PEDERSON-BENJAMIN NUP-TIALS SOLEMNIZED FRIDAY

Wedding bells rang for another local young couple Friday, May 22, at 8:00 p. m., in the Gold Hill church, when Marilyn Pederson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Pederson became the bride of Verlin Benjamin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Benjamin, all of Southwick.

The wedding vows were exchanged against a setting of candelabra and tall tapers, snowballs, lilacs and cedar boughs, with the groom's grandfather, Rev. G. W. Benjamin, officiating at the sacred ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, A. M. Pederson, was lovely in a ballerina length white satin gown with bouffant nylon net overskirt. The fitted bodice was topped with a bolero jacket and long sleeves. She wore a fingertip veil fastened to a little tatted Juliet cap which had been her sister's baby cap and made by her mother. The veil and cap had been worn by her sister, Mrs. Browleit at her wedding. Her bridal bouquet was fashioned with a rosebud corsage surrounded by stephanotis and pale pink roses.

Mrs. Elmer Browleit, Colfax, a sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a pale green ballerina gown of organdy, with a hat of matching fabric. She carried a nosegay of carnations, painted daisies centered with rosebuds.

Ronald Benjamin, a brother of the groom, was best man. Edward Pederson, Spokane, Cpl. Herbert Pederson, U. S. M. C., both brothers of the bride, were ushers.

Mrs. Ervin Fry, sister of the groom, acted as pianist and played the wedding march from "Mid Summer Night's Dream," and "Always." Burke Sower, Juliaetta, was soloist, and sang "Because" and "Together."

Following the ceremony a reception for the 100 guests was held in the Gold Hill Community hall. The room was decorated with cedar boughs, narcissis and other spring flowers.

The bride's table was centered with the wedding cake, flanked with white tapers and roses. After the first piece was cut by the bride and groom, Mrs. Gil Erlewine finished cutting and serving.

Mrs. Frank Lyons presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Cleo McAllister served coffee.

At the gift table Darlene Peters and Dayna Weaver opened and displayed the gifts. Mary Ellen Weaver had charge of the guest book.

The bride's mother was attired in a tan check suit with white accessories and her corsage was of pink carnations.

The groom's mother chose a gray suit with white accessories, complimented with a pink carnation corsage.

The bride wore for her going-away ensemble a wine suit with navy blue accessories.

Both young people are graduates of Kendrick High school, have lived in this area almost all their lives, and are popular with the younger set. The groom spent a year at Camp Lewis, and is with the reserves.

The young couple left immediately following the reception on a honeymoon trip. They were headed south, but declined to name their destination.

Upon their return they will be at home to their friends on a farm near Southwick, where the groom is engaged in farming.

Attendance Reports

Each year after school closes it is interesting to observe, from the attendance reports, the regularity of the attendance of our students in each grade, and note how well good attendance correlates with good grades as well as good habits and dependability. Parts of pupils who are regular in their attendance are to be commended. You parents are doing wonders in training responsibility, dependability, punctuality and many other fine traits of character in your children. If the parent does not seem to care and writes excuses time after time for a child who misses school, almost without fail, that child will acquire extremely poor habits, the blame for which can be placed largely with the parents.

Sickness is a legitimate excuse for absence, but many times sickness itself is brought on through poor health habits and lack of proper rest. Children sometimes are tired in the mornings, and complain of being sick, when in reality if proper food and rest were provided they would be more punctual in school attendance and mentally alert while in school.

Many times, too, students ask to be excused from school to go to Lewiston or elsewhere. Saturday is "out" for them to go to town, they say, because they have to work. Reasons of this nature are hard to accept unless there is an extremely exceptional case.

Congratulations are in order for the following students for their good attendance throughout the year:

Students having attended 172 days with no absences — David Cowger and Judith Craig, Southwick; Marion Sabrski, Paul Dagefoerde and Elmer Weaver, Junior High; Darrel Craig, Leonard Eldridge, David Johnson, Dennis Sower, Ida Glenn, Adolph and Albert Wendland and Lida Holt, Juliaetta; Janice Christensen and Ronald Lee Craig, High school.

Those attending 170 days with either one or one-half or two days absence include: Donna Johnson, Burton Bowen, Byron Bowen, Larry Groseclose, Marie Westendahl, Harry Riley and Lyle Parks, Juliaetta; Eddie Galloway, Parake Bigham, Marjorie Ingle, Gail Scherer, Judy Koopp, Lee Swanson and Randy Wallace, Junior High school; Roger Christensen, Jim Bamberry and Charles Havens, High school.

