SHORT NEWS ITEMS FROM OUR LOCAL SCHOOLHOUSE

Safety Reminders

In order to continue a good safety record, it is fitting at this time of the year — in fact it is most imperative — that we again print a reminder to motorists to use great caution when passing or meeting our school buses.

Since a considerable number of traffic violations have occurred recently relative to meeting and passing school buses, we again quote the law. When approaching a standing bus from either direction the vehicle must first stop, then, if the stop arm on the bus is not extended the car may proceed at a rate not to exceed 10 miles per hour until the bus is passed. If the stop arm is extended the car is to remain stopped until the arm is retracted or the driver signals for the auto to resume travel.

Our school bus drivers report the most excellent cooperation with motorists when out on the highways. Most frequent violations occur within Kendrick proper.

Although careful thought and study has been given to our loading zones it still appears necessary that we load at two or three points along the Main street in town. Several persons have been careless when passing buses at the corner of the park, particularly. Although no accidents have yet occurred, it only takes a split second for a serious one to happen — one that might take the life of a child, and be a living memory of remorse and regret to the driver and to the rest of us.

While it is the duty of a bus driver to report to law enforcement officers the license numbers of guilty parties, and while some numbers have been sent in, drivers generally dislike very much to have to make these reports. Therefore may we plead with you — may we beseech you — to be extremely cautious when passing the local buses and abide by the regulations, so that no accidents may occur and so your number will not have to be sent in.

Kendrick Loses To Orofino

The Kendrick Tigers tangled with the Orofino Maniacs on the local floor Tuesday evening — and lost by a heart-breaking one point — 43 to 42 in the closing seconds of the game.

Play was fast and furious from start to finish.

The Tigers were playing without the services of Ira Havens, who suffered a knee injury in the game with Troy, and his absence at center was keenly felt. He will be off the floor and out of play for at least three weeks.

MARCH OF DIMES DRIVE IS SCHEDULED TO END JAN. 31

Boise, Idaho — Complete confidence in the success of the 1953 March of Dimes drive was expressed this week by Donald S. Whitehead, state chairman of the month-long campaign, which will end on January 31st.

"Every major organization, including women's fraternal, civic, labor, professional, business and religious groups throughout the state has endorsed the drive by pledging their complete support to assure a record March of Dimes this year," Whitehead pointed out, adding, "Our people have developed a deep understanding of the helpful policies of the organization which makes possible our fight against polio — the only epidemic disease still on the increase in Idaho and the United States. Mr. Whitehead urged all county campaign directors to seek needed assistance in the opening phases of their drive from the many groups that have so graciously offered their help."

"Polio," he cautioned, "is everyone's fight and we must give every organization and individual a chance to contribute in the all-out effort to win the battle."

In referring to the state's participation in the March of Dimes, Whitehead pointed out that the state had experienced over 1,600 cases of infantile paralysis during the last six years — more than twice as many as were reported for the entire previous quarter of a century. The terrific impact of this unusual incidence is brought into sharper focus when it is realized that one Idahoan has been stricken for every 350 people residing in the state.

"While the county March of Dimes campaigns have raised and retained less than $750,000 since the inception of the program for use in treating Idaho's polio patients, the national March of Dimes organization has advanced the state in excess of $1,300,000, just since 1947, in epidemic aid to help us in carrying the grave financial responsibilities imposed by polio."

"Other phases of this vital program," Whitehead said, "include the provision of necessary equipment such as iron lungs and hot pack machines without charge to any patients requiring their use. The National Foundation also provides trained personnel including physical therapists, polio nurses, and other necessary professional technicians needed in the treatment of this dread and costly disease. It goes without saying that Idaho's polio patients would have little or no hope without the facilities provided by the March of Dimes."

"Six continuous epidemic years of polio in the state, coupled with the enormous growth of the national polio problem has placed the national organization and Idaho's forty-four county chapters in their most precarious financial position in history," Whitehead emphasized, adding, "We must make the campaign now in progress a 'March of Dollars' rather than a 'March of Dimes' if we are to meet the challenge presented by the rising incidence, spiraling treatment costs and the essentials required if we are to experience continued progress in the fields of education and polio research. It is this latter phase of the March of Dimes program that the final battle will be won."

