Vacationing In Florida

From Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wilson and son Jay Dee, who are vacationing in Florida, comes a letter that will prove interesting to almost everyone:

"Just a note to say we are here in Miami, enjoying summer weather in January. We covered 3,600 miles between here and Kendrick. Today we took a sight-seeing boat trip on Miami Bay. The boat carried 80 passengers, and the lecturer gave information on all the points of interest as we passed by. There were homes along the shore built in the early part of the century and the modern homes of noted people of today. We saw many yachts that cost more than the money most of us could earn in a life time. This state of Florida certainly has many beautiful sandy beaches and to us it compares to a carnival.

In the inland central section of the state we saw the oranges and grapefruit being harvested; the big trucks being loaded at the warehouses resembled the wheat warehouses and trucks at home during harvest. The trucks are weighed, then they open the big end-gates and empty the fruit into a pit. From this pit it is carried away by conveyor belts and sorted and graded — and on to the warehouse, where the good grades are packed and the inferior grades made into juice.

The cattle ranches vary. Some places the cattle are so fat you wonder what they eat — and some places they are so thin you wonder how they live at all. The number of cattle is so great one could never guess the total.

The Everglades are a swampy, soupy, smelly mess, but what wouldn't be with so much water everywhere? On our way down we saw something of interest all along the line. Of course, our greatest interest was in farming — the soil, the size of the farms — the equipment — the kind of crops, etc. We feel that a great portion of the country has very poor prospects for winter wheat. We have been in Wyoming, Colorado, Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida to date.

Dance Is Success

The March of Dimes Dance, sponsored by the Kendrick Grange for last Saturday evening, was very well attended and a total of $108.42 cleared for that worthy cause.

At last Friday evening's basketball game between Kendrick and Lapwai, the Cub Scouts "passed a blanket" around the floor during intermission, and those present tossed in $37.55.

Facts To Consider When Buying a TV Set

FACT NO. 1: Make your selection a set that will operate in a fringe area. Admiral is the set that will do this. It is already equipped with a Super Charger for a distance of 300 miles.

FACT NO. 2: Make your purchase from a dealer that has experience in the installation of T. V. sets. By this, we mean the proper antenna system, that will operate, with the lowest cost of installation. Expensive antenna systems in many cases will not bring in a better picture than a small antenna, of lower cost.

FACT NO. 3: Make your selection of a set from a dealer that will give you service. Our service policy is that we will give to each customer three service calls without charge during any period that he has the set in operation.

FACT NO. 4: Know something about your set. Later on in the winter we will hold a service school for all set purchasers and at this time you will be instructed in regards to the operation and adjustments of your set.

FACT NO. 5: The largest builder of T. V. sets in the world today is Admiral! Why — because the American public is buying Admiral! Admiral is ahead in engineering — new cabinet designs — better performers when the going is tough!

FACT NO. 6: Remember — We will test your home for TV! We will install an antenna, and show you the picture that you can get — and if performance is satisfactory, you can then make your purchase. If the test is not successful — you are out nothing — as we make no charge for this test!

Farm Scrap Harvest Reported a Success Farmers Can Sell All Scrap Iron and Steel

The national farm scrap harvest conducted between October 15 and November 15 has been termed a success by the steel industry, producing millions of tons of scrap iron and steel badly needed for making new steel.

Although the drive is over, farmers should continue to collect the scrapped machinery about their farms and sell it to dealers. It is a good way to keep the farm premises cleaned up and, although scrap does not sell for big prices, the financial return does mean something.

The steel industry continues to need the broken tractor parts, rusted and worn out implements, plow points, outdated horse drawn equipment, old cultivators, broken shovels and similar equipment that can be found on almost every American farm. There are about 25 tons of iron and steel on the average farm.

Farm scrap can be a major source of the 36,000,000 tons of scrap that are needed by the steel mills this year. It takes that much scrap to produce 110,000,000 tons of steel that mills in our country have as their goal for 1951.

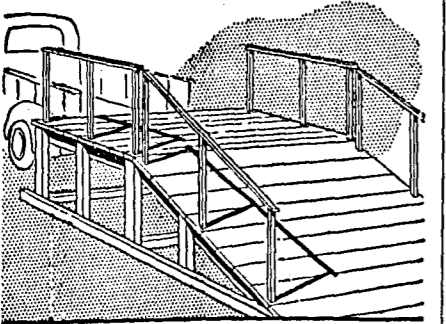

Cheaper Way to Fatten Beef Cattle Outlined

G. A. Branaman, Michigan State College animal husbandry authority, reports that full feeding grain is the quickest way to get a steer to market, but it isn't necessarily the cheapest or the most profitable.

