Juliaetta School Notes

The extra activity in the rooms now centers around the Christmas program, which will be given Friday Dec. 21, at 1:00 o'clock. The three lower rooms will give a 45-minute operetta. The fourth and fifth grades will each have a play, while the sixth grade will have a song, a band selection and a choral reading.

Many may wonder why we have the program in the afternoon instead of the evening. Our district covers so much area that it is hard for all the children to be present in the evening, when they have to find their own transportation. At the recent singing for the Auction Sale, although teachers urged all children to be present, 35, or nearly one-fourth, were absent. Should the roads be slippery or bad the absences would be more noticeable. Then, too, other programs are often given in the evenings, which all wish to see. We hope as many parents as possible will be able to attend the afternoon program.

Mrs. Taylor had charge of the Junior Red Cross enrollment this year. All six rooms have enrolled.

Children of the first grade have been painting Santa. All rooms have Christmas decorations. Ila Johnson and Richard Dunham of the fourth grade did a good job on the large windows of their room, while Dee Magnuson did the large one in the second grade room.

Mary Cook is leading in outside reading in the sixth grade. She has read and made written reports on 14 books.

Visitors at the school recently were Mrs. Roy Craig, Mrs. Lloyd Craig, Mrs. Joe Naranjo and Mrs. James Holt.

Club Meeting Scheduled

The Happy Home Club will meet December 18 at the home of Mrs. Ronald Jones. Cookies will be packed to be sent to the Children's Home at Lewiston.

There will also be an exchange of Christmas gifts.

Anyone interested is invited to attend.

WHAT HAPPENED HERE TWENTY YEARS AGO

Big Postal Deficit: 3c Stamp Urged — Postmaster General Brown is bemoaning the fact that his department of government has a deficit of more than 146 million dollars and advises an increase in postage from 2c to 3c for outgoing letters.

Want License Reduction — The Sandpoint Chamber of Commerce has adopted a resolution asking the Idaho State Fish and Game department to reduce the non-resident fishing licenses to the small sum of $1.00 per week. In other words, furnish people from another state the best fishing in the Northwest for the measly sum of $1.00 per week. We are decidedly against such a change. If it isn't worth the present price of $5.00 for the non-resident to fish, let him go someplace else.

Boy Breaks Leg — Roy Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Johnson of American ridge, broke his right leg just above the ankle while coasting Sunday evening, in town.

New Arrival — Mr. and Mrs. Philip Johns the parents of a baby girl born Sunday. . . . A 9 pound daughter arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Spray Tuesday morning. She has been named Vineta Lou.

Parent-Teacher Association Organized — The first meeting of the newly organized Parent-Teacher Association will be held Dec. 13 at 7:30 in the H. S. auditorium. This meeting was scheduled following a resolution passed by the Commercial Club, to foster such an organization. An election of officers will be held and plans laid for the year.

"High Up" Xmas Tree — Bill Watts, manager of the Kendrick Rochdale has become "high-minded" and placed a 12-foot Christmas tree atop the elevator, and trimmed it with 30 25-watt lights.

Bruce Groseclose Weds Oregon Maid — Miss Elsie Mildred Ingram, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milo Ingram of Wilamette, Ore., became the bride of Bruce Groseclose, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Groseclose of Teakean, Wednesday evening, Nov. 25, in the Wilamette Methodist church. The service was read by the Rev. Earl E. Cotton. The young couple will make their home at Sweetwater, where the groom is pastor of the Methodist church.

Honor Roll — The ranks of the honor roll were greatly swelled the past six-week period, those students making a 90 per cent average requirement are: Seniors: Nona McAllister, Burneda Cummings, Lois Fey, Ruby Heffel and Ethel Cummings; Juniors: George Davidson, Jack Bailey, Hazel Reid, Mary Johnson, Elma Jones and Nettie Mae McDowell; Sophomores: Maxine Keene, Kathryn Emery and Lawrence Schwarz; Freshmen: Bud Carlson and Clem Lyons.

Participating clubs will be: The Kitten Kozzy Korner Klub and the Lucky Eight 4-H Club of American Ridge; the Big Bear Ridge 4-H Club, and the White Pine 4-H Club of Troy.

MORE INTERESTING LETTERS FROM BEVERLY SCHUPFER

From Graz, Austria, where she is a University student, Beverly Schupfer has written more interesting letters to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Schupfer, and to her cousin, Mari-bow Schupfer, and by permission we reprint portions of them:

November 5 — Last week-end six students from Vienna came to visit us and it was so good to see them again. We have sort of formed a little group with Bob and I as the southern branch, and we have so much fun together, and the kids are all so nice. They were really impressed with Graz.

I have met the family of Otto Saka (the Graz student at the U. of I.) and they are very nice. His step-sister, Dr. Pfanner, has helped us both and sort of gotten us started in several things. Last Wednesday evening I went with her to sing in a choir and I enjoyed it a lot, and think that I'll go regularly. It is just a group of people who sing for the fun of it and the director is very good. We saw "Four In a Jeep" twice this last week. The first time we didn't understand it all, and also we didn't know what parts of it were shot here in Graz, so went again yesterday to see Graz. Our German teacher at the Anderl-Rogge told us what to look for. If you have a chance to see it, do go, but don't let it scare you, because the Russians don't go chasing everyone like that. And when the M. P.'s from the four different armies are in the courtyard for inspection before climbing into their jeeps to go on duty, that was taken in our Landhauser here in Graz. When we were in Vienna we saw a lot of jeeps with the four different M. P.'s because we were mostly in the International zone. And then the scene where William Long crossed the Enns bridge on the rainy night is good, and is what we have gone through twice now, only on rainy days. The train is stopped for about 30 minutes while everyone's "gray passes" are inspected, and the guards stand around outside just like Wally in the movie, and they are strictly forbidden to speak to anyone.

