WHAT HAPPENED HERE TWENTY YEARS AGO

Gruell-Hartung Nuptials — Walter C. Hartung, Kendrick, and Miss Lucille Gruell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gruell, Juliaetta, were married at the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Gruell, Lewiston, Orchards, December 27.

Parents of Daughter: Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Lockhart are the proud parents of a 7 pound baby daughter, born at their home on Cedar Creek Jan. 8. Mother and babe are doing nicely.

Big Bear Ridge — Mr. and Mrs. Claude Jones were 6:00 o'clock dinner guests Saturday evening at the Oscar Lind home. . . Elma and Geo. Jones entertained at a New Year's Eve Watch party Sunday evening. . . Miss Margaret Lien has returned to Parkland, where she is attending school. . . Mr. and Mrs. Ollis Sherbon and little son John and Richard Blewett spent Sunday at the A. W. Jones home. . . Miss Emma Aas arrived Wednesday from Walla Walla to spend the holidays at the Ed. Lien home. . . Miss Ada Ferguson and Eldon Strohm were New Year's dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Jones.

"Believe It Or Not" — The first robin of the season to visit this section was heard about 7:00 o'clock in the morning of Jan. 1, on the school house hill — and there weren't any pink elephants or other monstrosities loose on the hill as the result of too much New Year's imbibing, either!

Southwick — The Given Mustoe family were guests of the Howard Southwick family Sunday. . . The Harl Whittinger family were Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Travis. . . About 50 friends and neighbors enjoyed New Year's Day together at the Ladies Aid hall. A bounteous dinner, visiting and singing filled the day. . . Russell Betts returned to Elk River Sunday to resume his teaching. Archie went with him for a few days visit. Helen Winegardner, Aletta and Nellie Israel of Crescent spent the weekend at the Christensen, Travis and Bateman homes.

Leland — Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Baugh and Lloyd Craig were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Daugherty. Will Johnson and Eleanor Locke, Will Johnson and Jake Daugherty were afternoon callers in the Phil Daugherty home. . . Ava, Lorraine and Neal Craig spent several days at Agatha visiting their grandmother. . . Alex Larson and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hinrichs spent Monday evening at the Ben Plocker home.

Potlach River Still — Causing N. P. Trouble — The waters of the Potlach River (more often known as Potlach Creek) has been a muddy, murky, swirling mess for the past few weeks. The stream rises and falls just enough to keep everyone guessing — even the railroad company, who has been trying to establish a train schedule between Kendrick and Lewiston since the first high water of December 21, when some 1500 or more feet of track and a railroad bridge were washed out between Kendrick and Arrow Junction.

The first truck or car to traverse the highway between here and Lewiston went through last Friday, Dec. 29, and the first train to go through was on Monday night, Jan. 1 — and the service has been intermittent since then. Tuesday night when the "Highball" freight train went onto the small bridge over the Middle Potlach creek, just east of Juliaetta, the crossing could not be made on account of high water — the creek having risen more than a foot in an hour and loosened the temporary cribbing that had been placed there to make the bridge safer. However, when the engine eased onto the bridge it began to sink, and lowered about a foot before they could back up the train. The train then returned to Kendrick and tied up here. . . In the meantime the Potlach began to rise, with an increase of two to three feet on Wednesday, keeping the stream at flood stage and making the establishment of train service to Lewiston even more uncertain. . . As long as the rains continue we will have to expect high water, as the ground is filled beyond the saturation point.

New Arrival — Word was received here last Friday from Salinas, Calif., that Pfc. and Mrs. John Deobald were the proud parents of a baby boy, born that morning in the army hospital there.

The little fellow — has been named John. Mrs. Deobald will be remembered here as Gwen Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben P. Cook.

Recovering At Hospital — Mrs. Sylvester Konen, formerly of Cedar ridge, is recovering at the St. Joseph's hospital, Lewiston, from injuries received on Christmas Eve, when she was struck by a pickup truck. Besides shock, bruises and lacerations, x-rays revealed a broken vertebra, broken pelvis and broken ankle.