Those attending 169 days with either two and a half or three days absence include — Sonja Swanson, Southwick; Bradley Bowen, Linda Eckman, Nancy Groseclose, Norman Wilson, Janice Foster, Ila Johnson, Bernice Fraser, David Hudson, Irene Schmidt, Duane Meske, Patricia Mielke, Carol Weyen, Jeanne Craig, Freddie Foster and Barry Garner, Juliaetta; Joyce Armitage, Lolita Roberts, Bill Bamberry and Teddy Havens, High school.

ELSIE KRUGER BECOMES BRIDE OF TED FREEMAN

Trinity Lutheran Church in Lewiston was the scene of a lovely wedding Sunday May 24, at 2:30 p. m., when Miss Elsie Kruger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Kruger of Cameron, and Ted Freeman, son of Andrew Freeman of Lewiston, took their marriage vows.

Large baskets of snowballs and lavender iris and numerous candelabra made a pretty setting for the double-ring ceremony, performed by Rev. Theo Meske of Cameron.

The bride was beautiful in a floor-length gown of white nylon net and chantilly lace. It was fashioned with long sleeves, lace bodice, and high neckline and buttoned down the back. The skirt was made up of three full ruffles edged with wide lace. Her fingertip veil was also edged in chantilly lace. It was "borrowed" from her sister, Mrs. Kenneth Sinclair, as was the pearl tira she wore. For something new she carried a white Bible, a gift from her aunt, Mrs. Aug. O. Wegner, which was topped with a large orchid and ribbon streamers to which were fastened white stephanotis. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace. Her "something old" was a handkerchief which once belonged to her grandmother, and she wore the traditional blue garter.

As Lohengrin's Wedding March was played she was escorted up the aisle and given in marriage by her father, Gus Kruger.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Kenneth Sinclair, a sister of the bride. She was dressed in green organdy. The bridesmaids were Mrs. John Blankenship, also a sister of the bride; Miss Ida Marie Silflow, a cousin, and Miss Jack Freeman, the groom's sister-in-law. Their gowns were yellow organdy. All were floor-length and the skirts consisted of three full ruffles to match the bride's gown. They carried coral bouquets and wore flowered tiaras to match their gowns. They also wore pearl chokers.

The tiny flower girl was Iva Moan, a niece of the groom. Her long gown was of green organdy and fashioned like the bridesmaids' gowns. She carried a little basket filled with red rose petals. She also wore a French agat necklace, an heirloom once belonging to the groom's mother.

The groom was attired in a business suit, with stephanotis boutonniere. The groom's brother, Jack Freeman, was best man. He also wore the conventional business suit with stephanotis boutonniere.

Ted Piche, Orlen Moe and Kenneth Sinclair were the ushers. Robert Edelblute was the candlelighter. Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Galloway.

Locust Trees Blooming

Yes, the big locust trees which line Kendrick's Main street and many of its side streets, are now in full bloom — and the street would be a bower of beauty were it not for the heavy rains of the past few days, which have given the long blossoms a rather bedraggled look.

They, however, is heavy with the scent of the flowers.

To Observe Memorial Day

U. of I., Moscow — The University of Idaho will mark Memorial Day and pay special tribute to its own dead with brief ceremonies at 11:50 a. m. Saturday at the Spanish-American war statue in front of the Administration building.

President J. E. Buchanan will place a wreath on the statue, and members of the ROTC units will sound taps and fire a volley.

Although the university also has bronze plaques listing former students who died in World Wars I and II, the statue of the soldier in the wide-brimmed hat, erected shortly after the end of the Spanish-American war, has come to symbolize the university dead of all wars. Engraved on the statue are the names of Ole Gabriel Hagberg, Christina, Norway, and Paul Draper, Valley View, Iowa.

They were among the 39 students, representing the highest percentage of any university in the nation, who enlisted in 1898 for the Spanish-American war. Both Hagberg and Draper enlisted as privates, rose to sergeants, fought and died in the Philippines.

Fish Planted Wednesday

Wednesday morning a State Department of Fish and Game tank truck, loaded with 1,400 (350 lbs.) of rainbow trout running from 8 to 12 inches long passed through Kendrick on their way to be distributed in the Potlatch.

The truck was accompanied by Hale Ebling and Mr. Murphy, the latter a fish biologist. Both said these fish would be well scattered throughout the length of the Potlatch, and not just "dumped" into some deep hole.

