INTERESTING NEWS NOTES FROM THE SOUTHWICK AREA

Lunch Committee Meeting

There will be a meeting of the School Lunch Program committee at the High School gym in Kendrick Friday afternoon at 1:30. This includes the cooks from the three schools in the district — and we would also like to see all the P-T-A officers there. This meeting has been called by Mr. Meserve, superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Russell Perkins, P-T-A president.

School Is Over

School ended on Wednesday at Southwick with an in-door picnic at the school. A pot-luck dinner was served at noon to parents and children from this section — and a joyful group went home for summer vacation.

Homemakers Club Meets

The Southwick Homemakers Club met on Thursday at the home of Agatha Perkins. The co-hostess, Mary Lawrence, was ill at her home and unable to be present. After the dinner, served at noon, commemorating Hungary, the business meeting was presided over by Virginia Carrill, president. As this was the last all-day meeting until fall, the ladies were busy during the afternoon.

The next meeting will be with Goldie Mustoe, June 24, at 1:30 p. m. The Homemakers Club food booth in Kendrick Parade Day proved very profitable for the group, who realized $52.00 net for the day.

Daily Vacation Bible School

We would like to remind everyone of Children's Day, June 6, and Vacation Bible School, which starts on June 7th, as previously announced at the Southwick Community church. All children are welcome to come — accompanied by their parents.

Will anyone having empty spoons of any and all sizes, and old nylon hose, please donate them for use at the Daily Vacation Bible School.

"Million Dollar Rain" Continues

That "million dollar rain" which began falling Tuesday of last week, has continued intermittently since that time, accompanied by chill winds and even a bit of hail.

Local farmers say they have all the moisture they need at this time — and would just as soon see the skies turn clear and sunny — for haying time is getting closer by the day, and settled weather would really be appreciated then.

Of course, settled weather would also be very fine for those who are raising beans, so that ground may be prepared, or worked from previous seeding, as the case may be.

SUMMER BAND IS PLANNED IF ENOUGH INTEREST SHOWN

An effort is being made to have a "summer band" in Kendrick for the coming vacation months. Although this organization is primarily intended to give the members of the High School band a chance to keep up their playing, an invitation is being extended to all persons who play, and have a band instrument. "A professional ability" is not a requisite for participation — all that is necessary is that you have a working, even though rusty, knowledge of your instrument and be willing to give four hours of your time in rehearsal each month. If response to the plea for players is as great as is indicated, the band will plan one or two evening concerts in the park as soon as it is able to have a program ready.

The first rehearsal is being called for Thursday, June 10, 7:00 to 9:00 p. m., at the Kendrick High School building. If you cannot make it at that time, but would like to take part, send word with someone you know that is attending, so that the organization may be completed and a permanent meeting night selected.

In addition to the "summer band" there will also be a meeting of those persons who may have started playing band instruments and would like to continue class lessons during the summer. This group will meet Thursday, June 10, at 6:00 p. m., at the Kendrick band building.

SCHOOL NOTES

Canning Committee To Meet
The P-T-A. Canning committee will meet at the High school this Friday afternoon at 1:30 to make plans for the processing of foods for the Hot Lunch program this summer.

Although the canning program is taken lightly by some, it is greatly appreciated by the school personnel, hot lunch, cooks, and the students. The canning program makes it possible to serve the delicious, high quality meals for which our lunch program is famous, and avoid the monotony that characterizes so many such programs. The administration is deeply grateful to you ladies who give so unselfishly of your time to make this canning program a success.

Honor Roll
An examination of the report cards just prior to mailing showed the following students with perfect "A" grades: Nancy Callison, Norma Dagefoerde, Janice Christensen, Jim Nelson, Roger Christensen and Teddy Meske.

The following students, who had all "B" or better are also to be commended for their splendid showing: Elhona Swinney, Leone Parks, Ray Greene, Donald Ingle, Jane Racicot, Lottie Wilson, Sandra Tarbet, Nina Dagefoerde, Glenn Wegner, Jeanette Rowden, Rosalea Whittum, Ronald L. Craig, Leland Slind, Albert Westendahl, Arthur Groseclose and Delores Gaskill.

Lots Of Work Going On
School is out for the students, but the buildings are still humming with activity as the teachers and custodians prepare for the coming year.

Seventh Grade News
Students of the Seventh grade journeyed by bus to Lewiston a week ago Friday. They visited the Spangler Bakery and the Coca Cola plant. At noon they picnicked in the Clarkston park and then spent the afternoon at "Skateland."

Loeda Meyer wrote a playlette for History class, based on the first inaugural address given in Idaho. This was enacted by a group of students during their class meeting program.

Bernice Fraser, Darrel Craig and Leonard Eldridge had perfect attendance during the school year. Mary Lee Westendahl and Carol Weyen had but one day's absence.

