ELINOR TOWNSEND BRIDE OF RONALD M. BENJAMIN

At a candlelight service in a setting of baskets of summer flowers, Miss Elinor Lucille Townsend, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Townsend, 1442 Elm Street, Clarkston, became the bride of Ronald M. Benjamin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Benjamin, Southwick, Saturday evening, July 25, at 8:00 o'clock, at the Pilgrim Holiness Church, Clarkston.

The Rev. G. W. Benjamin officiated at his grandson's wedding, the vows being exchanged at the altar, which was flanked by an archway of flower arrangements and candelabra. White bows marked the pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her white satin gown, fashioned with a fitted bodice, a scalloped low yoke and three-quarter length sleeves edged with matching lace and scalloped cuffs. Her finger-tip veil of net had a satin and matching lace crown. She carried a bouquet of red roses with stephanotis and shower ribbon on a white Bible.

For something old and borrowed she wore a laviere which was worn by her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Bert Jefferies of Clarkston, at her wedding 37 years ago. The laviere was a gift of Mr. Jefferies. For something blue she wore a wrist watch with sapphire blue sets in the band which belonged to Alice Fry, sister of the groom. She also carried a good luck coin in her slipper.

Her attendants were a sister, Miss Lila Townsend, who served as maid of honor. She was attired in a yellow taffeta gown with a net overskirt. Miss June Townsend, also a sister of the bride, wore blue taffeta and Mrs. Verlin Benjamin of Southwick, who wore pink taffeta. Each attendant also wore matching head pieces of shoulder-length net, which was held in place with crescent-shaped bands of ribbon and flowers. They carried identical nosegays of roses.

The bride's mother wore a dark blue suit with black accessories, and a corsage of rose buds.

The groom's mother chose a blue-gray suit with miniature checks, and white accessories. Her corsage was of red rose buds.

Miss Elinora Swinney of Yakima, formerly of Clarkston, sang "Wedding Prayer" and "Since God Gave Me You," accompanied by Mrs. Ervin Fry of Southwick, who also played the wedding march and recessional, and the background music.

Verlin Benjamin of Southwick was best man for his brother. The ushers were Ervin Fry, Southwick, and Eugene Hall, Clarkston. The ushers also lighted the candles.

The reception was held in the church district hall at 14th and Highland, where about 100 relatives and friends were served.

The refreshment table was centered with a four-tier wedding cake, which was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Lighted candles and summer flowers completed the decorations.

Mrs. Ralph Altender and Mrs. A. G. Wheeler were in charge of the reception, with Mrs. Andy Jones, and aunt of the groom, and Mrs. Garold Clear, a cousin of the groom, serving the cake.

Mrs. Elmer Hogarth had charge of the guest book, and Miss Ruth Finney and Mrs. Eugene Hall opened and displayed the gifts.

The bride chose a dark green nylon dress with white accessories for her going away. Her corsage was of red rose buds.

The bride received her entire education in Clarkston, having graduated this year. She has been employed at Lewiston since her graduation.

The bridegroom, who graduated from Kendrick High school with the class of 1952, is employed at Potlatch Forests, Inc., Lewiston.

They both plan to enter the Pilgrim Bible Institute at El Monte, Calif., this September. He will take a theological course and she a Christian workers course.

After a short wedding trip they will be at home to their friends at 710 7th St., Clarkston, until leaving for California.

GEORGE JOHN DENNLER, JULIAETTA PIONEER, DIES

George John Dennler, 68, a pioneer of the Juliaetta and Fix ridge area, died at his home at 1431 Airway, Lewiston, at 9:25 a. m., Wednesday, July 22, following an illness of two years. Death was due to cancer.

Mr. Dennler was a native of Germany, born Oct. 31, 1884, and a member of the Lutheran church.

He came to the United States in 1888, living in Iowa for a couple of years, and then came west, settling at Juliaetta in 1900.

From 1900 to 1947, when he moved to Lewiston, he was engaged in farming on Fix ridge.

He was united in marriage to Doris ZumHofe, June 22, 1911. Her death occurred Feb. 4, 1932. On Dec. 18, 1946, he was married at Juliaetta to Katherine Bailey, who survives at the home.

Other survivors include three sons: Willie Dennler of Maywood, Calif.; Adolph and Ernest Dennler, both of Juliaetta; four daughters, Mrs. Martha McVey, Mrs. Frieda Wardrip and Mrs. Elsie Riggers, all of Lewiston; and Mrs. Ella Dahmen of Uniontown; and a sister, Mrs. Lena ZumHofe of Juliaetta, and 19 grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock from the Trinity Lutheran church in Lewiston with the Rev. Paul Daneker officiating.

