GEORGIA FAY ENYEART IS BRIDE OF PHIL SOUTHWICK

Georgia Faye Enyeart, Juliaetta, Idaho, a daughter of Mrs. Fay Stephens, and Phil Adair Southwick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Southwick of Southwick, Idaho were united in marriage at a beautiful candle-light ceremony Saturday evening, December 15th at 7:00 o'clock in the Juliaetta Methodist church, the Rev. F. C. Schmidt, pastor, officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by an uncle, Singleton Bryant of Ahsahka.

The bride was attired in a white satin gown with sweetheart neck, and lace trimmed bodice, the lace being repeated down the length of the train. Her veil was of net, also trimmed in lace. She carried a white orchid on a white Bible, the latter a gift of her mother. Two strands of pearls encircled her neck. The bride wore the traditional something new, old, borrowed and blue, with a penny in her shoe for good luck.

Her maid-of-honor, Miss Clara Darico, a sister of the bride, Juliaetta. Bridesmaids were Miss Connie Freeman, a close friend of the bride, from Juliaetta, and Mrs. Carl Hanks, Lewiston Orchards, a sister of the groom.

The groom was attired in a conventional grey suit with gardenia boutonniere.

Candlelighters were Mona Hammond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hammond of Juliaetta, and Alice Whitman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Say Whitman of Juliaetta.

Best man was Fenton Hill of Ahsahka, Idaho, a close friend of the groom. Ushers were Leonard Cole, of Cavendish, another close friend of the groom, and Edwin Hanks of Lewiston Orchards, a brother-in-law of the groom.

Virginia Cuddy, cousin of the groom was pianist and played "Prelude in C Minor" by Chopin, and "Choral" by Liszt. She also played Lohengrin's "Bridal March" and the recessional by Mendelssohn, and "A Perfect Day" by Carrie Jacobs Bond.

The vows were repeated in front of the altar, which was decorated with spruce boughs, and two large baskets of pink carnations interspersed with white pom pom mums. Candlelight flickered from two large candleabras, adding to the solemnity of the occasion. Huge white bows decorated the pews, and other flowers and candles completed the pretty setting.

Some of the out-of-town guests were cousins of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bashaw, Orofino, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thornton, also of Orofino, uncle and aunt of the groom.

The bride has been employed for the past year and a half at Wayne's Place, in Juliaetta. The bridegroom is a "cat" operator for Hibbard & Tower at Orofino.

The young couple left immediately on a wedding trip to Boise, and will be at home to their friends upon their return, Dec. 19, at the Mundell Apartments, Juliaetta.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church parlors, attended by some 125 relatives and friends.

The bride chose for her going-away ensemble a blue-grey suit with black accessories, and gardenia corsage.

Receives National Recognition

Miss Maribel Schupfer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schupfer, of Juliaetta, has received national recognition for pictures taken during the recent blood drive at the U. of I., a letter having been received from the American Red Cross, asking for copies of these pictures, which are credited with having a "real professional touch."

Maribel is also the co-manufacturer of a paper mache cow, property of Forney Hall, which is known to the campus as "Marybelle," which has appeared in parades and at many other Idaho affairs in the past several weeks. In fact, "Marybelle" all but stole the show at the recent Ag. Bowl dance at the University.

A portion of the letter from the American Red Cross follows:

In a letter addressed to Mr. Geo. S. Tanner, executive secretary of the Latah County Chapter, Van Metres, regional director of the American Red Cross, said: "Thank you very much for sending along the excellent report prepared by Jim Dunham on the blood drive, and also the photos. The student who took the shots did a fine job; in fact, much better than many of the professional jobs we have seen. Her pictures really told a story and we shall be very happy to send them on to the Washington office in answer to their request." "The idea Mr. Dunham had to challenge other universities to follow Idaho's lead is indeed original and should stimulate heavy giving in other colleges. Please convey our congratulations to Mr. Dunham and all the students who contributed to the outstanding success of the University of Idaho in collecting blood for the Armed Forces," the letter continued.

Showing Steady Improvement

Latest word from the bedside of Frank Wilken, pioneer area resident, who suffered a heart attack at his home some three weeks ago, is that he is showing a slow but steady improvement.

His children, Mrs. Josie Diehl of Hermosa Beach, Calif., and Milton Wilken and wife, also from California, are at his bedside.

Boost for Kendrick — it's home!

Cubs Have Christmas Spirit

Last Saturday afternoon the Cub Scouts of Den 2, and their leader, Mrs. Bob Magnuson, went to the woods to get a tiny tree for little Delores Duncan, who is in the St. Josephs hospital, Lewiston, suffering with severe burns. They decorated the tree with ornaments they had made and sent it down, with other gifts, for her room.

They also decorated the front of the Community church with cedar boughs.

Both dens are reminded of their regular meetings on Thursday afternoon at the homes of their Den Mothers.

JOINT-DISTRICT P.-T. A. MEETS AT KENDRICK MON.

In spite of the stormy night, a big crowd was out to enjoy the regular P.-T. A. meeting Monday evening.

The meeting opened with the group singing of Christmas carols, led by Warren Fairbanks with Mrs. Oscar Slind at the piano.

After the minutes of the previous meeting and the treasurer's report had been read, Mrs. Darby, P.-T. A. magazine chairman, displayed the certificate award she had received for selling the most magazine subscriptions in this district.

