POLIO INCIDENCE CLIMBING TOWARD HIGHEST FIGURE

Boise — The rising tide of polio during September brought the state its second highest incidence figure on record, according to a report released this week by the Idaho Department of Vital Statistics.

While the case rate is still under that reported in 1949, the report indicates that over twice as many cases have been reported to date this year as were reported during a similar period in 1947, when Idaho led the nation in the per capita incidence of this dread disease.

The report pointed out that it is as yet impossible to determine whether or not the polio incidence rate, which forced the state's polio planning committee to declare Idaho an epidemic area, has yet reached its peak.

The vital statistics report shows that during the past five years the peak incidence has never been reached during the same month. Highest monthly incidence occurred in November of 1947; July, 1948; August, 1949; September, 1950, and October of 1951.

David F. Weeks, Idaho representative of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, reported that a total of 17 iron lungs and 12 hot pack machines, owned by the March of Dimes organization, have been rushed to the state's polio treatment centers thus far this year. In addition, Weeks pointed out that over $30,000 in March of Dimes epidemic aid funds had been sent into those Idaho counties which have depleted their own treasuries in meeting the financial responsibilities imposed by the polio patient care program.

While praising Idaho's polio treatment centers and the volunteers in the individual county chapters of the National Foundation throughout the state for the effective manner in which the present emergency has been handled, Weeks emphasized: "We are not only faced with the current problem of an epidemic incidence but we must continue to provide financial assistance to a pyramiding patient load resulting from the aftermath of the last five heavy incidence years."

Idaho, with a per capita incidence of 36 per 100,000 population, to date ranks seventh in the nation of those states now suffering polio epidemics.

Homecoming At U. of I.

The University of Idaho Homecoming parade — a colorful highlight of the October 4 celebration — will welcome returning alumni with more than 45 floats moving down Moscow's Main street and up to the campus, David Lau, student Homecoming chairman from Soda Springs, said Monday. The parade will begin at 9:30 a. m.

Making up the parade, which will extend for more than a mile, will be floats from each campus living group, from student honorary organizations and many civic organizations as well as Moscow businesses.

The spectator crowd also will be large, according to Gale Mix, general manager. More than 14,000 alumni, friends and football fans are expected for the football game between the University of Idaho Vandals and the University of Oregon.

The annual celebration will begin October 3, with a student rally and fireworks on MacLean field. Schedule for the week-end is as follows:

Friday, October 3: 6:00 p. m., Freshmen women's pajama serpentine through campus living groups.

7:00 p. m. — Student rally at MacLean field.

7:20 p. m. — Fireworks at MacLean field.

Saturday, October 4: 9:30 a. m. — Homecoming parade begins in downtown Moscow and moves to the campus.

2:00 p. m. — Homecoming football game begins at Neale stadium. University of Idaho vs. University of Oregon.

Halftime — Homecoming Queen will be crowned by Idaho's Governor Len Jordan.

After game — Open house in all fraternities, sororities and dormitories.

9:00 p. m. to midnight — Annual Homecoming dance in Student Union building.

News Is Very Scarce

This is another one of those weeks when it seems as if there just isn't any news — no P. T. A. or Commercial Club or other events meriting good write-ups.

In fact, one of our correspondents called to say she wasn't writing any news this week — it would have just consisted of a long string of "gone huntings."

Bear with us. There will undoubtedly be items of merit in weeks to come.

Honor Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wright and Margaret entertained at dinner Sunday, honoring the 57th wedding anniversary of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wright, Lewiston.

Besides the guests of honor those present included Mrs. Lettie Israel and son Marlin of Clarkston; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor and family of Lewiston and Herman Sneve of Kendrick.

Sold Lots Of Pop

It seems that in reporting sales at the food concession at the Latah County Fair, operated by the Kendrick Grange, we misunderstood the quantity of pop sold — it was 122½ cases Saturday — not to mention those sold on Thursday and Friday preceding.

No Word On Bridge

We must repeat again this week that we have had no official information of any kind regarding state highway department plans for a new bridge across Bear creek at the edge of town — a bridge which is going to be vitally needed when fall and winter rains begin and Bear creek rises.