Kendrick Canyon Klub — The Kendrick Canyon Klub met for an all-day session on January 6th at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Darby. A demonstration on sweet dough made into rolls and buns was given by several members of the club. A noon luncheon was served the 14 members present by the hostesses, Mrs. Myrtle Darby and Mrs. Sue Craig.

Gorgeous Winter Weather

Weather, locally, this past week, could not be finer, if it had been selected day by day.

True, we have had some brief rain squalls here in the canyon, which were snow on top the hills — but by-and-large, it has been quite warm for January, with Monday night the coldest one to date — a most frigid 20 above.

Monday and Tuesday were warm and sunny, and the chill of Monday night was indeed needed to slow down lilacs, daffodils, forsythia, etc., which were threatening to go into full bud!

WM. A. HARTUNG, CAMERON PIONEER, PASSES JAN. 7

Wm. A. Hartung, 76, died of a heart attack last Thursday morning, January 7, at his home in Spokane, Wash.

Mr. Hartung was born in Michigan on March 30, 1877. He moved to Minnesota with his parents that same year, and came to Cernaron, Idaho, in 1901. He owned and operated a farm at Cameron until he moved to Spokane, where he lived until his death.

He was married to Minna Letzig, in 1910, at Cameron.

Survivors are his wife, Minna; two sons, Bernard of Spokane, and Donald of Portland, Oregon; one brother, Carl, of Richmond, Calif.; three sisters, Mrs. John Schwarz, Mrs. Ida Stoneburner and Miss Emma Hartung, all of Cameron; two grandsons; two granddaughters and several nieces and nephews also survive.

Funeral services were conducted at 2:30 p. m., Saturday, Jan. 9, in the Chapel of the Chimes of the Thornhill-Carey Funeral Home. The Rev. Ray Kerschke of Everybody's Tabernacle officiated.

Edwin Mielke, Walter Dennler, Harry Newman, Loren Westerman and Lawrence Schwarz. Interment was at the Fairmont Memorial Park.

Car Goes Into Potlach

About 9:00 o'clock Monday evening of this week a car driven by Buddy Whitcomb of Deary, went out of control and careened down a steep and rocky embankment into the Potlach creek, coming to rest on its top.

Buddy Whitcomb, who was accompanied by Marlow Bogar, also of Deary, and Sheila Westendahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Westendahl, Kendrick, were on their way to Cedar creek to call on Wilma Wilson. About a mile the other side of the Roy Fey ranch, above the mouth of Pine creek, the driver turned out quickly to avoid hitting some rocks in the road. This turn put the car out on the soft shoulder which gave way, and the vehicle catapulted down the steep bank. The driver said he counted five times the car turned over and finally landed on its top in the creek bottom.

The young people managed to extricate themselves and made their way to the Roy Fey home. No one seemed to be seriously injured — a few bruises and scratches were evident and all were in a state of shock. Mrs. Fey took them to the Westendahl home where it was discovered Sheila had received a cut on her left arm.

All may count themselves lucky to be alive!

Cancer Training Schools Slated

Leo J. Falk, president of the Idaho division of the American Cancer Society, announced this week the ninth in a series of annual cancer training schools to bring county and district commanders and their key workers up-to-date on cancer control education.

The schools will be conducted at Pocatello, Bannock Hotel, Jan. 22 and 23; Boise, Boise Hotel, Jan. 29 and 30; Lewiston, Lewis & Clark Hotel, Feb. 12 and 13.

"A well-rounded program has been arranged for each of the schools and I feel confident that members of the great field army of the Idaho division will receive the kind of training that will be beneficial in our continued war on cancer," said Mr. Falk.

Guest speaker at the schools will be the national president of the American Cancer Society, Dr. A. M. Poma of Boise. Dr. Raymond L. White, Boise, will preside during the medical section, when local doctors will present patients cured of cancer. The state's attorney general, Robert E. Smylie, will discuss state laws governing medical care of the needy, a matter of grave concern to all cancer workers.

At the annual dinner session, Mr. Falk will present certificates of service to workers who have devoted five and ten years to cancer control.

SHORT NEWS ITEMS FROM OUR LOCAL SCHOOLHOUSE

Library News — National Geographic magazines for the past three years (1951-53) are being prepared for shipment to the College Place Bindery, at College Place, Wash. They will be bound and placed in categorical pamphlet boxes. Two pamphlet boxes will be replaced to complete our quota of 51 boxes.

