Challenge All Universities
U. of I., Moscow — Students of the University of Idaho this week challenged those of 150 universities and colleges throughout the nation to beat their record in donating blood for wounded soldiers in Korea. James Dunham, Hagerman, chairman of Idaho's recent blood drive in which 1,014 pints were collected on the campus in three days, sent the following letter to presidents of other student bodies:

"To help rouse public interest in the great need for blood, we of the University of Idaho are sending you this challenge:

"We, the Associated Students of the University of Idaho, at present the undisputed claimants of the title 'The Bloodiest Campus' in The United States, do hereby challenge all campuses to better our present record of 1,014 pints of blood given in three days in a campus drive after 167 students had donated at an earlier city drive. In an effort to alleviate the serious shortage of blood and plasma which now exists in Korea, we further challenge any college or university to better, on a percentage basis, our high mark of 38.8 per cent in actual donations by our student body of 3,044."

Lubricate Your Motor Through the Fuel
A PREMIUM PERFORMANCE GASOLINE

What Lubri-Gas Does

Lubri-Gas enters the combustion chamber in the form of a fine oily mist or fog. This fog will not burn at motor temperature. It condenses back to clean oil and bathes the valves, spark plugs, cylinder walls, pistons and piston rings with a protective film.

Carbon, gum and sludge are loosened and discharged through the exhaust.

Lubri-Gas users report that sticky valves are freed —knocks disappear—motors run cooler with more power, more miles per gallon through the regular use of Lubri-Gas.

MANY ECONOMIC FACTS HAVE BEEN OBSCURED

There has been so much big news this year that one fact of great political and economic importance has been obscured. That is the fact that the session of Congress which just ended gave President Truman's all-encompassing social welfare program the complete "deep-freeze" treatment.

The roster of failure in this regard was complete. The compulsory health insurance proposal wasn't even given hearings in the House or Senate. Nor was the equal rights measure, or the Federal Fair Employment Practices law. Nor was the Brannan Plan for production payments to farmers. A bill providing Federal aid to medical education did come to a vote in the senate, and was decisively defeated. The house ignored this scheme completely.

As the Portland Oregonian said editorially: "No president has asked more social welfare legislation of Congress than has Harry S. Truman. No president has been more ineffectual in the achievement of a social welfare program."

Mr. Truman didn't get his way in many other matters either. The new tax bill, for example, will produce only about half as much additional revenue as the President asked of Congress — even though it will bring the tax burden to an all-time high save for the peak reached during the last major war.

Mr. Truman cannot blame these setbacks — which obviously rankled him hard — on the Republicans alone. The Democrats have small majorities in both branches of congress. But a great many Democrats are as opposed to the President's ideas on social and kindred legislation as any Republican. These Democrats are not all from the traditionally conservative south. Some of them have northern and western constituencies where Mr. Truman's following is supposed to be strong.

The fact that the President's program was beaten doesn't mean that it is now ancient history. There is one quality in which Mr. Truman is acknowledged by both his friends and enemies — and that quality is stubbornness. He thinks his program is right, and he thinks the masses of the voters want it. If he runs again, he will undoubtedly use it for campaign ammunition, just as he did last time.

In only one big matter did the President get his way almost totally. That was rearmament and the related European aid program. And that program is bipartisan, and it was engineered in large part by Republicans, such as John Foster Dulles and the late Senator Vandenberg. There is much difference of opinion over details both between the parties and within the parties. But there is overwhelming agreement on the broad general principles.

One development, in the view of many, is likely to overshadow all other domestic issues during the next campaign — corruption and irregularities in the government. Even such burning issues as taxation and government spending could conceivably be subordinated to it. In the past, nothing — save war — has so influenced the hearts and minds of the American people as scandals in high places and graft in the government bureaus. This disclosure that have so far been made are, it is believed — merely foreshadowings of even more shocking revelations. That is the kind of thing which has roundly beaten candidates and parties before. — Industrial News-Review.

Taxes Cost More Than Food

According to the president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, the American consumer now pays more in taxes than he pays for his food! In 1940, the nation spent $17,100,000,000 for food and paid $12,700,000,000 in taxes. Last year, by contrast, the food bill was $52,500,000,000 and the tax bill $57,000,000,000!