Polio reached into every section of the state during 1952, with over twice as many polio victims stricken in Idaho as were recorded in the combined high incidence years of 1950 and 1951. During the calendar year of 1952 a total of 350 cases of the dread disease were reported, compared to 161 in 1950 and 144 cases in 1951.

While Idaho's incidence spiraled upward to become the third highest in recorded history, the report indicated that the death rate during 1952 had soared to an all-time high with 21 deaths reported. Of the recorded deaths two occurred in the age group under one year, with eleven reported in the one to fourteen age bracket, and eight occurring between the ages of 15 and 34 years.

Polio struck all age groups, from a child of only four months to a 63-year-old woman.

Forty of Idaho's 44 counties were affected, with Bannock leading with 31 cases, and Teton, Lemhi, Lewis, Blaine and Clark having but one each. The four counties reporting no cases were Adams, Washington, Boundary and Caribou. These latter, however, experienced severe epidemics within the last four years.

The local drive is headed by Mrs. Elmo Eldridge, and envelopes asking contributions were placed in the mail last week. Needless to say, you are asked to be generous — and on store counters all about town will be found the miniature "iron lungs" with slots in them in which to place your loose change — don't hesitate to put it in them!

New Resuscitator Is Here

The new area "Resuscitator" arrived here Sunday, a group of the Kendrick Volunteer Firemen going up to Moscow and bringing the equipment here. This machine will be kept in the Fire Hall at Kendrick, under the supervision of the Kendrick Volunteer Fire Department.

This machine is a resuscitator, inhalator and respirator. In an emergency (for which it is designed entirely) it can be used in place of an iron lung, and for other emergency situations. For example: If a foreign object should become lodged in a throat, it is capable of supplying oxygen to the victim, until the object could be removed by a physician or nurse.

This machine is for the benefit of the entire area. It is of the very latest design and is classed as "fool-proof."

Should any organization in this section wish a demonstration of this equipment, contact Frank Abrams, of the Kendrick Volunteer Fire Department.

The Firemen instigators of the drive wish to thank the Leland Homemakers Club, the Cameron Ladies Aid, Big Bear Ridge Community Club, Southwick Homemakers Club, Kendrick Grange, Kendrick P. T. A., Kendrick Kanyon Klub, and various other organizations, for their financial and moral assistance in obtaining this fine equipment.

Delicious refreshments were served after Chapter by the hostess committee.

Next meeting night will be Feb. 10, when our "Secret Pals" will be revealed. A Valentine motif is planned.

Improvements At Church

A volunteer crew began working in the Community Church basement Saturday morning, a number of improvements and repairs being accomplished and more under planning. First of these was the installing of a big serving window between the kitchen and main room in the basement, and the rearranging of storage wall cupboards in the kitchen.

Others to come are the installation of book cases for Sunday School supplies, and the rearranging of the kitchen work areas, patching and getting the floor ready for the laying of asphalt tile blocks.

The work committee, under the leadership of Ben P. Cook included Rev. F. C. Schmidt, R. L. Blewett, Gerald Ingle and Hiram Galloway. Others willing to share in this improvement project are asked to contact Rev. Schmidt.

TV Reception Not Too Good

G. F. Brocke, Sr., top instigator in bringing TV to this area, said Tuesday morning that reception in most sections here had fallen off this past week, as station KHQ was experiencing some tower-antenna difficulties, and was now engaged in making improvements — so the best in TV viewing is yet to come.

Mr. Brocke added that TV station KXLY is expected to begin patterning this week from their big Mt. Spokane set-up, and that this would assist materially in evaluating TV locally. He went on to say that here in the canyon, it was possible to receive sound, but no distinct pattern or picture.

Further developments in the installation of reflector antennas or coaxial cable would have to await the coming of KXLY on the air.

P-T. A. Meeting Monday

Joint District No. 283 P-T. A. will meet next Monday evening, Jan. 19, at the Juliaetta school house. The Rev. M. E. Brower will have charge of the program, the topic of which is: "Happiness Comes In Unexpected Ways If You But Seek It." Hostesses for the evening are the American Ridge ladies.

