TV Cable Being Extended

Jack Kuykendall and Bill White have been busy the past several days extending the George F. Brocke & Sons coaxial TV cable into the east part of town.

The new branch took off from near the George Brocke, Jr., home in the west part of town, and poles have now been set and the cable largely strung to the Jesse Oylear ranch, and to the alley at the rear of the Walter Brocke and Marvin Long homes in the east, and on up the hill to the alley north of the Dave Clayton and Vernon Choate homes.

Brocke & Sons have announced that they are adding another large "pole type" aerial to their present set-up south of the cemetery, and this latest addition will be near the Jesse Heffel home on Potlatch ridge. When this work is completed there is no doubt but that reception here in Kendrick will be as good as that to be found anywhere.

Saturday night the mass orchestra, chorus and band gave its public performance. The audience was highly appreciative to the groups. The closing number, "Nations' Prayer," was perhaps the most impressive number on the entire program. The chorus sang with the band and orchestra as an accompaniment.

All the group expressed it as being a very thrilling and wonderful experience.

"Bambi" With Us No More

"Bambi," the pet deer which claimed the Jesse Oylear ranch as its home, and which more or less regularly visited with "friends" on Main street and in the residential districts; met death on Main Street last Sunday evening, when she came bounding out of the front yard of the Bob Clemenhagen home in the west part of town and into the path of a car driven by Burton Souders, Jr.

The impact broke both of "Bambi's" hind legs and undoubtedly inflicted other injuries, although the car was moving but 20 or 25 miles per hour at the time. Burt said he didn't even have time to get his foot on the brake, so fast was "Bambi" moving, before she was directly in front of the car. Damage to the car was estimated at about $150.00.

Just a few minutes before that "Bambi" had accompanied Louis Wright across the creek and "helped" him feed and care for his stock at his barn there — then came back to town, where she met death.

"Bambi" had gotten to be a town pet, but we understand that she was beginning to get a bit cranky if things didn't go as she wished, and her penchant for visiting flower gardens and vegetable gardens about town might have gotten her into serious trouble when the growing season came on, so probably it's just as well that she is no longer with us.

We understand that Arthur Foster dressed her and got the meat ready to be taken to the Children's Home at Lewiston.

 Nine children and several interested parents turned out Tuesday evening to see pictures of 4-H Club work in the county and get information about organizing a club. Mrs. James Holt reported on the 4-H organizational meeting of last Tuesday evening. It was voted to send cards to any members who were ill or had suffered bereavement. Six members signed for the dress work shop to be held later in the spring, and Margaret Craig was chosen as County Council delegate.

Mrs. George Lyons gave a demonstration on button hole making and blind hemming with attachments for her electric sewing machine.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Load And Speed Limits

Boise, Feb. 5 - The first speed and load restrictions for 1954 on the state highway system were put into effect at midnight, January 29, according to an announcement by E. V. Miller, state highway engineer.

Highways that were posted for the restrictions were: U. S. 95, Lewiston to Spalding; U. S. 95, Winchester to Grangeville; U. S. 95 Whitebird to Riggins, and State Route 42 from Spalding to Kendrick Junction.

The posted restrictions limit the weight to 350 pounds per inch width of tire, or 14,000 pounds for any one axle. There is also a speed limit of 30 miles per hour for all trucks and busses, according to Mr. Miller.

"These restrictions are necessary in order to protect the present surface," Miller said. "Chinook winds and rains in the posted areas have caused the frost to leave the sub-grade and surface."

Bridge Work Progressing

Work on the new Bear Creek bridge at the east end of Kendrick is making good progress, now that the weather resembles that of spring.

Cement was poured in the center span form last week, covered by a "house" and a great deal of canvas, and warmed by heaters, to keep it from freezing.

Blasting, bulldozing, fill work and approach work is also making very good progress, and unless weather conditions worsen mightily, the new structure and its approaches should be completed on schedule - April 1.

We understand little is being done on the Juliaetta bridge, the crew concentrating on this project.