The president, Mrs. Elmo Eldridge, announced Monday, Jan. 14, as the night for the annual card party. Mrs. Ross Armitage and Mrs. Ed. Mielke are in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Gerald Ingle reported on the Study group, saying 11 attended the last meeting and invited all to be present at the next one, which will be January 28, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Peters, when Mr. Nutting will act as moderator.

Mrs. Eldridge then commented on the new topic, "A Resuscitator for Kendrick," which problem is being considered by various local organizations. She pointed out that all local organizations would have to get behind this project, as all would benefit by it. Lewis Lindquist, as a member of the Volunteer Fire department, made a few pertinent remarks as to the cost, $475.00; its functions, etc. He also added that Kendrick was the only town in Latah county without this life-saving device.

Asa Calvert also gave some interesting information on the resuscitator and said he felt it was a "must" for every community.

Mr. Calvert then spoke for a few minutes on the need of a First Aid class. Since he has had experience in this line, he offered his services as a teacher if there was enough interest manifested. He said that in order to make it worth while there would have to be 16 to 20 pupils, and urged all who are interested to contact Dr. G. W. McKeever, Red Cross chairman, and the necessary arrangements would be made.

Following this discussion Ben P. Cook made a motion the P.-T. A. go on record as approving the purchase of a resuscitator, and that we, as a P.-T. A. group, would cooperate in helping pay for such equipment. The motion was seconded and carried.

Jasper Nutting then made the following announcements: Tuesday, a basketball game at Kendrick with Culdesac; Wednesday, the Christmas school program at Southwick; Thursday evening, the Kendrick School Christmas program at the gymnasium; Friday afternoon, Juliaetta school program, there; Friday evening, basketball game here with Genevieve, also the Gold Hill school program, there.

Mrs. Deobald, program chairman, then introduced Gerald Ingle, who had charge of the evening's program. The first number was two selections on the piano by Mrs. Oscar Slind.

Next, Mrs. E. M. White, cook for the school Hot Lunch program, gave an inside story of what it's like to feed 150 hungry youngsters every day. She also pointed out the high type meals served, as set up by the government. And, even though there was a little red tape attached to it, it was a plan to benefit the children, with sanitation and nutrition primary requirements. She also cited the canning project done by the mothers as a big boost to the variety made possible in the menus, and supplementing the surplus commodities sent by the government. And last, but not least, the problem of keeping the price per meal at 20c. She invited parents to drop in at lunch time and see for themselves.

Jackie Hammond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hammond, Juliaetta, who had just returned from Japan, was then called on, and he in turn showed colored slides he had taken while on duty, which were beautiful and interesting from a photographers' point of view, and fascinating from a traveler's eye.

The meeting then adjourned to the Home Economics room, where the Gold Hill ladies served a delicious lunch.

Harold Parks was awarded the "White Elephant."

Awarded Well Contract

James Burns, Kendrick well contractor was the low bidder on the call for bids on a new well for the Village of Kendrick, and now his outfit is in position and ready to begin drilling operations this week.

The new well, which is to be a 10-inch bore, will be drilled near the present well alongside the city hall.

It is said that "water is where you find it," and this location was chosen in an effort to save money on piping, housing and other expense connected with putting into service another water supply.

To You — Our Friends:

As we review the past year we are moved to a deeper more sincere appreciation of our friends. May we always merit your friendship as we attempt to serve you.

In the true Christmas spirit we extend to you our sincere wish that you, and those dear to you may have a Very Merry Christmas and a Prosperous New Year

— Bill and Floy McCreary.

Kendrick Defeats Kamiah
The Kamiah Cubs went down to defeat before the Kendrick Tigers on the Kamiah floor last Friday evening in a fast and sometimes rather rough game.

Kendrick led until the third quarter, when the Cubs gained a nine-point lead, but couldn't keep it and lost to a sustained Tiger drive, 57-53. Kendrick intercepted a couple of Kamiah passes which were turned into scores, and was off to the win. Ken Goodwin, Kamiah, led scoring with 20 points. Ira Havens of the Tigers potted 13.

In a preliminary tussel Kendrick's B team won over the Kamiah B squad 42-31.

Library News
Kendrick's library force has received quite a few used books from the Leland school that are being utilized in the library. Two new ones that we are enjoying are "Man of the Family" by Ralph Moody. This one is a story of the warmth and joy of close family relationships. The author continues the story begun in "Little Britches," of his boyhood in Colorado and of the efforts of his sister and his mother to hold the fatherless family together.

"Honeymoon for Seven" by Alfred Toombs, author of "Raising a Riot," because they had neglected to employ a baby-sitter, the Toombs had to bring all of their five children to their wedding. It turned out to be a slightly uproarious affair, but nothing to what came later. At this point the reader is sure he is launched into another "Life With Father" or "Cheaper by the Dozen."

Eighth Grade News
Our basketball players are: Charles Havens, Robert Dunham, Jim Armitage, Joe Cuddy, Glen Wegner, Howard Holt, Teddy Meske, Roger Christensen, Ronney Craig, with Gerald Heffel as manager.

The eighth grade class sold $19.72 worth of Christmas Seals.

The English class is learning how to diagram sentences.

Parents Are Invited
So important do we feel that an occasional visit by the parents into the classrooms of their children may be, that we are encouraged once more to urge more visitations to the classrooms on the part of our school patrons. A better relationship between parent and teacher, home and school will consequently be made. This better understanding is for the ultimate good of the youngster, whose parent and teacher are concerned about his or her education, citizenship, health and general welfare.

This same invitation is also extended to all parents in the community to visit the school office any time they desire to discuss policies, practices, personnel, regulations or actions of any nature pertaining to any phase of the school program.

