WHAT JULIAETTA FRIENDS ARE DOING THESE DAYS

Singers Much Enjoyed

The Madrigal Singers, from the University of Idaho, under the direction of S. Keith Forney, sang to a small but very appreciative audience Wednesday evening at the Juliaetta gymnasium.

The group of ten singers were seated around a face-covered, candle-lighted table, the girls dressed in styled-alike sheer pastels, the boys in suits.

The group singing was interspersed with the soloists, which added greatly to the enjoyableness of the program.

The unique presentation, the delightful style of the Madrigal singing, plus the superb ability of the singers made the program a truly memorable one for all present.

Following the program refreshments were served to the singers by the executive committee of the P. T. A., assisted by Mrs. Gerald Ingle. Our thanks to Asa Calvert who was instrumental in bringing this excellent singing group to our community.

IS STILL GOING FORWARD WILL BEGIN VERY SOON
Copies of "Living Insurance," the Idaho Cancer Society's new 16-mm technicolor movie, with sound, are being mailed today for immediate release in towns throughout the state. Step by step the procedure for a thorough physical examination for cancer is pictured in an easy, interesting manner that leaves the viewer feeling that he will make an appointment for his own examination — at once!
The story of "Living Insurance" begins when Ken Murray, a young businessman, enters the office of "R. A. Montgomery, M. D." At the time he is feeling fine, but because his mother has just written that she has had one of cancer's seven danger signals, he too is concerned.
While the doctor finds young Mr. Wagner a very healthy specimen, he

NOTICE TO CREDITORS
In The Probate Court of Latah County, State of Idaho

In the Matter of the Estate of William G. Schetzle, Deceased
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN by the undersigned administrator with the will annexed of the estate of William G. Schetzle, deceased, to the creditors of and all persons having claims against the said deceased, to exhibit them with the necessary vouchers within four (4) months after Thursday, the 16th day of April, 1953, the first publication of this notice, to the said administrator with the will annexed, at the office of Robert W. Peterson, Attorney at Law, Moscow, Idaho, the same being the place for the transaction of the business of said estate, in Latah County, State of Idaho.
DATED at Moscow, Idaho, this 13th day of April, 1953.
ROBERT W. PETERSON,
Administrator with the will annexed.
First pub. Apr. 16, 1953.
Last pub. May 14, 1953

still takes time to discuss the seven danger signals — the most important forty-two words in a cancer worker's handbook. They are:
1. Any sore that does not heal.
2. A lump or thickening, in the breast or elsewhere.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
4. Any change in a wart or mole.
5. Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
6. Persistent hoarseness or cough.
7. Any change in normal bowel habits.

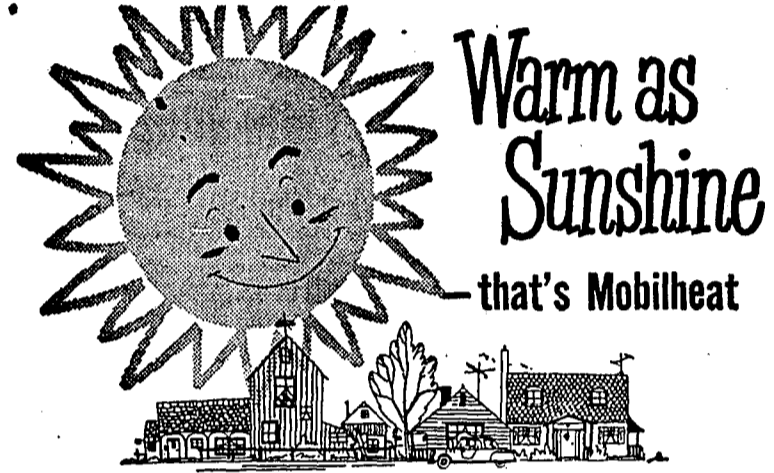

Before leaving the doctor's office Ken Wagner makes an appointment for physical examinations for his wife and two young children. Thus, for the nominal price of a physician's fee, he has purchased "living insurance" for his family — for most cancer, discovered early — is curable.
Not every family in Idaho is as wise, or as fortunate, as the Wagners. In 1950 there were 536 cancer deaths; in 1951, 570, and in 1952 there were 596 death certificates at the Idaho office of vital statistics labeled "cancer."

Leo J. Falk, president of Idaho's division of the American Cancer Society said today that this film is available upon request to all civic groups. It is run just 14 minutes, which is considered ideal for men or women's club or luncheon groups, as well as evening meetings. This film was made last fall in cooperation with the New York Memorial hospital under the direct medical supervision of Dr. Raymond L. White of Boise.
People sometimes wonder — what is the price of a life? The cancer workers of Idaho, for whom this film was a real undertaking, feel that if just one person who views it and visits a doctor — in time to save his or her life — the $10,000 spent on its production will have been repaid.
The same man who wouldn't tolerate a squeak or dent in his car is apt to neglect his own "living insurance."