Announce Daughters Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Kruger, Cameron, announce the engagement of their daughter, Elsie Elizabeth, to Sgt. Ted Freeman of Lewiston, Idaho. Sgt. Freeman is now stationed at the Larson Air Base in Washington.

The date of the wedding is yet to be set.

Grangers To Meet Tuesday

Next Tuesday evening, Jan. 20th, the regular meeting night for the Kendrick Grange, is also the visitation night on which the Troy and Moscow Granges will come here. Ladies are asked to bring cookies. The meeting will be followed by a special program and dancing.

Television Reception Improving

Mrs. Don Cantril, Southwick, says that they are now really beginning to enjoy their television set again — as reception is improving daily. She adds that it is not yet quite up to the standards enjoyed in California — but at the rate of progress now being made, it won't be long.

Pink And Blue Shower

Mrs. Richard Watson was honored with a pink and blue shower Tuesday of last week by Mrs. Axel Swanson at her home in Juliaetta. Appropriate games were played, with Mrs. Fred Zimmerman winning the prize.

Following the opening and displaying of her many gifts by the honoree refreshments of angel food cake and ice cream were served by the hostess.

Evergreen Friendship Club

The Evergreen Friendship Club will meet Wednesday, Jan. 21st, at the home of Mrs. Jack Travis. The topic for the afternoon will be: "As Others See Me."

Anyone interested in joining the club is welcome to attend this meeting.

Power Off Two Nights

The high winds which raged Friday and Saturday nights caused local power interruptions of about an hour each time, the breaks occurring on top the hills along the supply lines. Here in the canyon there was some wind, but not enough to inconvenience anyone, or do any damage.

Aunt Passes Away

Mrs. Ed. Nelson received word that her aunt, Mrs. E. E. McCamant of Spokane, had passed away on January 10, following an accident in which she was struck by a car on Nov. 22nd.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson and Herman Silflow attended the funeral in Spokane on Wednesday, Jan. 14.

Trees Die in Winter, Too, Without the Proper Care

Trees die in winter just as they do in spring and summer. They can be killed by drought and storms, by insects and diseases, by man's indifference and neglect, says Dr. Rush P. Marshall, director of the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories.

Death may not be sudden. Next spring the trees may try to leaf out, then collapse and die within a matter of weeks.

Deciduous trees which appear to "sleep" in winter must take up a certain amount of soil water to replenish that lost by evaporation under high drying winds. Evergreens and pines which do not shed their leaves need an even greater amount. Unless trees go into winter with sufficient water around their roots before the ground freezes, injury or even death by drought may result.

Wind, ice and snow storms take a toll of trees in winter, toppling them over, or breaking branches and limbs. If a tree is conditioned properly by pruning out dead and dying wood, by cabling and bracing weak crotches and limbs, storm damage can be held to a minimum.

Not all insects are dormant in winter. Bark beetles often crawl from the thick bark to the cambium layer on mild winter days and girdle a tree as they feed. Elm bark beetles that carry Dutch elm disease present double trouble. For the fungus they carry builds up in the sap stream, and even in winter there is a certain pulsating of the sap that will send the disease further into a tree.

It is just as harmful to disturb a tree's roots in the winter as in summer. Trees are frequently killed in winter by a careless bulldozer used in construction or by roots mangled when a water main is laid or a sidewalk and driveway put in. Trucks and autos that bash into trees in winter can loosen or scrape off the bark as effectively as in the summer.

Death even for trees takes no holiday. Yet your tree needn't die any time of the year if you give it proper care.

Early Iron Men Served Country in Many Fields

The brothers Curtis and Peter Grubb, owners of Pennsylvania's historic Cornwall blast furnace during the Revolutionary War, not only made cannon but also test fired them and probably used them against the enemy while serving actively as colonels in the field. In addition, they manufactured stoves and supplied the equipment to support a war emergency salt industry, doing all these things with a furnace which produced 24 tons of iron a week.