Mrs. Joy Jechort sang, and Pauline Brigham was the organist. Pallbearers were George Giese, Herman Giese, George F. Dennler, Thomas Dennler, Leslie Helmgartner and Walter ZumHofe.

Interment was at Fix Ridge cemetery, Juliaetta, under the direction of Brower-Wann Funeral Home.

Receive Swimming Cards

Cards were issued last week to students in swimming at the Area Living War Memorial Pool in Kendrick as follows:

Beginners: Gerald Heffel, Sharon Fey, David Vogel, Billy Blewett, Ervin McGeachy, John Platt, Roger Nelson, Freddie Foster, Norma Rae Clayton, Sharon E. Webber, Johnny D. Webber, Janice Foster, Frieda Bamberg, Patty Stephens, Leora Stephens, Jeanette Cuddy, Orville Mizer and Eddie Reed.

Intermediate cards went to Penny Platt, Nita Benschoter, Norman Wilson, Judy Benschoter, Diana Benschoter, Doris Wilson and Farrel Mizer.

So many were signed up for the courses that Wesley Clayton was employed to help Parker McCreary in the instructions, classes running continuously from 9:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon.

All those participating didn't pass their tests for various reasons. Some were unable to present every time; some were late beginning; while others were a little shy and took longer to get used to the water, but whether they got a card or not, all will agree they learned something and that swimming is great fun. They might add, too, it's hard work to learn to be a good swimmer — but then, no matter what you do there's work involved if you learn to do it well!

Swimming Classes Resumed

Another series of two-week lessons in swimming began Tuesday morning of this week at the Memorial Pool in Kendrick.

The classes now being offered are: "Swimmers" and Junior and Senior Life Saving, and another class for Beginners.

It is to be emphasized that not a single lesson can be missed in this series if the student expects to receive his or her card, as they are the most difficult of all.

Mr. and Mrs. Gil Erlewine have received word from their son, Pvt. Gerald L. Erlewine, that he is now stationed inland from Pusan, Korea, but that he had not yet learned the name of the "filthy little village" near which they were stationed.

They have also received word from another son, Sgt. Neil Erlewine, that his location in Korea had been changed and his APO was now 59 instead of 39. He and Ray Thornton are stationed close together.

Word has been received from Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hund, former well known local residents, that they have disposed of their Motel at Grants Pass, Oregon, and moved back to Renton, Wash., where Clarence is again employed at the Boeing Aircraft factory.

Until her fall which necessitated surgery, and culminated in her death July 21, at the Gritman hospital in Moscow, Mrs. Keene had been in excellent health, despite her advanced age, and able to care for herself. She was one who enjoyed life to the fullest extent, reading and listening to the radio being her favorite pastimes. She also looked forward to her annual "birthday party," which was held regularly.

To Pick "Queen of Brones"

George Sarchet, Lewiston, was in town Monday calling on a number of businessmen here, and also at Juliaetta, Cameron and Southwick, asking that a number of "Queen Candidates from District 6" which comprises Juliaetta, Kendrick, Cameron and Southwick be picked for entry in the preliminary contest the evening of August 11 — when the Calgary series will be played at the Lewiston field.

As we understand it, from the candidates from District 6, a Princess will be chosen, and she in turn will compete with other district Princesses for the title "Queen of the Brones" at a later date.

We might add that no Lewiston, Lewiston Orchards or Clarkston candidates are to be permitted.

Nights Are Too Cool

There has not been a drop of rain here during all the month of July — and this fact, combined with some rather hot weather, and extremely cool nights is giving the bean raisers of this area some cause for alarm, as moisture is badly needed to finish filling out bean pods. The cool weather at night has also slowed growth of vines.

Clover growers, however, are quite happy with present conditions. Cool nights has slowed any weevil tendency — and the hot, dry weather has brought an excellent "finish" to the clover heads.

Wheat is beginning to harvest rather rapidly, but at that, turn will be late in this area, most growers saying that it will be the 10th to 12th of August before combining can start.

As Clarence understands it all the right-of-way has been secured, plans are complete, but red-tape regarding the crossing of the N. P. tracks in the northeast part of town is now holding up the call for bids.

Of course, not all of this number were 4-H'ers, but this figure gives an idea of the pool participation on a day of this type.