Four new books have been received as gifts from Mrs. A. O. Kanikkeberg. They are: "The Kentuckians" by Janice Holt Giles; "American Express" by Alden Hatch; "Sign of the Ram" by Margaret Ferguson, and "The Healing Woods" by Martha Reben. Two new books, "Stillmeadow and Sugarbride" by Gladys Tabor and Barbara Webster, and "The Red Doe" by Drayton Mayrant are on order.

Student librarians are making rapid headway on the shelf list, one of the state requirements, for high school libraries.

Sports — Friday the Tigers entertained the Winchester Loggers to open the 1954 Valley League Conference play. The Tigers broke away from a small lead to come out with a convincing 43-27 victory. The Loggers used a slow, deliberate style of offense and a zone defense, while the Tigers employed a very effective fast-break and a full court press defense.

The Tigresses opened their prep season with a 30-18 loss to the Winchester Loggertettes. Although outplayed all the way the girls put up a good fight. In the second half higher scorer for Kendrick were Flores with 19. Scorers for Kendrick were Karen Nelson with 12, Leone Parks with 4, Frances Dammarell with 1 and Ann Souders with 1.

Saturday night the Jr. Varsity and B squad played the Troy Trojans at Troy. The Jr. Varsity gave the Trojans a very good run but came up on the short end of the score 53-47. The game was close and well played. Leading scorer for Trojans was Kenney Brocke with 14. Scoring for Kendrick were Don Ingle, Herman Hinrichs and Ted Havens, all with 10; Leonard Gustafson with 7, Glenn Wegner 6 and Dick Lohman 1.

Driver Education Coming — Driver Education will be in the High School curriculum when the new semester opens on Jan. 18. Jordan Kanikkeberg went to the AAA Driver Education School in Spokane during the Christmas holidays and will conduct the course here. McCormick Chevrolet Co. of Lewiston will supply the car, a 1954 Chevrolet, for behind-the-wheel instruction. The car will remain at the school for the entire semester and each student who is enrolled in the class will get six to eight hours of behind-the-wheel instruction, in addition to the regular class room work. It is expected that the course will not be able to include all the students who may wish to take it. This is regrettable, but unavoidable, unless the entire curriculum was converted to "Driver Education." In view of this restricted enrollment, recognized AAA recommendations will be followed in recommending the applicants.

Nation-wide statistics show that in those areas where "Driver Education" has been offered the fatal accidents among teen-age drivers has been reduced from 50 to 90 percent. . . In Akron, Ohio, where satisfactory completion of a Driver Education course is necessary before receiving a high school diploma, 8,000 students have taken the course since 1945. Of these 8,000 only one has been involved in a fatal accident, although Akron alone has had 113 fatal accidents during this time.

New Cinders On Playground

The playground and parking lot at the High School is sporting a new coat of cinders since the Christmas vacation. Admittedly, this is not the most ideal covering, but in view of the hard and varied use to which this area is subjected, it is felt that the cinders present the lesser of several evils.

The cinders were furnished free of charge by our local railroad, the Northern Pacific, Ed. Nelson donated the use of his motorized conveyor belt to expedite moving of the cinders from the car to dump trucks, furnished by Oral Craig and the Kendrick Equipment Co.

Gordon Peters, Irvin McGeachy, Burt Souders, Jr., Ron O. Craig and Robert Mervel helped man the scoop shovels. Hi Galloway graded the parking lot later. Many thanks to all who helped fill up the mudholes.

Tigers Defeat Lapwai — Jim Armitage's jump shot from about seven feet out, with but two seconds remaining in the game, earned Kendrick a 58-56 basketball game

MARCH OF DIMES DRIVE NOW GOING FULL STRIDE

Boise — The people of Idaho have supported the March of Dimes because every penny and more contributed in the state since 1938 has been spent for the care of Idaho polio patients.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is accepted by the nation because it accounts for the expenditure of funds its obtains from the March of Dimes. It has one of the lowest administrative costs and campaign expenses on record.