We understand that this bridge is on the "emergency list," but just when something will be done is still cloaked in official secrecy. We have had a number of bits of information on this item, but all givers refused to be quoted — so we still have nothing "official."

SALES DAY ATTENDANCE BELOW PREVIOUS YEARS

Kendrick's Annual Sales Day, held last Saturday, September 27, might be classed as only "reasonably successful," probably due in a large part to competition with the Nezperce County Fair at Lewiston.

The auction sale, with a total of just over $565.00 was the smallest for many years. Merchants reported trade as "good" but not exceptional.

Attendance at the football game in the afternoon was good, and spectators saw a real action-filled game, with Asotin and Kendrick battling to a 26-26 tie — using 8-man teams.

The V. F. W. dance that evening was fairly well attended, but here, as in other cases, big game hunting took its toll.

At the floral and agricultural exhibits, the following prizes were awarded:

Best spuds, Harvey Frairefeld, 1st. First on sweet corn; 2nd on squash; 1st on tomatoes; 2nd on corn; 1st on onions and 2nd on cucumbers, Ted Lind.

Best bouquet roses, Mrs. Stanley Hepler, 1st; mixed bouquet, 2nd, also Mrs. Stanley Hepler.

Best fall bouquet, Mrs. Cecil Chamberlain.

Second prize for roses and 1st prize for grapes were won by Mrs. E. O. McAllister.

First prizes for beans, Alsyeke and white dutch clover and for biggest pumpkin were won by Eddie Gallo-way.

Walton Morey won a 2nd prize for white dutch clover and a 2nd for the biggest pumpkin.

W. T. Carlton won 2nd prize for potatoes and 1st prize on field corn.

Mrs. Nora Callison won 2nd prize on a mixed bouquet, and 1st prize for the largest chicken.

Phil Johns won a 1st prize for the largest table squash.

Marvin Vincent won a 2nd prize for table squash; a 1st prize on sweet corn and a first prize on pears.

First for the largest cow squash went to Chas. Hoffman.

1st prize for the largest cabbage was won by Rufus Fairfield.

Dennler Brothers brought in the largest cow squash, for first place.

Leland Slind won a second prize for the largest rooster.

It seems that some labels were misplaced and a mixup resulted in some divisions. The participants in those divisions will meet with Dee Miller shortly, and all prizes can be accurately reported — as there are probably errors in this list.

Warm, Dry Weather Continues

The warm, dry weather, which has prevailed almost all of the month of September is still with us — and here in the canyon home owners may still be seen watering and "manicuring" lawns, although most flowers are past their blooming season and now drying up.

Farmers have made the most of the weather to complete harvesting operations, which were a little later than usual, due to the wet spring.

Forest and range lands are tinder dry, and Henry Jones, deputy state fire warden, tells us that the fire season has been extended to October 16, and that no burning permits will be issued until that time or a general heavy rain falls.

Day time temperatures have been hitting around the middle 80's, and at night dropping to about 50 degrees. Unless this changes, hunters will undoubtedly experience real difficulty in saving their meat, once a kill is made.

Road Oiling Completed

Seal coating oiling operations on the road between Kendrick and Juliaetta, were completed Thursday about noon — with all but about a quarter mile oiled and chip-coated.

The crew ran out of oil just before they reached the highway department sheds near the edge of town. This work gives a semi-rough surface to the road for winter travel, and it is in excellent condition. Weeds have been mowed along the edge, and all is in readiness for winter.

Only regret is that the hill near the Werner Brammer home could not have had a "slice" taken off, the road straightened a bit and widened. Perhaps, some day, that will be done.

Improvements About Town

Everett Fraser is making good progress on the construction of his new combination work shop and garage at their home on the school house hill. The new building is of concrete block construction.

The Edgar Long home in the west part of town is now showing a new front porch and new coat of paint, which greatly improves its appearance.

The David Clayton home on the school house hill is sporting a new coat of paint. The shakes are a light blue-green and the trim white. The result is most attractive.