Weather Most Spring-Like

Local weather conditions are certainly all that could be desired for this time of the year. We have had a lot of warm sunshine, and cool, crisp nights, with some rather heavy fog hanging about the canyon rim nights and mornings. No snow is visible from Kendrick, although there is still a goodly layer of the white stuff in the mountains and timber.

Locally, farmers would feel much easier were there a good snow covering on their fields, particularly for winter barley.

Worst thing about the fog and accompanying air is the smell of Lewiston's pulp mill, the "rotten egg" odor penetrating even closed rooms.

V. F. W. Auxiliary Meeting

The V. F. W. Auxiliary will meet on Thursday, Feb. 11, at the Fraternal Temple, at 8:00 p. m.

George P. Anderson, 60, manager of the Idaho First National Bank, Lewiston, died at his home in that city at 1:00 o'clock Wednesday morning of a stroke.

He was cashier of the Farmers Bank here for two years, 1926-1928, later moving to Potlatch and then to Lewiston.

Card Party Scheduled

At an executive committee meeting of the Joint District P-T A., held Monday evening in the Wm. Johnson home, it was decided to hold the second card party of the series on Monday evening, Feb. 15, at Kendrick, following the regular P-T A. meeting, which will begin at 7:30.

This will cut the P-T A. meeting time to a half hour, but as the February calendar is so full of "coming events" it was thought best to give the party on this date.

4-H Club Activities High

Members of Idaho 4-H Clubs hit a new high for 1953, Dan E. Warren, state leader, announced this week. They took on 15,331 projects and finished 12,762. Both figures were records, with 85 percent of the projects completed.

"This is excellent," Warren said. "All who have been associated with the 4-H program can be justly proud of this achievement."

There were 1135 clubs with a total enrollment of 10,545. Girls numbered 6,876. There were 3,669 boys.

In the girls' field clothing was the most popular project. A total of 3,983 members signed up and 3,352 finished the work. They made 15,000 pieces of clothing. Three thousand girls who studied meal planning cooked and served 24,600 meals.

Dairy cattle were the most common livestock project. Boys and girls numbering 1,638 raised animals of various breeds. Beef cattle were second with 971 projects. Other 4-H work included more than 30 categories.

Rabbits, 168 members with 1,200 head; vegetables, 348 members growing a total of 54 acres; sheep, 347 members with 535 animals; swine, 195 members with 353 animals, and poultry, 281 members with 11,488 birds.

Horses were crowded out of the picture, a casualty of modern science. The former powerhouse of the farm was relegated to "other livestock", with which only 59 boys and girls worked. On the other hand, tractor maintenance attracted 420.

"Spring Has Sprung"

Hiram Galloway came into the Gazette office Wednesday morning, bringing with him a large clump of buttercups, one of which was in full bloom, and several others showing large buds.

He dug the clump near their home on the schoolhouse hill. These are the first buttercups we have seen or heard of so far this year.

Tonsillectomy

Small Town Utility Serves Farm Folks Gas Made Available To Farms for First Time

The farm folks within 20 miles of Antigo, Wis., have gone in for gas in a big way. This new interest of farm folks in heating and cooking with gas started over a year ago with the reorganization of Antigo's City Gas company.

The Antigo utility which manufactured gas from oil, coke and steam converted its plant to "propane-air" gas and offered service to farm homes and rural firms within a radius of 20 miles.

Mrs. Dale Madison, a rural homemaker, has converted her kitchen to gas, and reports it gives her more freedom from kitchen duties.

The new rural customers have their own "backyard utility" in the form of storage tanks for large users and "bottled" installations for homes with smaller consumption.

Because they are a part of the Antigo utility system, country customers receive monthly fuel bill just like the town. Fuel consumption is recorded on a meter attached to their cylinders or tanks. Bad weather can't interrupt service, since a sufficient supply is stored on the premises in advance of use. Empty cylinders are periodically replaced by company service men.

Since the reorganization, rates have been reduced for town and farm users three times.

Contour Farming Cuts Soil Losses in Half

Iowa agronomists report that contour farming cuts soil losses in half, boosts corn yields as much as 7.4 bushels per acre and ups soybean production by 2.7 bushels.

Other advantages from contour farming include lower fuel and operating costs for tractors and other machinery and an increase in the length of corn rows.

