FORTY MEMBERS AND LADIES ENJOY COMMERCIAL CLUB

About 40 sat down to a delightful 6:30 dinner at Burt's Confectionery last Wednesday evening, and were joined by several more for the meeting and program of the Kendrick Commercial Club, the latter being held in the Community church basement.

The program opened with the singing of four numbers by the High School Glee Club, directed by Burke Sower — and they were thoroughly enjoyable.

Next came the reading and approval of the Minutes of the previous meeting, and allowance of bills. This was in turn followed by committee reports.

For Highways, Tom Long reported that slides and soft roadbeds were plaguing maintenance men, but that on the whole roads were in good condition for this season of the year.

For the Education committee Gerald Ingle stated that real study on the part of the pupils was the "order of the day" for tournament play was to begin next (this week) at Lapwai. He added that travel conditions for the school buses were good, and all had been operating on schedule.

Dr. D. A. Christensen, reporting for the Boy Scout committee, said that they were making excellent progress in their work. At a recent Court of Honor three main awards were offered, and the Kendrick Troop came home with two of them. They had also won $40.00 in a "Keep Idaho Green" contest. This prize money going to the troop as a whole.

W. A. Watts then brought up the matter of the Annual Farmers' Institute, to be held March 13, in Kendrick, and after a bit of discussion the club decided to again sponsor the day. This is a joint gathering from Nez Perce and Latah counties. W. A. Watts, Gerald Ingle and R. L. Blewett were named as committee for arrangements.

A. O. Kanikkeberg, president, then introduced Orland C. Mayer of the Idaho Power & Light Co., the speaker for the evening. Mr. Mayer gave as his topic: "Hell's Canyon Dam."

Mr. Mayer stated that his company proposed to erect, with private capital, four low-head dams on the Snake river, which would equal in electric production the Hell's Canyon dam as favored by the government. He said that these dams would pay about $3,000,000 in ad valorem taxes each year. These dams would cost private capital about $200,000,000 against the Army Engineers estimate of $500,000,000 in taxpayers money for the government dam.

He emphasized that private enterprise would be paying taxes instead of using taxes for the construction of the government dam. He brought out the fact that in the last six years the government has collected more in taxes from the public than was taken during the preceding 156 years, and those years included several wars, even World War II.

Mr. Mayer went on to state that many were of the belief that the power generated by the big Hell's Canyon dam would be kept at home, but he produced government documents to show that it is planned to build transmission lines to carry it to the Oregon coast, and that this would leave our inland area as power short as it is today!

Mr. Mayer pointed out that the Snake river from Weiser to Hell's canyon lends itself ideally to power development, and that the construction of the low-head dams, at far less investment, would produce the same number of kilowatts. He added that if his company were permitted to build these dams, the power would not be "siphoned off" to other areas, except in the form of "surplus," but rather would be " earmarked for the development of Idaho industries."

At the close of Mr. Mayer's talk a brief discussion of the proposed Youth Center was held. Dee Miller announced that permission for the use of the Community church basement had been granted, and that the Y. A. C. would therefore be under the joint sponsorship of the V. F. W., Kendrick Grange and Community church.

Dave Gentry Dies Tuesday Eve. Dave Gentry, a pioneer of the Kendrick area, passed away Tuesday evening at 9:30 at his home in the east part of town. Mr. Gentry had been in failing health for the past two years, and confined to his home and bed for about three weeks, following a light stroke.

His body was taken to Moscow, and funeral arrangements are pending. Further details are lacking at this time.

W. S. C. S. Study Class Mrs. F. C. Schmidt will entertain the Study Class in her home Friday afternoon at 1:30. All are urged to be present.

BEVERLY SCHUPFER WRITES MORE INTERESTING LETTERS

For $4.00 we flew back to the mainland, Barcelona, and it was a lot of fun, and only took 55 minutes, saving us a 14-hour boat trip. We had to stay in Barcelona a day because we had to get more train reservations, and it took almost a day to do it, too. We had to fill out a big sheet of paper in order to get seats on the train that we wanted, and stood in line for about two hours waiting for the right window to open. Barcelona didn't appeal to us very much, maybe because we didn't get to see the nicest part of the city, but it was so dirty all over. Seven ships of the U. S. navy were anchored in the harbor, and we took a little boat ride out to look at them. The flag ship Des Moines, two destroyers and two or three cruisers. The city was just swarming with U. S. sailors and all the business places had flags out and signs on the windows welcoming them to Barcelona.

