GWENDOLYN RAE COOK IS BRIDE OF JOHN A. DEOBALD

The Kendrick Community church was the scene of a lovely spring wedding Saturday, April 3, at 7:30 p. m., when Miss Gwendolyn Rae Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben P. Cook, Kendrick, became the bride of John A. Deobald, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Deobald, at a candle-light service. The Rev. F. C. Schmidt officiated at the double-ring ceremony before an altar banked by huge baskets of yellow daffodils, forsythia and white carnations. White tapers in tall candelabra completed the setting.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was beautiful in a dress of white satin and net. The fitted bodice jacket had long sleeves, stand-up collar and was worn over a strapless floor-length evening gown with a bouffant three-tiered net skirt trimmed in bands of white satin. Her veil was waist-length net and fastened to a little satin Juliet cap. She carried a bouquet of red roses centered with a rose-bud corsage, which she used for going away. She followed the tradition of something old, something borrowed and something blue, and she also wore a strand of pearls and pearl earrings which were a gift of the groom.

The groom was attired in a conventional navy blue suit with white boutonniere.

The matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Harold Goff of St. Maries. She wore a yellow net floor-length dress and carried a nosegay of lavender carnations and yellow rosebuds.

The two bridesmaids were Miss Verna Easterbrook, in a pale green net floor-length gown, and Mrs. Jack Mustoe in an ice blue net gown, also of floor length. Each carried nosegays of pink carnations.

Candle lighters were the Misses Ariene Parshall, Pullman, and Roberta Ruddell, Culeasac, cousins of the bride. Each wore floor-length yellow net gowns and had white carnation corsages.

Don Hardy of Moscow, U. of I. room mate of the groom was best man, and ushers were Gordon Cook and Theodore Deobald, brothers of the bride and groom.

The processional and recessional, and prelude music was played by Mrs. Herman Schupfer. Mrs. Robert Miller of Craigmont, a close friend of the bride sang "Always" and "Because," and was accompanied by Miss Rosemary Randall, also from Craigmont.

The bride's mother wore a navy and white print crepe afternoon dress with navy accessories, and the groom's mother chose an navy crepe afternoon dress with navy and white accessories. Both had white carnation corsages.

Following the ceremony a reception for the 150 close friends and relatives attending was held in the church basement. Mrs. Aaron Blewett of Moscow, and Mrs. R. L. Blewett had charge of arrangements for refreshments. The wedding cake forming a big cross, was made and decorated by aunts of the bride. White stock and maidenhair fern were entwined around the base of the cake, which was topped by a miniature bride and groom. Tall tapers in silver candelabra flanked the cake. Mrs. Ralph White and Mrs. Charles Stegner of Lewiston, poured. Mrs. Gilbert Geidl of Lenore, Mrs. Kenneth Hoduffer of Craigmont and Mrs. Charles Calkins of Yakima served the cake, after the bride and groom had cut the traditional first piece. Mrs. Jonas Parshall of Pullman presided at the punch bowl. All were aunts of the bride.

Mrs. Charles Deobald, sister-in-law of the groom had charge of the guest book, and Mrs. Lewis B. Keene and Mrs. Joe Watts, Moscow, sisters of the groom, had charge of the gift tables.

The bride chose for her going-away ensemble a blue and gray tweed suit with navy accessories, and the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Both young people are graduates of Kendrick High school. The groom has been attending the U. of I. for the last three years, and the bride has recently finished a course at the Kinman Business University, Spokane. After a wedding trip to south Idaho, Nevada and Utah, the bride will be employed by General Electric company at Richland, and the groom expects to be called to service with the army.

Calkins and daughter Jerel of Yakima; Mrs. Joe Woods, Jr., Miss Laurel Carnes, Dell Ruddell and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Deobald and daughter, all of Richland, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Babst and Mr. and Mrs. Milford Blewett, all of Gifford; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ruddell and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Blewett and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Ruddell, all of Culeasac; Mr. and Mrs. Wade T. ## AN EASTER PRAYER

Dear God a cross is all we ask
At this, the Eastertide,
On which to nail the sinful things
That in our lives abide.

Help us to bear our crown of thorns
Up grim Golgotha's steep,
And give us grace to keep the trust
That Thou wouldst have us keep.