Tigers Defeat Culdesac
In a game marked by close checking and clean, fast play, the Kendrick Tigers took a 42 to 27 win from the Culdesac Wolves on the local floor Tuesday evening of this week. Every man on the squad saw action, with Coach Racicot at one time changing teams completely.

During the third quarter it seemed as if the baskets had suddenly developed "hids," for both teams missed shot after shot, not only from the floor but from the foul line as well.

The score by quarters:
Kendrick ... 17 27 31 42
Culdesac ... 8 18 23 27

In the B squad clash, which followed that of the A, Kendrick won 37-25.

Christmas Trade Fair

Local merchants report their Christmas trade as somewhat lighter than usual on fancy items but up on some, especially practical gifts for the individual or the family.

Said one merchant: "Toys and smaller or frivolous items are just not selling well this year, but items that mean something to the whole family, or more practical gifts, are selling better than average."

This means that Kendrick area residents are much more careful in their gift shopping, just as has been reported by merchants, big and little, from all over the nation.

There is to be found an excellent stock of Christmas goods in the local stores, and it has not been a question of "shopping out of town," but rather of personal choice.

SIXTEEN ATTEND MONTHLY COMMERCIAL CLUB MEETING

Fourteen were present for the regular monthly dinner of the Kendrick Commercial Club, served at the Kendrick Cafe at 6:30 Wednesday evening of last week, and were joined by several others for a portion of the business session at the Firemen's hall at 7:30.

Following the reading and approval of the minutes of the previous meeting, Dr. G. W. McKeever, as local Red Cross chairman, was given the floor, and he introduced Wilson Rogers of the Moscow Volunteer Fire department, and Chief Smith, of the same organization. These men, as trained Red Cross First Aid workers, explained life saving equipment in the form of the old and new type resuscitators and inhalators.

One of the old pump-type machines was displayed, as well as one of the newest ones, which was a combined "Inhalator, Aspirator and Resuscitator." These machines were fully explained, and the four members of the Moscow Fire Department urged that one of the new-type machines be purchased locally, and local men and women be trained in its use.

This matter was turned over to Mrs. Elmo Eldridge, as president of the local P.-T. A., and to the Volunteer Firemen, to sound out sentiment, and report at a later date, but all agreed that one of the machines should be in Kendrick.

Tom Long of the Highway committee reported that the Damarell & McKeever rock crusher was working near Deary, and that many farmers were obtaining rock for private roads from that firm.

Gerald Ingle, reporting for the Education committee, stated that all was going well. That bus schedules were holding up well under winter weather, and the school in general running smoothly.

Adding to this report Asa Calvert, principal of the Juliaetta school, reported that their annual school auction had been quite successful, with a little over $200 raised.

For the Publicity committee W. L. McCreary stated that "Santa's coming" was being publicized, and that a good crowd was being hoped for.

Tom Keene of the Merchants' committee said that Santa's representative had been contacted, but that difficulty was being experienced in obtaining a suit large enough to accommodate him — as this one needed no padding.

Dr. Christensen reported that the local Boy Scout Troop was making excellent progress, and its showing in the district was very fine. He stated that new members were being added from the Cub Scouts.

Adding to the Education committee report Ben P. Cook announced the Christmas programs at Juliaetta on Friday, Dec. 21, in the afternoon, and the annual High School Musical at Kendrick on the evening of Dec. 20. He went on to say that school would close Dec. 21, and remain closed until January 2nd.

Next item of business was a discussion of a letter from the Spokane Chamber of Commerce asking this group's support in getting this area changed into the Mountain time belt, rather than Pacific Coast time. After considerable round-table discussion the matter was tabled.

Reporting for the Cemetery committee H. C. Schupfer, chairman, said that sentiment was being sounded out by all members of the committee, but that no action would be taken until after the holidays.

There being no further business adjournment was taken until the regular January meeting.

Santa Visits Kendrick

Santa arrived in Kendrick on schedule last Saturday afternoon, riding on the Kendrick Volunteer Fire Department's truck, and following a brief program consisting of a prayer by Rev. K. L. Hardin, the reading of the Christmas Story by Rev. F. C. Schmidt, and band music by the Kendrick H. S. band. Santa distributed treats to more than 300 youngsters.

Anticipating a larger crowd than usual, 277 treats had been prepared by the Commercial Club, but this number proved inadequate, and about 30 "treat slips" were issued, which were redeemed as soon as Santa's helpers could prepare them.

This lack of treats was regrettable, but unforeseen, as 250 is the usual number required, but it seems 307 were called for this year.

Home Demonstration Club
The Kendrick Home Demonstration Club will meet January 2nd at the home of Mrs. Howard Hoffman, with Mrs. Wm. Holt and Mrs. Oral Craig as joint hostesses.

The Kendrick Grange annual Christmas party was held Tuesday evening and well attended, despite the rather stormy night. The program opened by the group singing of "Silent Night." Jesse Bateman then read the Christmas Story from the Bible.

The program followed with Larry Corkill singing "Rudolph, The Red Nosed Reindeer." Ida and Sally Glenn gave a recitation; Ila Johnson, Gerald Bateman, Jerry Armitage and Richard Dunham played "Silent Night" on tonets.

Little Bruce Davis and Andy Sue Cox sang "Rudolph The Red Nosed Reindeer," followed by a recitation by Donna Johnson.