You asked me when Thanksgiving in Austria is celebrated. Did you forget that it is an American holiday? They didn't have the same pilgrims over here. They do have a special Sunday at the church where they offer thanks for a good harvest, but it isn't such a special holiday.

There are quite a few automobiles here, although not nearly so many as at home, and most of them are much smaller, and probably hold only four people comfortably. Gasoline is about 2 schillings 80 grochen for a liter (slightly more than a quart). That is about 11c.

Not everyone has a telephone, but there are a lot of public phones on the street corners and in public buildings. They are all dial phones and the calling business is a little different than in the United States. I think that you pay according to the number of calls you make or the time you actually spend on the phone. When I make a call from a public phone I pay for five minutes, and can make as many calls as possible in that length of time. There is a little hand that goes around, sort of like our time chime, and when you hang up the receiver to look up another number, it stops.

I haven't found out about the electricity rates, but think that they are probably quite high. It is used for cooking and water heating, but they are much more sparing with it than we are at home. Most everyone tries to see with a 40 or 60 watt bulb, and I should think they would go blind living in the half darkness all the time.

November 27 — At last I have my stovepipe up and it is such a luxury to sit in a nice warm room and write letters. That is one reason I have been so slow, because it has been a little too cool to spend too much time in my room in the evenings.

We have had quite a strenuous week since last Wednesday, and very eventful. I'll have to start back at the beginning when we left Graz for Vienna to spend Thanksgiving with the kids there. We left Graz on Wednesday evening at 7:00, and since we can't go over Semmering we were on the train until 7:00 in the morning, with two hours in Linz in the middle of the night. The trip to Linz was quite uneventful, and we walked around the town a little bit, although it was raining and not too pleasant. When it was time to get on the train, we found that there was no more room in the third class car, and we couldn't see standing or leaning for the rest of the night, so we splurged and bought second class tickets the rest of the way to Vienna. That was very comfortable, and not crowded at all. In the second class there are separate compartments, with huge seats facing each other and we had one all to ourselves, so could stretch out and really relax. Two trains leave Linz at about the same time. The train from Paris was rather full, so we got on the one from Amsterdam. (Doesn't this sound continental?) Someone had left an Amsterdam paper on the seat, and we had a great time trying to figure out what was news in Holland. The car was nearly empty, only one other compartment full way at the other end. But we weren't alone for long. Right after we had been checked at the Enns bridge by the Russians we had a lot of com-

Mr. Berreman was born Feb. 2, 1885, at Grant City, Mo. As a child of three he came with his parents to Southwick, Idaho.

He married Carrie V. Welker at Moscow, Oct. 6, 1909.

Mr. and Mrs. Berreman operated a farm between Southwick and Cameron until 1937, when they moved to Kendrick, and then to Clarkston. Here he was an orchardist, and was employed at the Garlinghouse Marble works at Lewiston until forced to retire eight years ago because of ill health.

Horace Noble Succumbs

Horace Noble, an Inland Empire resident since 1890, when he drove the horse and wagon freight between Lewiston and Pierce City, died Saturday at Clarkston at the age of 95. He had been a Clarkston resident for 33 years, and once owned the largest chicken ranch on the Clarkston flat.

Between times he was a hotel and restaurant owner, livery stable operator, dairy rancher and general manager.

Mr. Noble was born Aug. 1, 1856, at Jo Davies, Ill., and married Charlotte Stump at Little Compton, Mo., on Jan. 21, 1879. Together, he and Charlotte Stump Noble celebrated 70 wedding anniversaries.

They moved to Frazier, Idaho, in 1890, and homesteaded there while Mr. Noble drove freight between Lewiston and Pierce City. In 1896 they moved to Cavendish and took over the operation of a hotel, store and restaurant, and for two years carried on this business at the same time operating a similar enterprise at Kendrick.

They built and operated the first hotel and livery stable in the Orofino area in 1899, later operating a general merchandise store at Juliaetta, and after a time moved to Modesto, Calif., to engage in the dairy business.

Car Takes Nose Dive

Mrs. Alfred Swanson and three children of Crescent were returning home from a shopping trip to Lewiston, last Saturday, about 5:00 p. m., when their car plunged over the bank on the Wauncher gulch grade.

Mrs. Swanson took her eyes from the road an instant to check on the baby, who was in the back seat, and just that quick, as she rounded a curve, the car pulled to the right and plunged over the side, rolling over and over, and finally hitting a bunch of willows, which broke the roll, and caused the car to stop right side up on its wheels.

Henry Jones was on his way to town when he heard someone calling, and thinking it was someone who wanted a ride to town, stopped and listened. It was then he discovered the voice coming from down by the creek bottom, calling for help.

He made his way down the steep bank, to find no one seriously hurt. The little eight-year-old boy had a cut over the right eye, but aside from being shaken up, all had miraculously escaped injury. However, the car, a 1941 Chevrolet, was completely demolished.

