gradually, without violence or nervous reactions. Nerve blocking is being used now for such common farm operations as dehorning, thereby saving animals much pain and distress.

Lorgnettes Come Back

Lorgnettes, those spectacles-with-a-handle which our grandmothers used to good effect, are making a comeback. The modern version is a small, attractive visual aid which folds to a size that will not cause an ordinary purse to bulge unduly. Women find the little glasses helpful in looking up telephone numbers under poor light, in reading theater programs, and on numerous other occasions when it is simpler to use them than to don spectacles. Lorgnettes had a curious origin. The earliest spectacles lacked a satisfactory method of being attached to the face, for they were without ear pieces or nose clasps. Therefore they were held before the eyes by hand, and were distant ancestors of the lorgnette.

How Coccidiosis Works

Poultry growers have long known that chicken infected with coccidiosis lose appetite and get weak, but the reason has never been clear. Now veterinary medical scientists have turned up evidence that the coccidiosis parasites upset the body's ability to use sugar. This means that the birds fail to get energy from the sugar that is naturally present in feedstuffs. Besides that, it has been found that these parasites also may affect the delicate body mechanisms that control temperature, metabolic rate, muscle contraction, and muscle nutrition.

When Buying Toys

When buying toys for the baby or toddler bear these facts in mind: Avoid stuffed animals with glass or button eyes. Examine toys to see that there are no removable parts which could be swallowed. Buy sturdy rattles, blocks with rounded corners, soft balls and dolls, and push-and-pull toys with rounded handles. Do not endanger your child with shooting or target toys, sharp scissors or poorly built wagons or carts. Also, buyers should pass up toys that are too heavy or complicated for the receiver.

History of Eye-Wear Marked with Fumbling

Every normal human has two ears and a nose, which provide a logical means of holding a pair of lenses before the eyes. What could be more natural than to saddle the nose with a neat, snug-fitting bridge and keep the spectacles in place with a couple of hooks behind the ears?

Natural or not, the early spectacle-makers didn't do it. As you look over the drawings and prints representing ancient glasses, a question keeps repeating itself in your mind. How in the world did the wearer hold them in place? So it happens that the history of frame-making is very largely a story of methods—some ingenious, the majority clumsy—of attaching binocular spectacles to the face.

The earliest lenses were single glasses, held in the hand, so the problem of facial attachment did not arise. They were of the type of the emerald lens through which, according to Pliny (23-79 A.D.), Nero regaled his beastly soul by gazing at the gladiatorial fights in the Roman arena. These were the first "opera glasses", so to speak. Optical science paused for centuries before developing into eyecare, after Euclid wrote his classic treatise on optics (third century B.C.), and Seneca discovered that objects were magnified when viewed through a glass globe filled with water (first century A.D.), and Claudius Ptolemaeus (150 A.D.) founded the science of optics by calculating the refraction of light in water (n equals 1.3335) and in glass.

Oldest Dated Artifacts Reported by U. C. Men

The discovery of the most ancient dated man-made artifacts so far reported in the western hemisphere has been disclosed by anthropologists on the Berkeley campus of the University of California.

Implements fashioned by primitive man in about 5,000 B.C. were uncovered near Lovelock, Nevada, recently by university anthropology students working under the direction of Robert F. Heizer, associate professor of anthropology.

Dated by the new "carbon 14" method—a technique devised by nuclear physicists and the only method for really exact dating of prehistoric materials—wood spear shafts taken from the excavation site were determined to be about 7,300 years old.

In the upper layers of the excavation site the archaeologists found quantities of artifacts such as basket and arrow fragments of relatively recent origin, dating back about 2,500 years. Deposits of bat guano at a lower level, in which the ancient spear shafts, spear points, pieces of string, and evidence of campfires were embedded, were found to be 9,000 years old by the carbon 14 technique. A floor of lake gravels at the bottom of the site was estimated to be about 25,000 years old.

From these findings and a survey of other sites in the area, the scientists were able to reconstruct the first reliable picture of prehistoric man's occupancy of the Humboldt basin.

If A-Bomb Falls

Neither explosive nor lingering radioactivity has any effect on the operation of most mechanical or electrical devices. Unless the wires are down or there is a power failure, both your lights and telephone should continue to work. But don't rush to the phone just to find out how Aunt Susie may have weathered the A-Bomb attack. Leave the lines open for real emergency traffic. The bomb's radioactivity will not interfere with the operation of your radio. In the event of attack, be sure to turn it on. It may be your main source of emergency instructions. And don't forget: Battery-operated portable sets, including those installed in automobiles, will continue to work even if the city power goes off. Television reception, like radio, won't be jammed by radioactivity.

Is It "Colorfast"?