Patty Corkill presented two tap-dance numbers, "Turkey In The Straw" and "Irish Wash Woman." Then came an instrumental trio, Sandra, Wanda and Darlene Peters, who played "White Christmas" and "Star of the East."

While Darlene Peters played "Here Comes Santa" on her accordion, the group sang as the jovial old fellow came bounding in with gifts and treats which he distributed to adults and children alike.

Bull Goes On Rampage
Orren Needham was doing his chores as usual last Thursday morning on his farm near Spalding, when a bull attacked him without warning. The big fellow made a lunge, hitting Mr. Needham in the stomach with his head and otherwise mauling him — finally falling on him.

After help came and the bull gotten under control is was discovered that Mr. Needham was in severe pain. He was brought to Dr. Christensen's office, who recognized the symptoms of internal injuries, and he was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital. Surgery was performed immediately and it was discovered he had a ruptured gall bladder. He is resting easily at this time and his recovery assured.

Radio station KRLC, Lewiston, will also make a recording for broadcast at a later date.

Student members of this group include David and Dick Coulter, former Kendrick residents.

Boy Scouts Busy

The Kendrick Boy Scouts took a hike Sunday, accompanied by their Scoutmaster, Manning Onstott. They went up near the old Porter logging camp and there they built a fire in the snow and cooked a meal. Some passed requirements on cooking and tracking.

Following this activity the Scouts cut and delivered Christmas trees as a money-making project.

Darrel Brocke says the Scouts still have some Christmas trees at the state forestry office and anyone wishing one please contact him. The state forestry department donated the use of a pickup for getting trees out and delivered.

Ancient Papers Found

While doing remodeling work at the Juliaetta Lutheran Church, Geo. Denner of Fix ridge found a number of copies of ancient papers, dated in 1902 and 1903. Included in the lot were a Genesee News, some Idaho Posts, Lewiston Tribunes (both these papers then being twice-weekly); a few Spokesman-Review, and several copies of a paper from Montreal, Canada.

George said that the papers were pretty badly ravaged by time, but in most instances, still readable.

You Figure It Out

In a pinochle game at the E. M. White home last Saturday, Frankie Bencscoter and Bill White were playing against Mrs. Bencscoter and Mrs. White, and — the "boys" held a nopper of a hand — 1500 trump and 100 aces — all in one hand!

That one hand, of course, ended the game, and it was not until later that a "reckoning" was held.

You figure it out!

No Exception
The New York Times recently carried a significant news story from Washington. It dealt with the fact that an increasing number of officials of the Office of Price Stabilization were refusing to talk with news men for fear of violating agency policy.

An order was recently issued warning OPS employees against discussing agency actions "which have not received final approval." This, newspapermen contended in a meeting with the head of the OPS' Information Division, would tend to intimidate subordinate officials who meet the press, and so would amount to an imposition of censorship.

Regardless of what OPS policy may be in the future, here is one more ominous example of how government bureaus tend to become more and more dictatorial, and more and more zealous in attempting to keep facts hidden from the people.

OPS actions and orders directly affect every producer, every distributor and every consumer in the country. OPS deals with matters which are extremely controversial, and which should always be watched closely by the public. And when OPS puts into effect a "shut up" policy it savors too closely of the gag methods which are part and parcel of the police states.

As a matter of fact, OPS has become more and more arbitrary all along the line. It has laid down pricing policies affecting retailing, which, in time, could not help but undermine and disrupt this industry which has done so much to make possible our high standards of living. It has issued orders affecting any number of businesses which, in the view of experts, are dangerous and unworkable.

Bureaucrats always want more and more power, and bureaucrats always hate criticism. They want their way at all costs, regardless of the effect on the nation. If censorship seems expedient, they try to put it into effect. OPS seems to be no exception to the rule—and the hundreds of hours of bookwork they have cost small businesses is probably exceeded only by the collector of internal revenue (income tax).

Need Aircraft Spotters

Boise — At least 2,000 patriotic Idahoans are urgently needed as civilian volunteer plane spotters in the state — organized Ground Observer Corps — if Idaho is to contribute its share to western air defense, Gov. Len Jordan said this week.

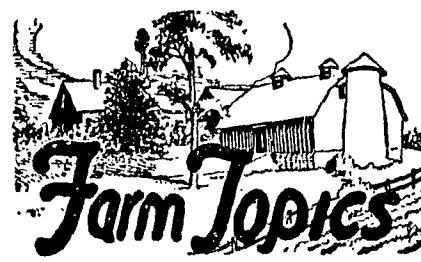

The governor said his plea is based on estimates of Idaho's civil defense director, Col. Philip Doddridge, and the Western Air Defense Force, which is responsible for air defense of the eleven western states.

"The world situation being what it is," the governor said, "I want to urge all loyal Idahoans to get acquainted with and become active in this phase of our state and national preparedness by giving some of their time to Ground Observer activities."

Colonel Doddridge, commenting on the general outlook of Idaho's air defense, said only 60 to 65 percent of the total number of plane spotters required to feed aircraft detection information into the Boise Filter center have thus far been organized. He paid high tribute to those already active as plane spotters and strongly urged others to join the movement.

In the Kendrick area volunteer efforts are being taken by Ward Helton.

Social Security Act Covers Farm Workers

Half-Million Eligible For Insurance Benefits

As of January 1, about 500,000 regularly employed workers on farms and in farm households became eligible for social security.

This means they became eligible for the first time for old-age-insurance benefits—pensions—and for benefits paid to survivors if a wage earner dies.