Adrenal Gland Plays Role When One Suffers Injuries
Another step forward in better understanding the important role played by the adrenal gland in helping the body recover from injuries has been achieved, a University of Michigan doctor states.
Dr. Jerome W. Conn, an associate professor of internal medicine, reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science on research he has been conducting at the university.
His study has shown that the adrenal gland calls upon a substance in the blood known as cholesterol to help in producing the huge amounts of adrenal hormones needed in prolonged periods of stress which the body undergoes at the time of an injury.
Cholesterol, produced largely by the liver, is the basic compound of adrenal hormones, including cortisone, the hormone found to be beneficial in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis, Dr. Conn says.
In his experiments, Dr. Conn found the cholesterol content of the adrenal gland could be reduced 70 per cent within three hours by artificial stimulation which produced conditions similar to those created within the body during periods of prolonged stress.
This artificial stimulation was achieved through use of ACTH, the pituitary gland hormone which causes the adrenal gland to produce its hormones.
The effect of this prolonged stimulation of the adrenal gland has important implications for future study of several diseases, including those of the heart, liver and kidney, as well as hardening of the arteries, according to Dr. Conn. These diseases are all associated with an unusual production or use of cholesterol.

Wool Scarce; Give Blankets Extra Care for Longer Life
Treat your wool blankets with the gentle care that precious possessions deserve. Textile scientists of the U.S. department of agriculture have pointed out that U.S. production of wool this year is one of the lowest on record.
Frequent airing of blankets in use not only is good sanitary practice but helps them last longer and hold their fluffy warmth and comfort. When a blanket is thrown back loosely so fresh air reaches both sides, the wool has a chance to get back its natural springiness which makes for warmth. But care should be taken not to throw a blanket over anything sharp, such as a peaked bedpost, which may pierce or pull it, or on anything that may stain it. Loose bed springs, sharp metal corners or even roughened wood may also catch and tear blankets or other bedding.
For best service and comfort blankets should be large enough to come up well over shoulders and still tuck firmly in the bottom of the bed. Short blankets often wear out early because they take so much pulling and strain.
A blanket stays clean longer if the bed is made so that the sheet turns back over the top of the blanket 8 to 12 inches. If the sheet is too short, a strip of cloth, basted over the top or the full length of the blanket, is good protection against soiling the wool. A covering over the blanket, or even a third sheet used on top, gives added warmth because it holds still air in the fluffy wool.

For Pig Protection
A pair of clean rubber boots is worth more than any medicine in protecting pigs from a fatal intestinal disease called transmissible gastroenteritis. Best means of controlling it is to move healthy pigs as far away as possible from the sick ones. Many farmers do this, a veterinary medical bulletin points out, but they overlook the fact that their shoes can spread the infection. Attendants who have walked through infected hog quarters should put on a pair of clean boots before entering healthy quarters, the bulletin cautions. The disease, believed to be caused by a virus, is marked by severe diarrhea, vomiting, and rapid loss of weight. Young pigs are hit hardest, with death losses sometimes running as high as 90 per cent.
Finishes Pre-Tested
The term "industrial-finishes" is applied to the finishes used by manufacturers to enhance their products. Before being applied, they are subjected to many special tests based upon the kind of usage to which the article may be subjected. For example, in addition to tests for adhesion, and hardness, finishes for refrigerators, stoves and kitchen cabinets are tested for their resistance to various foods, such as lemon juice, butter, lard and vinegar—as well as to various cleaning materials.
Wooden, Aluminum, Ladders
The rung of a wooden ladder will bend downward about one-sixth of an inch for a 150-pound person stepping on its center. An aluminum ladder is constructed so that the deflection is much less. If it were built like the wooden ladder, the deflection of the aluminum rung would be about a ninth as much as for the wooden rung under similar conditions. This is because aluminum is nine times as rigid as wood (white oak).

Small Town Utility Serves Farm Folks Gas Made Available To Farms for First Time

The farm folks within 20 miles of Antigo, Wis., have gone in for gas in a big way. This new interest of farm folks in heating and cooking with gas started over a year ago with the reorganization of Antigo's City Gas company.

The Antigo utility which manufactured gas from oil, coke and steam converted its plant to "propane-air" gas and offered service to farm homes and rural firms within a radius of 20 miles.

Mrs. Dale Madison, a rural homemaker, has converted her kitchen to gas, and reports it gives her more freedom from kitchen duties.

The new rural customers have their own "backyard utility" in the form of storage tanks for large users and "bottled" installations for homes with smaller consumption.

Because they are a part of the Antigo utility system, country customers receive monthly fuel bill just like the town. Fuel consumption is recorded on a meter attached to their cylinders or tanks. Bad weather can't interrupt service, since a sufficient supply is stored on the premises in advance of use. Empty cylinders are periodically replaced by company service men.

Since the reorganization, rates have been reduced for town and farm users three times.

Contour Farming Cuts Soil Losses in Half

Iowa agronomists report that contour farming cuts soil losses in half, boosts corn yields as much as 7.4 bushels per acre and ups soybean production by 2.7 bushels.

Other advantages from contour farming include lower fuel and operating costs for tractors and other machinery and an increase in the length of corn rows.

The need for more contour cultivation will increase with the steadily expanding acreage of row crops to meet the nation's food needs.

