AT EASTERTIDE

At Eastertide I always wish
For strength to roll away;
The stone of doubt that veils the light
And holds the sun at bay —

That God would bless your every way
With Easter skies of blue —
Bringing the resurrectiontide —
Unto the soul of you.

Ancient Clipping Appears
Monday, while helping his mother, Mrs. A. A. Onstott, with remodeling in her new home near the city park (former Wright house), Manning Onstott came across the following clipping from an ancient Kendrick Gazette. Although undated, it is believed the year was 1910. The clipping follows:

Kendrick, Idaho, Nov. 22 — Charley Sattler, a well known citizen of Kendrick, was shot twice by Earl Siegman in the Monogram saloon at 1:30 this afternoon over an argument as to the meaning of a German word.

Eye witnesses to the shooting say that Sattler picked up a stick of wood and threw it at Stogman, who dodged it, and then pulling his revolver fired the two shots that took effect in Sattler's body. One bullet penetrated the right leg and the other the right side just below the lung. Stogman, who was taken in custody at once, claims self defense, and says he did not shoot until he saw a knife in Sattler's hands.

Charley Sattler, the victim, is a tanner by trade, is about 45 years old and unmarried. Ezel Siegman, who did the shooting, is a millwright by trade and has been employed at the Pine Creek Lumber company's mill until recently, when he was discharged. He came here from Wisconsin and is about 50 years of age. Sattler is resting easily tonight, the bullets having been located but not extracted.

Our Note: We would be glad to hear from any old timers who can place the date of the above item — just as a matter of curiosity.

GOV. JORDAN PROCLAIMS APRIL "CANCER" MONTH

Boise (Special) — Gov. Len Jordan today called upon Idaho's citizens for full support of cancer control activities during April, which he proclaimed as "Cancer Control Month" in the Gem State.

The proclamation pointed out that one-fifth of all the people of Idaho will eventually develop cancer. This is based upon statistics which reflect cancer incidence throughout this state and the nation. This would mean that 117,000 Idaho residents now living may contract cancer, unless a big change is made in the statistical trend. Many of these potential victims can be saved by knowledge of cancer's seven danger signals and early treatment.

The governor's proclamation took note of the fact that April was designated as "Cancer Control Month" throughout the nation by an act of Congress, as well as by presidential proclamation. He asked that it be observed by all citizens by availing themselves of the information offered and generously supporting the efforts of the American Cancer Society's drive for funds.

The text of the proclamation follows:

WHEREAS the people of Idaho have demonstrated on so many previous occasions their ability to meet crisis with action, and

WHEREAS it is statistically true that one-fifth of all the present citizens of Idaho will eventually develop cancer unless new methods of protection are developed without delay, and

WHEREAS the lack of knowledge about the seven danger signals of early cancer is a primary cause of many deaths, and

WHEREAS April has been designated Cancer Control Month by an Act of Congress and Presidential Proclamation as a special occasion for taking cognizance of this problem, and

WHEREAS the American Cancer Society is conducting its annual Cancer Crusade which will bring to our people some of the vital information as well as raise funds to continue programs of research, education and service to cancer patients,

THEREFORE, I, LEN JORDAN, Governor of the State of Idaho, do hereby ordain and proclaim the month of April as:

CANCER CONTROL MONTH, and furthermore, request it be observed by all Idaho citizens as such by learning cancer facts and lending their generous support to the 1953 Cancer Crusade of the American Cancer Society.

Done under my hand and seal this twenty-fifth day of March, Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-three. — LEN JORDAN.

No Doubt — It's Still March
As these words are put into type (March 31) there is no doubt in the minds of anyone but what it is still March.
We have had brilliant sunshine, heavy white frost, rain, wind, and all the other weather elements that go with March during the past week. However, we might say that here in the canyon forsythia is in full bloom, daffodils and jonquils are out, and early shrubs are busy putting on their green coats for summer.
Oh, yes, we almost forgot to say that most home owners have been or are now in the process of pushing lawn mowers!

Interest in X-Ray Is Increasing
 "Interest in the mobile chest X-ray program, Idaho's major tuberculosis case-finding program, is increasing, if inquiries to our state office and to our local associations can be used as a criterion," Miss Frances Goodwin, executive director of the Idaho Tuberculosis association said this week.