The place where the car left the road was about 200 yards above the place where the Milton Benjamin car rolled a couple of years ago.

Mr. Jones brought Mrs. Swanson and the children into Dr. Christensen's office, where the little son's cut was treated and all were checked.

Some Logging Going On

A few logging trucks have been seen this past week going through town with loads, their operation being made possible by the frozen ground.

Parents Of Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Weaver of Cedar ridge are the parents of a 6-pound daughter, born to them at the family home, Monday, December 10th. Mother and babe are doing nicely.

Santa Arrives Saturday At 2:00

Santa Claus will pay his annual visit to Kendrick next Saturday, Dec. 15, at 2:00 o'clock, and all area residents are urged to come and bring the little children, for he will have treats for them.

At 2:00 o'clock there will be music, furnished by the district schools; a prayer by Rev. K. L. Hardin, and Rev. F. C. Schmidt will read the Christmas story.

Then Santa will make his appearance with a great big bag full of treats.

Immediately after Santa's departure there will be a free show, compliments of the Kendrick Theater, "Rusty's Birthday." See their ad.

JACOB BERREMAN, FORMER CAMERON RESIDENT, DIES

Jacob Berreman, age 66, died Saturday afternoon, Dec. 8, at 12:55 at his home at 1340 13th St., Clarkston. He had been in poor health for the last eight years and critically ill since suffering a heart attack on Sunday, Dec. 2nd.

Mr. Berreman was born Feb. 2, 1885, at Grant City, Mo. As a child of three he came with his parents to Southwick, Idaho.

He married Carrie V. Welker at Moscow, Oct. 6, 1909.

Mr. and Mrs. Berreman operated a farm between Southwick and Cameron until 1937, when they moved to Kendrick, and then to Clarkston. Here he was an orchardist, and was employed at the Garlinghouse Marble works at Lewiston until forced to retire eight years ago because of ill health.

He was a communicant of the Clarkston Christian Church.

Besides his wife survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Reva LaHatt and Mrs. Veva Woodward, both of Clarkston; one brother, Delbert Berreman of Clarkston, and a step-mother, Mrs. W. H. Berreman, also of Clarkston.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at Merchant's Funeral home, Clarkston, with the Rev. Paul Deane Hill of Lewiston officiating. Hymns were sung by Mrs. Marvin Rice, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Viola Cook.

Burial was in Normal Hill cemetery, Lewiston. Pallbearers were Russell Rodgers, Claude Palmer, Myron Whispell, Cleve Hardisay, Edgar Estes and Richard Garlinghouse.

Horace Noble Succumbs

Horace Noble, an Inland Empire resident since 1890, when he drove the horse and wagon freight between Lewiston and Pierce City, died Saturday at Clarkston at the age of 95. He had been a Clarkston resident for 33 years, and once owned the largest chicken ranch on the Clarkston flat.

Between times he was a hotel and restaurant owner, livery stable operator, dairy rancher and general manager.

Mr. Noble was born Aug. 1, 1856, at Jo Davies, Ill., and married Charlotte Stump at Little Compton, Mo., on Jan. 21, 1879. Together, he and Charlotte Stump Noble celebrated 70 wedding anniversaries.

They moved to Frazier, Idaho, in 1890, and homesteaded there while Mr. Noble drove freight between Lewiston and Pierce City. In 1896 they moved to Cavendish and took over the operation of a hotel, store and restaurant, and for two years carried on this business at the same time operating a similar enterprise at Kendrick.

They built and operated the first hotel and livery stable in the Orofino area in 1899, later operating a general merchandise store at Juliaetta, and after a time moved to Modesto, Calif., to engage in the dairy business.

His survivors include three sons: Dr. J. W. Noble of Vancouver, Wn.; W. H. Noble of Spokane, and Charley Noble, Avon, Idaho, and a daughter, Mrs. J. E. DeBaun of Clarkston.

Funeral services were held at the Merchant Funeral Home at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday, with the Rev. E. G. Rankin of the Methodist church officiating. Burial was in Normal Hill cemetery, Lewiston.

Car Takes Nose Dive

Mrs. Alfred Swanson and three children of Crescent were returning home from a shopping trip to Lewiston, last Saturday, about 5:00 p. m., when their car plunged over the bank on the Wauncher gulch grade.

Mrs. Swanson took her eyes from the road an instant to check on the baby, who was in the back seat, and just that quick, as she rounded a curve, the car pulled to the right and plunged over the side, rolling over and over, and finally hitting a bunch of willows, which broke the roll, and caused the car to stop right side up on its wheels.

Henry Jones was on his way to town when he heard someone calling, and thinking it was someone who wanted a ride to town, stopped and listened. It was then he discovered the voice coming from down by the creek bottom, calling for help.

He made his way down the steep bank, to find no one seriously hurt. The little eight-year-old boy had a cut over the right eye, but aside from being shaken up, all had miraculously escaped injury. However, the car, a 1941 Chevrolet, was completely demolished.

The place where the car left the road was about 200 yards above the place where the Milton Benjamin car rolled a couple of years ago.

Mr. Jones brought Mrs. Swanson and the children into Dr. Christensen's office, where the little son's cut was treated and all were checked.

W. S. C. S. To Meet

The Kendrick W. S. C. S. will meet Thursday afternoon in the church.