CRITICAL FOREST FIRE AREAS CLOSED TO GAME HUNTERS

Scattered, critical forest fire hazard areas in the Clearwater basin were closed to public entry Wednesday of this week in the face of "the most dangerous fire situation in 20 years," A. B. (Bert) Curtis, Orofino, Idaho state fire warden and chief warden of the Clearwater and Potlatch Timber Protective Associations, announced Monday.

National forests of north central Idaho will not be closed but hunters will be "discouraged" from entering their logging operations areas, Curtis said. The closure affects state and privately owned lands in the Clearwater and Potlatch protective districts.

The danger has stemmed from a combination of unseasonal warm, dry weather and an influx of an estimated 1,000 deer and elk hunters into the tinderbox Clearwater woods.

Curtis Monday also asked the state fish and game department to temporarily suspend the deer and elk hunting seasons in the critical fire areas. However, Thomas B. Murray, Boise, director, said such action could only be taken by the state commission, which does not meet until October 6th.

The closed areas generally include the districts where logging operations are being conducted and the fire hazard is highest. Curtis appealed to all hunters to check with deputy fire wardens' offices before entering the woods, to determine whether they might trespass in closed areas. Offices are at Orofino, Weippe, Pierce, Headquarters, Elk River and Bovill; the principal points of entry to the forests.

(Information is also available at State Forestry offices at Kendrick, Henry Jones, deputy state warden).

"We do not want to interfere with the pleasure of the sportsmen, but the danger is real, imminent and acute," said Mr. Curtis. "Our only purpose is to keep this particular piece of Idaho green and to keep our forest industries, the lifeblood of our economy in this region, in production."

The critical forest fire areas which were closed Wednesday to public entry in the Clearwater and Potlatch fire protective districts are those near logging operations. The major areas are those surrounding Headquarters, PFT Camp 14 on Beaver creek, Camp 60 on Washington creek, Camp 62 on Snake creek, Camp 11 in the Bertha Hill district, Camp X in the Boehle Cabin district, the Diamond Match Co. operations on Gold Creek and Camp T on Ellenberry creek. Other scattered ranger areas will be closed. Fire protective officials have warned hunters to check with deputy fire wardens to ascertain the boundaries of the danger areas before they enter the woods.

Curtis described the fire danger as the most perilous since he became warden of the CTPA in 1928. "One has to go back to the critical fall fire season of 1931 for a parallel," he explained. "There have been no general rains of consequence in the Clearwater basin since July, and the forest fuels have been further dried by the unusual heat during September. The afternoon winds which prevail at this season would instantly whip an incipient fire beyond control. We hope to avoid such a disaster as has taken place in the Sandpoint area, where 14 major fires today were still out of control although all available men and equipment have been fighting them for a week."

The fire warden emphasized that the woods closure will be on a selective basis. "Some areas are relatively safe and others are highly dangerous," he continued. "We hope to prevent the indiscriminate entry of hunters into the danger zones."

We appeal to the common sense and good judgement of the hunters to play the game and check with us before they go into the woods. People from the towns and farms just don't realize the hazard. A cigaret or match dropped in the woods today would be just like dropping it in a munitions factory."

In the Nezperce National Forest, said Fire Dispatcher Delbert Cox, the situation is more critical than at any time this year. Some lookouts have been sent back to duty, he said. The forest is full of hunters, the area never having been closed. However, foresters are forbidding all smoking except at designated camping spots.

Our Note: Common sense tells us the forests should be closed — but the "gripe" locally at least, is that in such closed areas, Potlatch employees may still enjoy hunting and fishing — practically a private preserve. If they are forbidden these pleasures, as is the general public, by action of the state fish and game board, no criticism will result, we feel sure. But locally, at least, that has always been felt to be unfair.

Look Before You Shoot

The state fish and game department today reminded all hunters of the well-known but oft-disregarded slogan: "Look Before You Shoot."

To practice that would change the picture for a number of men who will undoubtedly meet death at the hands of fellow hunters this fall in the woods of Idaho.

Even though you know an animal is a deer, elk or bear, don't shoot unless you can see it well enough to determine a body spot at which to aim. "Pop shots" in the brush are extremely dangerous to fellow hunters and seldom pay off with meat.

"Look Before You Shoot." "Better Be Safe Than Sorry."