The need for more contour cultivation will increase with the steadily expanding acreage of row crops to meet the nation's food needs.

While contouring is a vital step in keeping soil at home, other soil building measures are needed to keep farm land at high yielding levels. Every crop burns up organic matter and uses up plant nutrients. The organic matter can be replenished by growing well-fertilized deep-rooted legumes regularly in the rotation and by returning manure and crop residues to the soil.

Safety Plug

A new safety plug has been developed that should be of interest to most farmers. It has a tiny replaceable fuse. Electrical cords are connected to the plug exactly as they are connected to the wall socket itself. The fuse blows out should a short circuit develop in any connected cord. This prevents current from reaching the danger point, instantly cutting off the source of fire.

Nebraska Farmers Paid High Cost for Corn Crop

Nebraska farmers paid with two lives, 194 fingers, 18 hands, 10 arms, one leg, four toes and two feet in gathering approximately 225 million bushels of corn. That is last year's accident record. Failure to stop the cornpicker before trying to remove the stoppage of the machine accounted for almost every accident. Farmers should discuss safety problems with their harvest crews.

Fertilizing Important In Balanced Farm Plan Lime, Fertilizer Pays Off in High Hay Yield

Farmers in every part of the nation are realizing more and more the importance of well-balanced fertilizing programs to build production and soil structure.

Ben Vossen, who farms near Watkins, Minn., believes his investments in lime and fertilizer have done more for his farm than anything in his career.

The results of one of his investments are shown in the above picture. At the right is a run-down field of bluegrass overgrown with buck grass. At the left is a field of oats after the buck grass was sprayed to kill it, grubbed and plowed under.

Farmer Vossen inspects his field of oats. At the right is the field of bluegrass overgrown with buck grass. Fertilizing has turned the oat field into a high producer.

Vossen limed and fertilized the oat field with plant food carrying nitrogen, phosphate and potash before he seeded it. He keeps the field in oats two years, then seeds down to an alfalfa crop. He takes hay and pasture off as long as the stand is productive. He helps lengthen its life by top-dressing regularly with manure.

The use of lime and fertilizer pays off in much bigger hay yields. Vossen reports. He harvested eight tons of hay on two acres that used to produce about one-half ton of timothy.

Total Feed Supply Will Be Higher Than Last Year

With the approach of the 1951-52 feeding season, livestock feeders will be interested to know that the expected total supply of feed grains and concentrates will be greater than last year, according to the bureau of agricultural economics.

The available supply of feed will permit livestock to be fed at about the same rate per unit as last season. The number of animals to be fed, however, is also expected to be greater. An estimated 174 million animals will be on hand as compared with last year's 168-million.

A large acreage and a fair carry-over is expected to provide a larger corn supply. About 4 billion bushels is expected to be available for the 1951-52 season.

The total supply of corn, oats, grain sorghums, and barley for the coming season is estimated to be 127.1 million tons. This compares with last season's total of 125 million tons of grain.

The department reported total crop production may be the second highest in history in 1951.

Tractor Drawbar

A heavy piece of angle iron bolted to the rear of a tractor and extending well beyond the wheels makes harrowing easier fastening the harrow with a long chain hitch, especially when making turns at ends of the field. Bolted to the drawbar it can be removed when not in use.

Iowa Tests Show Value Of Alfalfa for Swine

Everyone knows that alfalfa pasture is good for hogs. But just how good? The Iowa experiment station thought that one way to find out would be to feed one batch of hogs on dry lot; and another on alfalfa.

They found that the biggest value in alfalfa comes from a saving in high-cost protein and mineral supplement. Hogs gained faster on alfalfa.

to supply nationwide markets

HOUSEWIVES THROUGHOUT AMERICA enjoy the beauty of knotty Idaho White Pine in kitchens and other rooms because at Potlatch Forests, Inc., we've learned to "stretch" this high quality wood to supply nationwide markets. Knotty pine, valued as a finish, is sliced in special machines into thin veneer, which is then combined with a core of other woods, to produce Knotty Pine Plywood Paneling. Strikingly patterned with knots, this product of strength and beauty is popular all over America for modern interiors.