Mrs. Hiram Galloway has charge of the program. All are reminded to bring their gifts for the Christmas box to the Seward, Alaska, hospital.

Southwick Couple Parents

Mr. and Mrs. Art McKeinsey of Southwick are the parents of a daughter, born December 8, at the Davidson Nursing home at Kendrick.

The first long distance two-way telephone conversation took place in 1867.

Slowly Improving
Little Delores Duncan, Kendrick, who was burned severely a couple of weeks ago at the family home, is slowly improving, and her future looks bright, compared to that fateful evening.

Friends who have called on Mrs. Duncan tell us that she is most grateful and appreciative to all who have been so kind and helpful, and who sent gifts to their little daughter.

Mrs. Duncan is also thankful that the extent of the burns is no worse. Delores' back, hips and one leg include the area that will have to undergo skin grafts, and her father will give skin for this surgery.

While little Delores is almost covered with bandages, her face is free, and her hands, so she can do some hand work.

The nurses say she is a model patient and very cooperative. Even though she knows she can't come home for Christmas, she is happy, for she knows she has many friends and Santa will find her at the hospital.

Is A Kendrick Booster
In a brief note received Monday, Kyle M. Anderson of Portland, former Kendrick resident, says: "Am enclosing a check for the paper for another year. I don't think I could stand to live in Portland and all the rain without the Gazette."

C. C. Y. Group Meets

The C. C. Y. met in the church basement Sunday evening, and voted to sponsor a cooked food sale for the purpose of raising money for the fireplace fund. All those interested in helping this worthy project along are asked to bring articles of cooked food to the Bowling alley Saturday morning, Dec. 15. All donations will be greatly appreciated by the young people.

Work on the fireplace has begun. Saturday a group of boys, assisted by Rev. Schmidt, dug the hole for the chimney base, and this week men have started chipping out a hole in the wall.

The subject for discussion was "Family Problems," and the group entered into a lively debate. The group decided to discontinue the Wednesday evening bowling until further notice.

The next meeting will be Sunday evening, Dec. 16, at 7:00 o'clock, in the church, with the theme: "Christmas Customs."

Boxer Finds New Home

"Butch," the big German Boxer dog belonging to Lt. Col. Aaron Blewett, Moscow, has lost his happy home, only to find a new one, at the Tom Keene residence in Kendrick.

"Butch," (a blue blood with a very lengthy pedigree) accompanied the Blewett family from Germany and has been a constant companion of the family and their two children until recently, when they moved and discovered no dogs were allowed by their landlady.

"Butch" is a huge dog, and looks ferocious, but loves children and is as gentle as a kitten with them. The Keene children have taken him to their hearts, and he in turn is "soaking up" all the love and affection three little children can bestow on him.

Tom says he was really startled the other morning when "Butch" came up from the basement and just "walked right through" a small gate at the head of the basement stairs, put there to keep their youngest son, Timmy, from falling down the stairs.

Livestock Program Offered

Livestock men of Latah county will be offered the following program, Monday, Dec. 17, in Moscow: Films: "Cattle Country" and "Western Sheep"; Slides: "Livestock Loss Prevention"; Discussions: "Grasslands" and "External Parasite Control."

The program will be offered in two sessions. Number 1 will be from 9:30 to 12:00, and will be primarily for veterans groups, vocational agriculture classes and 4-H Clubs. The afternoon session, 1:30 to 4:00, will be open to the public.

Arrangements for the program were made by Elbert McProud, county agent, in cooperation with personnel of the Union Pacific railroad. It will be held in a specially equipped car.

Make Big Tax Payment

A $23,583 tax payment will be made tomorrow, December 14, to Latah county by the Washington Water Power company, the first half of 1951 property taxes for the firm.

Herman Schupfer, local representative for WWP, said the total tax for the year would be $47,166, an increase of $4,476 over last year's payments because of higher levies. The company's total 1951 tax bill in nine Idaho counties will amount to $442,807.92, eight per cent greater than in 1950, the WWP official added.

Following is the amount of property tax being paid to other Idaho counties tomorrow: Benewah, $10,539; Bonner, $2,662; Clearwater, $10,029; Idaho, $12,610; Kootenai, $65,883; Lewis, $6,268; Nez Perce, $61,570; and Shoshone, $26,693.00.

Honors Son On Anniversary

Mrs. Clarence Wilson entertained thirteen small guests Friday afternoon at a party honoring her son Ricky on his fifth birthday anniversary.

Guests were Ida Glenn, Dana Magnuson, Donna Johnson, Koko Keene, Bobby Wilson, Dean Brocke, Janet Eldridge, Mickey Merz, Linda Jean Brocke, Judy Candler, David Wilson and Janet and Jane Westendahl.

Games were played and ice cream and birthday cake served.

Other afternoon guests were Mrs. Stewart Wilson and daughter Wilma; Mrs. George Brocke, Jr., Mrs. Kirk Wilson, Dorothy and Rosie, and Delores Brocke.

Temperature Goes "Boom"

Last Tuesday night the weatherman decided that we had had enough of March weather, and brought in a bit of real December, just to keep things from getting monotonous.

Tuesday night snow fell on top the hills, reaching a depth of two to three inches. If then thawed and froze, coating many roads with a glaze of ice that made travel hazardous. Here in the canyon, no snow fell, but the temperature dropped to below the freezing point, and has been holding there steadily.