Bring buds of promise back to bloom,
To prove with every spring,
How faith that found an empty tomb
Can conquer anything.

— Bert Amble.

DANFORTH-DESCHENES NUPTIAL HELD SUNDAY

Alta May Danforth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Danforth of Southwick, became the bride of Veral E. Deschenes of Seattle, Sunday at 8:00 p. m., in Emmanuel Lutheran Church at Cameron. The Rev. Theo Meske read the services in a setting of lighted candles and baskets of white snapdragons and carnations. Mrs. Meske sang, "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" and "The Lord's Prayer." Only members of the immediate family witnessed the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, who also acted as best man.

The bride was most attractive in a street-length gown of embroidered white nylon. Her elbow-length veil was held in place by a white and silver halo hat. Her corsage was of red roses and freesias.

Mrs. Grover Danforth was her daughter's only attendant. She wore a gown of teal blue with white accessories. Her flowers were red roses and white carnations.

Many friends and relatives greeted the newly-weds at a reception in the church hall following the services. ## OPL. FRANK DAMMARELL WRITES FROM KOREA

The Gazette is in receipt of the following very interesting letter from Cpl. Frank Dammarell, U. S. M. C., who says, under date of March 24: Camp Troplia, North Korea (I'm located S. W. of Wonsong, which is on the coast).

Well, Bill, I'm sorry I haven't written before, but I haven't had much time to do writing!

I have been here about a month and a half. I joined "B Company," and was assigned to rockets. I was a field scout for about three weeks — my job was to locate enemy bunkers — I would go on patrol with squads down in the valleys and look right up the valleys to locate bunkers that can't be seen from the observation posts on the hill ridges. I would get the "dogfare" on locations and radio back to the company and they would call in the 4.5 rockets thus destroying the bunker and making a larger hole. We are located on a long ridge-line. The Seventh is on our right and the K. M. C.'s and the army is on the rest of the line. The K. M. C.'s are Korean Marine Corps. They are very good fighters, but they steal your blind. We live in bunkers 5x7x4, so you can see a large man in a very small place. Usually two men "bunk" together. We lived in the C. P. about 100 feet back from the lines, under a ridge line. The enemy is right in front of us. They have control of a high mountain that looks right down our throats and they use that advantage, too. This mountain is called "Monsoon 1020" meters. They have large mortars — 120's and 82's set up underground. They know where they are firing from, but we can't locate them. We call in rocket fire and air strikes, but when it's over they come out from somewhere and open up again. We have three fences in front of our lines, so it's rather hard for the "Gooks" to come up and through the line, but they can throw a hand grenade a long ways, some of our men have found out the hard way. Their grenades make a loud "pop" before they go off, so a man has to be a heavy sleeper if he couldn't hear one coming. These hills remind me of the Cedar creek country, but have flats on top. Just a few places are flat in the valleys, and they are small patches — they do most of their farming on the slopes. The trees here look like "black pines" and are very thick in some places, but lots of timber is being destroyed, along with most of the homes where the Korean people lived.

All the women and children have moved to the south. We have Korean laborers to take supplies to the lines. Our outfit moved off the front lines early Sunday morning. We were relieved by a Korean army unit. I have picked up a few words in the Korean language, and so I manage to make out fairly well with them.

There is still snow in most places here, and to top it off it is still snowing. We are in this rest camp for a few days, and then we go over to the eastern front around Seoul for a rest of a month (maybe) — at least we are due for one. I had three full nights' sleep in a month and a half while on the lines.

I have a very good friend here that is our company interpreter. He is a graduate of Seoul University. He has given me some stamps, and a Korean spoon. I have also collected five "gook" spoons — four I got from some "gooks" who won't have any further use for them.

Well, Bill, I could tell you about a few of the patrols I have been on, but most of that stuff it is better to forget. Tell my folks and all my friends "hello" for me, and I'll write a few more lines some other time.

—Your truly, Frank Dammarell.

P. S. Why don't some of you other guys in the service write a letter or two? The rest of us would like to read them?

Junior Prom Enjoyed

The Junior Prom, which is the high-light of the school social year, was presented by the Junior class in the high school gymnasium last Friday evening.

The theme, "The Loveliest Night In The Year," was indeed a reality, as pretty girls in their swirling formal floats floated around the big dance floor on the arm of their best beau, to the music of the six-piece band.