The outbreak of hostilities cut off the salt supply of the United States and seriously affected the salting of meat and curing of fish for both military and civilian use. Colonel Curtis Grubb told the Council of Safety that he was prepared to cast the iron salt pans for making salt from sea water on the Jersey coast, but asked the army to release his manager, founder, carpenter and colliers from military service so that he could do it. The men were released to him immediately.

Cannon manufacture was a necessary innovation in this country; so much so that Generals Washington and La Fayette visited Cornwall furnace to watch the casting of the first 24 cannons ordered for the Continental Army. Early guns made at Cornwall showed lack of experience, for an official letter complained that they were too heavy and costly.

Cornwall furnace was built in 1742, and for many years thereafter was called "the hub of the iron trade." The famous Cornwall iron ores have been mined continuously for more than 200 years, the longest record of operations in the country.

Seeing Babies

For the first four months of life an infant has no effective vision but sees the world as more or less of a blur. Then eyesight starts its development at an incredibly low level which an ophthalmic specialist would rate as 20/2400. This means that the baby can only see at a distance of 20 feet objects which normal mature eyes can see at 2400 feet, or nearly half a mile. By the end of the first year the child's vision has improved to 20/130, which would indicate extremely bad acuity in an adult. Not until the fifth or sixth year is a level of 20/40 attained. During all this time the child is learning not only how to see clearly, but how to see single instead of double. Some time between the sixth month and the end of the second year binocular single vision develops, whereby the separate images formed in the two eyes are fused into one in the brain.

Revealing Facts

Publication of the newest Army history book, "Washington Command Post: The Operations Division," brings to light the complicated task of the military staff that planned and directed the first world-wide military operations. The book, seventh to be published in the "U.S. Army in World War II" series, is a part of nearly 100 contemplated volumes covering all aspects of the war.

GRAIN MARKETS WEAKEN AS DEMAND SLACKENS

Feed markets weakened with an inactive demand during the past week according to reports to the Market News Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The wheat mill-feed market was dull with prices averaging a little lower. Other grain by-products were about unchanged with offerings scarce.

Wheat prices declined 2c to 3c per bushel despite export sales of over 18 million bushels under the International Wheat Agreement during the week. Factors which contributed to the weakness were favorable weather for the 1953 crop and a less active domestic demand. Oats and barley prices averaged about unchanged but the market tone was generally weak.

The third largest United States wheat crop of record, 1,291 million bushels, was produced during 1952 according to the revised Bureau of Agricultural Economics statistics. Feed grains totaled 120 million tons in 1952, nearly 7 percent more than in 1951 and the fifth largest of record. Barley production at 227 million bushels was less than three-quarters the 10-year average.

The 1952-53 world wheat crop totaled 7,235 million bushels, the highest on record, according to the most recent estimate of the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations. This compares with the previous record of 6,610 million bushels in 1951-52. Sizeable increases were reported for Canada, the United States and Argentina. The Argentine crop is currently estimated at 235 million bushels compared with only 75 million bushels last year, while the crop in Australia at 161 million bushels is only slightly above last year. Wheat production in Europe was estimated at 1,650 million bushels compared with 1,685 million last year. Exports of wheat from the four principal exporting countries totaled 340 million bushels July through November of 1952, as compared with 410 million bushels for the same months of 1951. Of these countries Canada was the only one to show an increase in exports compared with a year ago.

Reflecting the large 1952 wheat crop and reduced exports, domestic supplies of wheat for milling, export or carry-over totaled nearly 1,038 million bushels on December 1, compared with 812.3 million a year ago and 808.6 million for the five-year (1946-50) average.

Wheat receipts were about the same as a week earlier and arrivals at the principal markets totaled 5.7 million bushels. At the close of the week No. 2 hard winter was quoted at $2.30½ at Chicago; $2.39 at Kansas City and $2.59 at Fort Worth.

The wheat market at Portland held about steady during the past week, supported by light offerings and export sales to India and Brazil. The poor condition of the winter wheat crop in this area was reflected in the light country selling following last week's decline in values.