Such manufacturing is typical of the Potlatch utilization program, which conserves our resources by making the best use of every tree harvested. Better utilization of Idaho forests adds to our economy through the creation of products and employment.

"A TREE can be compared to a man, in that each is born, grows to maturity and dies. If something useful is not produced from either tree or man during their prime years, their contribution to our community and society is lost."

Ancient Paper Comes To Light

A couple of weeks ago, while doing some remodeling in their home at Juliaetta, Donald Gruell found, tacked to an inner wall, a copy of a paper called "The Star of Idaho," published at Moscow, and dated Friday, June 7, 1889. Written on the paper, in pencil is the name "Rupert Schupfer," who originally homesteaded the farm now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Gruell.

J. L. Brown was the editor and Kay L. Thompson, city editor.

Appearing on the front page is the following item: "H. N. Roberts, the gentleman who lives on American Ridge and owns the beautiful house, barn and ranch on the west side of the road at the top of the Juliaetta hill, made the Star a very pleasant and substantial call, Wednesday."

In another item appears the following: "The following list contains the names of pupils of the Moscow schools whose average class standing is above 90, and who have been neither absent nor tardy during the month ending May 24th, 1889 — Willie ZumHofe, Lena Howard, Leo Smith and John Estes."

Relocating Whitetail Deer

The Idaho fish and game department reported this week that the first load of whitetail deer has left the Farragut Wildlife Management area in northern Idaho for the Teton river drainage in eastern Idaho. Recent heavy snows concentrated the animals sufficiently to permit successful trapping operations. Two truck loads of 25 whitetail each made the journey this week with the same scheduled for next week. The department hopes to reintroduce the species in the Teton river drainage.

Aerial Crop-Control Is Booming Industry

25,000,000 Acres Were Treated in U.S.

A midwest wheat tract was so overrun with weeds that the farmer was about to plow it under. He decided, however, to try treating it with 2,4-D and hired an aerial crop-control specialist to apply the chemical at a cost of $2 an acre. The result: at yield of 20 bushels of grain per acre.

Other instances: Aerial spraying of weed-killing chemicals enabled a southern cotton planter to cut hoeing costs from $14 to $0.50 an acre while a California citrus grower improved his lemon crop by spraying his orchards from the air.

Agricultural aviation is a booming new industry that is enabling the farmer to substantially increase crop acreage. I. J. Bechel, agricultural research director for the Freeport Sulphur Company, reports.

The above photograph shows aerial dusting of an orchard. This method of insect control is becoming more popular with farmers throughout the country.

Bechel pointed out that more than 25,000,000 acres of U.S. crop, range and forest land were treated last year with chemicals sprayed or dusted by airplane.

Some 6,000 pilots are engaged in the aerial battle against insect pests, weeds and plant diseases. And they are doing the job faster, more efficiently and in many instances at lower cost than ground distribution of insecticides, fungicides and herbicides.

Store Unused Tractors Under Shelter in Winter

If you want to ruin your tractor in a hurry, just let it sit outdoors, exposed to the weather, this winter.

Farm machinery specialists say no amount of tough use will wear out your tractor as fast as leaving it out in the rain and snow.

Tractors are fairly expensive and may be hard to get. So, if you're not going to use your machine this winter, it will pay you well to find storage space for it in some building. Clean the machine thoroughly, especially the motor, and then store it in a dry protected place.

Block up the tractor to take the weight off the tires. Then drain the radiator, block, gas tank, fuel lines and carburetor. Put fresh oil in the crankcase and add a rust inhibitor.

Most important of all, remove the spark plugs and pour one-fourth cut of light oil or kerosene in each cylinder. Then turn the crank a few times to work the oil around the rings and pistons, and replace plugs. Cover the exhaust pipe and crankcase breather pipe with old rags to keep out dirt and moisture.

Rodent Proof

If wire mesh is applied to joining sections of a poultry house, it will help keep the building free of rodents. The mesh is applied at the floor and ceiling line as shown in the above illustration and should be well nailed.