The theme was carried out with an out-door setting, Evergreens and out-door furniture fringed the outer circle of the dance floor, set off with a low white picket fence. A rose covered arch led to the punch bowl, a replica of the little old fashioned "wishing well." The ceiling of the big building was screened off by hundreds of balloons of various sizes and colors. Yes, it was the "loveliest night of the year," so realistic was the setting that one could almost imagine he was dancing under the stars.

The velvet stage curtain at the end of the room carried in twinkling silver letters "The Loveliest Night of the Year," and formed a backdrop for the orchestra.

No count was made, but it is believed that the crowd was the largest in many years. Patrons and Patronesses for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Colwell and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Taylor. Dawn Marie Nelson and Wilma Wilson presided at the "wishing well" punch bowl.

Ervin McGeachy was the class advisor, and congratulations are due to him and to the Junior class for an outstanding social event.

To Enforce Sidewalk Ordinance

It has been noted that quite a number of sidewalks within the village of Kendrick are in need of rebuilding or repair, the village trustees have decided that Ordinance No. 119, which fixes owner responsibility in the matter, shall be enforced, and in this issue will be found a section of this ordinance.

Many sidewalks, due to the use of salt in removing ice, or damage by tree roots raising them, or by other means, are sadly in need of repair, and the owner of the property abutting is responsible under village and state law.

SHORT NEWS ITEMS FROM OUR LOCAL SCHOOLHOUSE

Easter Vacation
School was dismissed Tuesday afternoon for the Easter vacation.

About Baseball Suits
Several of the school's baseball suits were loaned to members of the town baseball team last summer. One of these suits was not returned. If any member of last year's town baseball squad happens to have one of these suits hanging in the closet, or knows where it may be, we would appreciate it very much if it would be returned, as we need all the suits available.

Election Time
In the near future the citizens of our district will be called upon to express themselves once more at a levy election to determine whether they are interested in continuing to maintain a standard elementary and an accredited High school in our district. In the past the vote has been overwhelmingly favorable "when the chips were down."

We well realize that the tax statements rose considerably for school purposes the past year. That is largely because our Governor and Legislature, duly elected by the citizens of Idaho, are shifting the greater financial burden of education from the state level back to the local level. This action hurts districts such as ours tremendously, since our assessed valuation is low and practically all the local finance is raised through the property tax. At the present time, after district and county taxes are removed the state actually raises only about 20 percent of the school finances, as compared with over half in Oregon and Washington.

The advantage of having the state assume the larger share of this burden is to broaden the tax base. The property taxpayer contributes only about 10 percent directly into the state sources, thereby the burden on property holders would be greatly eased if the state assumed a greater share of the support of education in Idaho.

The State Trustee Association, P. T. A., Idaho School Administrators Association and many other friendly organizations are exerting every effort to readjust our school finance problem but certainly this takes time and while we work we must carry on our educational program in our own systems. This gets us back to our present local problem and that is to levy the necessary funds to continue our schools in the same manner as here-to-fore.

Please keep watching the Gazette for the official notice of the election date. Everyone is urged to cast his or her vote at the election and assist in keeping our schools as educationally sound as possible by providing the necessary funds.

Attend Meetings
Monday evening A. O. Kanikkeberg and Jasper Nutting attended various education meetings in Moscow. Mr. Kanikkeberg attended the quarterly meeting of the County Board of Education, and Mr. Nutting attended a meeting of the Latah County Administrators, and also one of the Unified Action Committee at the high school cafeteria.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Buchanan of Moscow and Mrs. Hazel Hill of Lewiston were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carlton.
Word has been received that Pfc. Billy Carlton has arrived safely in Germany after an 11-day crossing of the Atlantic with 2,330 buddies. However, at the time, he had not yet received his assignment as to base location.
Most people here have their gardens planted, but some are waiting to plant their potatoes for the proper moon phase.
From the way the smoke was rolling out the doors and windows of the Ted Peters home Monday, everyone expected the house to burst into flames, but instead it just smoked. Investigation disclosed a skillet with grease on the electric unit had become over-heated, caught fire and burned — hence a "heap big smoke and no fire." However, plenty of smoke damage resulted from the greasy smoke, which left a film on walls and household furnishings.