With opening date June 4th, the fish will have a chance to scatter even further than their planting points, and should provide some splendid semi-local fishing.

"And The Rains Came"

Truly, the above heading, title of a former well-known picture, might well apply to this area, for, since Tuesday of last week, it has been "rain and more rain," coming in steady downpours, in showers, and all other fashions in which rain may be described as falling.

The moisture has effectively put a stop to all field work, to logging operations, and to hauling — and even if no more fell, it will be the middle of next week before work can hope to be resumed.

In the meantime, weeds and pasture grow rank, and many fields will have to be rod-weeded before being seeded.

Hold Family Reunion

A family reunion was held Sunday at the Walter McCall home, with a pot-luck dinner, honoring her father, Carl Hartung of Richmond, Calif.

Those present were Mrs. Ida Wolff and son Warren of Lewiston; Walter Hartung of Pullman; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wolff and children of Lewiston; Mr. and Mrs. Walter McCall and family of Lewiston; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hartung of Clarkston and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hartung and family, also of Clarkston. Many Cases Of Measles

Kendrick and vicinity has reported many cases of measles the past few days. Many of the children have been very ill. It is said this epidemic is in a rather severe form, as high temperatures have accompanied most cases.

How to simplify the job of painting your barns

You can save all the work of mixing colors if you use Standard Shingle Stain to coat barns or any other unpainted exterior wood surfaces, such as fences and lattice work. It comes, ready to use, in three colors, red, brown and green.

Standard Shingle Stain penetrates, seals the wood pores against dampness and stops cracking and warping. Unlike heavier paints, it will not form ridges on shingle butts to retard water runoff.

Apply Standard Shingle Stain with a brush or by spraying. New shingles can be dipped. Depending on dryness of wood, 1 gallon covers 90 to 125 square feet.

Low Cost Essential For Farm Building

Concrete Blocks Filling Farm Construction Needs

Concrete blocks are being used more and more in the construction of farm buildings, according to American Builder magazine.

They have been found very serviceable for dairy barn construction, low in first cost and in upkeep.

Attributes that contribute to concrete's value as a building material on the farm are its durability, cleanliness, and weather and insect resistant qualities. Concrete foundations, masonry unit walls, concrete floors, and precast floor joists can be utilized to construct enduring farm structures and to repair old ones.

Dairy barn of concrete blocks and with a roof of fire-resistant asphalt shingles provides an efficient structure low in cost and in upkeep.

If a dairy barn is well-constructed and insulated, body heat of the cows would keep interior temperatures at 45 to 50 degrees in almost any kind of weather.

Lightweight aggregates in monolithic concrete or in masonry units, vermiculite floors and underlayers, hollow core walls, and masonry units with granular loose-filled cores all have qualities that can contribute to the efficiency of rural buildings.

Less Than Half of U.S. Farm Homes Have Baths

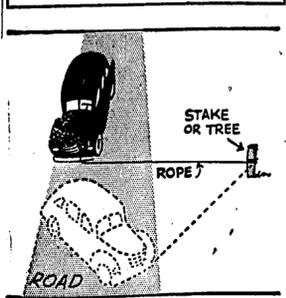

Less than one-half of the nation's more than 4,000,000 farm homes have baths and only half of the rooms are heated, a study of rural housing accommodations revealed.

Excessive standardization to relieve early postwar housing shortages resulted in the building of mediocre farm homes of rectangular, box-like design with too small rooms, too little privacy and absence of adequate plumbing and heating facilities.

However, under impetus of a U.S. department of agriculture program, farm house plans have recently been developed that are expected to fulfill the fundamental requirements. The new plans call for space, equipment and storage facilities in proportion to the number of persons in the family.

Coupled with the benefits of a 10-year electrification program that has brought electricity to 75 per cent of the farm homes, this new home designing will open an untapped market for manufacturers of automatic equipment and home appliances.

Pull Out the Car

Although most farmers these days live on a hard surfaced road, there may be an occasion when it would be necessary to pull a car or tractor out of a ditch. The above illustration shows how to get out of that ditch with the least amount of effort. A tow rope hitched to the front end of the car and tied to a stake or tree at right angle at the side of the road, will give you the leverage to get out of almost any place without help.

Crested-Wheatgrass Seed Production Reported Up

The 1950 production of crested-wheatgrass seed is estimated at 5,330,000 pounds of clean seed. This is 5 per cent larger than the 1949 production of 5,090,000 pounds. Larger crops than last year reported for North Dakota, South Dakota, and Montana, more than offset the smaller crops indicated for Nebraska, Colorado and Washington. The Colorado crop was near failure in 1950.