New Military Training Courses

U. of I., Moscow — A new "Branch General" Reserve Officers Training Corps program, which will lead to commissions for University of Idaho students in all the army's branches of service, was put into effect with the starting of this school year, J. E. Buchanan, president, said this week. Previously ROTC students at the university could qualify for commissions only in the infantry or corps of engineers.

The University of Idaho was among the first institutions in the country to adopt the new plan, Buchanan said. Under the "Branch General" program, subjects common to all branches of the service will be stressed during the four years of the course leading to a commission as second lieutenant. During the latter part of each student's college training such factors as major academic course, personal interests, class standing, requirements of the various army branches and existing vacancies will be considered in determining which branch of service the individuals will be commissioned and given specialized training.

The general ROTC curriculum will allow commissioning of the best qualified college graduates in each branch. Top electrical engineering students may become officers of the Signal Corps or Corps of Engineers, for example, and those successfully pursuing scientific or liberal arts courses may be commissioned in one of the technical services or administrative branches, while students who have demonstrated outstanding leadership ability would probably be chosen for infantry, artillery or armor.

Buchanan further pointed out that no change in facilities or personnel would be necessary in introducing the new type of officer training.

Lt. Col. Aaron E. Blewett, acting Idaho professor of military science and tactics, stated that the new program would greatly benefit the institution, and is a progressive step in the procurement of young officers in branches of the service for which the individual is best qualified.

LINDEN ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Langdon of Lewiston Orchards were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Allen. Marjory, Dorothy, Janice, Gene and Freddy Foster were Sunday supper guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Freytag and children, Lynn, Billy and Wendy of Bovill were Sunday afternoon callers in the Gil Erlewine home.

On Wednesday of last week Mrs. Arlie Allen accompanied her sister, Mrs. Celia Bohn and daughter Alfreda, on a trip to Spokane, where they visited Mrs. Bohn's granddaughter.

Mrs. Marion Souders and daughter and Mrs. Arlie Allen were "Sales Day" dinner guests of Mrs. Grace Souders in Kendrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Grim have received word from their son, Pfc. David Grim, that he had arrived back at his post in Panama, after a 24-hour lay-over in Houston, Texas, enroute.

News is very scarce in this section. Everyone is either busy — or going hunting.

The Cedar ridge folk are holding a community farwell dinner on Sunday, October 12, at the Community hall cook house at Gold Hill, honoring the Arthur Foster family, the Marion Rowden family and the Clement Israel family — who have either gone or will soon leave our community.

Terramycin Said Effective Against Pinworm Infection

Infection caused by the pinworm, the most common and widely distributed of all human parasites, can now be successfully treated with terramycin, according to a team of 6 American doctors conducting clinical trials in Haiti.

Treating 61 cases of pinworm infection, the physicians found terramycin effective in all but two patients. Clinical trials with the wide-range antibiotic drug were undertaken because, said the doctors, "the usual treatment with gentian violet often does not eradicate the infection, and not infrequently the drug must be discontinued due to toxic reactions." Several of the patients who had taken gentian violet previously said they found terramycin "considerably more tolerable."

Pinworm infection is found throughout the world and in all ages. Public health experts estimate it affects 35 per cent or more of the general population. In southern states 50 to 60 per cent of all children have had it. Caused by a small white worm, its most disturbing symptom is itching. Often scratching brings about a secondary infection. Pinworm may interfere with eating and result in loss of weight and anemia. The disease usually infects the entire family.

In their clinical report, appearing in the current issue of the medical journal, "Antibiotics and Chemotherapy," the doctors point out that successful therapy depends upon simultaneous treatment of the whole family. In this respect one of gentian violet's disadvantages, they say, is that young children often cannot swallow the enteric-coated tablets.

Whenever possible, the medical team in Haiti examined whole families and treated them simultaneously with terramycin. Full cooperation was not always obtainable, but "despite inadequate dosage in a large number of cases," says the report, "in only 2 instances did treatment definitely fail by the fourth week after therapy was begun."

North Carolina Attacks Highway Safety Problems

A sound program to promote safety on the highways has been set in motion by the state of North Carolina. The appalling number of deaths and injuries resulting from motoring accidents in recent years has provoked this state to take action of a new and decisive type.