"Since 1947, headquarters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis have advanced to Idaho counties approximately $1,300,000 during our continuing high incidence period," Donald S. Whitehead, Idaho State chairman of the 1954 March of Dimes, said, adding: "The total expended for Idaho polio patients is now approaching $2,000,000."

The above facts make it very apparent that we in Idaho could not have begun to care for our own. We are indebted for the helping hand received from national headquarters and the wonderful generosity of Americans all over the land.

It is interesting to note that the entire administrative cost of operating Idaho's individual county chapters runs less than one-half of one percent! All county chapters and March of Dimes committees of the National Foundation in the state of Idaho are administered entirely by volunteers. Only two people are employed in Idaho — a state representative and his secretary."

Last year in excess of $388,000 was contributed by the people of Idaho to the March of Dimes. Of this amount, 92.54 percent was used for expenses in conducting the campaign by the chapters in the state. Incidentally, this is the lowest expense ratio of all the forty-eight states!

Aside from rendering financial assistance to polio patients and their families, the National Foundation also provides professional education for medical personnel and polio equipment, such as iron lungs without charge, while also financing vast polio research and prevention programs, seeking victory over the dread crippling.

Nationally, last year, 69 percent of the March of Dimes dollar went directly for patient care; 18.7 percent was expended for research and professional education, while only 4.3 percent was earmarked for administration. Other costs include: Medical department services, 2.4 percent; services to chapters, 1.5 percent; state offices, 3.4 percent, and public information and health education, 0.7 percent.

Donald P. Jones of Kendrick was the driver of a 1953 sedan which veered off State Highway 7 and ran into a ditch about 18 miles east of Lewiston at 10:30 Friday night. Damage was estimated at $300. Jones reported he apparently took his eyes off the road for a short time and lost control of the car. — Lewiston Tribune.

over the Lapwai Wildcats here Tuesday evening — before a jam-packed house, with even standing room at a premium.

A three-point lead was the biggest either club could manage. Kendrick led 14-12 at the first quarter, and it was deadlocked at 30-all at the half and 44-all going into the final period. Eddie Madsen of Lapwai led game scoring with 18 points and Ron Craig topped Kendrick with 16. All the scoring was by the starting teams, although both sides used three or four substitutes. Lapwai's play was weakened when Jerry Sobotta, starting forward, fouled out with three minutes left.

The Kendrick Bees won the opener 54-42.

Preparing Tape Recordings

In the "Stars And Stripes," U. S. Army newspaper dated December 28, 1953, is shown a picture of Pvt. Bennie Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben P. Cook, Kendrick, with this item below: "Message To Balkers" — Tape recordings which were broadcast to the pro-Communist prisoners in the North Camp at Pannunjom, Korea, Wednesday, are prepared by Pvt. Bennie E. Cook, Kendrick, Idaho. In the rack at right are tape recordings from the families of prisoners. During the broadcast American and South Korean prisoners yelled and danced in an effort to drown out the loudspeaker. None of the prisoners returned to the allies."

Logging Truck "Cleared" — Says the Lewiston Tribune: "Truck Wins Decision Over Yule Decorations In Kendrick Fuss." The case of the village of Kendrick versus "The Truck Drivers Who Tore Down the Decorations" has ended in an impressive State Patrolman Ed. Davis said Sunday at Lewiston.

The question involved, Davis said, was whether the truck was too high or the decorations were too low. The decorations lost.

The question arose Monday morning when Kendrick residents discovered that a string of Christmas lights which the night before had extended from a tree in front of the postoffice to the Christensen building across the street had mysteriously disappeared. The portion of building facing to which the string of lights had been secured was lying on the walk.

Davis said Sunday he had investigated and found that the truck was driven by Bob Weyen of Lewiston and that it was within the 14-foot limit. He said it went under the Spalding bridge — 14 feet and 2 inches — with room to spare. His conclusion: "The lights are too low."

Our Note: Despite this conclusion those who put up the lights still firmly believe they were more than 14 feet high — and if not, how did it happen that so many loaded logging trucks passed under them previously?

He Always Told The Truth
Henpeck, in a sorely battered state, was being cross-examined by a bullying counsel: "You mean to tell me you have always treated your wife with respect?" the lawyer asked.