Johnson's Story of Success Started About 65 Years Ago

When Samuel Curtis Johnson began making parquet flooring in his Racine, Wis., workshop 65 years ago, he little dreamed of the turn his business would take.

It was a small operation, with two men and two boys doing all the work, but they were thorough craftsmen. Their flooring can still be found in old American homes.

Mr. Johnson, reading his mail by lamplight in the evening, noticed that more and more customers were turning to him for information on how to care for floors. Knowing that many floors in Europe had withstood the tread of centuries, thanks to wax, he recommended that his customers use the same substance.

Within a few years the Johnson company was manufacturing its own wax and wood finishing products. They subsequently found that the sideline was outstripping the main products in volume of sales. In 1916, with simple tastes in home decorating becoming more evident, the company abandoned its parquet business and concentrated on wax products.

Today, with the founder's grandson, H. F. Johnson, at the helm, the company ranks high in American industry. Its main office and laboratory in Racine, the plans for which were drawn by Frank Lloyd Wright, is a symbol of industrial growth. The company has offices and plants in Canada, England, France, Australia and other parts of the world. It has a refinery and plantation in Brazil where the world's supply of carnauba wax is obtained.

The little group that began the manufacture of parquet flooring in the back-street workshop 65 years ago could never have guessed they were sowing the seed of a business that was to make Racine the wax center of the world.

Nurse Braved Fever, Risked Life to Help Malaria Fight

Feeding disease-laden, killer mosquitoes once was the hobby of an elderly Baltimore nurse.

Miss Lena Townshend, now 76 years old, hoarded spare time from her nursing duties to provide life-sustaining sugar water for the caged mosquitoes used in yellow fever experiments by the late Army doctor and scientist, Major Walter Reed.

As a civilian nurse, Miss Townshend's 16-month affiliation with Dr. Reed and his important work was unofficial but she made a definite contribution to the project's success. Her experience with the menacing mosquitoes today are a fond memory in her career, 38 years as a practicing nurse.

While the Army prepared to honor Major Reed by observing the centennial of his birth, September 13, the gray-haired nurse was proud but modest in a discussion of her work in the fever-ridden country that was Cuba in 1901.

Miss Townshend went to Cuba due to a post-war shortage of nurses and a personal desire for foreign duty at the turn of the century. As night superintendent of Havana Municipal Hospital No. 1, she had a role in the fight against another epidemic of that time, typhoid fever.

Her "spare time" work was done in Dr. Reed's laboratory, one part of the hospital, after she already had put in 12 hours of night ward duty. She worked on the yellow fever charts which Major Reed maintained for the benefit of government and private hospitals in this country in addition to feeding the mosquitoes.

Interested both in the capture and care of the man-killing insects, Miss Townshend paid little heed to the other laboratory animals, guinea pigs and rats. She said she wasn't afraid of them but "I just didn't like them."

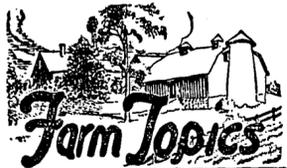

Although she nursed both yellow and typhoid fever cases—so many that she is unable to count them—Miss Townshend escaped both diseases.

Sunken Ore

About 100 years ago on the Marquette Range in Michigan, ore cars were sent down a long, descending grade to a Lake Superior dock. But sometimes the ore plunged to the bottom of the lake. In the 1850's, a strap iron railroad was built down the grade from the mines to the docks in Marquette harbor, 12 miles away. Strings of cars were loaded with ore and coasted by gravity down to the waterside. A brakeman rode each string of cars. The hand brakes of the period were far from efficient. Sometimes the cars continued off the end of the dock, and landed at the bottom of Marquette harbor. At intervals later cargoes of iron ore were dredged up where the old cars leaped to a watery grave.

Horns and Antlers

Horns, such as occur on cattle, sheep and Old World antelope, have a bony core. Over this is a layer of a material called keratin, which is similar to the calluses that occur on the palms of the hands or the soles of the feet. The antlers of the deer are different, as they consist of a growth of connective tissue which becomes hardened with the deposition of calcium. Antlers are shed annually and grown anew, as also are the horns of some animals, such as the prong horned antelope.

Aerial Crop-Control Is Booming Industry

25,000,000 Acres Were Treated in U.S.