Plain cattle, for instance should be fed longer and more cheaply than well-bred steers of good type. "Corn silage full-fed along with protein supplement may replace all the grain for plain steers when fed a longer time," he comments. "Yearling steers usually are fed from 4 to 7 months, depending on their grade and quality, and the amount of grain fed. Calves require a longer time to fatten and 2-year-olds a shorter time.

Wintering calves on roughage, then pasturing for part or all of the summer without grain results in cheap gains. Under present cattle and feed prices it is possible to pasture cattle for two summers, feeding roughage in winter. These animals may be grain fed for a short time or sold as grass-fat cattle.

Loading Platform

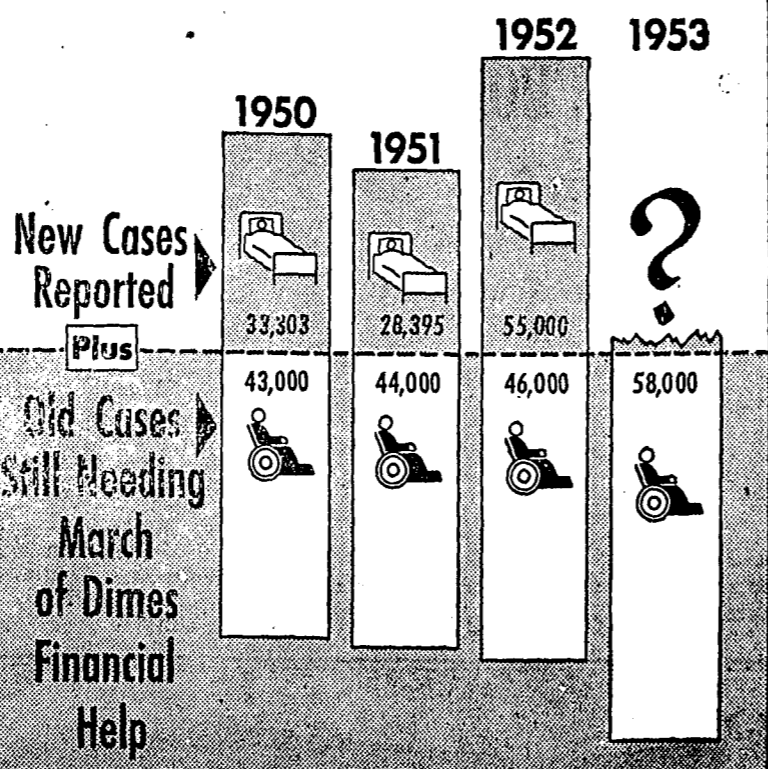

The above sketch of a loading platform is one any farmer handy with tools can build. The main idea is to build it on skids so it can be moved about the farm as desired. The railing can be made detachable to make it easier for loading farm machinery. The uprights would require 4x4 lumber and the platform 2" planks.

Shearing Lamb Faces Will Increase Gains

Shearing the faces of heavily-wooled feeder lambs will increase gains, according to Graydon Blank, extension animal husbandry specialist at Michigan State College. Blank explained that lambs can see better without a heavy crop of wool around their eyes. After shearing they'll find the feed trough more quickly, will eat better and will gain much more rapidly, specialists report.

POLIO'S MOUNTING AFTERMATH

The question mark above is of unusual interest since discovery that gamma globulin gives temporary protection from paralytic polio. The need for further evaluation of the substance and its limited supply make it unlikely that 1953 polio picture will be much affected by the discovery. A vaccine still must be perfected. Meanwhile, cases needing care continue to mount following 1952's all-time record polio epidemic.

He Could Count, Too

When my husband and I were building our home in the country we employed Tom White, a jack-of-all-trades and master of masonry. One morning he appeared with two husky sons as his aides and my husband asked, "How many youngsters have you, Tom?"

"Got seven of 'em; yep, seven."
"Really? I'm one of seven, too. I have three brothers and three sisters."
"Oh, shucks," said Tom, as he picked up a shovel, "if you count girls, I got thirteen."

Just As True Today!

"What terrible rulers the Russians would be if ever they should spread the night of their rule over our country. They would bring us a polar despotism — tyranny such as the world as never known, silent as darkness, rigid as ice, insensible as bronze, a slavery without compensation or relief." — Who said that? Henri-Frederic Amiel, a Swiss philosopher, on July 1, 1856.

Money spent at home builds local business institutions — the local firm can thereby increase its number of employees — and these employees in turn must have homes — and therefore a larger and better town is built.

As a town increases in population and value — better and larger schools become a reality — for increased valuations follow.

As better schools come — better roads, bigger churches and allied institutions follow as naturally as the seasons.

Think these words out, and you will easily see the advantages of spending that dollar at home—in Kendrick.