Arthur J. Altmeyer of the Social Security administration said the new program covers anyone who does planting, cultivating, or harvesting of crops; raises or tends livestock, bees, or fur-bearing animals; prepares, processes, or delivers crops or livestock to market or storage; cooks or does other household work on farms, or does their general farm work. However, each worker must "qualify" first.

A total of 500,000 farm workers became eligible for social security benefits with the extension of the Social Security Act of January 1.

Farm owners or operators are not covered. Wages paid by an employer to his children under 21 do not count, nor do other payments within a family.

Altmeyer said employers of farm workers covered by the extension of the law should get instructions from their local collectors of internal revenue concerning when payments should be made and methods for keeping records.

Disaster Relief Program For Farmers Expanding

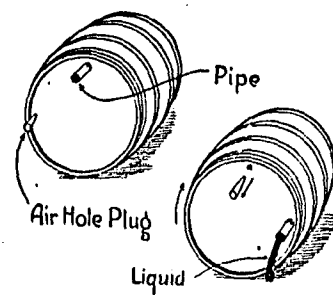

The government announced recently that the simple relief measure started in 1949 to aid snow-bound ranchers in the west has mushroomed into a tremendous business. It has grown into a $33,000,000 business and covers parts of 37 states and Puerto Rico.

The farmers home administration, in charge of the program, reports more than 26,000 loans have been made to farmers. They average about $1,192 each, although there is no limit on the amount a farmer may borrow if he qualifies as a "disaster victim" and can put up sufficient collateral. The largest loan approved to date was $400,000 to a Mississippi farmer.

One of the most recent disaster areas was the entire state of Mississippi where the cotton crop was damaged by bad weather and weevils.

"The end isn't in sight," one official said, "It looks like the program is here to stay—unless the government starts taking losses like it did in the feed-and-seed-loan program of the depression era."

Oil Barrel Rig

Men on farms and ranches have many heavy barrels containing oil, sheep dip, kerosene, etc., to empty and at times a faucet may not be at hand. Here is an easy way to overcome that difficulty. Secure a piece of 3/4 inch pipe with one end threaded, eight to 12 inches long. Place a chunk under one end of the barrel so contents will fall away from the upper portion of the head near the chime. Then bore a hole through the head with a 3/8 inch bit. Thread portion of the pipe into this hole. When ready to draw off any of the contents just roll the barrel a little until the liquid starts to run. When sufficient has been drawn, roll the barrel back to a position where the pipe is uppermost and contents will stop flowing.

Dehydrated Cheese Is Put On Sale in Netherlands

Cheese in powdered and tablet form is being marketed in the Netherlands, according to the U.S. department of agriculture. The new dehydrated cheese product is made from Gouda and Edam cheeses under a process which is said to reduce the volume of the cheese by one half. The report says that a variety of flavors can be obtained depending upon the age of the cheese used for dehydrating.

Flag Shop Owner Made Flag For Gen. George Washington

Betsy Ross wasn't the only American woman of the Revolutionary war period who gained fame for her flagmaking prowess.

According to Childcraft books, a young marion named Rebecca Young made the flag that General George Washington carried when the Continental army took part in the siege of Boston.

Mrs. Young, who had a flag shop in Philadelphia, was noted in the colonies for her exquisite needlework. Her fine stitching, embroidered scallops, and beautiful patchwork quilts were the talk of the countryside.

The flag that General Washington requisitioned Mrs. Young to make had thirteen alternate red and white stripes. Applied on the blue field in the upper left-hand corner were crosses of Saint Andrew and Saint George—a design which represented the union of Scotland and England.

It was named the "Grand Union Flag" by General Washington, and flown by troops of the Continental army for the first time about January 1, 1776.

Like Betsy Ross, who is credited with having made the country's first official flag, Mrs. Young did not design the flag General Washington ordered from her. He is said to have adopted the design for it from an ensign that had been raised by John Paul Jones from the deck of the ship Alfred on December 3, 1775.

Mrs. Young worked on General Washington's battle flag with loving care. She stitched together the thick stripes of red and white bunting by hand and sewed in the blue field with a precision that guaranteed perfection.

Anesthesia for Livestock Marked Important Advance

The year 1950 marked the 100th anniversary of painless surgery for animals.

It was just 100 years ago that veterinarians first reported successful use of anesthetics for operations on animals. The development came a short time after physicians and dentists began to use nitrous oxide, ether, and chloroform in eliminating the pain of human surgery.

Veterinary medical leaders say that the introduction of anesthesia in veterinary medicine stands as one of the most important advances in man's age-old fight against the ailments of livestock and pets.

Horses and dogs were the first animal patients for anesthesia. Horses were put to sleep with chloroform during operations for lameness, and a dog was anesthetized for removal of growths in its mouth.

An early bar to use of anesthetics was failure to properly restrain the patient. After inhaling ether, horses sometimes went wild, endangering the lives of the veterinarian and onlookers.

In recent years, new types of anesthesia have been developed which put animals to sleep gradually, without violence or nervous reactions. Nerve blocking is being used now for such common farm operations as dehorning, thereby saving animals much pain and distress.

Lorgnettes Come Back

Lorgnettes, those spectacles-with-a-handle which our grandmothers used to good effect, are making a comeback. The modern version is a small, attractive visual aid which folds to a size that will not cause an ordinary purse to bulge unduly. Women find the little glasses helpful in looking up telephone numbers under poor light, in reading theater programs, and on numerous other occasions when it is simpler to use them than to don spectacles. Lorgnettes had a curious origin. The earliest spectacles lacked a satisfactory method of being attached to the face, for they were without ear pieces or nose clasps. Therefore they were held before the eyes by hand, and were distant ancestors of the lorgnette.