Jack Frost Nips Spring Buds
Monday night with a brilliant moon riding high in the sky the mercury dropped to 28 degrees, and as area residents awoke Tuesday morning a heavy white frost covered roofs about town. Fruit growers in the Lewiston area were busy with smudge pots preparing to defend their crops from what they feared to be a killing frost. But here in the canyon fruit trees were not that far advanced and no immediate danger threatened.
This cold snap was in sharp contrast to the warm week-end, for on Sunday the mercury reached a high of 72 degrees.

New tread wipes a WET road so DRY you can light a match on it!

The tread of the new B.F. Goodrich "LIFE-SAVER" Tubeless Tire has thousands of flexible "grip blocks," so closely spaced you can hardly see them. They wipe a wet road so dry you can light a match on it — grip like a caterpillar tread. As a result, the "LIFE-SAVER" Tubeless Tire stops on wet pavement up to 20% quicker than other tires, has up to 40% more pulling power. Under blowout conditions, "LIFE-SAVER" Tubeless Tire loses air s-s-slowly, allows plenty of time for a safe stop. In case of puncture, gummy rubber under the tread seals against puncturing object, plugs hole when object is withdrawn.

Patents covering basic features of Tubeless Tires have been issued to The B.F. Goodrich Company by the U. S. Patent Office.

Alaskan Statehood Bill
Alaskan statehood was temporarily shelved last week when the bill was sent back to the committee by the margin of one vote. Senator Dworshak (R-Ida.) expressed hope that the bill would be revived and approved before congress adjourns, but he said that there was little chance of getting Hawaiian statehood approved before final action is taken on Alaska.

Hawaii is expected to send Republicans to congress, while Alaska is expected to send democrats. Therefore, the democratic majority in congress will block efforts to get the vote on Hawaii until statehood has first been approved for Alaska.

Johnson's Story of Success
Started About 65 Years Ago

When Samuel Curtis Johnson began making parquet flooring in his Racine, Wis., workshop 65 years ago, he little dreamed of the turn his business would take.

It was a small operation, with two men and two boys doing all the work, but they were thorough craftsmen. Their flooring can still be found in old American homes.

Mr. Johnson, reading his mail by lamplight in the evening, noticed that more and more customers were turning to him for information on how to care for floors. Knowing that many floors in Europe had withstood the tread of centuries, thanks to wax, he recommended that his customers use the same substance.

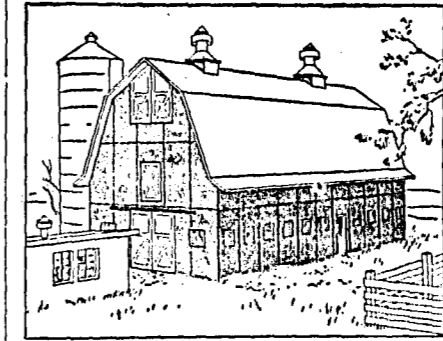

Within a few years the Johnson company was manufacturing its own wax and wood finishing products. They subsequently found that the sideline was outstripping the main products in volume of sales. In 1916, with simple tastes in home decorating becoming more evident, the company abandoned its parquet business and concentrated on wax products.

Today, with the founder's grandson, H. F. Johnson, at the helm, the company ranks high in American industry. Its main office and laboratory in Racine, the plants for which were drawn by Frank Lloyd Wright, is a symbol of industrial growth. The company has offices and plants in Canada, England, France, Australia and other parts of the world. It has a refinery and plantation in Brazil where the world's supply of carnauba wax is obtained. The little group that began the manufacture of parquet flooring in the back-street workshop 65 years ago could never have guessed they were sowing the seed of a business that was to make Racine the wax center of the world.

Building Program
Far Behind Schedule
All-Purpose Barn Has
Priority on Many Farms

Although American farmers have undertaken considerable construction in recent years, the farm building program is still far behind schedule. Farm authorities report that farm buildings have a high average age, with the average all-purpose barn dating back to 1910.

For this reason the all-purpose building has first priority with many farmers who are interested in greater labor efficiency and a better return on their farm investment.

The building pictured above is 48 feet long, 34 feet wide and 35 high. In addition to being soundly planned — subject to the individual farmer's own requirements — it will make a pleasing addition to most farmsteads.