Punchboards, Spindles, Gone

The familiar punchboards, ranging from candy and peanut awards, to money boards, disappeared last week from all Kendrick places of business — removed by the new federal tax on such items, a tax which made it impossible to operate them for a profit, and involving considerable red-tape, such as an employee "stamp purchase," etc.

To Spokane For Examination
Axel Swanson, Juliaetta, was taken to Spokane Friday, where he underwent an examination by a specialist for possible surgery on arthritis damaged knee and leg joints, but was found not yet ready for such treatment.

Adrian Johns took Axel to Spokane in his station wagon. He was accompanied by Irvin Swanson. All returned home that night.

Many Game Law Violations

Fish and game law violations resulted in 169 arrests during November, the game department announced this week.

Largest individual fine was assessed against an American Falls man for killing an elk without a permit on the Pocatello special hunt. The court found this illegal activity improper to the extent of $200.

Unlawful possession of moose meat resulted in fines totaling $600 when four Coeur d'Alene residents were each fined $150 for this violation. Conservation officers in Nez Perce, Latah and Kootenai counties combined operations to make the investigation and arrest.

Shooting at and killing protected swan was expensive for several hunters when fines totalling $325 were charged against four men.

The department said that convictions resulted in a total of $5,860 in fines. Under the law one half of all fish and game fines are retained in the county in which the case was held.

Cleaning Streets

Last week Wm. Bamberly and Charley McCarthy were busily engaged in cleaning Kendrick's oiled streets and putting them in shape for winter, and they just completed the job in time, for Wednesday night it began freezing, and removal of the last of summer's leaves and trash would now be impossible.

However, the streets and the park were very thoroughly cleaned, the best job we have seen for several years.

Word From Kloster Family

In a brief note accompanying a subscription remittance, Mr. and Mrs. Arne Kloster, Marysville, Wn., but formerly of Cedar ridge, say in part:

"Please tell all our old friends 'hello' for us. — The Klosters."

Kendrick's Main street is putting on holiday dress this week at the hands of Wm. Bamberly, Herman and Otto Schupfer, and others.

Garlands of evergreens and lights are being hung overhead, and all we need now to complete the picture is snow. But snow or no snow, Santa will be here, and he will find Kendrick ready to greet him!

National Park Travel High
Final figures for the 1951 summer season have just been released by Yellowstone National Park and Mt. Ranier National Park to show that these two great scenic attractions in the Pacific Northwest drew record numbers of tourists this year. Yellowstone National Park has set a new-all time total for travel, according to Edmund B. Rogers, supt. For the fourth consecutive year the park's travel exceeded the million mark. A total of 1,166,346 persons were checked in at the five park gateways for the period from October 1, 1950 through September 30, 1951, showing an increase of 5.08 percent over the 1,109,926 persons for 1950. The total number of visitors for the 1949 travel year was 1,133,516, which was 2.9 percent less than for the 1951 travel year, but which was the previous travel record for the park. Three hundred fifty-one thousand four hundred thirty-four motor vehicles were checked in at the park gates during 1951 as compared to 335,178 during 1950. The report from Ranier National Park shows that during the 1951 travel year, which ended September 30, the 871,577 visitors set an all-time record. This figure greatly exceeds the previous record of 580,135 people recorded during the 1948 travel year and is a 53 percent increase over the 1950 figure of 568,098 visitors. A record visitation figure for a single day to the park was registered Sunday, July 22, when 25,466 entered the park. In the distribution of travel by states to Mt. Ranier, Washington, of course, led; California was second; Oregon, third; Illinois, fourth;

Machinery Life Cut To Half by Exposure Storage Building Will Reduce-Farm Overhead

Since farmers reduce by half the life of machinery left exposed to the weather through the winter months, according to a recent university survey, they will find it in their interest financially to replace old, inadequate and inefficient sheds with modern, well-planned structures.

The survey showed the life of equipment, housed and unhoused, as follows: Walking plows, 20 years or 15; cultivators 20 or eight; gang plows, 20 or 10; mowers, 12 or seven; corn planter, eight or four; binder, 12 or five; wagon, 24 or 19; and disc harrow, 15 or eight.

"No matter what the cost of building, it is always cheaper than machinery," an agricultural engineer reports. "No building on the farm will pay better dividends than the machinery shed."

Typical of the modern type machinery building being used on many farms is the one pictured above. It is located on the Vincent Lilly farm near Rochester, Minn. Its dimensions, 24 by 48 feet, and the absence of inside posts due to the arched roof construction, provide ample room for the farmer's machinery.

City People With Money Inflate Farm-Land Market

The agriculture department reports that city folks with money—and worries about possible further shrinkage in its buying power—are helping to inflate the farm-land market.

Many buyers are businessmen and investors who are seeking good farms as an investment hedge against inflation. As a result farm prices increased on a national average basis 3 per cent between July and November of last year. They now are 5 per cent above the record set in March, 1920.

The department said land values advanced in all states. The east north central states showed the largest average gain for any region — 6 per cent—but the west north central, west south central and pacific regions were up 5 per cent.

Average prices are higher than a year ago in all but three states. Florida showed the largest gain—19 per cent—largely because of favorable returns from citrus fruits and pasture lands.