How Coccidiosis Works

Poultry growers have long known that chicken infected with coccidiosis lose appetite and get weak, but the reason has never been clear. Now veterinary medical scientists have turned up evidence that the coccidiosis parasites upset the body's ability to use sugar. This means that the birds fail to get energy from the sugar that is naturally present in feedstuffs. Besides that, it has been found that these parasites also may affect the delicate body mechanisms that control temperature, metabolic rate, muscle contraction, and muscle nutrition.

When Buying Toys

When buying toys for the baby or toddler bear these facts in mind: Avoid stuffed animals with glass or button eyes. Examine toys to see that there are no removable parts which could be swallowed. Buy sturdy rattles, blocks with rounded corners, soft balls and dolls, and push-button toys with rounded handles. Do not encourage your child with shooting or target toys, sharp scissors or poorly built wagons or carts. Also, buyers should pass up toys that are too heavy or complicated for the receiver.

History of Eye-Wear Marked with Fumbling

Every normal human has two eyes and a nose, which provide a logical means of holding a pair of lenses before the eyes. What could be more natural than to saddle the nose with a neat, snug-fitting bridge and keep the spectacles in place with a couple of hooks behind the ears?

Natural or not, the early spectacle-makers didn't do it. As you look over the drawings and prints representing ancient glasses, a question keeps repeating itself in your mind. How in the world did the wearer hold them in place? So it happens that the history of frame-making is very largely a story of methods—some ingenious, the majority clumsy—of attaching binocular spectacles to the face. The earliest lenses were single glasses, held in the hand, so the problem of facial attachment did not arise. They were of the type of the emerald lens through which, according to Pliny (23-79 A.D.), Nero regaled his beastly soul by gazing at the gladiatorial fights in the Roman arena. These were the first "opera glasses", so to speak. Optical science paused for centuries before developing into eyecare, after Euclid wrote his classic treatise on optics (third century B.C.), and Seneca discovered that objects were magnified when viewed through a glass globe filled with water (first century A.D.) and Claudius Ptolemaeus (150 A.D.) founded the science of optics by calculating the refraction of light in water (n equals 1.3335) and in glass.

Oldest Dated Artifacts Reported by U. C. Men

The discovery of the most ancient dated man-made artifacts so far reported in the western hemisphere has been disclosed by anthropologists on the Berkeley campus of the University of California. Implements fashioned by primitive man in about 5,000 B.C. were uncovered near Lovelock, Nevada, recently by university anthropology students working under the direction of Robert F. Heizer, associate professor of anthropology. Dated by the new "carbon 14" method—a technique devised by nuclear physicists and the only method for really exact dating of prehistoric materials—wood spear shafts taken from the excavation site were determined to be about 7,300 years old. In the upper layers of the excavation site the archaeologists found quantities of artifacts such as basket and arrow fragments of relatively recent origin, dating back about 2,500 years. Deposits of bat guano at a lower level, in which the ancient spear shafts, spear points, pieces of string, and evidence of campfires were embedded, were found to be 9,000 years old by the carbon 14 technique. A floor of lake gravels at the bottom of the site was estimated to be about 25,000 years old. From these findings and a survey of other sites in the area, the scientists were able to reconstruct the first reliable picture of prehistoric man's occupancy of the Humboldt basin.

If A-Bomb Falls

Neither explosive nor lingering radioactivity has any effect on the operation of most mechanical or electrical devices. Unless the wires are down or there is a power failure, both your lights and telephone should continue to work. But don't rush to the phone just to find out how Aunt Susie may have weathered the A-Bomb attack. Leave the lines open for real emergency traffic. The bomb's radioactivity will not interfere with the operation of your radio. In the event of attack, be sure to turn it on. It may be your main source of emergency instructions. And don't forget: Battery-operated portable sets, including those installed in automobiles, will continue to work even if the city power goes off. Television reception, like radio, won't be jammed by radioactivity.

Is It "Colorfast"?

"Colorfast," a familiar term to today's shopper, has different shades of meaning! Just a clerk's assurance that an article is "colorfast" is not enough. Termed as "colorfast," for instance, are many of the colored rayon tablecloths now on the market. But some of these cloths stage a fade-out in the most carefully controlled washing formula. Drops of gravy, crimson cranberry and lipstick stains, fruit juice, wine and beverage stains all must be removed in the laundering process. If color loss occurs during a cleansing treatment which must remove stains as well as soil, then the cloth is not "colorfast" to the mildest stain removal treatment.

Finish Protects Transformers

Electrical transformers, which are hung on poles, are exposed to extreme weather conditions and must have special finishes to protect them against heat and cold. The surfaces of fully loaded transformers often reach temperatures of 200 degrees F when the sunlight blazes on them. During the winter months, these same surfaces may be exposed to temperatures as low as 50 degrees F. The finishes must also be able to withstand the attacks of salts, acids, alkalis and moisture.

Miracle At Your Fingertips

Alldan, the boy who rubbed the magic lamp, had nothing on you! You, too, can stretch out a finger, or even a toe, and a command a genie that controls tremendous stores of energy, the horsepower that drives your family automobile. Maybe you never thought about it just that way. But you are transported, at your slightest whim, to shopping centers, stores in distant cities, schools, supermarkets, offices and theaters of your own area, to all the conveniences of the modern world.