Flood waters of the Clark Fork River surge through massive spillway gates on the Washington Water Power company's new $46,000,000 hydro electric plant at Cabinet Gorge in Bonner county, Idaho. Three big generators are now grinding out 150,000 kilowatts for use in the area. The fourth and final 50,000-kilowatt unit is scheduled for service soon. Thousands of visitors are viewing Cabinet Gorge, which is Idaho's largest hydro-electric project, from a public vista point high on the cliff-side flanking the river. Markers on highway 10-A indicate access roadway to the vista point—and is well worth the trip.

EXACTLY WHAT IS GOING TO HAPPEN TO OUR TAXES?

With few exceptions, everyone within the executive and judicial branches of our government believes that taxes on both individuals and businesses must be cut. The sole difference of opinion is over the question of "when and how."

The administration has taken the position that, desirable and essential as tax reduction is, it must wait until the budget is brought under control and is in or near a balance. Until relatively recently, it seemed that in all probability this position would prevail. That is not the case now. The Eisenhower tax program is in very real difficulties on the congressional shoals.

There are two reasons for this. For one, public demand for early tax reduction is extremely strong — apparently the congressional mail has been loaded with it. For another, Chm. Daniel A. Reed of the House Ways and Means committee stands solidly for immediate tax cuts and all the efforts of administration representatives to change his views have availed nothing. By virtue of this chairmanship, Mr. Reed is one of the most powerful men in the government when it comes to tax policy. The committee must originate all changes and renewals of our tax laws, and the chairman's authority is enormous.

Matters came to a head over the so-called excess-profits tax. This tax is about as unpopular as they come. President Eisenhower has denounced it. So has Senator Taft. So have practically all other authorities in and out of government. Almost all agree that the tax is a killer of initiative and enterprise, and that it is especially evil in that it is most burdensome to the smaller corporations and is an implacable obstacle to normal growth. Yet the administration made extension of the tax for another six months one of the "musts" in its fiscal program.

Two arguments can be used to justify that position. The first is that no source of government revenue should be abandoned just now — though this is a debatable argument in the case of the excess-profits tax, for the reason that many believe its abandonment would stimulate business expansion and activity to the point where new revenue gained through income taxes would more than offset the losses. The second is that, for political reasons, it would be dangerous to materially reduce or eliminate a tax which is borne entirely by business unless taxes on individuals were lightened at the same time. And the administration cannot afford to overlook political matters in view of the fact that the entire House must stand for elections next year.

On the other side, and still dealing with politics, there are leading Republicans. Representative Reed among them, who are convinced that if taxes are not cut all along the line, even before anything resembling a balanced budget is in sight, the GOP will take a bad beating in the off-year elections.

These points, of course, are speculations. What is not speculation is that President Eisenhower's present tax program, for all of his vast standing and the affection and respect in which he is held by millions, is a far cry from a popular one. The advocates of immediate tax reductions may be wrong, or they may be right — strong arguments can be marshalled on either side. But it is evident that they reflect a widespread and growing public feeling that the tax burden is becoming unbearable. — Industrial News Review.

Your W.W.P. Electric Service is a NEIGHBORHOOD AFFAIR

The neighborhood is large (the entire Inland Empire), but the neighbors have much in common. They think it's a great place to live—they depend on the sound development of its resources for their security and prosperity—they have faith in its future under the American system. A large number of them have backed this faith by buying common stock (which means ownership) in the company which is helping to develop these resources efficiently and economically for the good of all—your pioneer electrical servant, the Washington Water Power Company.

Who Are These Partner-Owners?

Below are just a few of many thousands of your neighbors who own common stock in the Company — and so by their votes dictate Company policy and management . . .

Z. N. is a union machinist. He owns 25 shares, and depends on earnings from them to help his son and daughter through college a few years from now.

N. S. is a retired farmer. He counts on a fair and just return from his 50 shares for a part of his living now that he can no longer farm.

S. D. is a railroad man who owns 50 shares, the earnings from which will mean a lot to him when he retires soon.

K. D. is an office worker in his fifties, who counts on the modest income from his 20 shares for help in non-earning years ahead.

R. P. is a Palouse rancher, who knows ranchers have poor years as well as good, and counts on the return from his 100 shares to help him at such times.

C. H. is a teacher with 10 shares, who is saving the dividends to help pay for future graduate study in her field.

Experts Say Barn Windows Practicable Sun Reduces Disease And Barn Moisture

Farm experts are urging farmers to make practical use of sunshine to solve some of their problems of moisture, sanitation and daylighting inside farm buildings by installing large windows.