Bad Utensils Can Hurt Quality of Milk, Cream

Milk pails, milking machine containers, strainers or milk and cream cans often are the cause of poor quality milk and cream, according to dairy marketing specialists.

Dairy utensils with open seams, rusty spots or rough surfaces caused by dents, rough solder or milkstone cannot be properly cleaned. Bacteria thrive in these places because small portions of milk or cream lodge in the crevices.

Name 4 Idaho 4-H Winners

TOP RANKING records in the 1951 National 4-H Dress Revue, Beautification of Home Grounds, Soil-and-Water Conservation and Tractor Maintenance programs have brought state honors to four Idaho club members.

To fashion a softly-draped dress of a tailored tweed is simple for Darlene Young, 15, Boise, 4-H Dress Revue winner in Idaho. Darlene made her winter coat and suit, with matching stole and velvet hat. A hounds-tooth green, rust and white checked wool was the material fashioned into a straight coat with butterfly sleeves and turned back cuffs. The collar and cuffs are trimmed with green velvet. Darlene used solid green wool gabardine, which matched the coat check to make a tailored suit with straight skirt and self-covered buttons. Green velvet hat and a stole combining coat and suit materials, black shoes, purse and gloves complete her costume. Darlene was a guest of Simplicity Pattern Co. at the 1951 Chicago 4-H Club Congress.

was donated by Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen. The control of water and soil erosion is of vital importance to Douglas Kugler, 14, of Rathdrum. Judged state winner of the 17-jewel wrist watch award in the 4-H Soil and Water Conservation program, he has gained valuable knowledge of the use of land and its management, and made an important contribution to the community and national welfare. By preserving the soil with fertilizer, careful planting of legumes, crop rotation, and fall plowing Douglas has helped to keep the 800-acres of the Kugler farm productive. He has held the office of president of his local 4-H Club for the past two years. Firestone is the donor of awards in this program. Roger Jones, 17, of Kendrick,

A well-deserved honor went to Aloa Stevens, 17, of Buhl, who was named state winner of the 4-H Beautification of Home Grounds program. Earnest planning, diligent study and hours of hard work went into the many improvements accomplished. The outdoor fireplace which Aloa helped build, plus the many flowers and especially the old-fashioned flower garden she planted, make their outdoor meals a treat to the eye as well as the taste. Aloa has also painted the sidewalks and outdoor furniture and helped paint the house. By spraying for weeds, reseeding the bare spots and planting evergreens Aloa has achieved landscape gardening results that would do credit to a professional. A 17-jewel wrist watch award has been judged Idaho champion in the 4-H Tractor Maintenance program. A club member for six years, Roger has spent two years learning about farm machinery. "A tractor that continually breaks down is no faster than a horse." This was Roger's belief and a horse was too slow for the work he had to do. Several courses in Tractor Maintenance raised Roger's skills to the point where his family has been able to greatly increase the size of their farm and spend less time working it because the tractor doesn't break down. Not wishing to keep a "good thing" to himself, Roger has influenced others towards the proper care of mechanical equipment on the farm. Roger's trip was provided by the Utah Oil Refining Company.

All of these activities are conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agricultural College and USDA cooperating.

license number, make and type of the car or truck, since cars are frequently used for "spotting operations." With close cooperation among cattle owners, cattlemen's associations, county sheriff's offices, brand inspectors and other law enforcement agencies, today's rustlers can be brought to justice.

Seals Buy Many X-Rays
During the first nine months of operation, 57,370 free chest x-rays were taken by Idaho's mobile chest x-ray unit, Miss Frances Goodwin, executive director of the Idaho Tuberculosis association said this week. Of these, 603 were determined to have suspicious signs of tuberculosis, 396 suspicious signs of cardiac abnormalities, and 402 suspicious signs of miscellaneous diseases such as tumors, cancer of the lung, silicosis and others.

By October 19, 47 cases of tuberculosis, previously unknown, had been found, of which 29 were active, infectious cases, and 18 were inactive. This total, however, represented only a portion of the total number of films taken as it requires time for the physician to make a definite diagnosis of tuberculosis. She emphasized the fact that this was only a screen process and only your physician can make a definite di-agnosis. There is an intense interest in Idaho in the mobile chest x-ray program, added Miss Goodwin. In many communities we have taken x-rays of 100 percent of the estimated population. This interest is further indicated by the fact that only 15 persons have not yet reported for follow-up x-ray films and diagnosis. It is believed that this interest is the result of the intensive educational program carried on through the years by the Idaho Tuberculosis association and its local affiliates, a program that has been made possible by the sale of Christmas Seals.

The mobile chest x-ray unit, purchased with Christmas Seal funds, has already proven itself a valuable health aid in Idaho. The program is jointly sponsored by the Idaho Tuberculosis Association and the Idaho Department of Public Health.

Every Dog Has His Day
Every dog has his day. Idaho dogs will have theirs August 16. On that date it is legal and proper to begin training hunting dogs in the field on game birds. Closed season for such activity has been maintained since April 1. During spring and early summer months running of dogs in bird territory is prohibited by the state fish and game commission for the protection of young birds.

By the middle of August most broods of pheasants, partridge, and quail are large enough to fly and take care of themselves. Hunting for upland game birds begins November 1 at 12 o'clock noon. In western and northern counties the pheasant season lasts until November 21. In eastern and central Idaho pheasants may be shot until November 11. Bag and possession limit is two cocks in all open counties except western Idaho where the limit is three cocks. Hens are protected throughout the state.