Your "magic lamp" is the tiny, giant-powered self-starter invented forty years ago by a young genie (or genius, if you like) named Charles F. Kettering. Before it existed as standard equipment on new cars, starting was a chore beyond the strength of most women, and a chore dangerous to most men, if they were not extremely careful.

Small wonder that the scientist of the nation have several times recently honored Kettering for this and many other contributions to the science of everyday living, through the automobile.

Yet most motorists take that "magic lamp" so much for granted that they give it no help at all, and it sometimes needs help.

This is the time of year when that small miracle begins to need help in the form of precautions—those precautions that mean easier winter driving. One automotive engineer put it this way: "The self-starter took the drudgery out of driving and put the automobile into daily life. But you've got to give that starter a chance to work by making it possible for your car to start readily." He means, of course, that the little giant won't turn over a frozen motor, nor work with a dead battery, for instance.

There are many winter driving precautions the automobile experts recommend. Here are a few:

Have your battery checked for peak performance in cold weather. Be sure you use the right kind and right amount of anti-freeze for your car. Ask any reliable garage or service station.

Have your ignition system checked, including spark plugs, wiring, condenser and distributor points. Be sure the sediment bowl on your fuel pump or gas filter is clean, and the pump working properly.

Get your brakes checked, and adjusted if they need it. Brakes that work evenly are doubly important on icy roads.

Have your chains checked for broken links, wear and proper fit for easy installation.

Be sure you have the proper weight of winter oil recommended by the car manufacturer.

Let's Go To Church

This is the month in which members are urged to bring a visitor with them to church.

The outsider needs the church. Many do not realize the important place that the church occupies in American life. To say the least, she seeks to bring blessings motivated by unselfish desire. The apparent picture as we see it today is that the church is endeavoring to awaken our people with this message: "Have Faith in God."

American people have been well blessed in every way above all other people. But we have tried to live by bread alone with the increase of modern trends. Christ said: "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." Because faith is an unseen spiritual force we allow the material to succeed the spiritual, thus while being careful to satisfy the outward man we starve the inward man through our lack of spiritual concern.

Here then, lies the only reason for the church's existence. An institution wrought of God for the explicit purpose of bringing mankind in right relationship with his Creator, restoring faith in Him and sending him in the right direction: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you."

From Readers Digest, Roger Williams had this to say: "I am for the churches because they have something for me, and something for civilization." Friends, let's go to church and bring someone with us. Go to church this Sunday — and every Sunday. — K. L. H.

A CHRISTMAS GIFT

As we enter into this Christmas season of 1951 we are aware of the prevailing spirit that exists among many folks at this season of the year. We hear the tinkling of the bells and see the glistening of the tinsel on the Christmas trees that are already in most of the homes. Many of us, too, are wrapping our gifts that we have dug out from the dresser drawers where we hid them, so little Johnny or Mary couldn't find them. There is a note of anxiety in our own voices as we wonder what so many pretty packages could contain. Of the gifts that could be given us, do we realize that the most precious gift has already been given us?

That gift was a Babe that on that night so long ago was born in a stable in Bethlehem, a Babe that was destined to be a Savior of mankind. A Savior over whom the angels rejoiced and to whom the Wise men bore their gifts, the Christ child, the Son of God.

On this Christmas we remember our boys in the service who are fighting for us that we may continue to live in a land where the bells of freedom will continue to ring. We wish they could be home with us to share our joy at this season. May this Christmas be a challenge to us to pray even more fervently for their return and that the world may again see peace.

And, as we pray for the peace of the world, let us not forget to lift our voices in Thanksgiving to God for the many blessings he has bestowed upon us as individuals and upon our nation. On this Christmas let us find the "deeper" meaning of Christmas by thanking the One who sent His "gift" into the world that we might know Him. — K. L. H.

Labradors, Dog-Detectives, Col Buckingham Palace Duty

Four descendants of some sharp-scented, cold-nosed North Americans have taken up guard duty at England's Buckingham palace.

Recent robberies there brought the quick assignment of several canine cops to reinforce a 30-man police unit, charged with the protection of his Britannic majesty's London residence. The new world police dogs are the field-famed Labrador retrievers, who rank among the top sporting dogs of the world.

The Labradors were found to be natural "detectives" during World War II. They were outstanding in tracking down land mines, reputedly doing the job quicker and better than any other breed. In 1946 six of them were assigned to the London metropolitan police force.

Gentle and friendly by nature, the animals were never trained to attack man but were used solely to pick up the elusive clues of human scent and follow their remarkable noses to the culprits.

For just such skill in detecting, the Labrador retriever has taken more first place honors in the past two decades of United States field trials than all other breeds of hunting dogs put together. It rates among the four most popular dogs bred by the British for export.

In spite of its name, however, the retriever was not first known as a native of Labrador. It was one of two breeds brought to Newfoundland by early traders and was referred to in the last century as the Lesser or St. John's Newfoundland, or as the St. John's Water Dog. The people of the region used the sturdy, thick-haired dog to haul wood and retrieve wild fowl and also fish that became unhooked just prior to being landed.

Lions, Too, Never Forget

Elephants are not the only beasts that never forget. If you don't believe it, try operating on a lion's ingrown toenail sometime without an anesthetic, challenges Dr. J. A. Campbell of Toronto, Ont. You'll be viciously remembered for years, he warns. Writing in Canada's national journal of veterinary medicine, Dr. Campbell says that skilled use of anesthetics has made life easier and safer for zoo veterinarians as well as the animals, because the patients have no revenge-inspiring memory of what happened. He reported that it takes about four pounds of chloroform to prepare a lion for surgery.