Again our train out of Barcelona left at night, but we paid a supplement and bought couchettes, so that we could get some sleep. These couchettes are a very good thing and much cheaper than a sleeping car. In a compartment there are six bunks instead of six seats. They give you a pillow and a blanket and you just lie down with your clothes on. I slept very well, although it was rather narrow and I nearly fell off the bunk several times. The conductor was supposed to wake us before we got to Marseilles, but he forgot, and early in the morning Fred suddenly yelled that we were in Marseilles and we didn't know how long we had been there. So there was a frantic scramble to gather our things together and jump off the train before it moved on. We made it, but still weren't awake when we finally set our things down on the platform.

We were in Marseilles until early the next morning, and looked at the harbor and the shops there. In the evening we had to pay 1,000 francs for our dinner (about $3.00). That is how fast money goes in France, although we shouldn't have had to pay so much. In the evening we got tickets to see Maurice Chevalier, the French comedian, who was in Marseilles for a week. He is very famous in France and I had heard of him at home, but I didn't enjoy it much, partly because I couldn't understand the jokes. He is a little bit like Al Jolson, and I enjoyed it when he sang.

We left Marseilles on Saturday evening, January 12, and had a day ride through the French Riviera, going through Nice, Cannes, and Monte Carlo. We had already seen Cannes once before from the Independence when she left passengers there. We arrived in Milan at 7:00 p. m., and hurried out to see if we could buy tickets for the opera at the world famous opera house, La Scala. We did get the tickets and saw Beethoven's Fidelio, but sat in the last row of the top gallery, so could just barely see the stage. Herbert Karajan conducted the orchestra, and he is considered to be one of the best conductors in Europe, and is regularly conducting in Vienna. The music was very good, and we thrilled by just being able to be at La Scala.

On Sunday morning we visited the great cathedral in Milan, and were almost as impressed as with Notre Dame in Paris. The Milan cathedral is not quite so big and imposing, and not so old, but the stained glass windows are much larger — the largest in the world, I believe, and also very beautiful. We tried to get into the little chapel where da Vinci painted his "Last Supper" and see the original of the painting, but we found to our great disappointment that we were just 20 minutes past closing time. The picture is said to be in very bad condition, because da Vinci wasn't careful when he painted it and it is on a damp wall, which is ruining the colors. (It is a fresco, painted on a wall.) They say that in time it will fade away completely. We took a walk before dinner in Milan on Sunday, and visited a little zoo in a park. It was interesting because they had an elephant that did all kinds of tricks, even collected money in his trunk. We didn't stay for that one.

That evening we were in Venice, which is the most interesting and unusual city I've ever seen. You have seen pictures of the canals in Venice, haven't you? I always had the idea that that was maybe just for tourists or that they had only a few canals, but all of their streets are water and there is no way to get around unless you go by boat. The front doors of the houses open onto the canals and they have ferryboats for streetcars. There are gondolas and motorboats on every so-called street corner, to take the people where they want to go. Of course there are some tiny, narrow streets where you can walk, but not for any great distance, and an interesting thing about Venice is that there is not an automobile in the entire city. It is built on a group of about 350 little islands seven miles from the mainland of Italy — right out in the sea. The only connecting link is a seven-mile bridge for the train, and also a road.

SHORT NEWS ITEMS FROM OUR LOCAL SCHOOLHOUSE

School Bus Safety Sometimes it is necessary to re-emphasize certain phases of the Idaho Transportation Act, so that we may all have some of these important facts more clearly in mind.

For example, one regulation, which is frequently broken is stated in the manual as follows: "When the bus is stopped, all traffic must stop, but may proceed at a rate not to exceed ten miles per hour except when the stop arm is extended."

"When the stop arm is extended all traffic is to remain stopped until the stop arm is lowered."

The major infraction occurs to the first part of the regulation. Quite frequently traffic passes stopped buses either on the highway or while stopped in front of the school houses. If the reader is guilty of this infraction, please take note of this reminder.