This does not take into account the increases in taxes that have occurred during the current year, nor the additional taxes which will apply at a later date.

Here is more proof of the fact that the tax bill is the biggest item of expense the American people face. Some of our taxes we pay directly, in income, property, inheritance and similar levies. Others we pay indirectly, as in the case of excise and so-called "luxury" taxes. Others still are hidden in the cost of every service and article we buy — even in "the staff of life" — bread. All told, taxes now consume close to a third of the national income.

Taxation on this level destroys incentive. It dries up "risk capital" — why should a man take a chance on a venture when he must pay the whole cost if he loses but will gain little or no profit if he succeeds? It makes it abnormally difficult and in many cases impossible for the small business to grow — the money that would be used for expansion goes, instead, to the government. It discourages production and progress.

There is but one solution — rigorous economy in nonessential government spending, all the way from the little village to Washington. At best, taxation must be heavy. If the present trend continues, it could well prove ruinous. — Industrial News-Review.

Indeed there are many farmer friends of Reddy Kilowatt who know that the Washington Water Power pioneered in rural electrification as early as 1906. Today, thanks to private enterprise and the REA, the States of Washington and Idaho stand at the head of the nation with 98% of farm dwellings electrified.

MEET ANOTHER
Farmer Friend OF MINE!

A mighty versatile man is Ben Ziesmer, farmer, machinist and sawmill operator. And in all three operations he makes good use of Reddy Kilowatt's many services. Ben's farm is on the gentle south slope of Coeur d'Alone mountain 22 miles from town and "a bit isolated." But never-the-less, thanks to Ben's handiness and his friend Reddy Kilowatt, his farm has become known as "the community machine shop." When anything breaks down up that way the neighbors all advise: "Take it to Ben for repair." Says Ben:

"Electricity sure is the best hired man I have ever had, on the place, in both the machine shop and the sawmill as well as around the house and farm. Sure glad the Water Power got electricity in to this section."

Electronic Purifier Kills Offensive Odors Farmers Using Purifier To Clear Up Farm Odors

The old problem of odors on a farm caused by live stock or poultry, by dampness or mustiness, can now be solved. And for less than a half cent a day.

A powerful air purifier, called Air-Tron, uses ozones, nature's own "air freshener" to create outdoor freshness in foul-smelling places by killing odor-producing bacteria in the air and on the surfaces. Farmers in many areas are reported taking advantage of the purifier and are turning their farms into more pleasant places in which to live and work.

Single lamp Air-Tron being used on numerous farms to reduce offensive odors.

The Air-Tron is a compact unit which generates short wave ultra-violet rays destroying unpleasant odors electronically. It is produced by Roy C. Stove and Company of Chicago.

A single-lamp unit provides air freshening protection for an area up to 600 cubic feet—the size of the average milk house. For areas up to 1,200 cubic feet, the double lamp has been developed.

Herd Numbers Decrease, But Milk Supply Grows

In the past two decades, milk production on United States farms has increased by 20 billion pounds, or one-fifth while the number of milking herds has declined. In some of the individual dairy states, changes have been even more spectacular. In New York, for instance, one-half more milk is marketed by 15 per cent fewer farmers than in 1929.

Milk is produced on about 4½ million of the six million farms in the United States. On about two million of these, the milk is produced solely for home use. Most of these farms have only one or two cows, but their milk provides an important part of the food of some nine million farm people.

On the other 2½ million farms that have milk cows, some milk, cream, or farm-churned butter is sold. These sales range from a few pounds of farm-churned butter per year up to thousands of pounds of milk per day.