Since the first of July, applicants for driver's licenses and renewals have been required to have their eyesight tested on a complex instrument which measures 12 visual skills, including muscular balance, acuity at near and far distances, and depth perception. The instrument makes it impossible for drivers with poor vision to slip by, by memorizing the letters that they must read — a trick sometimes played with conventional charts. Those who fail the tests are advised to consult an eyesight specialist, and many of them will undoubtedly be enabled to pass by professional eye-care.

Good vision has long been recognized as a major factor in accident prevention, and thousands of hours have been spent in attempts to establish proper standards for motorists. But the results were always inconclusive, because too much of the element of personal opinion was involved. Under the new system, however, definite statistics on 1,300,000 drivers will be obtained by next July 1, and it will be possible to judge accurately which visual errors contribute most to accidents and which visual skills are most essential to highway safety.

Had It Really Figured Out

A Park avenue matron was being complimented on the magnificent cactus display in her apartment window.

"They do so well because we take care of them according to nature's plan," she explained. "The important thing is to water them at exactly the right intervals. These plants are from western Texas, and when my husband brought them home we subscribed to a Texas newspaper. When the paper says it has just rained in west Texas — that's when we water the cactus." — Reader's Digest.

A Comet's Weight

What is the weight of a comet? Weight is a measurement of the attraction of the Earth for a body on or near its surface, and as a comet moves far out in space, and is subjected to a varying attraction from the Earth and other planets, one should not speak of its "weight." Its mass, which is a measure of the amount of matter it contains, can only be determined roughly. It has been estimated that with Halley's comet the nucleus, which contains most of the material, has a mass of about a two-hundred-millionth of the Earth's mass. This would be about thirty million million tons. It has also been determined that the particles of which Halley's comet is made could not be held together by the gravitational attraction of a mass smaller than one twenty-fifth of the above figure. Most comets, however, are much smaller than Halley's, and have considerably smaller mass.

Schedule Is Wise

A regular painting schedule actually simplifies property protection. One wise farmer does a fourth of his buildings each year. In that way, each gets its necessary coat of protection every four years without fail, and each year's painting project can be fitted in as other outdoor work permits. While city dwellers do not have as many structures to safeguard, they are wise to look on painting as property-value insurance and to follow a regular schedule.

A Chicago mother had raised her six sons to be staunch "straight ticket" Democrats. So when one lad, back home from army duty overseas, announced that he might vote for Eisenhower, his mother was most upset.

"Mom," the soldier counterattacked, "if the good Lord himself were running on the Republican ticket, I don't think you'd vote for Him!"
"Of course I wouldn't," she replied quickly. "He'd have no business to change now!"

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Shall Section 8, Article IX, Constitution of Idaho be amended to provide that no school lands may be sold for less than ten dollars ($10.00) per acre?

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

This statement of purpose is submitted to the people in conformance with the provisions of Chapter 159, Idaho Session Laws of 1949. The amendment to the Idaho Constitution proposed by House Joint Resolution No. 6, Thirty-first Idaho Legislature, and submitted for vote of the electorate on this ballot is designed to increase the minimum price at which public school lands may be sold by the State from $5.00 per acre to $10.00 per acre. The amendment, if adopted, will make our Constitution conform to the provisions of the Act by which our State was admitted to the Union. The proposed amendment does not fix the price of public school lands at $10.00 per acre. The amendment, if adopted, will fix the minimum sale price at not less than $10.00 per acre instead of $5.00 per acre.

Mulching Will Not Prevent Freezing Leaves, Grass, Straw Are Good Materials

Even though many gardeners have used mulches for years and are aware of its value, they are not sure of their reasons for mulching. It is not to prevent plants from freezing, as often thought, but to prevent quick freezing and thawing. It prevents drying out of plant tissues, and freezing and thawing from heaving plants out of the ground. It also prevents plant development too early in the spring when buds might be harmed by late frost.

The gardener looking for mulching materials could try leaves when available in quantity. They are satisfactory for perennials borders and beds, rock gardens and around evergreens and shrubs. Straw is another good material, especially good for strawberry beds. Oat straw is preferred over wheat and others.