"Always," replied Henpeck firmly. "You've never once spoken a hasty word to her?"

Henpeck hesitated only a second, but then said manfully, "Well, I remember once I did say to her, 'put down that poker!'"

Bridge Work Progressing

Work on the Bear Creek bridge is making steady progress, although the most noticeable is in the road approaches to the structure, where bulldozing, filling, etc., is going ahead full speed. Some blasting has been done along the cliff at the foot of the schoolhouse hill, where a slope is being formed toward the new roadway, as well as fill material being gained.

Monday afternoon about 1:15 the electric power was shut off for a few minutes to permit a larger than usual blast, and for several hours all traffic was routed over the schoolhouse hill, as was also done for a time Tuesday.

We understand some of the logging truck operators were "unhappy" about the re-routing operations, as it slowed them down a bit. Well, from our observations, most of the trucks could stand a bit of slowing down without doing them or the roadway any harm.

Rock Crusher In Operation

The Dammarell & McKeever Construction Co. has set up their crushing plant on the first curve on the Brady Gulch road above Kendrick, and are crushing rock for surfacing on the approaches to the new Kendrick and Juliaetta bridges, as well as some for the Kendrick Highway District and for stockpiling.

This makes one-way traffic necessary for a short distance on the grade, but when the work is completed the big point will be gone — which will indeed be an improvement in the grade.

Soap Holes Found Value in Disguise

Produce Magic Mud With Multiple Uses

Ever since Belle Fourche, S. D., was a rip-snorting cattle town at the end of the old Chisholm trail its residents have been damning the "soap holes" that plagued the area.

Fast-riding cowboys often took a nasty tumble in this super-slippery mud and cattle were forever getting bogged down in them.

But now, like a man discovering his hives are really a blessing, Belle Fourche has found its soap holes are one of its biggest assets. Every one of them is filled with a magic mud called bentonite. It's an odorless, tasteless, soapy mud with a thousand uses and scientists are thinking up new ones every day.

Most of us already are using it a half dozen times a day, but almost nobody has heard of it. Men use it in shoe polish and hand cleaners. Women use it in face powder, lotions, beauty cream. Bentonite also is found in many types of paint, plaster and cleaning agents. It's handy for filling holes in giant dams and for casting moulds for molten metal. Forced down thousands of feet into the earth this magic mud lubricates the drills in oil wells and sends the debris up to the drillers.

Its new uses and increasing popularity for its older uses all add up to a boom such as Belle Fourche hasn't seen since the gold rush.

In the past 10 years the population has practically doubled and bentonite now pours $600,000 a year into the town in the form of additional purchasing power.

Fifteen years ago Belle Fourche shipped out three carloads of bentonite. Last year its production was 6,187 carloads and this year they expect carloading to go considerably higher.

Scientists say that bentonite, a strange mixture made up mostly of dust from prehistoric volcanoes, is found almost nowhere in the world except in the Black Hills of Wyoming and South Dakota.

It is the most absorbent material nature ever has devised, they say, and a half dozen teaspoonsful will soak up a glass of water.

Insect Killers Made By Synthetic Means

New pyrethrum-like chemicals that kill insects have been made synthetically for the first time in the laboratories of the bureau of entomology and plant quarantine. It has been announced by the U. S. department of agriculture.

The chemical makeup of the synthetic materials is almost identical with that of the insect-killing principle in pyrethrum, according to the chemists.

Elves and Leprechauns Took Blame for Everything

It may not be on the official unemployment records, but the fact is that there are hundreds of sheeps, leprechauns, and elves out of a job.

Since each one of them has a long history of diligent service to humanity, it seems a real shame they can't be put back to work. Each of us needs one to take the rap for the petty annoyances of daily living. These out of the way, we could devote ourselves to the big problems.

According to the Childcraft reference library, our ancestors used the little people to full advantage. They let them take the responsibility of souring the milk, rattling the windows and creaking the stairs, and breaking Aunt Nellie's best china.

A nice feature of the little scamps, too, is their wide range of nationality.

Did your parents come from Scandinavia? Then you will want to select an elf. This pint-sized creature will live in your home and help keep the kitchen neat. If he occasionally cracks a dinner plate or burns the toast, you can't very well complain. That's what you want him for, to take the blame, isn't it.