Receipts of wheat at the principal Pacific Northwest terminals totaled 956 cars, against 800 a week ago and 1,175 a year ago. Cash wheat trading continued slow with domestic demand very light and export sales moderate. India purchased two cargoes of white wheat and exporters reported the sale of 50,000 tons of hard red to Brazil. At the markets close No. 1 soft white and white club were quoted at $2.40, and No. 1 hard red winter at $2.45, track basis, Portland.

Pacific Northwest oats markets weakened, influenced by liberal offerings of Canadian grain. Local Palouse oats, testing 38 pounds, and grading No. 2 white were quoted nominally at $71.00 to $71.50 per ton at Portland. Canadian extra 1 feed oats were quoted at $68.50 per ton delivered at Portland. Demand remained slow with users limiting purchases to bare needs. Receipts this week amounted to only 13 cars, against 15 cars last week.

Trading in barley continued slow in the Pacific Northwest, but prices held steady, reflecting scarce supplies of feeding types and a firm holding tendency on the part of growers. No. 2 western barley, testing 45 pounds was quoted at the close of the market at $74.50 per ton, track basis, Portland. Dealers were bidding $73.50 to $74.00 for the same basis delivered coast, 15-day shipment. Domestic demand was slow, but supplies remained barely sufficient.

About Driver's Licenses

In a survey recently completed by the Department of Law Enforcement, Charles A. Rogge, director of the driver's license bureau, reports that there are 26 percent more men drivers than women drivers in the state of Idaho. Of the 278,000 licenses on file, 63 percent of the drivers are men and 37 percent are women. The average age of the Idaho driver is found to be 35 years.

The filing system from which these figures are taken gives a complete history of each driver, including all reported violations. This system is now being completed and has been in operation for over a year. By the use of this single file system, the time necessary to issue a license has been greatly reduced.

Upon receipt of the application form which has been completed by the applicant and graded by the sheriff, the applicant's previous driving record is checked prior to the issuance and mailing of the new license. A brief history, now being given by each applicant, will prove invaluable in the compiling of a record of each motor vehicle operator in this state. This is the first time that such a system has been in use in Idaho, and it has minimized the time of issuing a license to three days, after the application is received from the office of the sheriff.

Here's Your ABC on How to Enjoy TV

When television comes to your home, remember these TV tips. Whatever size, type, or make of television set you buy, these tips will help you get more pleasure and better televising; with less eyestrain and fewer interruptions.

ALWAYS sit at a reasonable distance from the TV screen. If you sit too close, you are able to see the lines that make up the TV picture, and this tires your eyes. When you sit at a comfortable distance from the screen (for most people, 8 to 12 feet), these lines blend together and you see a clear, sharp picture that is easier to watch.

DON'T turn out the lights if you wish utmost enjoyment without eyestrain. Always view television in a lighted room. The picture on the screen is about 10 times brighter than the picture on a movie theatre screen. If you look at television long in a dark room, you will find the picture too light and glaring, and your eyes will become tired.

BE-SURE you can recognize the interference "patterns" by which any television set may at times be troubled. Such interference may be caused by automobile ignition, diathermy equipment, or short-wave transmitters. See pictures below for interference patterns caused by such machines, which will stop when machines are turned off. If these patterns show up on your TV screen, be patient. Don't call a service man or attempt adjustment of set when such patterns appear for short periods of time.

EQUALIZE the lighting in the room. Be sure to turn on enough floor and table lamps to get balanced lighting over the entire room, from side to side and end to end. Lampshades light cannot shine through are best. Move lamps far enough from wall so that bright spots will not appear on wall. Place lamps so that you do not see reflections on TV screen.

CLEAR, sharp pictures cannot be expected if you have light shining directly on the screen. With lamps arranged to light the room without shining directly on the screen, you will have clear, sharp pictures without eyestrain—and without interruptions to turn lights on and off. If light shines directly on screen, the dark areas of the picture are brightened and sharpness and clearness of picture destroyed.