Mulching is nature's way of providing plant protection. Leaves, grass, straw, peat moss and ground corn cobs are all good mulching material.

Peat Moss is often used and does an excellent job of preventing temperature fluctuations, but has a tendency to crust on top. Grass clippings are good, too, if available in large quantity.

Ground corn cobs have recently come into use as a mulch, especially for roses. This material is reported to also improve the soil by stimulating the growth of microorganisms.

200-240 Pound Hogs Will Bring the Best Price

According to livestock specialists, both underfinished and overfinished hogs are likely to sell at larger-than-usual discounts this fall.

The 1951 pig crop of about 105 million head is the second largest on record, and there no longer is the strong world demand for fats and oils of a year ago. So there will be more fats available and possibly a weaker lard market.

As a result this will mean more price differential for type in live hogs. Hogs that are too heavy or too fat will probably have to take a larger discount than last year.

Specialists believe farmers should feed out hogs now under 180 pounds. Discounts on lightweights are such that farmers can hardly afford not to feed them out.

With so many hogs starting to market, packers can be rather choosy about the type of hog for which they pay top prices. Both underfinished and overfinished animals will sell at a disadvantage. Try to sell as many as possible between 200 and 240 pounds.

THE WASHINGTON WATER POWER CO.

Filling Up

Restored pens of the Kansas City stockyards begin to fill up as cattle flow in again after the great flood. More than 20 feet of flood water covered this area. The job of rehabilitation has been hailed as an outstanding feat by livestock men throughout the midwest.

Cattle Grubs Cause Big Meat and Hide Losses

Not less than 12 million pounds of the most valuable part of the beef carcass are trimmed out around grub holes from cattle slaughtered in the U. S., according to livestock specialists. The trimming detracts from the carcass' appearance, resulting in a lower price per pound. It has also been estimated that grubs cause $20 million damage to hides each year, enough to make a million shoes.

GRAIN MARKET FIRMER WITH DEMAND ACTIVE

Grain markets generally strengthened during the past week, according to reports to the Market News Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Prices for most grain commodities advanced, influenced by improved export business for wheat and corn, smaller receipts, large movement of wheat into storage, and a general active commercial demand. Wheat prices at central western markets gained 2c to 4c per bushel for ordinary types and 6c to 8c per bushel for high grade milling types. Wheat prices in the Pacific Northwest were barely unchanged to slightly lower. Oats prices advanced 2c to 3c per bushel with decreased receipts and smaller imports from Canada. Prices for the better grades of malting barley were unchanged, while prices for intermediate and lower grades declined 4c to 6c per bushel. Feed barley gained about 1c per bushel at Kansas City and Minneapolis.

Wheat prices averaged $2.04 per bushel at the farm in mid-August, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. This was an advance of 6c per bushel over the July average but 16c under the national average farm loan rate and only 83 per cent of the parity price of $2.46 per bushel.

Commercial stocks of wheat at terminal markets increased over 29 million bushels during August and at the close of the month totaled 308 million bushels, or 65 million bushels more than a year ago.

Wheat receipts decreased as a result of the nearing of the end of harvesting operations. Arrivals at the principal markets totaled approximately 10.5 million bushels. At the close of the week No. 2 hard winter was quoted at $2.35 at Chicago; $2.37 at Kansas City and $2.56 at Fort Worth. No. 2 red winter brought $2.30 at Chicago; $2.28 at St. Louis and $2.36 at Kansas City.

Inspected wheat for export from Columbia river and Puget Sound ports totaled 5.2 million bushels in August, compared with 2.3 million in July. July-August exports this season totaled nearly 7.5 million bushels, somewhat less than the 17.3 million bushels exported the same months last season.

Grain harvesting operations were nearing completion in Oregon, Washington and north Idaho, except at the higher elevations. Ideal weather conditions prevailed to date for the harvest with reports that yields of fall seeded grains were good while spring grains were yielding fair. The harvest was progressing rapidly in Montana also, with combining of winter wheat nearing completion, and the spring grain crop at about the three-quarter mark.