A midwest wheat tract was so overrun with weeds that the farmer was about to plow it under. He decided, however, to try treating it with 2,4-D and hired an aerial crop-control specialist to apply the chemical at a cost of $2 an acre. The result: at yield of 20 bushels of grain per acre.

Other instances: Aerial spraying of weed-killing chemicals enabled a southern cotton planter to cut hoeing costs from $14 to $6.50 an acre while a California citrus grower improved his lemon crop by spraying his orchards from the air.

Agricultural aviation is a booming new industry that is enabling the farmer to substantially increase crop acreage. I. J. Beonel, agricultural research director for the Freeport Sulphur Company, reports.

The above photograph shows aerial dusting of an orchard. This method of insect control is becoming more popular with farmers throughout the country.

Beonel pointed out that more than 25,000,000 acres of U.S. crop, range and forest land were treated last year with chemicals sprayed or dusted by airplane.

Some 6,000 pilots are engaged in the aerial battle against insect pests, weeds and plant diseases. And they are doing the job faster, more efficiently and in many instances at lower cost than ground distribution of insecticides, fungicides and herbicides.

Store Unused Tractors Under Shelter in Winter

If you want to ruin your tractor in a hurry, just let it sit outdoors, exposed to the weather, this winter.

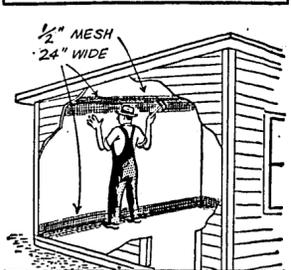

Farm machinery specialists say no amount of tough use will wear out your tractor as fast as leaving it out in the rain and snow.

Tractors are fairly expensive and may be hard to get. So, if you're not going to use your machine this winter, it will pay you well to find storage space for it in some building. Clean the machine thoroughly, especially the motor, and then store it in a dry protected place.

Block up the tractor to take the weight off the tires. Then drain the radiator, block, gas tank, fuel lines and carburetor. Put fresh oil in the crankcase and add a rust inhibitor.

Most important of all, remove the spark plugs and pour one-fourth out of light oil or kerosene in each cylinder. Then turn the crank a few times to work the oil around the rings and pistons, and replace plugs. Cover the exhaust pipe and crankcase breather pipe with old rags to keep out dirt and moisture.

Rodent Proof

If wire mesh is applied to joining sections of a poultry house, it will help keep the building free of rodents. The mesh is applied at the floor and ceiling as shown in the above illustration and should be well nailed.

Farmers Are Advised To Store Fertilizer

Farmers are still being advised to buy and store sufficient chemical fertilizer to meet their needs during the next 12 months. The supply is expected to be somewhat limited. Be sure it is stored in a dry place where there is little temperature variation, don't pile it any higher than five or six bags, and never pile it on the ground or even a concrete floor—the ideal storage place is an elevated wooden platform.

CANCER SOCIETY DRIVE REACHES NATIONAL GOAL

Idaho was the third state in the nation to reach national goal assignment for the American Cancer Society, Leo J. Falk, president of the Idaho Division, reported this week. Of the other states, Delaware reported goal first; followed closely by Kansas and Idaho. This is the ninth consecutive April that Idaho has maintained its record of being among the first ten in the nation to reach their national goal.

Falk said that 27 counties, of Idaho's 44, had reached minimum goal, and that 17 had exceeded last year's total contributions. Clark county, with Mrs. Rhea A. Waring of Dubois heading the county organization, was first in the state to report goal, both in fund-raising and in public education. Cassia county, Mrs. Fred Laidlaw, Burley, county commander, was second, and Idaho county, Mrs. Emmett Mulhall, Grangeville, county commander, was third.

Other counties to reach goal included Latah in seventeenth place. The cancer education program is definitely taking hold in Idaho, Falk said. There's no doubt in my mind that the increased voluntary response to the crusade in Idaho is an outgrowth of a better public understanding of the cancer problem.

Falk said that sixty percent of the funds raised by the Idaho Division remain in the state to carry on an ever-broadening program of education and aid to patients. Twenty-five percent of the money received is earmarked for the national research program, and fifteen percent for the national program of education and service.

Falk confidently predicted that by the time the campaign had been completed in every county in Idaho, contributions would equal or exceed those made last year, thus assuring continuation of established program. Reports to this time show $12,000 less received than 1952.

Farm Commodities Pose Big Problem Government Limited In Selling of Stocks

At the moment the government owns approximately $1,806,365,438 worth of farm commodities, purchased through the years to support farm prices, agricultural department officials report.