Pixies are your choice if you have British ties, and there is a fine assortment of sheeps for you Scottish folks. If you are Irish you may select between the revelry-loving sheeps and the rather dour leprechauns, who, incidentally, are apt to ignore you as they spend most of their time making shoes for the sheeps.

If you favor France you will have to get along with a goblin. But maybe he's better than a German poltergeist, who is downright rowdy. He will cause no end of commotion until someone bakes him a spice cake.

Just a word of warning before you adopt one of these little chaps—they believe in people, and definitely expect people to believe in them.

Life Expectancy for Man Reaches 65-Year Average

Man once shared the life expectancy of a pack-donkey, but over a 2,000 year period has attained a 65-year average—almost rivaling the 70-year expectancy of the whale, the longest-lived mammal in the life chart.

But this increased age has drawbacks in the form of cancer, diabetes and heart disease.

The average Roman of about 50 B. C. lived only 25 years. Modern medicine and sanitation now give man at least 40 more years—and a greater chance of having one of the diseases usually associated with the aging of the human body.

Human progress up the life-expectancy ladder is something of a triumph for man, who is not too well endowed with protective equipment. He is the only mammal in the higher brackets who is without some form of protective armor. For example, he ranks with the whale, 70; the elephant, 60; the hippopotamus, 40; and the alligator, 40 years.

Domesticated mammals range in life expectancy from the dog, 10 years, to the cow and horse, 20 years, and the burro, 25. Lowest mammal in the chart is the mouse, who lives from 2 to 6 years.

"Breaking Up" Water

Water, which consists of hydrogen and oxygen, can be broken up into these elements by electrolysis. If two wires, carrying a direct electrical current, are placed in water, bubbles of oxygen form around the one connected to the negative side of the battery or generator, while oxygen forms around the wire connected to the positive terminal. Usually a small amount of acid must be added to the water to make it conductive of electricity. Also, if water, in the form of steam, is heated to a very high temperature, around 3500 F, it separates into hydrogen and oxygen. These recombine to form water as the temperature is lowered again.

Longer Life for Sheets

To lengthen the life of sheets follow these suggestions. Reverse sheets every other time by putting a bottom hem at the top. Cover bare springs with heavy sheet or sheeting to avoid snagging bed linens. And check all beds for needed carpentry. Put a mattress pad between the sheet and the mattress to avoid the abrasive action of the rough ticking against the sheet. Loosen the edges of the sheet until all around before stripping the bed. Use mild solution of bleaches and rinse thoroughly, or better still, let the sunshine do your bleaching. Always rinse thoroughly to remove traces of soap and soap powders.

Study Premature Babies

An instrument corresponding to a miniature iron lung has been used by University of Michigan researchers in studying premature babies. Object of the studies was to find out why premature babies breath irregularly—in gasps or jerks. The research has shown that the cause of this irregular breathing is that oxygen is not reaching the tissue of the brain center which controls respiration.

• A HEALTHY FOREST INDUSTRY keeps Idaho prosperous •

this smoke signal spells....

A MILL'S TRASH BURNER sends cellulose fiber into the atmosphere, wasting a valuable substance that is abundant in wood and useful for making pulp, paperboard, tissue, wax paper and other products. Smoke seldom rises these days from the burners of Potlatch Forests, Inc. Since the company's pulp and paper mill at Lewiston—first in Idaho—was built, the scraps and trimmings of wood once wasted are now saved. The cellulose fibers are used in the manufacture of pulp. Fires are dying out in other mills, too, as waste woods are converted to chips for shipment to Lewiston.

This conservation through better utilization of our timber has added new payrolls, created new products, and helped stabilize the state's forest industry.

"A TREE can be compared to a man, in that each is born, grows to maturity and dies. If something useful is not produced from either tree or man during their prime years, their contribution to our community and society is lost."

Sit-Down Dentist's Career Is Longer, Professor Says

Several years of service will be added to the life of the average dentist if he sits down part of the time while he works.

This is the belief of Edgar W. Swanson, D.D.S., M.S.D., professor of operative dentistry at Northwestern university dental school, who recommends that dentists use operative stools at least 50 per cent of the time.