 "Inquiries vary. Some ask the location of the unit and want to know when it will be in their community. Others ask about the type of x-ray taken and whether it constitutes a diagnosis," she added.

"The unit is now operating in southeastern Idaho and is expected to complete that portion of the state sometime early this summer. Plans are indefinite beyond that date.

"The small x-ray taken by this unit is only a screening process and does not constitute a diagnosis of TB or of other chest abnormalities.

It is only a screening process and other extensive tests by the personal physician are required before a positive diagnosis can be determined."

Miss Goodwin stated that the TB association does provide a large follow-up chest x-ray if the small film indicates possible TB. If the large film confirms the findings of the small x-ray, the patient is advised to see his or her physician as soon as possible. The large x-ray is paid for from Christmas Seal funds.

Chile Produces Some Of World's Best Wool
Three-Fourths of Crop Is Shipped to U. S.

The small American farmer has learned from experience just how profitable a small flock of sheep can be to his general farm program. And in the western part of the country great flocks are maintained by producers.

One of the greatest producers of wool, now selling at a record price, is Chile. The industry is valued at $170,000,000 and employs more than 10,000 people.

Chile's first sheep were brought from Spain by the Spanish conqueror Pedro de Valdivia over 400 years ago. In 1877, 300 head were brought to the Punta Arenas area from the Falkland Islands.

Farallons, Bird Refuge, Now Closed to Civilians

California's Farallon islands, whose 1950 U. S. census count of an even 30 inhabitants was reported complete before the April 1 official census started, found human traffic there far greater in the 19th century than it has been in the first half of the 20th.

Russian sealers occupied the bleak group, 26 miles west of San Francisco's Golden Gate, from 1812 to 1833, notes the National Geographic society. Drafting Indians and Aleuts as labor, they reduced seals from abundance to scarcity, taking close to 200,000 skins for the China trade. Sir Francis Drake had restocked his vessel with seal meat at the Farallons in 1579.

During the 1849 gold rush in California, food was scarce in San Francisco. Egg-gathering from the nests of gulls and murrens on the Farallons became profitable and well organized, and the traffic continued for many years. Finally, bird lovers stepped in, and the islands are now a bird refuge, closed to civilians from April to August.

The Farrallons, known but little even to mainland Californians, consist of three pinpoint groups of rocky islets spreading over seven miles of the Pacific ocean on air and water lanes of trans-Pacific travel. Paradoxically, although they are officially part of the City of San Francisco, the mayor and other city officials may not set foot on them without special permission.

The permission must come from the 12th coast guard district based in San Francisco. It provides the personnel that maintains the powerful beacon 358 feet above sea level atop Southeast Farallon, the only inhabited island of the group.

The lighthouse - keeping families live in neat, white houses at the foot of the high beacon cliff. A radar station and an automatic fog-signal horn complete the island's important navigation aid equipment.

Human Regard for Criminal Modern Idea, Says Educator

The idea that the legal offender shares a common humanity with his nonoffender brother is a relatively novel conception and regards the criminal as a human being and not subhuman, specialhuman, superhuman, inhuman, robothuman, or extrahuman, Dr. Robert Lindner, clinical psychologist at Harlem Lodge, Catonsville, Maryland, told the first session of the third annual institute on crime and delinquency which University of California extension held in Los Angeles recently.

Declaring that "Offenders, too, are human," Dr. Lindner pointed out that the modern view of the criminal historically succeeds the primitive, theological, philosophical, mechanical, and psychiatric views.

"The modern view is based on a total approach to the offender, including the whole person and his history in the world; it is based upon scientific knowledge that is reaching a level of maturity; its sources are biological, anthropological, sociological, and psychological. Among these, the psychoanalytical appears to be the most fruitful and comprehensive."

Study Hydrogen Bonds

While other scientists the nation over concern themselves with hydrogen bombs, Dr. Joseph W. Ellis and Dr. Leonard Glatt of the physics department of the University of California are busy with hydrogen bonds—a study more closely related to everyday life. Hydrogen bonds are links which assist in holding together the long molecular chains found in many of the substances we use in our daily life. These links are formed by the sharing of a proton (hydrogen nucleus) between two units of the same or different molecules. Examples of substances they bind together are liquid water, proteins, and many plastics, including nylon.