The floor plan shows six cow stalls on either side of a driveway. Also provided in connection with the dairy sections, and mangers, feed alleys and gutters for each group. The second floor is a hay-mow. Revisions to suit any farmer's particular needs can be incorporated readily by the builder.

A flexible plan for the all-purpose barn may be obtained free by writing Farm Service Bureau, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, and asking for No. AFB-162.

High Production Key
To '52 Farm Success

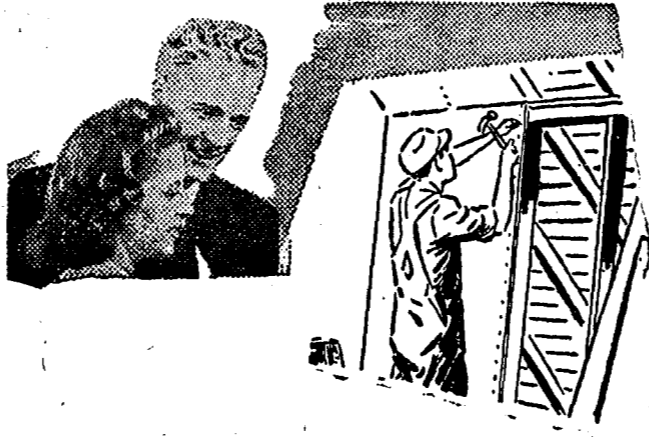

High farm production will be the key to success in 1952, agricultural economists report. They point out that operation costs will be higher, especially for labor, machinery and feed. But they feel the best way to beat higher costs is through greater production and efficiency.

Increased production can be obtained by use of more legumes in the rotation, using more commercial fertilizer or by tilling heavy land which is poorly drained but which can be made highly productive. Modern machinery makes farming larger acreages possible, and only through making maximum use of equipment can it become a profitable buy.

Another method of increasing production will be through expanding the livestock program. Continued high demand for livestock products will keep prices high and open good opportunities for profit.

The year of 1952 will also be a good time to reduce the mortgaged debt, economists say, and farmers who do will be in a better position to weather out any period of financial reverse, if one should occur.

Champion Barrow

Tests Reveal Lights
Increase Egg Production

Although they don't have to see what they're doing, laying hens work better if they have lights, tests have revealed.

Lights extend the hen's working day. It makes it possible for each bird to eat more. But the main reason for larger egg production when lights are used is stimulation of the pituitary gland by light rays. Lights may be used profitably when the days are short.

Nurse Braved Fever, Risked
Life to Help Malaria Fight

Feeding disease-laden, killer mosquitoes once was the hobby of an elderly Baltimore nurse.

Miss Lena Townshend, now 76 years old, hoarded spare time from her nursing duties to provide life-sustaining sugar water for the caged mosquitoes used in yellow fever experiments by the late Army doctor and scientist, Major Walter Reed.

As a civilian nurse, Miss Townshend's 16-month affiliation with Dr. Reed and his important work was unofficial but she made a definite contribution to the project's success. Her experience with the menacing mosquitoes today are a fond memory in her career, 36 years as a practicing nurse.

While the Army prepared to honor Major Reed by observing the centennial of his birth, September 13, the gray-haired nurse was proud but modest in a discussion of her work in the fever-ridden country that was Cuba in 1901.

Miss Townshend went to Cuba due to a post-war shortage of nurses and a personal desire for foreign duty at the turn of the century. As night superintendent of Havana Municipal Hospital No. 1, she had a role in the fight against another epidemic of that time, typhoid fever.

Her "spare time" work was done in Dr. Reed's laboratory, one part of the hospital, after she already had put in 12 hours of night ward duty. She worked on the yellow fever charts which Major Reed maintained for the benefit of government and private hospitals in this country in addition to feeding the mosquitoes.

Interested both in the capture and care of the man-killing insects, Miss Townshend paid little heed to the other laboratory animals, guinea pigs and rats. She said she wasn't afraid of them but "I just didn't like them."

Although she nursed both yellow and typhoid fever cases—so many that she is unable to count them—Miss Townshend escaped both diseases.