Products stored in government bins include 3.5 million bales of cotton, 145 million bushels of wheat, 167 million bushels of corn, 422 million pounds of linseed oil, 294 million pounds of dried milk, 79 million pounds of dried eggs, and quantities of various other items.

What's become of it all? It may be disposed of in various ways, but not dumped upon the open market to compete with commodities now in private ownership. To do so would flood the market and depress the commodities offered far below support prices. The government would then find itself buying the commodities placed upon the market.

The government today has 167 million bushels of America's finest corn stored under the price support plan. The question is, what to do with it?

These commodities, however, can be sold should the market prices strengthen considerably above support levels.

The government has two methods at present of moving commodities. They are:

(1) Persuading the consumer to increase their purchases through normal purchasing channels, thus reducing the supply and raising the price to where government stocks can be put on the market. Also, reducing supplies to a point where support prices would become unnecessary.

(2) Many of the commodities in government stockpiles are being distributed to school lunchrooms, charitable institutions, Indian affairs, and needy groups.

New Corn Spray

Until recently, the corn earworm has prevented profitable sweet corn growing, especially in the South. Sometimes every ear in a crop is infested. Such corn cannot be sold.

Now the department of agriculture has developed a spray containing DDT, mineral oil, and water that may be applied to silks and husks of developing ears. When applied at right times it kills worms before they attack and ruin the corn.

The new spray, when applied at the right times, will eliminate earworm and pay in growth of healthy corn on the American farm.

R. A. Blanchard, bureau entomologist, developed the method. He tested it in the field during three growing seasons in Texas, Mississippi, Missouri, and Illinois. Earworms were controlled in every instance, he reports.

January Exports Pass $224 Million Mark

January agricultural exports totaled $224,300,000, the agricultural department reports. Cotton topped the total with $83,500,000.

Wheat and wheat flour were second to cotton, valued at $47,500,000, while corn was in third place with $14,700,000. Agricultural imports during the month were valued at $290,700,000, or approximately 66 million more than exports.

Ethiopia's Imperial Guard Fighting War In Korea

The first Ethiopian combat force to fight outside Africa in 12 centuries is in action in Korea.

Under the green, yellow and red flag of one of the oldest Christian nations on earth, black-skinned riflemen from the elite Swedish-trained bodyguard of Emperor Haile Selassie—King of Kings of Ethiopia, Conquering Lion of the Tribe of Judah, by legend the descendant of Solomon and the Queen of Sheba—are now in the U.N. fighting line.

In battalion strength, Ethiopia's volunteers landed at Pusan only this month. The date, May 6, must have meant much to men charged by their king "to pay a debt of honor for your homeland," the National Geographic Society notes.

It was 15 years and a day after Mussolini's mechanized legions rolled into Addis Ababa to found an abortive African empire, ten years and a day after the capital was retaken by British and Ethiopian liberation forces in 1941.

Not since before the rise of Islam, however, have Ethiopians fought beyond their own continent. Italy's conquest was the only break in the continuity of a sovereign African kingdom more than 2,000 years old.

Once the masters of Yemen (southern Arabia) across the Red Sea, Ethiopia's early Christian kings built a fabulous empire and a rich, Greek-founded culture. Their traders roved all the way to the shores of the Persian Gulf. Their Coptic Church, linked to Orthodox Catholicism through the Patriarch of Alexandria, laid the foundations of a faith which has held Ethiopia together as an independent nation ever since.

Kaesong Has Been Important Korean Commercial City

Commercially, Kaesong ex-tract site in Korea has been important for the weaving of coarse cotton cloth, as well as for the making of crude pottery and earthenware. The city, which is just south of the 38th parallel, about 50 road miles northwest of Seoul, is also in normal times a popular market place for produce of near-by fertile valleys.

One of Kaesong's principal offerings has been the medicinal herb ginseng, prized in the Orient for magical strengthening and curative powers. Carefully cultivated, this crop has had a value estimated at times close to $1,000,000 a year.

In 1930, Kaesong's population was registered at 49,520, and in 1940, at 72,062. While this represented an increase of about 45 per cent, it is far less than that counted for other Korean cities, such as Seoul, 137 per cent rise, and Chongjin, 450 per cent.

Kaesong is situated about a third of the way along the railroad that runs between Seoul and the North Korean capital of Pyongyang. It is surrounded by granite hills which supplied much of the stone for necessary railway tunnels. Villages dot the neighboring valleys, splashed in season with colorful wild iris.