JOINT DISTRICT P-T. A. MEETS MONDAY EVENING

The regular monthly meeting of the Joint District No. 283 P-T. A. was held Monday evening in the High school auditorium at Kendrick. The session opened with the group singing of "America the Beautiful", led by Warren Fairbanks, accompanied by Mrs. Bob Magnuson.

Mrs. Elmo Eldridge, president, presided at the business session. The treasurer's report was read and showed $222.77 on hand.

A report of the Executive committee meeting held at the home of Mrs. Dennis Racicot was read, in which a Nominating committee was named as follows: Mrs. D. A. Christensen, chm., Mrs. Oscar Slind, Mrs. R. L. Blewett, Mrs. Tom Armitage and Eugene Taylor.

Cecil Gruell of the Membership committee, reported membership to date was falling short of the mark made last year, and invited all who were not aligned as a P-T. A. member, to do so at once.

Mrs. Bob Magnuson gave a brief report on the P-T. A. Workshop clinic she and Mrs. Elmo Eldridge had attended recently, citing the ultimate objective — a plan to help and assist the retarded and underprivileged child. The meeting was held in Lewiston.

Mrs. Jasper Nutting announced Friday, March 14, as a date to remember, this being the night for the annual P-T. A. Stunt program, which, she said, would this year be a musical revue. This area has much talent and when the Moms and Dads get together its always a program that no one wants to miss. Plan to be present, either in the audience, or as one of the entertainers.

The Study Club meeting held at the Gordon Peters home last month saw nine parents out. The next meeting date will be announced later with Asa Calvert as-moderator.

Jasper Nutting then talked to the group about the financial condition of the Hot Lunch program. He commended the program as contributing to the health of the youngsters as well as being a high moral builder.

He cited the common enemy as inflation, and went on to show how, through the increased cost of commodities, it was becoming difficult for the program to carry itself and keep out of the red. The state's reimbursement per pupil is 4½¢ per day, with milk, and milk has risen in cost 1¢ per pupil per day this year.

The medium by which this inflation has been fought is the canning program, carried on by mothers in the P-T. A., and by wholesale buying. But even this careful planning has not been able to keep ahead of the increased cost of commodities.

He stated that the fall buying of wholesale goods, meat, etc., exhausted the funds to the point that in November we operate "in the red" and continue to do so until the lunch finance absorbs the deficit. He said that while we owe some outstanding bills at the present time, that our stocks are quite well supplied and if the present trend, which has been prevalent the past two months continues we shall come out all right at the close of the school year. In the event that at the close of the present year our lunch programs are in poor financial condition, it might appear that a likely solution to the problem would be to increase the meal price to 25¢ per day, beginning next year.

Lunches have been 20¢ for the past five years and it would take but little figuring to understand that food costs more now than it did five years ago — whether it be prepared at school or in the home.

Under "New Business" Eugene Taylor, county commissioner for Latah county, raised the question: "Are we, as a school unit, getting our money's worth in service from the County Health unit?" There followed an open discussion from the floor, Mr. Nutting expressing himself as favoring the program, as it was capable of rendering a great service to the local unit, especially since the new nurse, Mrs. Robinson, has been assigned to this area. The weak point in the program, brought out, was that there were not enough nurses to carry on the program effectively, there being one nurse for the Moscow schools, and one nurse to visit all the rest of the schools in the county. Some felt that, for the service we were getting, it was a big price.

Ben P. Cook then announced the Valley Elimination Basketball Tournament at Lapwai, Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 19 and 20, and Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 26, 27 and 28.

Mrs. W. B. Deobald called attention

Weather Turns Cold And Wet
The weather this week has indeed been different from that of last — for then residents were hunting pussywillows and admiring the budding perennial flowers, some washing and polishing cars, in the fond hope that maybe spring had come.
This week has certainly been different. Friday the weather turned chill, and an inch of so of snow fell in the canyon, and from two to five inches on the hills. Since that time it has remained cold, even a bright sun failing to bring much warmth. Tuesday morning local thermometers recorded a low of 22 above.

Cub Scout Birthday Dinner
The Cub Scouts are sponsoring a "Blue & Gold" birthday dinner Monday evening, Feb. 25, in the church basement.
This will be a pot-luck supper and an invitation is extended to Cubs and their families, the Boy Scouts and their friends. Prospective Cubs, boys of 8 years, are asked to contact either the Den Mothers or Cub Master if they are interested.