From Everywhere

The ingredients of paint products literally come from the world's four corners. Take, for example, a quarter pint can of varnish stain. It's packed in a shipping case made from fibre that may have come from Norway. The paper for the label may have come from the same place. The tin for the can probably came from either Bolivia or Malaya. The contents may consist of linseed oil that came from Argentina, the drier from Asia, tung oil from China, resin from Africa and dyes from England. Skillfully combined by American know-how, the user benefits from world-wide activity which he seldom realizes.

Making Good Soils

"Somehow the notion gets around," says Dr. Charles E. Kellogg of the U. S. department of agriculture, "that originally our farm soils were highly productive; that is, productive when first plowed. Many of them were, like the black lands in our Middle West and in central Eurasia, for example, and in some of the great deltas and alluvial valleys. But most soils are not. It is through liming and fertilization, drainage, irrigation, the introduction of legumes, and a host of other practices, that farmers have made their soils productive," explains Dr. Kellogg.

The huge English Marsh Romney will produce 12 kilos of long staple wool, or 30 pounds. This type wool is often called the best in the world.

The industry specializes in the famous English Marsh Romney sheep which produces, according to many experts, the finest long staple wool in the world. Today, Chile has a total sheep population close to 7,000,000 head.

Three quarters of the nation's wool crop — about 15,000 metric tons — goes to the United States. England gets the remainder.

Farm Worker Crop Output Triples in Fifty Years

Fifty years ago a farm worker produced enough food for himself and five other persons. Today the crops raised by a single worker are sufficient for 15 persons.

Although machinery has had much to do with this spectacular productivity record, a major factor is the expanded use of fertilizers. The nation's farms last year consumed 18,346,132 tons of soil food—six times as much as in 1901—at a cost of $744,000,000.

At the turn of the century 285 million acres of crop land, tilled by 13 million farm workers, were needed to supply the crops required by a population of 76 million. Now 10 million workers produce from 345 million acres of land the food required by twice as many Americans, as well as thousands of persons in other countries.

Agricultural authorities say that the use of fertilizer is responsible for roughly one-fourth of the volume of all crops.

The use of fertilizer is expected to continue upward for an indefinite period.

Seed Beds

It is a long time from planting seed beds, but gardeners and farmers might spend some of their spare time during the winter months making one. Seed beds with plastic covers are hailproof, shatter-proof and light in weight. A plastic-coated wire mesh, weighing less than glass, passes on to the plants most of the sun's ultraviolet and infrared rays. This material is available at most farm equipment dealers and hardware stores.

Poultry and Egg Eating Increases, Experts Say

Poultry experts report the American family is consuming more poultry and eggs and predicts the increase will continue during the rest of 1951. Forecasts indicate the average American will have eaten 30 pounds of chicken by the end of 1951, 10 per cent more than last year; 406 eggs, slightly more than in 1950; and about five pounds of turkey meat, approximately the same as last year.

At 10:45 the Church School Convenes. All of these services will be highlighted by organ music and appropriate selections by the Choir.

An excerpt from Bishop Grant's Easter letter expresses what I feel — I quote: "Good Friday — black Saturday — Easter — all belong to God, but of all the days, Easter seems more God's Day than any other. Oh the mystery of it! The marvel of it! The wonder of it! God in Christ stepped across the boundary line into the unending world of His provision, and urges every child of His to follow Him who is the Way, the Truth, and the Life" — abundant Life.

We most cordially invite all who are not worshipping elsewhere to join with us in this happy — blessed day.

Thank Practical Eskimos For 'Deep-Freeze' Invention

Thanks to practical Eskimos and a shrewd Yankee fur trader, we are now able to have seasonable fruits and vegetables "fresh" at any time of the year. The quick-freeze pack keeps them fresh.

The Yankee fur trader is Clarence Birdseye of Gloucester, Mass., who still indulges his fancy for adventure in the Far North. While dealing with Arctic Eskimos up the Labrador coast during 1912, he was amazed at the excellent meat and fish they seemed always to have available. The secret was in the quick-freezing of game freshly caught. "Quick-Freeze!" That was the Big Idea he mullied over as he sailed home. Invent a special kind of freezing machine to freeze almost instantly, patent it, make fresh foods available to everyone!