Farm building windows in the past have been too small, have frosted over during cold weather so that sufficient sun energy could not get into the building to provide warmth. Also, little attention has been given to the germicidal effect of direct sunlight in the poultry house, dairy barn or farrowing pen.

Proper ventilation and sunlight not only helps to dry up moisture, but direct sunlight helps kill bacteria wherever they gain access to farm buildings.

As an example of the sun's heating power, in a central farrowing house in Iowa using insulated windows in the south wall, the inside temperature never dropped below freezing although the outside temperature hit 25 to 30 degrees below zero.

Wheat, Corn Estimates Below Last Year Yield

The nation's 1951 corn and wheat crops will fall short of 1950 production, according to the latest U. S. Department of Agriculture report.

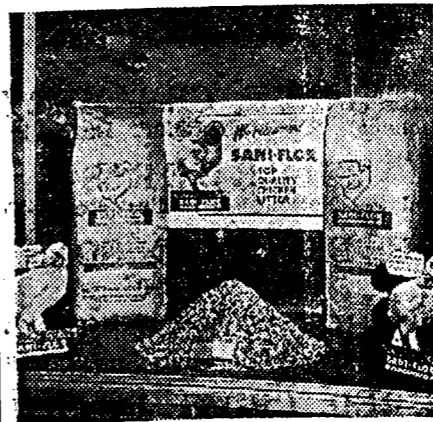

The corn crop for all purposes is estimated at 3,105 million bushels, a decline of 26 million bushels from last year's production, but above the 1940-49 average of 2,981 million bushels. The indicated yield per acre of 36.7 bushels is 0.9 bushels above the average of 33.9 bushels.

Production of corn for grain this year is estimated at 2,789 million bushels compared with 2,845 million bushels last year.

Total wheat production is estimated at 994 million bushels, about 3 per cent smaller than the 1950 crop of 1,027 million, and 7 per cent smaller than the average of 1,071 million bushels.

Corn and wheat production, however, is expected to meet U.S. needs.

Poultry Litter

A specially-processed vermifuge poultry litter has been put on the market for the first time. Poultry producers might find that it will fulfill their needs. Called Saniflor, it is fireproof, vermin-proof, an efficient insulator against cold, and a non-conductor of electricity. The product is being introduced to seed and feed dealers and hardware stores across the country. It comes in four cubic foot bags, weighing about 25 pounds.

Dead Tree Perils Are Acute When Winter Hits

Alive, trees are considered among the householder and farmer's best friends. Dead, they become his most dangerous enemies. Trees that succumb to insects or disease have a way of developing into serious menaces long before owners are aware of their peril. These woody foes should be removed before winter storms hit. Snow, sleet and howling winds make them acutely dangerous.

Life Insurance Funds Being To Nation's Defense Plants

Life insurance funds are moving to the aid of the defense activities of the country in increasing volume, and loans made by the life insurance companies in support of the defense program may reach $3,500,000,000 for 1951, according to the Institute of Life Insurance.

"In keeping with the usual policy of directing new funds into channels where they may be most useful for the national economy, the current trend in life insurance investments is towards meeting the capital needs of the preparedness program," Holgar J. Johnson, Institute president, commented. "This is in line with the voluntary credit restraint program under which defense needs have precedence over all other elements in the economy. Defense financing now accounts for the greater part of the life insurance company placement of policyholder funds in business and industry."

More than $1,000,000,000 has been loaned by the life insurance companies so far this year to defense plants and industries. This amount may be nearly doubled by the end of the year. Thus, the total of financing made available during the entire year for defense industries or defense-supporting activities may come to $3,500,000,000.

The loans for defense or defense-supporting purposes represent two-thirds of all loans made in the first six months by the life companies to business and industrial concerns, and the ratio has been increasing since mid-year.

Contrary To Superstition, Oysters Edible Year-Round

Contrary to superstition, oysters are edible in all 12 months. Hot-weather shipping problems helped to build the R-month legend. The taboo remains appropriate even with modern refrigerated transportation, however, since May to August is the natural spawning season. The adult female oyster's feat of discharging as many as a half-billion eggs in this season leaves her a bit too thinned down for prime succulence.

Shad were surpassed only by cod and salmon among U.S. commercial fisheries before the turn of the century. Overfishing, industrial pollution, and high dams barring the way to upstream spawning grounds have forced shad far down on the list now. Although the Chesapeake Bay still accounts for one fish out of three, the total catch is less than one-fifth that of 19th century peak seasons.