Dr. Swanson said students in the operative technique laboratory at the Northwestern dental school use operative stools about 60 per cent of the time. Students in the clinics use the stools from 10 to 90 per cent per operation.

Northwestern, convinced that operative stools will be used more widely by dentists to eliminate fatigue and extend their years of service, trains students in the use of the stools.

To obtain more accurate information on the reaction of students to the stools, the school recently sent a questionnaire to every member of its senior class.

The first question was: "Do you feel as tired at the end of the day when you have used an operating stool as you do when you have operated from the conventional standing position?" All but three answered "no." Two of those answering "yes" said it may have been due to their limited experience with the use of a stool.

The second question was: "Do you like the idea of sitting while operating?" All answered "yes." To the question, "Would you do more operating from a sitting position if more stools were available?" All senior students answered "yes."

Dr. Swanson points out that the operative stool enables a dentist to change his position during the day, which is extremely important in preventing fatigue.

Sugar-Craving Animals, Lured by Poison Plants

There may be danger ahead when livestock pass up lush pastures in favor of weeds and tough plants.

The attraction may be a poisonous spray or other chemical that gives ordinary unpalatable weeds and plants a special taste-appeal.

A bulletin issued by the American Veterinary medical association explains it this way: Certain chemicals used in farming, such as sodium chlorate, turn plant starches to sugar, and animals with a "sweet-tooth" readily eat the sprayed plants.

Not all the chemicals used for spraying crops and treating soil are poisonous to animals, the AVMA emphasizes, but many of them are. The severity of poisoning varies directly with the kind of chemical and the amount of treated plants the animals consume.

Experiments are still being made to test the safety of various new chemicals on the market, and until all the facts are known, livestock farmers are advised to use only those proved to be safe and to follow manufacturers' instructions.

Resistant Plants

Plant diseases are no respecters of experimental plots. As a result scientists have sometimes acquired valuable information in the nick of time. So it was in the case of Victoria blight of oats, which invaded breeding plots and demonstrated to plant breeders of the U. S. department of agriculture and some of the middle west state experiment stations a type of disease resistance soon to be needed on a large scale. Clinton—and some of the other new varieties of oats derived from the Bond variety—in that way became known as resistant to a disease soon to be rampant in the Mississippi valley. This disease attacked the widely-grown oat varieties derived from the Victoria oat brought in from South America.

Vanishing Wildlife

Gone from the British Isles since World War II is the great bustard, Europe's largest land bird. Going or gone from haunts in Florida and vicinity is the ivory-billed woodpecker, largest of its clan. Deserting the Bahamas in alarming fashion is the tall, scarlet, blue flamingo, whose one United States haven is at Hialeah park, Miami, Florida. Whales, vital food source for many Europeans, long have been reduced to scarcity in northern hemisphere waters. Blue whales, biggest of all, currently show signs of sharp depletion in Antarctic whaling grounds. A new international treaty shortens the hunting season as a whale conservation measure.

First Tank Car

On November 1, 1865, about six years after the world's first oil well was opened at Titusville, Pennsylvania, the first tank car was loaded in that city. It was a flat car fitted with two wooden tanks shaped like inverted tubs. Many of these "rotary" oil cars, as they were called, were used for transporting oil from the Pennsylvania wells, until replaced by the present type of horizontal cylindrical tank, fitted with a dome which allows the oil to expand without injury to the tank. The first of this type was introduced in 1868.

PRIVATE COMPANIES TO BUILD MORE POWER DAMS

A move of far-reaching significance to Inland Empire residents has been made by six privately operated electric power companies, who announced recently that they would team up to build more power dams in the Northwest.

The announcement, made at a meeting called by the governors of the four Northwest states for the purpose of establishing a workable power partnership in the region, indicated the six private utilities as a unit could build larger power dams than any could separately.

The six-company combination includes Washington Water Power, Idaho Power, Montana Power, Pacific Power & Light, Portland General Electric, and Mountain States Power companies. (Puget Sound Power & Light has also been asked to join the group).

Kinsey M. Robinson, president of WWP, this week re-emphasized earlier statements that private power companies are accepting a full share of responsibility of providing all the power needs of area customers now and in the future.