MARCH OF DIMES FINANCES IN DESPERATE CONDITION

Boise — The March of Dimes is faced with a staggering year-end debt in excess of $7,000,000 as a result of the 1952 record polio epidemic suffered in Idaho and throughout the nation, it was reported this week by Donald S. Whitehead, volunteer state chairman for the January appeal.

"The huge deficit, brought about on the county level by the tragic upsurge of the dread disease, could not be avoided after local county polio treasuries and the March of Dimes epidemic aid pool were exhausted early this past fall," Mr. Whitehead said. "The magnitude of this pressing obligation now confronting the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis cannot be minimized."

"Idahoans must redouble their March of Dimes support, both in terms of time and money, if this very vital humanitarian program is to successfully continue in 1953," he emphasized, adding: "Record financial support is imperative not only to eliminate the 'mortgage' now hanging over the March of Dimes, but to prepare for any eventualities in the epidemic picture during 1953, and to push polio research to a successful conclusion. March of Dimes support in this extremely important field must continue unabated if we want an early, practical solution to the problems of polio prevention. Today, there is sufficient scientific evidence to justify the belief that a safe and effective vaccine to provide long-lasting immunity can and will be developed before too many more epidemics ravage our communities. But to realize that goal within the shortest possible time, scientists must continue to receive the full financial support from the March of Dimes that has already brought them to the brink of success."

"Having gained a deep understanding of the beneficial services, including financial assistance for medical care, the provision of trained personnel and emergency equipment for the treatment of polio victims, I am certain that the state's citizens will meet the challenge and will contribute a 'March of Dollars' in the month-long campaign, commencing January 2."

Licenses Have Expired

The state fish and game department reminded sportsmen and trappers this week that the expiration date of the 1952 licenses was Wednesday, Dec. 31 — and that 1953 licenses will be available at many vendors throughout the state this week.

Fay Whitson, department license clerk, said she was mailing the 1953 licenses to vendors as rapidly as their bonds and orders arrived. License fees will remain the same as in 1952, the department said.

Shorthorn Breeders Conduct Experiment 102 Bulls Put Through First U. S. Program

Shorthorn breeders recently put 102 bulls through an obstacle course in the Nebraska range country with a view to toughening them up for a unique show and sale held at Broken Bow, Nebr., last month.

Converting farm bulls from mid-western herds to rugged range

The drove of Shorthorn bulls above were part of the Broken Bow experiment to toughen up 102 animals to be used in cross-breeding programs in large commercial herds. The project was sponsored by the American Shorthorn Breeders Association.

bulls for service in large commercial herds of the west, the program was called the Range Bull project. The bulls were judged in groups of two and three, in the manner of "Camp Showings" in Argentina, and then sold to western cattlemen who wanted them for regular herd sires or for cross-breeding programs. It was the first such program in the United States.

The animals were consigned by 48 breeders in the midwest and east and were turned out to range on July 1.

Gasoline on the Farm Is 'Liquid Dynamite'

Gasoline on a farm is "liquid dynamite" and must be handled with extreme care to prevent explosions and fires. It is estimated that annual farm losses from gasoline fires amount to more than $7,000,000.

Here are eight safety rules the farmer should follow:

1. Gasoline should be stored in steel drums in underground tanks at least 75 feet from any building.
 2. Gasoline or kerosene should never be left in open containers in any building.
 3. Gasoline or kerosene should never be handled in the presence of an open flame or other source of possible ignition.
 4. In pouring gasoline, make sure the pouring and receiving receptacles are grounded, to avoid static sparks.
 5. Never use gasoline, benzene, or other flammable material for dry cleaning.
 6. Never use gasoline or kerosene to start a fire in a stove or elsewhere.
 7. Make sure cans or tanks used in storage of gasoline or kerosene are painted red, marked plainly and in large letters.
 8. Never forget that gasoline or related petroleum products are the most potentially dangerous things you have on your farm.
- Observance of these rules will cut down farm fire losses.

Giant Industry Arising From New Patent Fibers

Ever since Adam and Eve left the Garden of Eden with nothing to wear, mankind has been clothes conscious. The Bible story tells us that Eve fashioned her first garment from a fig leaf — maybe it was leaves.