Crabs, alewives, rockfish, croakers, sea trout, and menhaden all figure importantly in Chesapeake Bay commerce. Like oysters and shad, they are studied for rehabilitation purposes by such organizations as the Chesapeake Biological Laboratory at Solomons, Maryland, and the Chesapeake Bay Institute, Baltimore.

Pearls and Pipelines

Iranian nationalists have laid verbal claim to Bahrain, oil-rich island across the Persian Gulf where Arabian dhows put in bearing huge milky pearls from the sea floor. Persia has been claiming Bahrain without avail since 1783, however. An independent sheikdom under British protection, Bahrain is the site of an American oil field and refinery. Saudi Arabia's oil wells were joined with the Mediterranean coast in 1950 by the competition of Tapline, a 1,068-mile, 30-inch pipeline across the burning Arabian desert. American and British engineers proposed to build next an even bigger "Middle East Inch" (34-36 inches in diameter) from Abadan to the Mediterranean. Iran's oil would thus be linked by a tunnel of steel with the Western world—if the hot desert wind from Tehran does not blow the project away.

Turbans

In a survey of "fashions down through the ages," made by The Book House For Children the turban was found to be a favorite head covering of many ancient peoples, among them, the Armenians, Babylonians, and Phoenicians. Today's favorites include variations of the cloche, beret, and "beanie," a small disc of felt or straw that is anchored to the head, usually with hatpin or veiling.

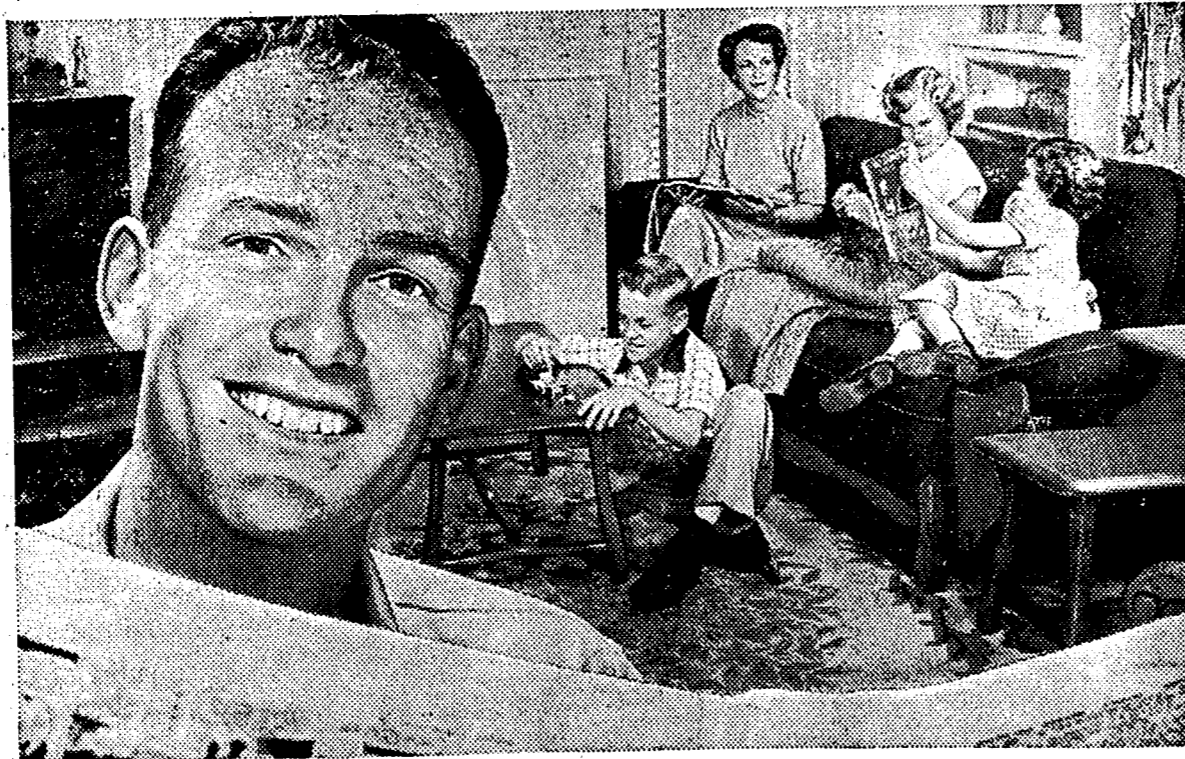

Color Blindness

Most common in color blindness is the confusion of red and green, which may affect as many as 80 men and 5 women per thousand population. One person out of several thousand has trouble with yellows and blues. Very rare is complete color-blindness, in which everything is seen as black, gray and white. Not more than a hundred such cases have been reported in the scientific literature. Even a partially color-blind person usually learns to name colors properly a great deal of the time. For example, one with red-green deficiency may learn by experience that what he sees as dull dark yellow is really red, while a light yellowish-gray is what other people call green.