Wheat markets in the Pacific Northwest were under pressure of congestion at the principal terminals and a slightly easier market tone prevailed. The cash market at Portland was barely unchanged to 1c lower, while bids on 15-day shipment grain were 1c higher to 1c lower compared with a week ago. Export trade was slow most of the week, but at the close reports indicated Japan had purchased 6 cargoes of western white wheat. Flour mills were selective buyers, reflecting heavy earlier purchases and the crowded condition at terminal points. Receipts at principal terminals during the week amounted to 1,353 cars, compared with 1,637 the previous week. Trade sources indicated that the peak of the harvest movement is past. The cash wheat market at Portland was $2.35 to $2.36 for No. 1 soft white and white club and $2.39 to $2.40 on No. 1 hard red winter.

The Pacific Northwest oats market was under the pressure of increased track offerings as a result of terminal congestion. Local No. 2 white oats sold in a range of $7.00 to $71.00 per ton, track basis, Portland. Demand was light due to lack of storage space and offerings did not prove burdensome.

The Pacific Northwest barley market continued firm to strong. Principal strength was in malting types with prices up slightly. Scarce offerings of feed barley held prices on that grain firm, with No. 2 barley, 45-lb. test being quoted at $75.00 per ton, track basis, Portland. Bids to country warehouses on the same date were $74.50 per ton, delivered coast, 15-day shipment.

Migratory Waterfowl Hunting
The fish and game department this week clarified for Idaho hunters the 1952 Migratory Waterfowl Hunting Regulations.

In a statement released last week by Secretary of the Interior Chapman, the Pacific Flyway area, which includes Idaho, shall have a 70-day season, beginning at noon October 11, and ending December 19.

Species, bag and possession limits are as follows:

Ducks, daily bag and possession limits, six. In addition, two widgeons or two pintails or one of each daily or in possession. Only one wood duck may be included in the daily bag or possession limit.

Daily bag for American and red-breasted merganser (fish) ducks will be 25 singly or in the aggregate of both kinds; no possession limit after opening day of season.

Only two Canada geese may be taken in one day or retained in possession in Idaho. This regulation is the same as in 1951.

There will be no open season on Snow, Swan or Ross geese.

License Sales Jump

License sales in four major classes have shown gains over last year for the period January 1 to July 31, the state fish and game department reported this week.

Resident combination for both fishing and hunting, showed the greatest increase with 94,412 issued, jumping 5,190 over last year.

Resident fish permits also moved up, with an increase of 2,651 for a total of 30,174.

The department said that 14,588 tourist class five-day permits had been sold with 2,811 added to last year's total. The $10 season fishing license allowing non-residents additional fishing time, also moved up 1,686 over last year to a record of 9,535 issued to date.

Opening Well Attended
The opening Saturday of the new Western Auto Supply store in Kendrick, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Medalen, was very well attended.

Most residents, seeing the work that remained to be done before the opening, were surprised it was completed, but Ernest Heimgartner, Mr. Medalen, Elton Wilson, and others, did the job.

Johnson's Story of Success Started About 65 Years Ago

When Samuel Curtis Johnson began making parquet flooring in his Racine, Wis., workshop 65 years ago, he little dreamed of the turn his business would take.

It was a small operation, with two men and two boys doing all the work, but they were thorough craftsmen. Their flooring can still be found in old American homes.

Mr. Johnson, reading his mail by lamplight in the evening, noticed that more and more customers were turning to him for information on how to care for floors. Knowing that many floors in Europe had withstood the tread of centuries, thanks to wax, he recommended that his customers use the same substance.

Within a few years the Johnson company was manufacturing its own wax and wood finishing products. They subsequently found that the sideline was outstripping the main products in volume of sales. In 1916, with simple tastes in home decorating becoming more evident, the company abandoned its parquet business and concentrated on wax products.

Today, with the founder's grandson, H. F. Johnson, at the helm, the company ranks high in American industry. Its main office and laboratory in Racine, the plans for which were drawn by Frank Lloyd Wright, is a symbol of industrial growth. The company has offices and plants in Canada, England, France, Australia and other parts of the world. It has a refinery and plantation in Brazil where the world's supply of carnauba wax is obtained. The little group that began the manufacture of parquet flooring in the back-street workshop 65 years ago could never have guessed they were sowing the seed of a business that was to make Racine the wax center of the world.