Sunken Ore

About 100 years ago on the Marquette Range in Michigan, ore cars were sent down a long, descending grade to a Lake Superior dock. But sometimes the ore plunged to the bottom of the lake. In the 1850's, a strap iron railroad was built down the grade from the mines to the docks in Marquette harbor, 12 miles away. Strings of cars were loaded with ore and coasted by gravity down to the waterside. A brakeman rode each string of cars. The hand brakes of the period were far from efficient. Sometimes the cars continued off the end of the dock, and landed at the bottom of Marquette harbor. At intervals later cargoes of iron ore were dredged up where the old cars leaped to a watery grave.

Horns and Antlers

Horns, such as occur on cattle, sheep and Old World antelope, have a bony core. Over this is a layer of a material called keratin, which is similar to the calluses that occur on the palms of the hands or the soles of the feet. The antlers of the deer are different, as they consist of a growth of connective tissue which becomes hardened with the deposition of calcium. Antlers are shed annually and grown anew, as also are the horns of some animals, such as the prong horned antelope.

Most Life Policy Benefits Go to Widows, Children

Reflecting the basic use of life insurance in family financial planning, wives, children and other relatives appear to be the directly named beneficiaries in more than 80 percent of all life policy death claims, the Institute of Life Insurance says. This is indicated by an Institute analysis of one month's claims in the United States.

Applied to the year's probable total of death claims, the one month's distribution would indicate that this year, wives, children and relatives will be beneficiaries of some 1,200,000 life insurance policies, with total benefits about $1,400,000,000. Wives and children alone would account for $1,225,000,000. In addition, they will receive a considerable share of the 7 percent of claims and 14 percent of benefit payments which go to estates and other beneficiaries, excepting husbands.

Husbands were shown to be beneficiaries in 11 percent of the policies, although they received only 4 percent of aggregate benefits, reflecting the smaller average size of policies owned by women.

The month's claim analysis also revealed that, while the majority of death claims were paid on policies which had been in force a number of years, there was a large number in the early life of policies, even in the first year. Although great care is taken in selecting applicants, with those to whom policies are issued being in apparent relatively good health, nearly 5 percent of policies becoming death claims were found to be less than a year old. This would indicate that this year there will be some 70,000 death claims within a year of issuance of policies, with nearly $100,000,000 involved.

Nearly one-sixth of all claims were shown to be under policies less than five years old. Almost 40 percent of the claims and just over 40 percent of the amount of benefits paid were under policies in force 20 years or more.

Preventive Measures Urged As Safeguard Against Stroke

The best way to avoid a stroke, third among leading causes of death in this country, is to recognize its possibility and make physical readjustments that may help to stave it off.

In the absence of serious systemic diseases such as diabetes and syphilis, there is not much chance of the average person having a stroke before 45 years of age, according to Dr. William Bolton, associate editor of the magazine. Today's Health. But, virtually every one past middle age is a possible candidate. The following precautions were recommended.

1. Obtain prompt, active treatment of systemic diseases.
2. Do not become or remain overweight.
3. Watch blood pressure that tends to become high.
4. Obtain regular physical check-ups.

"Strokes vary from widespread, devastating ones that bludgeon their victims into oblivion to tiny ones producing such vague, indefinite signs that they often escape immediate detection," he said. "The basic cause in both extremes is identical: escape of blood into the brain tissue. The amount of bleeding and its location near to or far from vital centers or important nerve pathways are the chief factors that determine severity in strokes.

"Not all strokes are the result of direct escape of fluid from blood vessels into brain tissue. Some physicians lean strongly to the belief that temporary spasm in a blood vessel may be a common cause.

"Another fairly common event is formation of a clot within one or more of the tiny arteries in the brain.

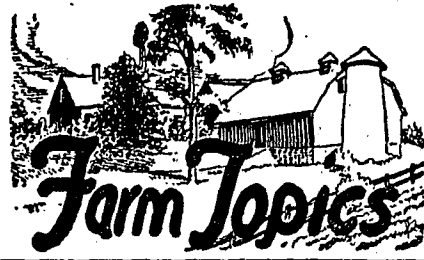

"There is increased possibility of stroke in certain diseases."