Every third employee owns part of Standard

Meet Forrest Dickinson, a driller from Whittier, California—and one of the owners of Standard Oil Company of California. Forrest is bringing up three youngsters, buying a home, and is also building a family nest egg by investing in his Company through Standard's stock ownership plan. Forrest and other Standard Oilers who are 35 or older and have 5 years of service, may, if they wish, invest a portion of their pay in Standard shares. The Company assists by contributing a percentage of its net profit to the stock ownership plan. Thus, in addition to salary and employee benefits, Forrest shares Company earnings in two ways: through Standard's contributions to his stock purchases, and through dividends on stock. Nearly 95% of all eligible employees now participate in this plan. While several thousand previously had invested in Company shares on their own, 12,000 of a total 34,750 Standard Oilers are now shareholders. This means, of course, that better than one out of every three people who work for Standard also own Standard. That's why Standard Oilers work harder to serve you better—after all, it's their business, too.

There's No Such Thing as a "typical" Standard shareholder. More than 115,000 individuals and couples from all levels of life own Standard.

Small Businesses and large believe in us, too, because our records show that 1,839 firms own shares of Standard Oil Company of California stock.

244 Churches and religious organizations, 165 hospitals and medical groups, and 293 universities and schools own part of Standard.

Standard's Owners are, mainly, thousands of average everyday people, most of them Westerners. Their Company's management is wholly independent. Standard Oil Company of California is neither owned nor controlled by any of the Standard companies in the East. Questions or comments about our Company are always welcome. Write: Standard Oil Company of California, P.O. Box 3495-B, San Francisco, California.

Potlatch Chief Sez

Published by the Kendrick Creamery

HELLO, THERE, FOLKS —

Yes, you bet, the huckleberries have been rolling into town in considerable quantity, and a big part of them have wound up in freezer jars in our lockers, where they will furnish "yummy" pies this coming winter. And say, if you want something really good, put a couple of big scoops of Potlatch Chief Ice Cream on a big slab of that huckleberry pie. Boy, it's a dish fit for anyone.

Wife: "I'll have you know I went to cooking school before we got married!"

Hubby (sourly): "Well, what did you do there, play bridge?"

And speaking of locker boxes, have you come in and picked out your? If not, why not? You have a long canning season ahead — do it the easy way — by freezing. We have a locker box that will fit every purse and purpose.

Girl: "Why didn't you dance last night?"
 Boy: "I had on a rented tux."
 Girl: "Well, what of it?"
 Boy: "But it was rented where it would show!"

Folks — we know it's the rush season, but even so, don't neglect that cream. Don't keep it around until it's rancid. Cool it properly, keep it cool, and bring or send it in to us often. No quantity is too small — none too big. But cream means money to you. Help us to help you realize more from your cows.

Going picnicking or camping? Bring in that portable ice chest and let us fill it up for you with pure ice. The cost is low, the comfort high.

Remember: We sell ice cream. All the popular flavors, plus "Specials."

About Hunting Permits

Idaho moose hunters will have a better chance to draw a special moose hunt permit this year, since the Idaho Fish and Game commission has authorized 100 permits, twenty-five more than in 1952.

Closing date for receiving special moose hunt applications will be noon, Tuesday, Sept. 1. Hunters are urged to apply early. Permit fee, including tag, is $35. Special hunt application blanks may be obtained from license vendors throughout the state.

The special moose hunts, to be held from Oct. 9 to 13, inclusive, in parts of Clark, Jefferson, Fremont and Teton counties in eastern Idaho, are divided into five units. Applicants may apply for only one unit.

Any person successful in drawing a permit for any previous special moose hunt in Idaho shall not be eligible to apply again for such a permit. Group applications will not be accepted for this hunt.

The department further informed applicants to remit a separate check or money order and a self-addressed envelope with each application. Do not send coin or currency.

A list of checking station locations and maps of the hunt area will be mailed to winners with their permits. Public drawings will be held as soon after closing date as the applications can be processed.

Many a good reputation has been given the tar-and-feather treatment by idle gossip.

Picnic supplies of all kinds are in stock at Blewett's Grocery-Market in Kendrick. 1-adv