Hens Need Protein

If you feed a 20 per cent protein mash, your hens should get about one pound of grain for every pound of mash you feed. This will figure out about a 15 per cent protein ration, as most grain mixtures run about 10 per cent protein. In case a 26 per cent protein mash is used, about 2 1/4 pounds of grain to each pound of mash will average out about 15 per cent protein for the ration. Hens may need a little more grain in real cold weather, to supply heat and energy to withstand the cold.

Offers Four Pointers for Bonuses for Hired Help

If you're thinking of putting your hired man on a wage-plus-bonus plan, here are four points to keep in mind.

J. B. Cunningham, farm management man in the Illinois college of agriculture, says an incentive plan succeeds best if the hired man receives the going wage plus a bonus.

Second, the incentive payment should be based on gross production or income rather than on net farm income. It might be two to four cents for every bushel of grain produced, eight to 12 per cent of each dairy check, three to seven per cent of gross hog returns and so on.

Cunningham also suggests that on dairy farms the hired man receive his bonus payments during the year as milk checks come in. On grain farms, where payment comes at the end of the year, the hired man should get his proportionate share of the bonus if he has to quit before the end of the year for no reason of his own.

Finally, the wage-plus-bonus agreement should be in writing. You can either write your own, or get a farm manager, attorney or some other person to do the job for you.

ERP Nations Gain

Substantial increases in productivity, as measured by output per man-year, have occurred in all countries participating in the European Recovery Program and have played a vital role in their reconstruction and economic progress in the last few years, according to the 1950 report of the Organization for European Economic Co-operation. American aid has been a fundamental factor in making these gains possible. Of the 14 participating nations, six have increased their productivity above the prewar 1938 level. They are France, Ireland, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, and the United Kingdom. Productivity in Belgium, Denmark, Greece and Norway was rated about the same as in 1938, while the Netherlands was lower. Considerably lower productivity than in 1938 was found in Austria, Italy and Western Germany.

STONY POINT NEWS

Dec. 18 — Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hammond (nee Alma Steigers) and their infant son spent Sunday at the Ernest Steigers home visiting Mrs. Hammond's grandfather, William Steigers, whose health is rapidly failing.

Orrin Needham, who was mauled by a bull at his ranch near Spalding last Thursday, is making a good recovery at St. Joseph's hospital in Lewiston. His main complaint, after the operation for internal injuries, was the hiccoughs, which are still bothering him. Mr. Needham was 77 years old on his last birthday.

Mrs. Glen Stevens is spending a few days this week at Spalding, caring for her mother, Mrs. Clifford Powell, who suffered a slight stroke Sunday. Mrs. Powell is making a satisfactory recovery.

The Friendship Club met with Mrs. Mary Steigers last Thursday. Two large boxes of home-made candy and cookies were packed and sent to the Veterans hospital in Boise. The next meeting will be on January 3, with Mrs. Glen Stevens the probable hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Parks returned from Burley, Idaho, Saturday, where they attended the State Grange session on December 2, 3, 4 and 5. Mrs. Hugh Parks is a member of the Lapwai Valley Grange and was chosen to fill the station of Flora in the absence of Mrs. Ruth Ullinder. Mrs. Parks was also the leading lady in Court during the installation of the 6th degree. The Parks' report winter in full swing at McCall, with the thermometer reading 6 below zero and 30 inches of snow on the ground.

For those last-minute Christmas goodies at Blewett's Grocery-Market, you'll find everything to give that meal just the "right touch" that every hostess wants. 1-adv

As Old As Civilization Itself
Map making is as old as civilization. The whole history of the world, from the early explorations to the development of our great modern cities, has been heavily influenced by the work of cartographers.

Today maps affect, in one way or another, almost every activity of mankind. And the science of map making has made vast progress in recent years, due to aerial photography. One of the most interesting developments is photogrammetry, which is defined as the science or art of obtaining reliable measurements by means of photography. This concept is not new — a Frenchman experimented with it a century ago, and 50 years ago a Canadian did the first work of practical importance. Now photogrammetry has been brought to a high state of perfection. Complex machines are used to plot the aerial photographs. These machines work on the principle of the old-fashioned parlor stereopticon but with the precision of military range finders.

A number of photogrammetric engineering firms are in business today. Their work consists of determining the best locations for highways, railroads and transmission lines; resources surveying of soil, forests, dam sites and minerals; city planning; plant location, and assisting the government in expediting the huge job of accurately mapping the nation. The cost is often remarkably low — as little as $1.00 an acre for complete and highly accurate map studies.

The story of the map will never end. There are always new chapters to be written.

"Variety Is The Spice of Life" is a very old saying. And it's very true at Blewett's Grocery-Market. There you will find items to satisfy the most fastidious, from fresh frozen fruit to fresh vegetables. 1-adv

Storm Hits This Area
After enjoying what might be classed as "wonderful winter weather," until last Saturday, the edge of the big storm which has been plaguing the middle west, hit Saturday. Some three to four inches of snow fell on the surrounding hills Saturday afternoon and evening, with just a trace dusting Kendrick's streets. Sunday and Monday were cloudy and chill, but no more snow fell until Monday night, when from four to seven inches additional was deposited on the hills, with a trace of snow, followed by rain, hitting Kendrick. As a result, mail and paper trucks were late, but all local school busses were on time. The state highway department crews were using snowplows and graders to clear highways.