Negro Team To Play Here
The Harlem Roadkings, famous negro traveling basketball team has been scheduled to play the Kendrick Town Team at the local gymnasium next Saturday evening, February 23, at 8:00 o'clock. This team is famous for its "zany" brand of basketball and a good time seems promised the spectators.

Grangers Enjoy Evening
The Kendrick Grange met Tuesday evening with 44 present. During the course of the evening Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Tarry were given the Fourth degree by the ladies drill team.
Delicious refreshments were served by the hospitality committee at the close of the evening.

Measles Here
Three-day measles have descended on this area, and many are "down and out" with this disease.

Recent dismantling of the White House revealed timbers that had withstood 133 years of use and abuse with no indication of decay nor any structural evidence of termite infestation.

Harriet Winegardner Passes
Mrs. Harriet Katherine Winegardner, 82, resident of the Leland area 40 years ago, died Friday night at the Riverview Rest home, Clarkston. She had been in failing health for several years and was a patient at the home for three months.
Born Harriet Katherine Wildes, May 6, 1869, at Clinton, Mo., she attended school and grew to adulthood in Missouri. She married Richard Winegardner there, March 1, 1888.
Mr. and Mrs. Winegardner and family moved west into the Leland district about 1912, and she had lived there and at Lewiston since that time. She was a member of the Lewiston Congregational-Presbyterian (Federated) church and of the Lewiston chapter of American War Mothers.
Mr. Winegardner died in 1946. During the last two years Mrs. Winegardner had been a patient at Clarkston nursing homes.
She is survived by two sons and two daughters: Richard C. Winegardner of Lewiston Orchards; James H. Winegardner of Oakland, Calif.; Mrs. Vern Beckman of Chelan, Wn., and Mrs. Earl Steirwald of McClary, Wash. — Lewiston Tribune.

Well Now 327 Feet Deep
Drilling operations on the new Kendrick 10-inch bore well have been suspended, at least for the time being, at a depth of 327 feet, with water standing in the hole within 10 feet of the top.
A "bailer" is being shipped from Spokane for an accurate test of the flow possible.
Jim Burns, who holds the drilling contract, says he does not believe this well will affect the old one, as a two-hour open pumping test from the old well failed to lower the water level in the new one — and the pump sucked the old shaft dry.
Whether or not the new bore will be drilled deeper depends on the outcome of the "bailer" test.

Town Team Loses To Kooskia
The Kendrick Town team dropped their second game of the season to Kooskia, on the local floor last Monday evening by a score of 54 to 64.
Kendrick dropped in the first basket and built the lead to 6-1 during the opening two minutes of play, but were unable to hold the strong Kooskia delegation down, and the visitors went on to win.
The score by quarters follows:
Kooskia ..... 14 26 43 64
Kendrick ..... 10 20 38 54
Playoffs for this section will take place at Culesac Sunday at 1:30 p. m.

New Assistant Yell Queen
Kendrick Yell Leaders Dorothy Glenn and Donna Kanikkeberg have added a new member to their act — little three-year-old Lynda McGeachy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin McGeachy. Mr. McGeachy is the English instructor at K. H. S.
Little Lynda has won the hearts of fans as she trips through the routines, trying to keep up with her older models. She is dressed in an identical outfit, white sweater and red plaid skirt. Her cartwheels are sometimes "off the beat" but in her babyish enthusiasm, she's yelling for Kendrick.

Writes From Germany
This week the Gazette received a letter from Pfc. Leon Wolf, enclosing a change of address. Under date of January 20, at Grafenwohr, Germany, Leon says in part:
"Dear Bill — I had better drop you a line now and let you know I have a new A. P. O. number. It is now 114. I usually get the paper about a month after you send it, and it is always a welcome sight. It is sure nice to know what's going on around home."

"About two weeks ago I got a three-day pass and went to see Harold and Gerald Halseth. From there we went to Munich and spent the week-end in that city. That was the first three-day pass any of us had, and it sure was good to get together. We had quite a conference. We are stationed about 200 kilometers apart. It took me six and a half hours and four different trains to get there — so you can guess what kind of trains we ride."