Safe Braking Margin Varies

Importance of driving in accordance with highway conditions is illustrated by this diagrammatic view prepared by Chevrolet in the interest of traffic safety. Standard braking tables reveal 190 feet is required for a stop at 50 miles an hour, allowing three-quarters of a second for a driver's reaction to an emergency. When the pavement is wet, however, the distance increases to 250 feet. On icy pavement 472 feet will be covered before a car brakes to a complete stop.

CATTLE RUSTLING AGAIN BECOMING BIG PROBLEM

The cattle rustler of old has not disappeared; he has simply adopted new methods and procedures to old fashioned stealing. Unlike the rustler of a decade ago, the one of today is in an excellent position to take advantage of our rapid mode of transportation. He uses a truck, and operates along the highways, hunting cattle grazing along or near the road. The night-time "highway rustler" presents a particular problem, because he locates the cattle in the daytime. During the night, he uses modern facilities to load the animals, and by taking advantage of our modern-day transportation, he can be hundreds of miles away within a few hours.

A factor which complicates such road-side thefts, is that usually only one animal is taken from any one owner. Often the victim concludes that the animal has merely strayed, and therefore considerable time elapses before the report of the theft is brought to the attention of the proper officials.

During periods of shortages, or meat rationing, cattle thefts are prone to increase with the stolen animals being channeled into the black market. However, scientific approach to the modern day cattle theft investigation is designed to cope with the modern day methods used by the thieves.

The following, says the Idaho State Brand Inspector department, are the protective measures which should be taken by every cattle grower to prevent theft:

Speed in reporting missing cattle is most important. Quick action must be taken if, through immediate butchering and rapid transportation, the stolen animal is not to be lost as evidence. Failure to report thefts promptly, minimizes the chances of concluding the investigation successfully.

All cattle should be branded for identification.

Growers should also take advantage of "herd brands." Recent amendments to our brand laws entitle associations to use "herd brands." Such brands permit the rider to keep calves branded for protection and identification, and later each animal can be branded with the individual's brand. Stock in pastures should be checked frequently and particularly those near roads.

Should a grower become suspicious of a strange vehicle appearing on his range or near his pastures, he should endeavor to jot down the

Here are some things to think about. There's the way Chevrolet looks. Nice clean, curved lines—like cars in the high-price field! Chevrolet's Body by Fisher sets the pace among low-priced cars. There's the way Chevrolet rides and handles. The smoothness and big-car comfort of Uni-

There's the way Chevrolet saves. Chevrolet is the lowest-priced line in the field and the savings go on and on with low operating costs.

There are plenty more reasons why Chevrolet is America's favorite. Come in and let us show them to you.

BEVERLY SCHUPFER WRITES

pany. About 12 Russian soldiers got on and moved into the compartment on each side of us. They went almost into Vienna, but weren't as undesirable travelling companions as a group of American soldiers might be. They are all so young, every Russian soldier looks as if he couldn't be more than 17 or 18, and they remind me of the kids at home, only they were so stern and brusque. But did they ever rattle off the Russian in the train! One of them was named Vassily, but that was all we could make out. They kept making a mistake and coming into our compartment all the time. I feel so sorry for them, although I am scared to death of any of them. They carry the wickedest guns, and have them even when off duty. Grace and Joan in Vienna had an interesting experience with two Russian sailors on a local train over the week-end. They were completely taken with the sailors because they spoke a little German, and were so lively, and when Joan said that she was from Chicago, one of them jumped up and did a little dance to the tune of "Chicago." The Russians didn't know that the girls were American, though, they thought that they were something else. When they got up to get off the train, they pulled great big rifles down off the baggage rack, and I guess Grace and Joan nearly curled up, but they assured them that they wouldn't use them.

I'm off the trail of my story a little bit. We had breakfast with the kids in Vienna, who met us at the station in a terrible downpour of rain. It rained every day that we were there. They had thought that we would want to sleep, but we weren't too sleepy, so they went on to their classes, all except Walt Fry, and he and Bob and I went to the big indoor swimming pool and had a swim. The pool is beautiful and even has an artificial wave-making machine.

In the evening we went to the opera and saw Johann Strauss's Gypsy Baron, and it was just about the most thrilling production that I have ever seen. The first two acts were not too fast moving, but the third act! No technicolor movie that I have ever seen can begin to match it. We just sat there spellbound as if it were all a dream. The setting was on the Kammerstrasse, the Park Avenue of Vienna, dated before the turn of the century in the really gay Vienna.

On Friday noon we all met and ate at the "Rathauskeller," a famous restaurant, and also quite expensive. We went there partly because we had heard that Bundespräsident Korner eats there every noon, but we didn't expect that there was much chance of seeing him, but as we were getting our coats to leave he passed us on his way back to Burg, (seat of the government; the old royal palace). Maybe I should explain that the Bundespräsident is the president of Austria. He is a very colorful old man, about as common as can be.

In the afternoon Grace, Joan and I went up to Dalton's to make mince pies for our Thanksgiving dinner that we had on Saturday. The Dalton's are good friends of Ted's, and have rather adopted him while he is here. Mr. Dalton works for the U. S. here in Austria, and they have a beautiful apartment in Vienna, just like home. It was the first real bathroom I have seen since I left the Independence and I just couldn't look long enough at a real bathroom with hot water just by turning the tap. Mostly here you have to light a fire under something to get hot water. It just doesn't come.