Tough Case

Recognizing the fact that portable movie projectors are often carried into all sorts of climates and that they must withstand the hard knocks incident to travel, the manufacturer of one such machine has devised a special carrying case that is able to "take it." Built of birch and basswood, high frequency radio waves are used to set the adhesive that binds the panels so they can never pull apart. The case is then dipped in a synthetic resin sealer that checks decay and minimizes moisture absorption. It is then primed, sanded, and painted with a spatter finish. Allowed to cure for three weeks, the finish is hard and durable. Even after years of intensive service, it does not become brittle or chip away from the wood.

Pre-War Army

Six months before World War II began, the Army contained 29 infantry and cavalry divisions at nearly full strength, totaling more than 450,000 officers and men, plus an armored force of four divisions with a total strength of 40,000 troops. The Army history, "Washington Command Post: The Operations Division," credits mobilization of the National Guard and induction under the Selective Service Act for this rapid expansion of strength.

Farm Scrap Harvest Reported a Success Farmers Can Sell All Scrap Iron and Steel

The national farm scrap harvest conducted between October 15 and November 15 has been termed a success by the steel industry, producing millions of tons of scrap iron and steel badly needed for making new steel.

Although the drive is over, farmers should continue to collect the scrapped machinery about their farms and sell it to dealers. It is a good way to keep the farm premises cleaned up and, although scrap does not sell for big prices, the financial return does mean something.

The steel industry continues to need the broken tractor parts, rusted and worn out implements, plow points, outdated horse drawn equipment, old cultivators, broken shovels and similar equipment that can be found on almost every American farm. There are about 25 tons of iron and steel on the average farm.

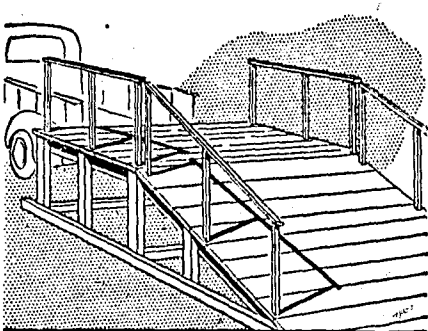

Farm scrap can be a major source of the 38,000,000 tons of scrap that are needed by the steel mills this year. It takes that much scrap to produce 110,000,000 tons of steel that mills in our country have as their goal for 1951.

Cheaper Way to Fatten Beef Cattle Outlined

G. A. Branaman, Michigan State College animal husbandry authority, reports that full feeding grain is the quickest way to get a steer to market, but it isn't necessarily the cheapest or the most profitable. Plain cattle, for instance should be fed longer and more cheaply than well-bred steers of good type. "Corn silage full-fed along with protein supplement may replace all the grain for plain steers when fed a longer time," he comments. "Yearling steers usually are fed from 4 to 7 months, depending on their grade and quality, and the amount of grain fed. Calves require a longer time to fatten and 2-year-olds a shorter time.

Wintering calves on roughage, then pasturing for part or all of the summer without grain results in cheap gains. Under present cattle and feed prices it is possible to pasture cattle for two summers, feeding roughage in winter. These animals may be grain fed for a short time or sold as grass-fat cattle.

Loading Platform

The above sketch of a loading platform is one any farmer handy with tools can build. The main idea is to build it on skids so it can be moved about the farm as desired. The railing can be made detachable to make it easier for loading farm machinery. The uprights would require 4x4 lumber and the platform 2" planks.

Shearing Lamb Faces Will Increase Gains

Shearing the faces of heavily-wooled feeder lambs will increase gains, according to Graydon Blank, extension animal husbandry specialist at Michigan State College. Blank explained that lambs can see better without a heavy crop of wool around their eyes. After shearing they'll find the feed trough more quickly, will eat better and will gain much more rapidly, specialists report.

Report Thorough Cooking Of Pork Cuts Down Disease

Thorough cooking of fresh pork can help to reduce materially the incidence of trichinosis, an infection from diseased pork, it was shown in a report made public by Dr. Rodney R. Beard of San Francisco.

Dr. Beard credited that as one of the factors in an apparent two-thirds reduction in the incidence of trichinosis in San Francisco since 1936.

Trichinosis is caused by Trichinella spiralis worms which sometimes are found in pork. The worms lay eggs in the human intestinal tract. The embryos work their way into muscles, especially the diaphragm, where they develop. Diarrhea, nausea, colic and fever are the usual early symptoms of the disease, followed later by stiffness, pain, swelling of the muscles, fever, sweating and insomnia. The seriousness of the infection depends upon the degree to which the pork has been infected. Severe infections may cause death.