Farmers Are Advised To Store Fertilizer

Farmers are still being advised to buy and store sufficient chemical fertilizer to meet their needs during the next 12 months. The supply is expected to be somewhat limited. Be sure it is stored in a dry place where there is little temperature variation, don't pile it any higher than five or six bags, and never pile it on the ground or even a concrete floor—the ideal storage place is an elevated wooden platform.

How to Make Home Piano Appear Less Conspicuous

How to make your piano as decorative as it is musical is often a problem in home decorations, points out Mrs. Kate C. Archer, extension specialist in home furnishings, Kansas State college, Manhattan. With the introduction of the new spinet-type pianos much better arrangements are possible, as well as novel ways of placing the old upright models.

"If your upright piano has a beautiful finish and a nice grace of line it is most pleasing with no decorative articles on it," says Mrs. Archer. "If any articles are placed on top of it, they should be low ones. The horizontal picture is best above a piano."

"However, if your upright is quite undistinguished you might consider painting it the same hue as walls, or picking up the background color of the wallpaper. Pianos can be used as space dividers between living and dining rooms or may be placed in an alcove in a bedroom."

Sometimes it is satisfactory to build in a space that fits the piano with wall space on either side given over to radio or record player or book cases. Such a musical group, with chairs placed for easy listening, is a nice solution.

A piano always appears larger when it is against a narrow wall space, particularly between two doors or two windows; when the end is close to an entrance; when it is against the best-lighted or most prominent wall when it is across, or when it stands alone against a long wall without other furniture near it.

'Big Top' Grows Bigger, Circuses Become Scarcer

Are new dangers looming for the high wire walkers of the circus, the daring bareback riders, and death-defying trapeze artists? Yes, say the "big top's" friends, but not in the form of the ever-present risks to individual performers. The fear is that a slow process of attrition may be menacing 'e circus itself.

A half dozen circuses have closed during the current season. Only 10 are left of the scores which once flourished in the U.S.

America's spangled show of feats and freaks, of wild animals and wistful clowns, has had many ups and downs since it first took to railway wheels more than three quarters of a century ago. Today the paradox of the "Greatest Show on Earth" is that, while numbers dwindle and costs mount, remaining outfits grow bigger and more spectacular.

Last year the largest of the rolling shows travelled some 19,000 miles, used 32 railroads, and gave 415 performances before nearly 3,500,000 people. It carried motorized caravans of set-up seats, and spread the world's biggest piece of canvas—30,000 square yards of it—in a tent that can now be raised by mechanical stake drivers and tractor power.

Early Railroads

The earliest railroads in the United States were built of wooden rails capped with thin strips, or "straps," of iron to provide a running surface for the wheels. These were called "straprails." Iron rails 18 feet in length were imported from England as early as 1831. The first iron rails of American design were rolled in the United States in 1844. By 1850 most railroads were being built of iron rails. The first Bessemer steel rails manufactured in the United States were rolled at the North Chicago Rolling Mills on May 25, 1865, and by 1880 about 80 per cent of all tracks in the United States were laid with steel rails. At the end of another ten years, 80 per cent of the country's mileage was equipped with steel rails, and by the late 1890's steel had almost completely replaced iron.

It's in the Finish

Simulated pearls are no longer thought of as imitations, but as fashion accessories, acceptable in themselves. The impression of depth and softness in a pearl is the result of light reflections from a multitude of points within the pearly film, making it impossible to focus on any single layer. In simulated pearls, this effect is conveyed by layers of crystals incorporated in the finish which is applied to plastic and glass beads. The crystals used are genuine or pearl essence crystals. They are obtained from fish scales and are only 40 millionths of an inch in thickness.

Gregorian Calendar

In 1582, Pope Gregory VIII ordained a simple reform. Astronomers showed him that the sun-year is some 11 minutes less than 365 1/4 days. In the course of a dozen Julian centuries, spring's first day had moved forward from March 21 to March 11.

To correct this, Gregory directed that October 4, 1582, be followed by October 15, and that leap-year days be omitted in the last year of each century except years divisible by 400 (as 1600). His reform reduced the annual error to 26 seconds, which will add up to one day by about 4900 A.D.