World's Record

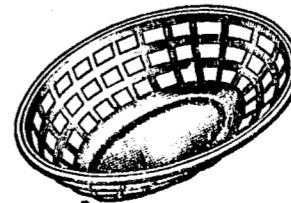

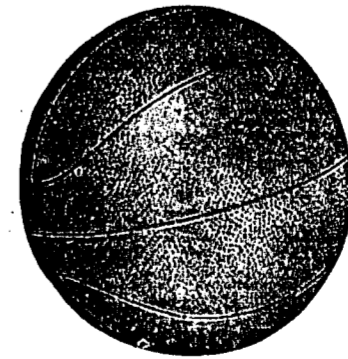

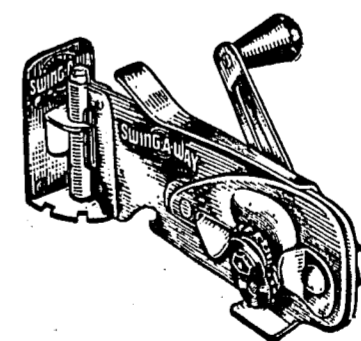

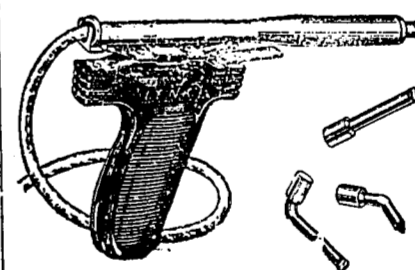

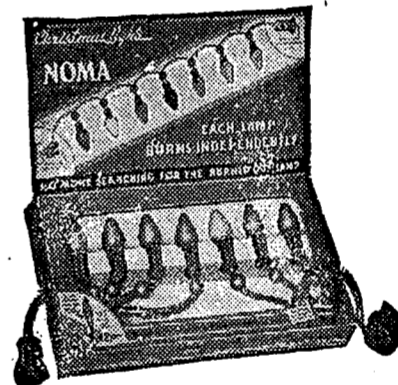

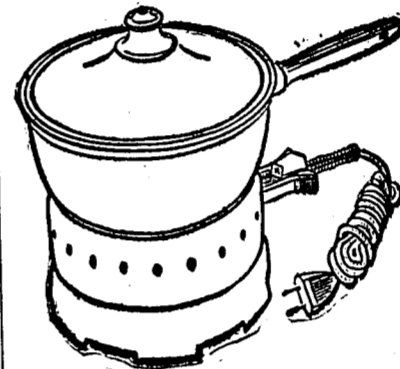

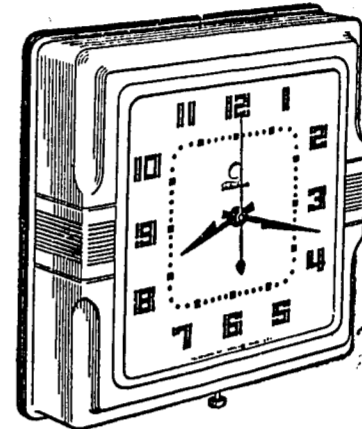

A new world's record for a pure-bred beef animal was set recently when Hillcrest Larry 4, was purchased by Henry Sears, owner of the Chino Farms in Church Hill, Md., for $70,500 at the Hillcrest Farms sale. Surrounding the high-priced hereford are (left to right) Jim McClelland, manager of the Turner Ranch in Sulphur, Okla.; C. A. Smith, owner of Hillcrest Farms; Henry Sears, the purchaser, and his wife; and Arnold Olson at the halter.

Keep Garden Seeds—Many leftover vegetable seeds may be kept for planting next spring, but should be stored at about 50 degrees.

Strawberries Need Good Protection From Cold

Strawberries need protection against cold by means of mulching with straw, leaves or sawdust, fruit specialists warned farmers.

Wheat straw, oat straw and rye straw have all been successfully used as strawberry mulches. Fairly heavy coverings are suggested in order to avoid heaving from frost and consequent root damage. Ordinary leaves give good results on home plantings.

Cigarette Use Tapers Off After Long Upward Trend

Although U.S. smokers used three and one-half billion more cigarettes in 1949 than in 1948 there was a decrease of about one package of cigarettes per capita says the U.S. department of agriculture. The bureau of agricultural economics reports suggests that the demand for cigarettes may now be leveling off after a series of record breaking years.

Last year, the BAE reports, that the increase of three and one-half billion in use of cigarettes was about 1 per cent, bringing the total for the year to 352 billion. But population increased more than 1 per cent. The increase in cigarettes for the first half of the year was about 2 per cent, and for the last half was just about even with the 1948 consumption for those months. With an estimated population increase of more than two and one-half million, this figures to a per capita supply of 2,435 cigarettes in 1949 as compared with 2,455 in 1948.