We wear clothes from the time we are born. It would take books to tell the progress of the clothes story down through the ages. Long ago it was found that the clothing of the cotton seed was better than fig leaves for human garb. For centuries we have used the skins and wool of animals, as well as the covering of the cotton seed, for our own clothing. Still we were not satisfied. We took the cocoon of the little silkworm for its silk.

But we can thank that same little worm for our modern system of producing fibers for textiles that do not necessarily deprive any other living creature of its coat. We learned that the silkworm extruded a fluid from a spinnerette near its mouth. The fluid became a stout silken thread on reaching the air.

This observation led to a man-made fluid extruded through a mechanical spinnerette which produced our first rayon thread. The device was called a "mechanical silkworm." This invention came from France about 70 years ago. During the past 15 or 20 years American inventors, encouraged to find new processes and products through the protection and rewards provided by our patent system, have devised new machines and new fluids to make many new kinds of fabrics for human clothing.

Coal, oil, various gases, glass, brine, and many organic substances such as wood, cornstalks, peanuts, and feathers provide the substances from which we now have fabrics that resemble wool, silk, and cotton.

'Won't Hurt' Boast Not Idle Promise to Army Blood Donor

It takes courage to give blood that will save a soldier's life, but your fears of pain or ill effects now are unwarranted.

Army medical authorities recognize that thousands of Americans who are willing to die for their country if necessary have a horror of seeing blood flow from their veins. Just as many shudder when they think of a needle just under the surface of their skin.

But ask anyone who has ever donated a pint of blood to help replenish the nation's seriously depleted stocks and chances are he will tell you there's nothing to it—no pain, no ill effects. But you will have a deep satisfaction that you have helped a fellow American in a critical hour.

If you have ever pricked your finger with a pin, you already have experienced all the pain you will suffer when you give a pint of blood. It's that simple.

If you are not physically able to donate blood, you will not be permitted to do so. You are given a thorough examination before the blood is taken from your arm.

A single drop of blood from your fingertip is all that is required for the tests that will determine whether you are able to donate blood. If the results of these tests are satisfactory, the remainder of the procedure is entirely painless.

You lie down on a bed and an attendant puts a little procaine on your arm. As the blood is drawn, you feel nothing. In five minutes, the bottle is full and ready for processing and shipment to the battle zones of Korea.

Within a few minutes you feel like your old self again — probably better, for you realize what a precious contribution you have made.

Strip Cropping Helps Hold Soil in Place It's Only First Step In Conservation Plan

Strip cropping, an important part of soil conservation, is a good deal like putting a splint on a broken bone. The splint holds the bone in place, but it doesn't knit it. Strip cropping helps hold the soil in place, but it won't rebuild run-down fertility.

The above picture is a beautiful example of strip cropping, but it was not accomplished by mere contour plowing. It was accomplished by sound soil conservation, based on use and treatment of land with all proven, appropriate measures that are needed to keep it permanently productive while in use.

Strip cropping on a field just north of Neillsville, Wis., is a beautiful example of one step toward soil conservation.

Sound conservation means terracing land that needs terracing; contouring, strip cropping, and stubble-mulching the land as needed; along with use of supporting measures of crop rotation, cover and green manure crops and the use of the right commercial fertilizers.

No farmer should undertake a conservation program without expert advice. He should first contact any one of his soil conservation district officers and apply for assistance from his district. If he doesn't know who his officers are, he can locate the address of his district office in the phone book, or he can call his county agent. Districts help only farmers who request their assistance.

Number of U. S. Farms Lowest Since the 1890s

The number of farms in the United States has continued to decline since the end of World War II with the current total the lowest since before the turn of the century.

The department of agriculture reports there were fewer than 5.4 million farms in the country last year. This figure compares with approximately 5.9 million in 1945, and with the peak number of 6.8 million in 1935.

Thus the number of American farms has declined over 1.4 million, or more than a fifth, in the last decade and a half—a period in which land in farms has continued to increase and in which total agricultural production has likewise shown a spectacular increase in aggregate volume of products raised as well as in total market value.