"Colorfast," a familiar term to today's shopper, has different shades of meaning! Just a clerk's assurance that an article is "colorfast" is not enough. Termed as "colorfast," for instance, are many of the colored rayon tablecloths now on the market. But some of these cloths stage a fade-out in the most carefully controlled washing formula. Drops of gravy, crimson cranberry and lipstick stains, fruit juice, wine and beverage stains all must be removed in the laundering process. If color loss occurs during a cleansing treatment which must remove stains as well as soil, then the cloth is not "colorfast" to the mildest stain removal treatment.

Finish Protects Transformers

Electrical transformers, which are hung on poles, are exposed to extreme weather conditions and must have special finishes to protect them against heat and cold. The surfaces of fully loaded transformers often reach temperatures of 200 degrees F when the sunlight blazes on them. During the winter months, these same surfaces may be exposed to temperatures as low as 50 degrees F. The finishes must also be able to withstand the attacks of salts, acids, alkalis and moisture.

Machinery Life Cut To Half by Exposure Storage Building Will Reduce Farm Overhead

Since farmers reduce by half the life of machinery left exposed to the weather through the winter months, according to a recent university survey, they will find it in their interest financially to replace old, inadequate and inefficient sheds with modern, well-planned structures.

The survey showed the life of equipment, housed and unhoused, as follows: Walking plows, 20 years or 15; cultivators 20 or eight; gang plows, 20 or 10; mowers, 12 or seven; corn planter, eight or four; binder, 12 or five; wagon, 24 or 19; and disc harrow, 15 or eight.

"No matter what the cost of building, it is always cheaper than machinery," an agricultural engineer reports. "No building on the farm will pay better dividends than the machinery shed."

Typical of the modern type machinery building being used on many farms is the one pictured above. It is located on the Vincent Lilly farm near Rochester, Minn. Its dimensions, 24 by 48 feet, and the absence of inside posts due to the arched roof construction, provide ample room for the farmer's machinery.

City People With Money Inflate Farm-Land Market

The agriculture department reports that city folks with money—and worries about possible further shrinkage in its buying power—are helping to inflate the farm-land market.

Many buyers are businessmen and investors who are seeking good farms as an investment hedge against inflation. As a result farm prices increased on a national average basis 3 per cent between July and November of last year. They now are 5 per cent above the record set in March, 1920.

The department said land values advanced in all states. The east, north central states showed the largest average gain for any region—6 per cent—but the west north central, west south central and pacific regions were up 5 per cent.

Average prices are higher than a year ago in all but three states. Florida showed the largest gain—19 per cent—largely because of favorable returns from citrus fruits and pasture lands.

Dressmakers

These 12 girls captured top prizes in the national 4-H clothing achievement contest at the International Livestock Exposition. Each won a $300 scholarship for her skill. They are, left to right, Arlene Olson, 18, of Hartland, Minn.; Bonnie Needler, 18, Hartford City, Ind.; Joan Engle, 18, Abilene, Kan.; Evelyn Waugh, 17, White Plains, N.Y.; Mary Dick, 17, Yukon, Okla.; Bettye Deen, 16, Jena, La.; Patricia Lynch, 17, Gaithersburg, Md.; Dolores Mombac, 16, Las Cruces, N.M.; Nancy Boyd, 16, Seely, Tenn.; Dorothy Straus, 18, Johnson, Vt.; Wilma Beale, 17, Pomeroy, Wash.; and Dorothy Heiderman, 17, Sheboygan Falls, Wis.

Bad Utensils Can Hurt Quality of Milk, Cream

Milk pails, milking machine containers, strainers or milk and cream cans often are the cause of poor quality milk and cream, according to dairy marketing specialists.

Dairy utensils with open seams, rusty spots or rough surfaces caused by dents, rough solder or milkstone cannot be properly cleaned. Bacteria thrive in these places because small portions of milk or cream lodge in the crevices.

HELLO, THERE, FOLKS —

Well, now that we have that spring rain, and pastures have been given an extra boost, be sure you are one who is cashing in on it by selling your cream to us. Cash is always welcome on the farm, and that is a sure way of getting it.

When you sell to us we return a steam-sterilized can, ready to use without further washing. No chemicals are used. Try us with your next can.

Traffic Judge: "Did you have control of the car at the time of the accident?"

Offending Motorist: "No, sir. My wife was with me."

Need a locker box? We have them to rent, and the chances are we have just the size you need at the price you want to pay. Come in and look them over.

Lecturer: "Is it possible for a man to make a fool of himself without knowing it?"

Voice from Audience: "Not if he has a wife!"

Ice cream is a warm weather necessity — and when you choose "Potlatch Chief" you are assured of top quality, purity, smoothness and flavor. Next time you think of ice cream, drop in at the creamery and try a cone, then take home a quart or a gallon of your favorite flavor. Keep it on hand always for "snacks" or dessert.

Son: "Pop, why do they rope off the asiles at a church wedding?"

Cynical Father: "So the bridegroom can't get away, son!"

When you think of butter, think of "Potlatch Chief" brand. It's pure, sweet, delicious. Made from pasteurized cream.

Sell us your cream!