'Tree Of Water'

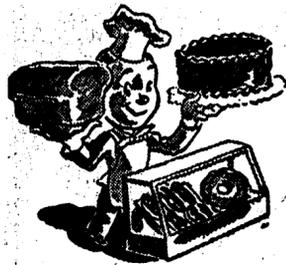

The Aztec word "ahuehuete" (pronounced "ah-we-we-te" and meaning "tree of water") is the Mexican name for the cypress species of which El Tule is far-and-away the mightiest individual. Twelve feet above the ground, the Tule cypress bears a wooden plaque, largely overgrown. Spanish words carved on it still are partially decipherable. The board reportedly was placed in the trunk in 1803 by the famous German geographer and traveler, Alexander von Humboldt. An earlier Spanish explorer, Juan Bautista de Anza, suggested that the Tule cypress was not a single tree, but a fusion of three separate trunks. Some botanists feel this must be so, since the tree is a freak, with no other competitor in size among survivors of its kind.

Civilian Uses

The farm implement known as the flame cultivator, which traces its development to the Army Chemical Corps' World War II flame thrower, originally was designed to weed cotton but was adapted for other types of row-planted vegetation. Other civilian uses of the flame thrower are clearing weeds from highway shoulders and railway beds as well as destroying algal grass and water hyacinths which impede river navigation.

Distant Star

No one can say which is the most distant star. With the new 200-inch Hale telescope at Mt. Palomar Observatory in California it is possible to see great clusters of stars, called "galaxies," that are so distant that their light takes about a billion years to reach us, so they are said to be a billion light years away. This distance would be about six sextillion (six followed by 21 zeros) miles. No doubt there are other galaxies at still greater distances, which will become visible when more powerful telescopes are built. Of the brightest (first magnitude) stars, the most distant is Deneb, in Cygnus the swan, about 650 light years away. A faint star just visible to the naked eye on a dark night might be at a distance as great as several thousand light years.

Latah County Youth Council

The third annual meeting of the Latah County Youth Council was held May 25, at the Mountain Home Grange hall, with David Youmans, Potlatch, president presiding.
First order of business was a joint meeting with the Adult Council and a talk on "Home Beautification" by Dr. Earl New, of the U. of I. After this the Councils separated and discussed plans for the Latah County 4-H Club picnic July 26, at Laird Park; the County 4-H Club Camp at Lake Chatcolet July 12-15, and the Idaho State Short Course on the University of Idaho Campus, June 11-17.
The Youth Council adopted new Articles of Association and By-laws. David Esser, delegate from the Genesee Ag. Club, was elected to the office of treasurer.
Elaine Patterson, Busy Fingers 4-H Club of Moscow, announced that her club was sponsoring a County Party in Moscow, June 6, to which all 4-H personnel are invited. The Princeton and Harvard area Clubs will be host to the Councils for the next meeting, July 27.

SEED SLANTS

Now is the season of the year to plant your Gladiolus bulbs. If planted now, and up until the latter part of June, Your Glads will escape the hot weather at blooming time, and you will have beautiful flowers for several weeks, giving the plant time to come into full bloom — as you won't be troubled with hot weather.
This year we have a fine assortment of fancy Glad bulbs. We picked thirteen of the leading sellers and placed them in an assortment. Some of these varieties are of the very latest, and some of them are the old stand-bys. Colors are from Pure White to Deep Lavender; Red and Smokey, Blues; Salmon and Orange; Pink and Rose; Deep Reds, and Yellows. Your cost for this beautiful assortment is only 59c. We also have an assortment of 10 bulbs for 49c, or you can make up your own assortment at 5c per bulb.
For making your yard or lawn more beautiful set out Geranium Plants. Later in the fall you can transplant these for house plants. We have the Martha Washington Geraniums that you can purchase at 75c per plant. These are very fine plants, and grow a colorful flower. We also have the regular plants at 50c each. These can be planted any time.

Sweet peas are always a flower of beauty for any home. We have the very latest assortment of Sweet Peas. This collection is made up of the choice of Spencer and Cuthberton. The price of this assortment is only 29c.

For a good plant food we have a new product called "Take-Hold Plus." This product is different than most plant foods, as it contains a root developing Hormone. This plant food is a new development of this type of product, and works much faster than other plant foods on the market. Plant foods are rated by the actual units of plant nutrients they contain. "Take-Hold Plus" contains 79 units of active, all-soluble, immediately available plant food — far more than most all other plant foods. The "Plus" in this product is a root hormone that starts a better root system at once. Try this product on your lawn, flowers, shrubs or garden. Also your house plants. A 12-ounce package costs you only 85c and will make 20 gallons of plant food.
Next week we will tell you about other new chemicals for plant life. These products are "Berry-Set" for bigger Strawberries and Raspberries, and "Blossom-Set" to make tomatoes ripen weeks earlier.