In 1900 there were some 5.7 million farms in the U. S., approximately 350,000 more than at present. A decade before, in 1890, the number of farms was about 4.8 million.

Sliding Door

Poultry raisers can save many a step by a sliding door in poultry houses which can be operated from the outside. A small rope attached to the door by a screw eye runs to the ceiling or roof boards, along the wall, through the side of the chicken house and terminates in a ring. A hook can be attached to the side of the building and thus hold the door open.

Farm Exports Increase 14 Per Cent, Report

The agriculture department reported recently that farm exports increased 14 per cent over the preceding fiscal year. The total was placed at $3,409,245,000. Cotton exports led the group in 1950-51 with a total of $935,332,000, the second highest in 26 years. Wheat and wheat flour ranked second in value at $747,570,000, up 9 per cent over the $683,229,000 the preceding fiscal year.

Rat Control

The farmer who has 20 rats on his farm is feeding them at a cost of $40 a year. In other words, it costs farmers $2 a year to keep one rat. Three rats eat and destroy as much feed as two laying hens require in a year's time. This is sufficient reason for every farmer to execute a rat-killing and control program.

Poultrymen Are Advised To House Best Pullets

House only the best pullets that probably will produce well for the entire laying year, poultry experts advise. Those chickens that are under-developed, or generally unthrifty looking, will seldom produce well and should be marketed. And when housing pullets, it is generally wise to keep together those of the same age and stage of development. Smaller birds have a better chance this way.

That Parallel

The 38th parallel in Greece ferries the legendary River Styx and passes close to Corinth and Athens. Dodging Aegean Islands, it borders the Maeander River south of Smyrna on the Turkish shore. It crosses the Turkish headwaters of the Tigris and Euphrates en route to Tabriz, metropolis of Iranian Azerbaijan. Across the Caspian Sea, it finds itself on both sides of the critical frontier between Russia on the north and Iran and Afghanistan on the south. At the Russia-China border, the parallel climbs to its greatest height on the shoulders of Stalina and Kungur, both 25,000-foot peaks. Touring China, it runs near the ancient Silk Route past Yarkand and the Takla Makan (desert). China's Great Wall crosses the 38th frequently near the cities of Yulin, Ningsia, and Wuwei.

Abe Lincoln

When Abe Lincoln was 21 he crossed the Wabash and encountered the first level land he had ever seen — the fertile prairies of Illinois. At two sites there he helped his father build log cabins. Then he struck out for himself, settling in the village of New Salem, 20 miles northwest of Springfield, Illinois. Lincoln received his first popular notice in New Salem. He was elected captain of a volunteer company in the Black Hawk War, and later was sent to the state legislature. Afterward he moved to Springfield, the state capital, and New Salem literally disappeared. Many of its log buildings were dismantled and carried to Petersburg, two miles north.

Potlatch Chief Sez

Published by the Kendrick Creamery

HELLO, THERE, FOLKS —

Wonderful spring weather we have been having this past week, isn't it — but don't let's get the idea that spring is here. We still have two months in which we can have plenty of real winter. But in the meantime, let's talk about your farm income for winter!

There is one sure one — your cows and chickens. And it is so easy to bring them into this creamery when you come to town. There is no waiting for the check — you get it right here — and we return your can, steam sterilized and ready to use! Bring that cream and those eggs to us.

Frank: "My wife's been nursing a grouch all week!"
Don: "Been laid up, have you?"

Don't you like a steaming hot stack of hot cakes for breakfast? Of course you do, who doesn't? But you'll find that they take on that final swell touch when you add big lumps of "Potlatch Chief" brand butter. Made from pasteurized cream, it is your assurance of the finest in flavor, texture and quality.

Student: "Father, what is diplomacy?"
Father: "Diplomacy, my boy, can be defined as lying in state!"

These fine "spring" days call for ice cream. It's wonderful for desserts and for that after school snack when the children come home. So, keep "Potlatch Chief" Brand on hand all the time. It's made in all the standard flavors, plus specials. And it's just the thing to serve when those unexpected guests drop it. Buy it by the gallon.

Plato said: "Many a man thinks he has a clear conscience, when he has only a poor memory."