It costs you money to operate a car — every mile you drive costs money — and then, when parking out of town you must "feed that parking meter." Add up these costs — plus the amount more you often pay for an item and —

Salvage Much Equipment
The Marine Corps has salvaged enough equipment it was forced to leave behind after World War II, to put two divisions and a reinforced regiment — approximately 46,000 men in the field, according to an official dispatch.
For more than a year small parties have been scouring the Pacific Islands, digging rifles out of the sand, pulling old jeeps and tanks out of swamps, dragging diesels out of jungles, hauling field pieces out of forgotten dumps and even retrieving old mess tins. The junk is being carried back to Barstow, Calif., where Marines and civilian employees have hammered it back into shape. It is estimated that 90 percent of Marine Corps World War II weapons will be recovered. The "Leathernecks" have dug up 150,000 rifles and have rebuilt some 30,000 or more. They are still digging them up in excess of 4,000 a month.

Sit-Down Dentist's Career Is Longer, Professor Says

Several years of service will be added to the life of the average dentist if he sits down part of the time while he works.

This is the belief of Edgar W. Swanson, D.D.S., M.S.D., professor of operative dentistry at Northwestern university dental school, who recommends that dentists use operative stools at least 50 per cent of the time.

Dr. Swanson said students in the operative technique laboratory at the Northwestern dental school use operative stools about 60 per cent of the time. Students in the clinics use the stools from 10 to 90 per cent per operation.

Northwestern, convinced that operative stools will be used more widely by dentists to eliminate fatigue and extend their years of service, trains students in the use of the stools.

To obtain more accurate information on the reaction of students to the stools, the school recently sent a questionnaire to every member of its senior class.

The first question was: "Do you feel as tired at the end of the day when you have used an operating stool as you do when you have operated from the conventional standing position?" All but three answered "no." Two of those answering "yes" said it may have been due to their limited experience with the use of a stool.

The second question was: "Do you like the idea of sitting while operating?" All answered "yes."

To the question, "Would you do more operating from a sitting position if more stools were available?" All senior students answered "yes."

Dr. Swanson points out that the operative stool enables a dentist to change his position during the day, which is extremely important in preventing fatigue.

Sugar-Graving Animals Lured by Poison Plants

There may be danger ahead when livestock pass up lush pastures in favor of weeds and tough plants.

The attraction may be a poisonous spray or other chemical that gives ordinary unpalatable weeds and plants a special taste-appeal.

A bulletin issued by the American Veterinary medical association explains it this way: Certain chemicals used in farming, such as sodium chlorate, turn plant starches to sugar, and animals with a "sweet tooth" readily eat the sprayed plants.

Not all the chemicals used for spraying crops and treating soil are poisonous to animals, the AVMA emphasizes, but many of them are. The severity of poisoning varies directly with the kind of chemical and the amount of treated plants the animals consume.

Experiments are still being made to test the safety of various new chemicals on the market, and until all the facts are known, livestock farmers are advised to use only those proved to be safe and to follow manufacturers' instructions.

Resistant Plants

Plant diseases are no respecters of experimental plots. As a result scientists have sometimes acquired valuable information in the nick of time. So it was in the case of Victoria blight of oats, which invaded breeding plots and demonstrated to plant breeders of the U. S. department of agriculture and some of the middle west state experiment stations a type of disease resistance soon to be needed on a large scale. Clinton—and some of the other new varieties of oats derived from the Bond variety—in that way became known as resistant to a disease soon to be rampant in the Mississippi valley. This disease attacked the widely-grown oat varieties derived from the Victoria oat brought in from South America.

Vanishing Wildlife

Gone from the British Isles since World War II is the great bustard, Europe's largest land bird. Going or gone from haunts in Florida and vicinity is the ivory-billed woodpecker, largest of its clan. Deserting the Bahamas in alarming fashion is the tall, scarlet, hued flamingo, whose one United States haven is at Hialeah park, Miami, Florida. Whales, vital food source for many Europeans, long have been reduced to scarcity in northern hemisphere waters. Blue whales, biggest of all, currently show signs of sharp depletion in Antarctic whaling grounds. A new international treaty shortens the hunting season as a whale conservation measure.

First Tank Car

On November 1, 1865, about six years after the world's first oil well was opened at Titusville, Pennsylvania, the first tank car was loaded in that city. It was a flat car fitted with two wooden tanks shaped like inverted tubs. Many of these "rotary" oil cars, as they were called, were used for transporting oil from the Pennsylvania wells, until replaced by the present type of horizontal cylindrical tank, fitted with a dome which allows the oil to expand without injury to the tank. The first of this type was introduced in 1868.

Grandad and Dad Built Well for Your Future

. . . . and W.W.P. Men and Women Are Still Building a Bright Tomorrow for Your Children, While Serving You Today!