The steady and sometimes sharp upward trend in cigarette consumption in the United States has been under way for many years, the BAE records show. Only one drop in civilian consumption has been noted. In 1944 the civilian use ran below the 1943 record. But the bureau says that "when allowance is made for the great volume consumed by large numbers in the armed forces and overseas personnel, total consumption in 1944 substantially exceeded that of 1943."

During and since the war, cigarette smoking has continued to gain. The figures for the last half of 1949 are the first indication of a break in the climb.

Eniwetok Atoll Ranks High Among Battered Land Spots

When the history of the 1941-1950 decade is written, Eniwetok Atoll will take top rank among the most bludgeoned of Pacific land spots. Typhoons, World War II bombs, and atomic weapon tests will have pooled their awesome power to put it there.

Eniwetok, soon again to feel atom blasts in its role as proving ground for the Atomic Energy commission, has already been battered by all three of these forces in the now waning decade.

This northwest outpost of the scattered Marshall Islands, 2,725 miles southwest of Honolulu and about the same distance southeast of Tokyo, was home to 138 island natives two years ago when its destiny in the atomic program was announced. The inhabitants were moved to Ujelang, 150 miles southwest of Eniwetok, a few weeks before the first secret atomic tests at Eniwetok in the spring of 1948.

They left with little regret, since the main islets containing Japanese installations had been razed to their coral bases and denuded of trees by heavy bombardment in mid-February, 1944. That attack culminated in a quick conquest of Eniwetok by U. S. amphibious forces.

Something About Cats

Cats can be trained easily to be neat in houses and apartments. The mere provision of toys for their personal entertainment, plus a little discipline, will keep them from damaging curtains and other household items. They are slaves to habits, such as eating, and are homebodies in that they seem to become more attached to their homes than to people. When a cat fails to respond to its master's orders, it isn't necessarily being ornery. More likely, it fails to comply because it sees no sound reason for doing so. Cats may breed at any time of the year, although January and February are their preferred months. A cat "in heat" may wriggle along the floor and cry as if she had a severe stomach ache. "People unfamiliar with this symptom are apt to think that the animal is critically ill," he said.

High School Students

High school students who earn the best grades follow specific study procedures, a northwestern university professor discovered in analyzing the study habits of more than 1000 secondary school pupils. Dr. William G. Brink, a professor in Northwestern's school of education, made the study to provide data for high schools considering changes in curricula to produce higher scholastic achievement. As the result of his investigations, Dr. Brink recommends that "guidance in the improvement of study habits should be integrated with instructional activities." The study habits of students in the upper fourth of their classes followed similar patterns, the educator found.

Sea Anemone

A strange partnership of the tropical coral reefs exists between the sea anemone, which paralyzes its prey with its stinging cells, and the small anemone fish, somehow immune to the sting of its companion. The fish lurks among the tentacles of the anemone until the prey passes within reach. Deftly it maneuvers the prey, usually another small fish, within range of the stingers and holds it there until paralyzed. Then anemone and partner share the meal.

Potlatch Chief Sez

Published by the Kendrick Creamery

HELLO, THERE, FOLKS —

We all know, as the holiday season approaches, that more and more entertaining will be in order. Now entertaining means work, so cut down on it a bit, and still serve something that will please your guests! It's easy. Be sure that Potlatch Chief coffee cream is in the cream pitcher; Potlatch Chief Butter on the butter plate, and brimming glasses of Potlatch Chief pasteurized milk at the children's place — and for dessert, serve Potlatch Chief brand Ice Cream. It will please the most particular. Of course its availability in all the standard flavors, plus many a holiday special. Come in and get from a quart to a gallon, and have it on hand, always!

Shying away from the lamp post to which the beary-eyed gent clung, the prim old lady said: "Young man, are you drunk?" "Let us say, Madame," he answered thickly, "that this is one of those unfortunate days when all my strength seems to be concentrated in my breath."

Are you taking advantage of the full income capacity of your cows? Are you feeding them for the greatest production? If not, why not? It's been proven that many dollars can be added to the family income by selling to us. Wepay on the spot, and return a steam-sterilized, ready to use can. You don't even have to wash the can. Try selling us that next can.

There was a time when folks used to make their own clothing on spinning wheels. Now they lose their shirts on them!

Hotel Manager: "Did you find any towels in that man's suitcase?"

Hotel Detective: "No, but I found a maid in his grip."