On Saturday morning we went to the Art Museum, which is the second largest in the world, and has priceless treasures. There is a painting by Raphael, "Madonna of the Fields." We saw it before on a quick trip through the museum during the orientation week, but this time we went more slowly and bought a guide book. After we had finished looking in the Art Museum we went across the square to the Museum of Natural History (they are twin buildings) and looked at stuffed birds, pickled snakes, butterflies and all kinds of fish. I even found a Rainbow trout. By the time that museum closed at 1:00 o'clock it was time to go to the Gasthaus and have our turkey dinner. The girls made arrangements with the proprietor to roast a turkey just for us and gave him all the instruction about how to prepare it like an American dinner, and he did a wonderful job. We even had soft rolls and butter, which took a lot of explaining by Grace and Joan a few days before. They tried to explain to Frolich what a roll was and had to do everything but act it out. Finally they remembered that there is a pastry here that is quite like our rolls, only with fruit in the center. So they ordered this without the fruit, and it was exactly what we wanted. The whole thing surpassed even our wildest dream.

We had to eat our pie rather hurriedly so that we could make it to an orchestra concert at 4:00 in the afternoon. The different radio stations here quite often sponsor concerts for the public, and this was the Vienna Philharmonic.

On Sunday morning we went out to the Prater (the biggest amusement park in the world, I believe) and rode on the Riesenrad, which is the largest ferris wheel. The wheel has twelve cars on it, each one just a little bit smaller than a street car, and it is about 200 feet high. We could see the whole city below us, with the tower of St. Stephens cathedral to our right.

After dinner we went out to visit an Austria family who are friends of Fred and Ted's, and the mother made Apfelstrudel for us. These people are terribly poor and just don't have anything, but they really know how to entertain. There is a son and daughter, and they took us for a little walk to the palace of Schonbrunn, which isn't far from where they live. Schonbrunn is very beautiful. It is often compared with the palace of Versailles in France, but is not quite so large. It was built by Maria Teresa and the inside is so richly furnished. Emperor Franz Joseph was the last monarch to live there, and the last time we were in Vienna we went on a tour through the inside and saw his apartments. The decorations on the ceilings and walls is done with pure gold. Some of the rooms are entirely of inlaid wood, even the ceiling, and one room is decorated so daintly that it looks like it is of porcelain china.

On Sunday evening we heard the Vienna Choir Boys in a concert. They sing every Sunday morning at morning mass at the court chapel, but we had never yet been able to go, so heard them in concert instead. Maybe you think that is enough for just one extended week-end, but there is still more! Peter and Martin Bischof (Marian's doctor's friends sons) went with us and afterward we all went up to the "Hochhaus" terrace for dinner. The Hochhaus is the skyscraper of Vienna (only six stories high) and at the top there is a glassed-in restaurant, and it is very plush. There was a good orchestra that sounded so American because they played Cole Porter and all the nicest popular songs, and even played "Tennessee Waltz" at our request. We had our dinner and stayed until after midnight, just having fun dancing and enjoying the atmosphere. It was by far the most elegant place I've been in, here or at home, and was all modern, very much reminding me of our dining room on the ship. And what a comparatively cheap evening! Including everything, elevator, coat checks, cover charge, dinner and music, we paid about the equivalent of $1.50.

STONY POINT NEWS

Dec. 11 — Mrs. Lena ZumHofe returned Sunday from a three-week stay in Seattle with her brother, George Denner, who underwent surgery there.

Pvt. Lee Heath telephoned his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Newt. Heath Sunday from Port Monmouth, in New Jersey, with the good news that he expects to be home for Christmas.

Miss Frieda Haag is still at the home of her sister, Mrs. Alvin Weichmann, recuperating from a broken leg. Her doctor removed the pins from the bone last Thursday, but she will have to wear the cast, which reaches from her ankle to her hip, until January.

Loren Hoisington has been helping put an addition of two rooms on the Weichmann home. Both rooms are now completed; one will be a downstairs bedroom, the other a room for the deep freeze and refrigerator.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson and family were Sunday visitors at the Alvin Weichmann home. Afternoon callers were Mr. and Mrs. Newt. Heath.

Mr. and Mrs. Oney Walker of Lapwai; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Powell of Spalding and Miss Carol Powell of Spokane were Saturday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Stevens.

Don Heath and his uncle, John Heath, motored to Boise, Sunday, where John Heath expected to enter the Veterans' hospital.

Aliens Must Register
Spokane, Wash (Special) — Atty. General J. Howard McGrath today reminded all aliens that they must submit current address reports through any U. S. post office during the period January 1 to 11, inclusive.

Under the amended law any alien residing in the United States on January 1, 1952, except one in an authorized temporary status, must notify the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, Washington, D. C., of his current address within ten days thereafter and during the same period in each succeeding year.

A. R. Mackey, Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, said that the Immigration and Naturalization Service will make available forms for submitting the required reports at all post offices throughout the continental United States, and territories. Mr. Mackey also advised aliens that it is to their distinct advantage to promptly notify the Immigration and Naturalization service in Washington, D. C., of any change of address during the period between annual address reports. This will facilitate and greatly help the handling of all records pertaining to aliens and their families.