Pictured at the left is a Washington Water Power Company line crew, pausing to pose for a camera man 'way back in 1900. The place: the Mead region, well out in the country northeast of Spokane in those days. The work under way, according to old-timers, was the construction of a line and installation of transformers to furnish power for irrigation pumps.

That was more than a half-century ago. Down through the years, W.W.P. has extended its dependable low-cost electric service for better living to a constantly growing number of Inland Empire folks—and is continuing to expand its service.

In September of '52, the big $46,000,000 W.W.P. Cabinet Gorge Dam was completed—in record-breaking time and without cost to taxpayers. Two giant generators already installed are pouring vast reinforcements of low-cost "Reddy" kilowatts onto lines serving the Inland Empire—and two more equally powerful generators will be "on the line" in the near future!

MARCH OF DIMES DRIVE FUNDS SHORT OF GOAL

Boise, Idaho (Special) Alarm was expressed today at the ultimate outcome of Idaho's March of Dimes campaign now entering its final stages, by Donald S. Whitehead, volunteer state chairman of the polio appeal.

While noting that reports from most Idaho counties indicated that their respective campaigns were at least equaling the results attained last year, the total collection is falling desperately short of providing the funds now necessary in 1953. Mr. Whitehead emphasized that Idaho's people can no longer think in terms of games, but now must contribute dollars in the "all-out-fight" against the dread cripple.

"Continued success of the entire March of Dimes program this year is directly dependent upon the degree of increased support of the state's citizens," he stressed, warning: "Unless all previous contribution records are shattered, we are faced with the dark possibility that the multi-phase public benefits made possible through the March of Dimes must be curtailed."

"The grave financial crisis with which we are now confronted is drawn into sharper focus when we realize that the campaign now in progress must provide over $7,000,000 to pay the pyramiding medical debt resulting in 1952 from history's worst polio epidemic while an additional $5,000,000 must be raised if an adequate supply of gamma globulin, a substance which provides temporary immunity, is to be made available to cope with an anticipated epidemic in 1953, which medical authorities have warned may become our worst polio disaster year on record.

"These substantial amounts must be raised in addition to the several million dollars already required to push the polio research program forward; provide adequate trained medical personnel; while providing even more funds than previously needed for financial assistance for medical treatment of those stricken with this most expensive of all epidemic diseases.

"It is important to remember," Mr. Whitehead added, "that we must not only raise the funds necessary for the continued treatment of those Idaho children and adults stricken during previous years, including 1952, while supplying additional funds to meet any threat which 1953 may bring."

He expressed a belief that during the closing campaign period Idahoans, with this new-found understanding of their county's polio problem, would contribute additional dollars to their county's effort and urged all campaign directors to develop effective clean-up activities aimed at again giving every citizen an opportunity to contribute substantially to the "March of Dollars."

It is well that Idahoans should give their complete financial support to this great humanitarian effort since the state's people have received three dollars back in the form of epidemic aid for every dollar raised in previous March of Dimes campaigns.

A Visiting Southerner
Peter Skow of Sandpoint set out a coyote trap recently and caught a 30-pound male raccoon instead. The animal, rarely found that far north, probably wished he had stayed at home with his family. His fur, incidentally, was in prime condition.

Potlatch Chief Sez

Published by the Kendrick Creamery

HELLO, THERE, FOLKS —
Well, seems as if moisture and more moisture is the rule, and sunshine is noticeably lacking. So, to take the place of sunshine, we suggest plenty of "Potlatch Chief" pure pasteurized milk. Remember medical authorities say every growing child should have at least a quart a day, and every adult at least a pint — for health's sake. So always have several bottles in your refrigerator. We bottle in homogenized and regular pasteurized.

quarts of "Potlatch Chief" Ice Cream in the standard flavors — or perhaps a special — and put them in your refrigerator or deep freeze, then, when unexpected company drops in, or you want a quick dessert, bring it out and serve. Everyone likes ice cream — and "Potlatch Chief" is tops.

John L. Lewis is said to have once spent a night at Saratoga's Grand Union Hotel. The railroad station was directly below and a switch engine kept shunting cars back and forth incessantly. Finally John summoned the night clerk: "Maybe you can tell me," he suggested, "what time this hotel reaches Chicago?"

Tom: "What caused the big explosion at your house?"
Dick: "Powder on my coat sleeve!"

Sell us your cream!

Poet: "Is the editor in?"
Wise Reception Girl: "No."
Poet: "Well, just throw this poem in the waste basket for him, will you?"

Tired of rich desserts? Looking for something that's tasty and easy to serve? If you are, come in and let us solve that problem for you! Just take home a few