National President Visits
Doris Holm, National President of the Ladies Auxiliary to the V. F. W. visited in Idaho May 14 and 15.

Festivities began in Lewiston on Thursday morning, May 14, with a lovely breakfast served in the Lewis-Clark hotel, with the ladies of Stanford P. Dole Auxiliary in charge.

A caravan including women from Lewiston, Orofino, Clarkston, and various Idaho cities escorted the distinguished guests to Orofino. Accompanying Mrs. Holm were Wally Taylor, National Council member; Zoe Hull, Idaho president, and Agnes Orr, National Color bearer.

The auxiliary to Harold E. Kinne Post No. 3296 at Orofino was official hostess for the two-day meet. A semi-formal banquet and dance was held in the V. F. W. home that evening. Eight members of Baker-Lind Auxiliary No. 3913, Kendrick, attended.

May 15 activities started with a "question and answer period." Following this informative session, a lovely lunch was served in the dining room.

The most important meeting was held Friday afternoon at 1:30, at which time Mrs. Holm presented her report of national auxiliary activities for the past year — Mrs. Holm taking office last August. Kendrick members attending were Mesdames James Holt and William Cuddy.

Following is a brief resume of Mrs. Holm's report:
"The V. F. W. and its Auxiliary maintain a home for children of veterans who cannot, for various reasons, stay at home. This is a $3,000,000 project, including a 700-acre farm, which is operated by the boys in the Home, under the supervision of a qualified farmer. The children live in cottages valued from $50,000 to $60,000. Each cottage is supervised by a house mother, and brothers and sisters are not separated. In addition to the lovely homes there is a hospital, chapel, guest house, auditorium, and complete recreational facilities. The children are not for adoption. They may stay at the home until family circumstances warrant their return to their homes, or until they are grown. At present there are 195 children at the home — and there is room for many more. For more information contact your local auxiliary."

"The Auxiliary spent $1,250,000 on rehabilitation last year. Hospitalization was secured for 3,500 veterans and help extended 3,100 in finding employment. Volunteers deliver gifts and put on parties in the hospital wards, which are paid for from auxiliary funds.

"Community service accounts for $3,500,000 and 500,000 hours spent by Auxiliary members. Included under this heading is work with blood bank drives, welfare services, recreation for young people, sponsoring Boy and Girl Scout troops, and teaching in Sunday Schools.

"In addition to helping local Cancer Drives, the auxiliary supports its own cancer program, giving direct financial help to its members and people recommended by the auxiliary for treatment of cancer. The Auxiliary rebuilt the cancer research laboratory at Bar Harbor, Maine, after it was destroyed by forest fire.

"The government department for Civil Defense is woefully weak. All need to realize that the enemy has the necessary equipment to launch an attack. This is not just a possibility, but an ever-present threat. Even so, the greatest danger faced is that of communism within our schools and government agencies."

Potlatch Chief Sez

Published by the Kendrick Creamery

HELLO, THERE, FOLKS —

Well, it seems as if it just can't quit raining — but man — how that pasture has grown. Just a little hay and grain to back up old "Bossy's" milk production — and you've got that "stack period income problem" licked. For we pay spot cash for your cream. If you're not now selling to us, why not? Just bring or send in the next can to us. You'll like our money and our service!

Yes, surely, warm weather will be with us again in a few days, but don't quit drinking that milk when it does come. Keep plenty on hand in your refrigerator all the time. Get it from the deliveryman or drop into the creamery for your needs.

Jones (with sigh): "Life is full of trials."
Brown: "Yes, thank goodness!"
Jones: "Why do you say that?"
Brown: "I'm a lawyer."

The pretty maid from Ireland who had been hoarding her earnings approached her employer before getting married, with the request that she keep her money for her.

"But won't you be needing it, Mary?" the maid was asked.
"Maybe ma'am," came the reply. "But you don't think I'm going to keep all that money in the house with a strange man prowling about, do you?"

You just can't beat "Potlatch Chief" Ice Cream for flavor, texture, and all-around goodness. So be sure and keep several quarts on hand all the time for that quick dessert, for that informal little party, or just for snacks. It is available in all the standard flavors, plus "specials." Take at least a gallon home when you go.