"We have two inches of snow now, and they tell us we are having a very mild winter. It is something like that around Lewiston for climate. It hasn't been below 18 degrees above zero here as yet, so I can't complain about the weather at all. "We are stationed here to breakdown and distribute rations for Seventh Army troops training here. We have been here about two months, which is the longest I have ever stayed in one place (since entering the service). I suppose they will move us again by the time you get the new address."

"Thanks millions for the paper. I suggest somebody figure out a way to get the fellows in the Pacific to write a few letters. We'd all be glad to hear from them. Always — Leon."

Two Counties Win 4-H Plaques
For the third consecutive year Bingham county has been awarded the General Motors merit plaque for reporting the most outstanding 4-H Farm and Home Safety program in Idaho last year. Latah county also received a plaque for its top-rating 4-H Farm and Home Electric program. The award was provided by Westinghouse Educational Foundation.

More than 50 Bingham county 4-H Clubbers took part in the safety project and 30 surveys were made of homes and farms throughout the county. Showing of the film "Paradise Valley" served to bring to the attention of the 4-H'ers many of their own careless habits. As a result, stated Edward Koester county extension agent, club members enrolled in this activity corrected most of the hazards.

Latah County Agent Walt McPherson reported that demonstrations given by individuals and by Rich Bakes, farm representative, proved to be the most effective method of developing interest and promoting activity in the 4-H Farm and Home Electric program. The Washington Water Power Co. and the Extension office sponsored a leader's training school in rural electrification at the University of Idaho. This was conducted by Bill Knight of the University agricultural engineering department. The boys and girls have learned how to make electricity work for them more effectively on the farm, and how to wire lighting circuits, thermostats and motors.

These programs are under the supervision of the Cooperative Extension Service.

New Fishing Licenses

The fish and game department reminded sportsmen that a 1952 license is required to fish and hunt in Idaho, as 1951 sporting licenses expired on December 31.

The department said that contrary to rumors there is no change in the license fees for 1952. All license fees are established by the state legislature and any revision must await legislative action in 1953.

Life Insurance Funds Going To Nation's Defense Plants

Life insurance funds are moving to the aid of the defense activities of the country in increasing volume, and loans made by the life insurance companies in support of the defense program may reach $3,500,000,000 for 1951, according to the Institute of Life Insurance.

"In keeping with the usual policy of directing new funds into channels where they may be most useful for the national economy, the current trend in life insurance investments is towards meeting the capital needs of the preparedness program," Holgar J. Johnson, Institute president, commented. "This is in line with the voluntary credit restraint program under which defense needs have precedence over all other elements in the economy. Defense financing now accounts for the greater part of the life insurance company placement of policyholder funds in business and industry."

More than $1,000,000,000 has been loaned by the life insurance companies so far this year to defense plants and indications are that a like amount may be loaned in the remaining months of the year.

In addition, some $800,000,000 has this year been invested in loans to utility companies and railroads, which are basically involved in all defense activities. This amount may be nearly doubled by the end of the year. Thus, the total of financing made available during the entire year for defense industries or defense-supporting activities may come to $3,500,000,000.

The loans for defense or defense-supporting purposes represent two-thirds of all loans made in the first six months by the life companies to business and industrial concerns, and the ratio has been increasing since mid-year.

Contrary To Superstition, Oysters Edible Year-Round

Contrary to superstition, oysters are edible in all 12 months. Hot-weather shipping problems helped to build the R-month legend. The taboo remains appropriate even with modern refrigerated transportation, however, since May to August is the natural spawning season. The adult female oyster's feat of discharging as many as a half-billion eggs in this season leaves her a bit too thinned down for prime succulence.

Shad were surpassed only by cod and salmon among U.S. commercial fisheries before the turn of the century. Overfishing, industrial pollution, and high dams barring the way to upstream spawning grounds have forced shad far down on the list now. Although the Chesapeake Bay still accounts for one fish out of three, the total catch is less than one-fifth that of 19th century peak seasons.

Crabs, alewives, rockfish, croakers, sea trout, and menhaden all figure importantly in Chesapeake Bay commerce. Like oysters and shad, they are studied for rehabilitation purposes by such organizations as the Chesapeake Biological Laboratory at Solomons, Maryland, and the Chesapeake Bay Institute, Baltimore.