Nurse Braved Fever, Risked Life to Help Malaria Fight

Feeding disease-laden, killer mosquitoes once was the hobby of an elderly Baltimore nurse.

Miss Lena Townshend, now 76 years old, hoarded spare time from her nursing duties to provide life-sustaining sugar water for the caged mosquitoes used in yellow fever experiments by the late Army doctor and scientist, Major Walter Reed.

As a civilian nurse, Miss Townshend's 16-month affiliation with Dr. Reed and his important work was unofficial but she made a definite contribution to the project's success. Her experience with the menacing mosquitoes today are a fond memory in her career, 38 years as a practicing nurse.

While the Army prepared to honor Major Reed by observing the centennial of his birth, September 13, the gray-haired nurse was proud but modest in a discussion of her work in the fever-ridden country that was Cuba in 1901.

Miss Townshend went to Cuba due to a post-war shortage of nurses and a personal desire for foreign duty at the turn of the century. As night superintendent of Havana Municipal Hospital No. 1, she had a role in the fight against another epidemic of that time, typhoid fever.

Her "spare time" work was done in Dr. Reed's laboratory, one part of the hospital, after she already had put in 12 hours of night ward duty. She worked on the yellow fever charts which Major Reed maintained for the benefit of government and private hospitals in this country in addition to feeding the mosquitoes.

Interested both in the capture and care of the man-killing insects, Miss Townshend paid little heed to the other laboratory animals, guinea pigs and rats. She said she wasn't afraid of them but "I just didn't like them."
Although she nursed both yellow and typhoid fever cases—so many that she is unable to count them—Miss Townshend escaped both diseases.

Sunken Ore

About 100 years ago on the Marquette Range in Michigan, ore cars were sent down a long, descending grade to a Lake Superior dock. But sometimes the ore plunged to the bottom of the lake. In the 1850's, a strap iron railroad was built down the grade from the mines to the docks in Marquette harbor, 12 miles away. Strings of cars were loaded with ore and coasted by gravity down to the waterside. A brakeman rode each string of cars. The hand brakes of the period were far from efficient. Sometimes the cars continued off the end of the dock, and landed at the bottom of Marquette harbor. At intervals later cargoes of iron ore were dredged up where the old cars leaped to a watery grave.

Horns and Antlers

Horns, such as occur on cattle, sheep and Old World antelope, have a bony core. Over this is a layer of a material called keratin, which is similar to the calluses that occur on the palms of the hands or the soles of the feet. The antlers of the deer are different, as they consist of a growth of connective tissue which becomes hardened with the deposition of calcium. Antlers are shed annually and grown anew, as also are the horns of some animals, such as the prong horned antelope.

Potlatch Chief Sez

Published by the Kendrick Creamery

HELLO, THERE, FOLKS —

Making good use of this wonderful fall weather? Doing farm work — or going hunting?

Well, it doesn't matter much, both are a part of living. But that living can be better if those hot cakes are liberally coated with big chunks of "Potlatch Chief" butter — whether on the hunt or at home. And for that evening snack — well, you just can't beat Potlatch Chief ice cream. Delicious and nutritious — we make it in all the standard flavors — plus specials. Take home at least a quart, or a gallon, the next time you're down town!

A bus driver was filling out a report about a highway breakdown and delay. When he came to the line "Disposition of Passengers," he wrote: "Mad as hornets!"

Are you drinking plenty of milk these days? Despite the fact that it is wonder fall weather, it isn't summer: an dthe children aren't getting the summer sunshine. See to it that they have at least a quart a day of pure pasteurized "Potlatch Chief" milk. It will help prevent those nasty fall colds.

Flapper: "Don't you speak to him any more?"

College Co-ed: "No! Whenever I pass I give him the geological survey."

Flapper: "Geological survey?"

Co-ed: "Yes, that's what is commonly known as the stony stare!"

Remember: Before you go hunting come in and pick out that locker box. We have one that will fit every purse and purpose. Know where you are going to put that meat when you bring it home!

And don't forget — we want to buy your cream!