While contouring is a vital step in keeping soil at home, other soil building measures are needed to keep farm land at high yielding levels. Every crop burns up organic matter and uses up plant nutrients. The organic matter can be replenished by growing well-fertilized deep-rooted legumes regularly in the rotation and by returning manure and crop residues to the soil.

Safety Plug

A new safety plug has been developed that should be of interest to most farmers. It has a tiny replaceable fuse. Electrical cords are connected to the plug exactly as they are connected to the wall socket itself. The fuse blows out should a short circuit develop in any connected cord. This prevents current from reaching the danger point, instantly cutting off the source of fire.

Nebraska Farmers Paid High Cost for Corn Crop

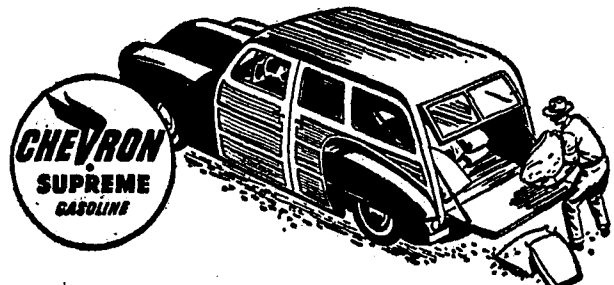

Nebraska farmers paid with two lives, 194 fingers, 18 hands, 10 arms, one leg, four toes and two feet in gathering approximately 225 million bushels of corn. That is last year's accident record. Failure to stop the cornpicker before trying to remove the stoppage of the machine accounted for almost every accident. Farmers should discuss safety problems with their harvest crews.

MOSCOW TO OBSERVE MAY DAY — U. S. A.

May Day is always celebrated in Russia to commemorate one of the beginning incidents of the Russian Revolution in 1917.

May Day in Moscow, Idaho, this year, will be the climax of a week-long celebration, emphasizing the peaceful ideals of American democracy and satirizing the difference between Moscow, Idaho, and Moscow, Russia.

May Day, May 1, is to be a city-wide holiday.

The week from April 27 to May 2 has been designated in Moscow, Idaho, as "One Week for America." This celebration is sponsored by the Moscow Chamber of Commerce in co-operation with all civic, business and service clubs, the public school system, the University of Idaho, all fraternal organizations and all churches. Acting as co-chairman of this May Day celebration are Abe McGregor Goff, former congressman from Idaho, and Floyd N. McCowan, Moscow business man.

The objectives of this celebration are: (a) To glorify American ideals of democracy and rededicate ourselves to the Christian principles of tolerance, peacefulness and humility; (b) To create a lasting awareness in the minds of all residents of Moscow, Idaho, Latah county, and the Inland Empire, of the diabolical aims and purposes of Russian Communism, and the necessity for a continuous defense against this ideology that threatens the foundations of all democratic countries; (c) to sell $500,000 in Savings Bonds, and (d) to give 3,000 pints of blood to the Armed Services.

The Red Cross began drawing the blood on April 27, at the University. The students of the university set a national record for blood donated in the fall of 1952. At this time, the students are going all-out to establish a new and bigger record.

Friday, May 1, will be the big day. The program will get underway with a speech on Main street at 1:00 p. m. by Bishop Steven F. Bayne, Olympia, Wash., a prominent representative of the Council of National Churches. At 1:30 p. m. a huge parade will begin. Participating in the parade will be over 30 beautiful floats prepared by the students of the University of Idaho, depicting the "American Way." Bands will be marching, there will be marching units, an air show with jets and bombers from the nearby bases, queens selected from the high schools of the county, etc.

In the evening the program calls for a huge fire-works display, followed by a talent show in the stadium of the university. To wind-up the day's celebration, dances will be held in the university gymnasium and other available places.

Potlatch Chief Sez

Published by the Kendrick Creamery

HELLO, THERE, FOLKS —

Well, here we are again with our bit of weekly chatter — but instead of mentioning the weather and the care of Old Bossy to get more cream income — we're going to step right out and say:

Yes, we realize this is the in-between season for salads — so why not enjoy a "quickie" as well as a taste treat at your next lunch, dinner, or supper?

Just take a couple of rings of pineapple, or a couple of slices of peach or pear, put them on a nest of lettuce leaves, and then put a big spoon of Potlatch Chief Cottage Cheese in the middle? It's a salad that will hit the spot — as well as being quick and easy.

"What are ancestors, Mum-my?" asked the young son.

"Granny's one of yours and grandad's another," the mother explained.

"Oh!" He looked rather puzzled, then after a few moments thought, he inquired: "Why do people brag about them?"

Never, never, allow your home deep freeze or refrigerator to run out of "Potlatch Chief" Ice Cream. It's so delicious that the whole family will ask for more every time you serve it — and you will want plenty on hand when friends drop in for an evening visit, or when you have guests. "Potlatch Chief" is made in all the popular flavors, plus specials. Take home several quarts next time you come to town.

"Any hint of marriage, dear?"
"Yes, mother, I've put out several — but he just keeps ignoring them!"

Golfer (far off in the rough):
"Say, caddy, why do you keep looking at your watch?"
Caddy: "It isn't a watch, sir; it's a compass."