Pearls and Pipelines

Iranian nationalists have laid verbal claim to Bahrein, oil-rich island across the Persian Gulf where Arabian dhows put in bearing huge milky pearls from the sea floor. Persia has been claiming Bahrein without avail since 1783, however. An independent sheikdom under British protection, Bahrein is the site of an American oil field and refinery. Saudi Arabia's oil wells were joined with the Mediterranean coast in 1950 by the competition of Tapline, a 1,068-mile, 30-inch pipeline across the burning Arabian desert. American and British engineers proposed to build next an even bigger "Middle East Inch" (34-36 inches in diameter) from Abadan to the Mediterranean. Iran's oil would thus be linked by a tunnel of steel with the Western world—if the hot desert wind from Tehran does not blow the project away.

Turbans

In a survey of "fashions down through the ages," made by The Book House For Children the turban was found to be a favorite head covering of many ancient peoples, among them, the Armenians, Babylonians, and Phoenicians. Today's favorites include variations of the cloche, beret, and "beanie," a small disc of felt or straw that is anchored to the head, usually with hatpin or veiling.

Color Blindness

Most common in color blindness is the confusion of red and green, which may affect as many as 80 men and 5 women per thousand population. One person out of several thousand has trouble with yellows and blues. Very rare is complete color-blindness, in which everything is seen as black, gray and white. Not more than a hundred such cases have been reported in the scientific literature. Even a partially color-blind person usually learns to name colors properly a great deal of the time. For example, one with red-green deficiency may learn by experience that what he sees as dull dark yellow is really red, while a light yellowish-gray is what other people call "green."

New Plug Tester — The Deobald Brothers have just added a new spark plug tester to their shop equipment. Te tester shows accurately the condition of the plug, as the test is made with the firing points under a pressure of at least 25 pounds to the square inch. This garage is one of which any town might well be proud, for the boys have everything in the way of equipment and know how to use it.

According to those who have kept track we have had three months of sleighing in the Potlatch country up to February 9, and so far as we are concerned, that's enough. The snow on the uplands varies from a few inches to two feet. At Southwick it was said Monday to be about 30 inches in depth.

Herman Johnson was taken quite ill Thursday night and rushed to St. Joseph's hospital, where it was supposed he was suffering from ulcers of the stomach. Upon examination his ailment was diagnosed as inflammation of the gall bladder. He returned home Friday night, and is convalescing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Daugherty.

Little Gordon Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cook, Southwick, suffered a severe burn on his left hand this week.

Seniors Rank High — The four year's work of High School now nearing completion by members of the Senior class, gives highest honors to five girls. Nona McAllister wins the place of Valedictorian with an average of 93.6. Lois Fry captured the place of Salutatorian with an average of 91, and Burneda Cummings runs a close second with a 90.3. She is closely followed by Lizzie Hoffman, who received 89.4. Allie Foster holds fifth place with 86.7. Allie and Lois have good reason to be proud, as they are taking four years of high school in three.

Mrs. Gus Kruger and infant daughter returned home from the St. Joseph's hospital last Saturday.

Live And Learn

The way of a soldier with a telephone on a week-end furlough is something to watch. One Saturday morning a young GI changed a dollar in a crowded bus terminal, ranged the nickels in rows on the shelf to the left of the telephone in a booth, and placed a cup of coffee and a plate of doughnuts on the shelf to the right.

His first telephone call was very lengthy, consisting on his side mainly of repetition of "Gee, honey," and "Sure thing, honey."