Robinson said the program is in accord with a new power policy of the federal government to seek partnership with local interests in creating new generating capacity.

"Given permission from federal authorities who dominated the power production field here for 20 years, private companies can team up to do an effective job of building new power facilities with private funds in this growing region," the utility executive said.

"The records show, too, that private companies can do the job quickly and as efficiently," he added.

The six-company group is expected to seek preliminary permits from the federal power commission to build dams at several yet unidentified power sites. Some of these requests will be made before the end of the year, Robinson said.

WWP itself expects to be ready to start construction of a new power plant of some 350,000 kilowatts at Noxon Rapids in Montana, in 1954. The company recently completed a 230,000-kilowatt plant at Cabinet miles downstream from the proposed Gorge in Bonner County, Idaho, 24 Noxon Rapids project.

In Preparedness Lies Safety

Preparedness is the key that will open the way to accident and trouble free months of winter driving, motorists were advised this week by Harold Davis, Idaho Safety director.

"Just as a racing driver gives his car the most detailed inspection before a gruelling test on the track, the private auto owner who wants to win against 'Old Man Winter' makes a rigid check-up to meet the added hazards that are bound to come," the director pointed out.

"Increasing darkness and frost and snow are a reminder to have it done now. Protect the radiator with a good grade of anti-freeze, of course, but also check your winter driving habits and safety equipment.

"Most important, are the following, he said. "Adjust brakes for simultaneous gripping and see that tires have good tread for more generally prevailing slick pavements. Tire chains should be carried for use when severe ice or snow conditions develop. A good set of full chains, preferably of the reinforced type, is required for dependable stop-and-go traction when snow-ice conditions generally prevail.

Driving habits, too, must be changed with the season. More time must be allowed for trips in bad weather, more distance must be figured for stopping, and more consideration must be given to pedestrians, especially those who are too old or too young to appreciate the limitations of a vehicle and its driver on snow or ice and watch out for children who may be coasting!

How To Keep Them On Farm?
"How you going to keep 'em down on the farm?"

People aren't staying in a national way or on Idaho farms, either, according to Robert Wilcox, University of Idaho extension economist. In this week cited a recent report on farm population figures by the marketing service of the U. S. D. A.

Idaho's farm population decreased 26,000 in 10 years, while the total population of the state increased 64,000. The period was 1940 to 1950. Only 30 percent of Idaho's people live on farms. That's the lowest in many years. As recently as 1920 nearly half the Idaho population was rural. Just before World War II, 39 percent were on farms. For the nation as a whole the farm population has dwindled to one in six. Thirty years ago every third person was a farmer.

The total population of Idaho in 1950 was 589,000. The farm population was 177,000. Even at that ratio of less than one to three, the report showed, Idaho has the largest farm population percentage of the western states. Montana is second. California has the least.

Potlatch Chief Sez

Published by the Kendrick Creamery

HELLO, THERE, FOLKS:

Well, another week has gone by or perhaps we should say "Bye Bye" and we still think our locker boxes are "Good Buys" — so don't say "good bye" to that meat from winter butchering, make it a "good buy" by renting a locker from us — today. We have one to fit every purse and purpose.

Dizzy Blonde: "I'm going out to buy a book."

Even Dizzier Blonde: "Well for heavens sake What for?"

First Blonde: "Well, my husband bought me the most adorable reading lamp yesterday!"

We note that quite a few parties are taking place these days, and here's a suggestion, that's more than worth while: Take home several quarts of "Potlatch Chief" Ice Cream the next time you are in town, and keep it on hand. It makes a wonderful dessert for that party, or for that "snack", especially when served with fresh frozen fruit or a "Topper" from our stock. Keep it on hand, always!

Dizzy Dame: "John, where have you been for the last four years?" He: "At college, taking medicine."

Dizzy: "Well, I must say it musta worked. You look well now!"

Sell us your cream! No quantity is too large, none too small — but bring it in often. We pay the top market price!

Two friends who had not met for several years, saw each other: "Hello, Jim! Who'd have thought of seeing you? For whom are you working now?"

"Same people," was the cheery response — "wife and five children!"