Dr. Beard cited a 1936 study in San Francisco of a random sampling of 200 human diaphragms taken at autopsy. Trichinosis worms were found in 24 per cent of the organs. A more recent study of 161 diaphragms, also a random sampling, showed only 8 per cent were infected—a decrease of two thirds.

He first pointed out that federal, state and local regulations now assure adequate processing of pork products intended to be eaten without cooking. In San Francisco, for example, stringently enforced rules by the local Department of Public Health provide for adequate salting and drying of Italian style salami, an uncooked product, or possible prior killing of trichinae by freezing.

Another factor he mentioned was the reduction in the proportion of pork from garbage-fed hogs. Wartime scarcity of labor, difficulties of transportation and other factors.

Statisticians Report Life Safest Ages Nine and Ten

Life in the United States is safest at ages nine and ten, according to Insurance Company statisticians, and less safe during the first year than at any age to and including 65.

This is based upon an analysis by the statisticians of mortality data for the general population in 1949, as reported by the National Office of Vital Statistics.

An all-time high of 67.6 years in expectation of life at birth registered during the year represents a gain of fully 4 years since 1940, the statisticians note, and a gain of 18½ years since the start of the century.

Our greatest gains in life expectation, it is pointed out, have been at the early ages. At birth the gain in life expectation for males during the decade has been more than three years; whereas at age 40 the increase was less than a year.

"This reflects the strides made in the control of the infections of early life," the statisticians explain, "in contrast to the limited progress which has been made in the control of the chronic diseases of middle and later life. Then, too, with an unchanged life span limit of about 100 years, the closer that limit is reached the smaller is the margin left for gain."

The extent to which women live longer than men is greater than ever before. According to mortality conditions prevailing in 1949, women-outlive men by an average of 5.6 years, as compared with 4.5 years at the beginning of the decade.

Even if there should be no further improvement in mortality, most people now living in the United States can expect to live beyond the biblical three score and ten years, according to the statisticians.

Finding Fingerprints

Criminal investigators use various methods to make fingerprints visible, depending on the surface where the fingerprint is located, its age, and other factors. When one touches a surface with the fingers, the ridges on the finger tips usually leave an invisible pattern of perspiration. If the print is on light-colored paper, and not more than a few days old, finely powdered lampblack or graphite dusted over it will usually make it visible. On a dark surface—a white powder would be required. For older prints, there are various methods using chemicals which react with the minute amount of salts, such as potassium and sodium chloride, left after the perspiration has dried. In one such method, the paper bearing latent prints is dipped in a weak solution of silver nitrate, which converts the chlorides into silver chloride.

Aid for Key Losers

Motor-car-key forgetters or losers will be interested to know that Edward J. Tobin of Norfolk has come to the rescue with his invention of a combination lock to take the place of keys for automobiles. With this dial on your instrument panel, you can forget your key, but not your combination. It works like the combination on a safe. National Patent Council suggests that the combination numbers be kept with your driver's license. Tobin's patent is good for 17 years, and by that time he hopes combination locks will be clicking in autos throughout a good part of the motor world.

Potlatch Chief Sez

Published by the Kendrick Creamery

HELLO, THERE, FOLKS —

Yes, it now looks as if spring might be "just around the corner," despite a number of promises that didn't pan out. But, at any rate, the snow is gone and canyon pastures are turning green, and with those pastures will come an increased flow of milk and cream, but don't depend on grass alone for good cream production. Give old bossy some hay and grain, and get the most out of your effort.

And you get the most when you sell to us. We pay the full market price, you are out nothing for transportation, and we return a steam-sterilized, ready-to-use can. You'll like our service and our money. Bring your cream to us.

An actress congratulated a woman author on her book: "I enjoyed it," she said, "who wrote it for you?"

other. "I'm so glad you liked it. Who read it to you?"

Salad time is coming, or in fact, it is at hand. And if you like salads, you'll like lettuce, pears and Potlatch Chief Cottage Cheese in combination. Try it, it's delicious — but be sure the cottage cheese is "Potlatch Chief" brand.

Wife (reading the paper): "It says here that most accidents happen in the kitchen."

Husband: "Yes, and we men have to eat them!"