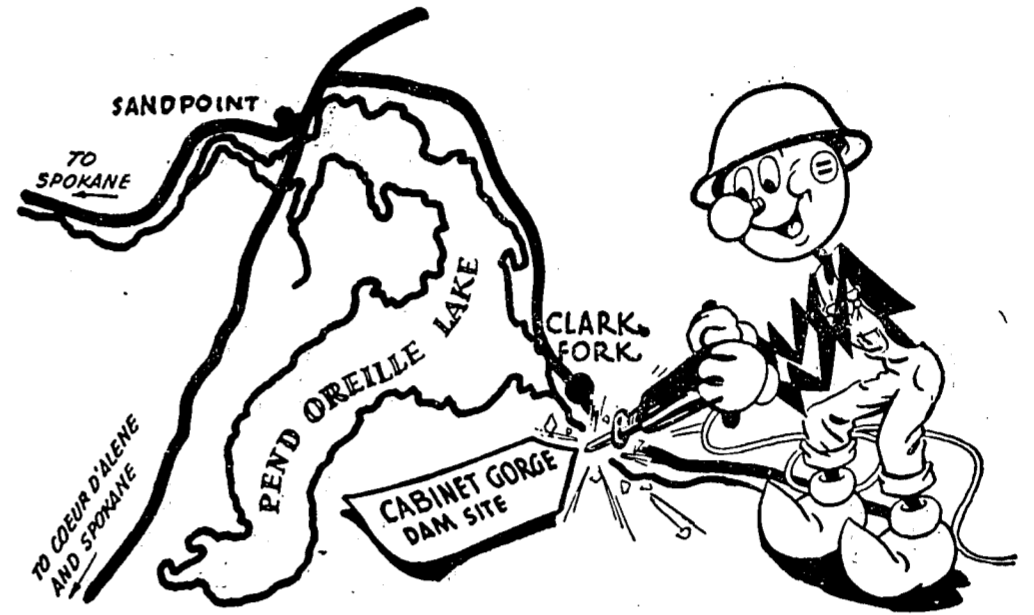

A middle-aged civilian waiting for a booth listened, looked over the array of nickels and finally went over to the lunch counter. He came back with a plate of spaghetti and rolls, opened the door of the booth and said kindly, "Here, sonny, you'll be needing dinner in here if all your girls are as big talkers as this one." — Reader's Digest.

Can Change Truck Register

Owners of farm trucks who have registered their trucks on a ton-mile basis may change the registration to a flat fee basis if the change is made immediately. E. Dan Pederson, county assessor, said this week. To do so they must bring the blue registration slip which they received from Boise to the assessor's office in Moscow. Those making the change will receive a $20 credit from the ton-mile to the flat-rate registration.

Farm trucks operating under the ton-mile system will be required to purchase Washington licenses if they go into that neighboring state, Pederson said. Those on the flat fee may go into other states under reciprocity agreements recently made.

Pederson emphasized the importance of making the change immediately if it is to be done, and also the necessity of having the blue registration slip when applying for a change at the assessor's office.

POWER-CURVE TRACTOR TIRES

Power-Curve cleats dig into any kind of soil and hold firm. That's why these king-size cleats give you maximum traction — not only in forward gear, but in reverse, too. You get added pulling power—even in muddy going — because Power-Curve cleats are curved to stand rigid.

The famous BFG open-center tread flexes as the tire rolls. Dirt drops out, leaving each arrowhead nose clean to bite the soil better. And Power-Curve cleats dig deeper and wear longer because they're higher in the center than those of the other two leading makes. For more power in your tractor work, get the B.F. Goodrich Power-Curve tire!

HELLO, THERE, FOLKS —

Seems like old Brier Ground, Hog must have seen his shadow — for the past few days at least have given us another touch of winter. But be that as it may, you can keep that farm income up by milking those cows and selling the cream to us. You'll be surprised just how much real cash they will produce, and the time required is very little. Try it for yourself. And besides, we return a steam-sterilized, ready-to-use can. That saves you time, too.

A charitable woman noticed a down-and-out man standing near her home. One morning she took compassion on him, pressed a dollar into his hand, and whispered: "Never despair."

Next time she saw him he stopped her and handed her nine dollars.

"What does this mean?" she asked him.

"It means, ma'am," said the man, "that 'Never Despair' won at 8 to 1."

Like hot biscuits, hot muffins, waffles? Of course you do, who doesn't? But did you know that they taste so much better when liberally spread with "Potlatch Chief brand butter. Just you try it. It's golden goodness, made of pasteurized cream, adds zest to any meal, but particularly to hot breads, waffles, pancakes, etc.

The car stopped suddenly in a dark country lane. "Out of gas," our hero said.

The girl friend pulled a flask out of her handbag.

"Wow," said he, "What's that? Burbon?"

"No," she retorted, "gasoline."

And don't forget — we want to buy your cream!