Inspired by this thought, and stimulated by this hope of protection afforded by our patent system, he built his first crude machine which he called the "Multiple Quick Freeze." This consisted of a new garbage can of corrugated iron with layers of steel plates between which codfish and rabbit meat were placed. It was supplied with coils that contained salt brine as a refrigerant. Incredible, but true, this unpolished mechanism was the forerunner of our gigantic lockers of today. Encouraged by the success of his invention in food preservation, and the patent protection obtained thereon, Birdseye endeavored to promote his idea.

A skeptical America was not too eager to accept quick-frozen foods, and our inventor, in 1924, after making stabs in both Gloucester and New York, went broke. Unbeaten, his perseverance and ingenuity urged him to try again and, in 1927, after securing a $2,250 loan on his life-insurance policy, and obtaining $375,000 from backers, he again launched into the business. This time it took a year to interest the public sufficiently.

Cretaceous Geological Period Shale Collected in Fresno

More than a ton of shale and marl containing 100-million-year-old fossils, collected in Fresno County, Calif., last summer by Dr. Alfred R. Loeblich, Jr., Smithsonian Institution paleontologist, is being processed at the U.S. National Museum.

The Fresno County locality has one of the thickest known deposits—in some places as much as 25,000 feet—of sediments laid down in the ancient sea bottoms during the Cretaceous geological period, the heyday of the great dinosaurs on land and of the weird swimming reptiles, the plesiosaurs in the sea. The material collected by Dr. Loeblich, however, contains fossils far less conspicuous than these monsters, but in some ways they represent even stranger forms of life. They are minute Foraminifera, or shelled protozoans. Although constituting a very large branch of the Animal Kingdom, the Protozoa are one-celled animals and nearly all are microscopic; the best-known of the living forms are internal parasites which cause some of the most deadly diseases.

Foraminifera are a specialized group of Protozoa that build an external shell, and these shells may be preserved as fossils. During the Cretaceous period, represented by the material collected this summer, many of the more modern shell forms were first developed. These fossil shells are often used by the oil industry to determine the age of geologic strata and thus are of economic importance, as well as being of value to the scientist in showing evolutionary trends.

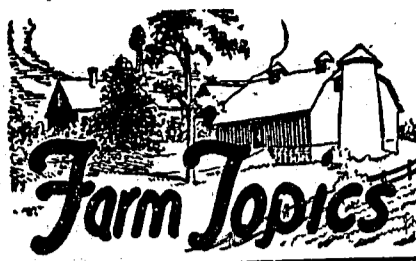

Although single-celled, such sea creatures may have many chambered shells. As they grow they form new chambers all connected by openings through which the protoplasm of the cell flows. But, however many chambers of this sort are produced, the protoplasm is continuous through all and the animal still remains a single cell.

Looking Back

Haile Selassie's 1,150-man, hand-picked battalion in Korea is a far cry from the desperate army he raised in 1935. Then, as Mussolini's men marched into his land, he issued this draft notice: (1) When this order is received, all men and boys able to carry a spear will go to Addis Ababa. (2) Every married man will bring his wife to cook and wash for him. (3) Every unmarried man will bring any unmarried woman he can find to cook and wash for him. (4) Women with babies, the blind and those too aged and infirm to carry a spear, are excused.

Ptolemaic System

The Ptolemaic System was the ancient concept of the universe, proposed by the Greek astronomer Hipparchus, who lived about 130 B. C. It is named after Claudius Ptolemy, a later astronomer, who popularized it in a famous book known as the Almagest. According to this system, the Earth was fixed at the center of the universe, and the Sun, Moon, planets and stars all revolved around it in varying periods. It has been superseded by the system proposed by Copernicus in 1543, which places the Sun at the center of the Solar System, and has the Earth as one of a number of planets revolving around the Sun.

Fertilizing Important In Balanced Farm Plan Lime, Fertilizer Pays Off in High Hay Yield

Farmers in every part of the nation are realizing more and more the importance of well-balanced fertilizing programs to build production and soil structure.

Ben Vossen, who farms near Watkins, Minn., believes his investments in lime and fertilizer have done more for his farm than anything in his career.

The results of one of his investments are shown in the above picture. At the right is a run-down field of bluegrass overgrown with buck grass. At the left is a field of oats after the buck grass was sprayed to kill it, grubbed and plowed under.

Farmer Vossen inspects his field of oats. At the right is the field of bluegrass overgrown with buck grass. Fertilizing has turned the oat field into a high producer.

Vossen limed and fertilized the oat field with plant food carrying nitrogen, phosphate and potash before he seeded it. He keeps the field in oats two years, then seeds down to an alfalfa crop. He takes hay and pasture off as long as the stand is productive. He helps lengthen its life by top-dressing regularly with manure.

The use of lime and fertilizer pays off in much bigger hay yields. Vossen reports. He harvested eight tons of hay on two acres that used to produce about one-half ton of timothy.

Total Feed Supply Will Be Higher Than Last Year

With the approach of the 1951-52 feeding season, livestock feeders will be interested to know that the expected total supply of feed grains and concentrates will be greater than last year, according to the bureau of agricultural economics.

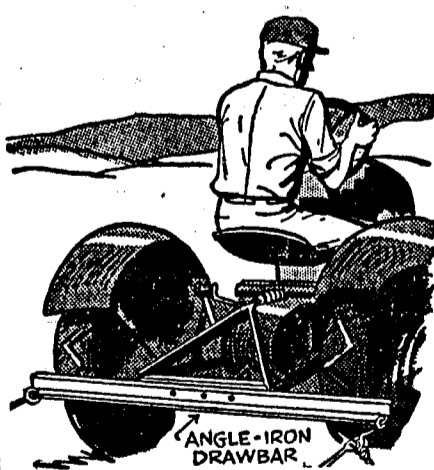

The available supply of feed will permit livestock to be fed at about the same rate per unit as last season. The number of animals to be fed, however, is also expected to be greater. An estimated 174 million animals will be on hand as compared with last year's 168-million.

A large acreage and a fair carry-over is expected to provide a larger corn supply. About 4 billion bushels is expected to be available for the 1951-52 season.

The total supply of corn, oats, grain sorghums, and barley for the coming season is estimated to be 127.1 million tons. This compares with last season's total of 125 million tons of grain.

The department reported total crop production may be the second highest in history in 1951.

Tractor Drawbar

A heavy piece of angle iron bolted to the rear of a tractor and extending well beyond the wheels makes harrowing easier fastening the harrow with a long chain hitch, especially when making turns at ends of the field. Bolted to the drawbar it can be removed when not in use.

Iowa Tests Show Value Of Alfalfa for Swine

Everyone knows that alfalfa pasture is good for hogs. But just how good? The Iowa experiment station thought that one way to find out would be to feed one batch of hogs on dry lot; and another on alfalfa.

They found that the biggest value in alfalfa comes from a saving in high-cost protein and mineral supplement. Hogs gained faster on alfalfa.

Roads In Good Condition
Considering the time of the year—March, roads in this area may be said to be in unusually good condition, firm and smooth. However, truckers should bear in mind, say road officials—that conditions are not yet permitting the lifting of load limit restrictions, and these will be enforced to the letter as a matter of economy. This load limit has held logging truck operations to a minimum, although many may be seen heading for local mills, or for Pataha. Woods operations are not expected to get into full swing for at least another month, this, of course, being dependant on weather.

It's Blewett's, Kendrick, for fresh and cured meats of all kinds. 1-adv

Published by the Kendrick Creamery

HELLO, THERE, FOLKS —

Well, here it is Easter again — with all that it means — sunrise church services — regular services — and following them the thoughts of Easter dinner.

Of course when you think of Easter dinner you visualize big bowls of mashed potatoes, whipped to a gleaming froth with milk or cream — tall glasses of milk or cream — cream for your coffee — and ice cream or pie ala-mode for dessert.

Yes, folks, it takes dairy products to make any meal a success. So when planning that dinner, think of us. Come in and get that milk, cream, ice cream — or have the milk and cream delivered Saturday.

Co-ed: "I just found out your uncle's an undertaker. I thought you told me he was a doctor!"
Boy Friend: "Nope. I just said he followed the medical profession!"

Yes, you bet, we want to buy your cream. Here you'll get full market price — plus the bonus of right-now payment. No fussing about the can. We return a steam-sterilized, ready-to-use can! No quantity too big — none too small. Bring it in!

Doctor: "Your husband must have absolute quiet. Here is a sleeping powder."
Wife: "When do I give it to him?"

Doctor: "You don't! You take it yourself!"

Ice cream is the year-around treat. Keep it on hand all the time. Buy it in quarts and gallons at the Kendrick Creamery. The name "Potlatch Chief" is your assurance of purity, texture and fine flavor.

Sell us your cream!