The following awards were won by our students at the Lapwai Track Meet: Blue ribbons — Lyle Parks, 3; Bruce Clemenhagen, 1; Gary Browning, 1. Red ribbons — 1 each: Sandra Peters, Sharon Lohman, Karen Loudon, Coral Dillman, Lyle Parks, Reinhardt Schroeder. Yellow ribbons, 1 each — Loeda Meyer, Gary Browning, Gerald Bateman. Pressure Canner Testing

The Kendrick Home Demonstration Clubs are sponsoring a pressure canner gauge testing on Thursday, June 3, from 1:00 to 4:00 p. m. in the Firemen's hall.

In order to be assured of safe canning gauges should be tested once a year, and everyone in this community is urged to take advantage of this free service.

You do not have to be a member of a home demonstration club. Just remove the gauge from the canner lid and bring it to the hall to be tested.

Summer Hot Lunch Canning

Summer canning for the Hot Lunch program began this past week when Mrs. Gerald Ingle brought in five one-gallon bags of rhubarb, which she donated and processed for freezing. It will be a welcome addition to the lunch menu next winter — yield, 20 quarts.

American Inventions Make For Better Living Standard

During the period prior to World War II, when Adolph Hitler was building up an arsenal of weapons with which he hoped to conquer the world, a nuclear physicist at the University of Berlin had an idea for a death-ray gun.

The only thing wrong with the idea was that the inventor intended to use the death rays to kill microorganisms that spoil food. Hitler wasn't interested.

America thrives on inventions that promote health and make for better living. It provides a Patent System as an incentive for such inventions. Dr. Arno Brasch, the nuclear physicist with the death-ray idea, and his associate, Dr. Wolfgang Huber, left Berlin for New York 12 years ago.

Food is an important item of trade, here, and financial interests backed the two physicists in developing their electronic gun to the extent of a half-million dollars. They rented an icehouse on Long Island and scrounged the area for hard-to-get parts required for their electrical apparatus. The pilot model, resembling somewhat the steel skeleton of a skyscraper, began to tower toward the third-story ceiling. Near this was a cylindrical structure, tapering in sections to the top.

Out of this combination of transformers, insulators, and giant electronic tubes there protruded something similar to the muzzle of a gun, aimed straight down to hit the target directly underneath. A 220-volt house current was thus stepped up to shoot 3,000,000 volts.

It was five years ago that this amazing gun began its operation of shooting electron bullets into specimens of food.

Poison Deaths of Children Caused by Careless Parents

Parental carelessness plays a big part in the more than 600 deaths of children each year due to the accidental swallowing of poison, according to Dr. Jay M. Arena of Durham, N. C.

Dr. Arena is associate professor in the department of pediatrics, Duke University School of Medicine and Duke Hospital.

"Children who survive the ingestion of poison may be left with permanent disabilities," he added.

"Poisons contained in household agents are responsible for most of the deaths and disabilities. If all drugs and household agents that contain poison were made inaccessible to children, such poisonings could be almost entirely prevented."

Lye, he explained, is one of the most common causes of poisoning in childhood. During the first 18 years of the Duke Hospital, more than 136 children were treated for stricture of the esophagus caused by swallowing lye. Many of these cases were due to sodium hydroxide in washing powders, drainpipe cleaners or certain paint removers. Among other causes of childhood poisonings listed by Dr. Arena are the following: strong acid, kerosene, iodine, strychnine, phenolphthalein, barbiturate, salicylate, aniline dye, lead, and mercury.

Farm Land Boom

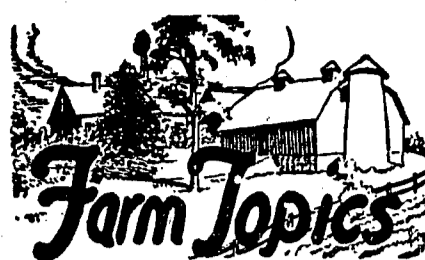

Farm land prices on an over-all basis may have experienced a record rise over the last decade, but the increases varied widely as between one section of the country and another, according to figures compiled by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The boom was led by eight states, headed by Kentucky, which enjoyed increases of more than 200 per cent between the 1935-39 average of dollar farm land valuations and July of this year. More than half these states are in the South. Thirteen others, mostly in the South and Middle West, showed rises of between 150 and 200 per cent, and fourteen more between 100 and 150 per cent. The remaining thirteen showed gains of less than 100 per cent.

High Hat

The expression "to high hat" or be snobbish toward one of lower rank probably goes back before the days when the top hat became a symbol of wealth and social position. The rank of a Spanish lady in the latter days of the Roman Empire could almost be measured by the height of her head covering. The more important the lady, the higher her turban towered above her head.

Sea Food

The ocean contains enormous quantities of small plants and animals, many of them microscopic in size, which cannot swim but float with the tides and currents. These are called "plankton" and they form the principal food of various whales, as well as sharks and many other kinds of fishes. The animal plankton is said to have a nutritive value equal to the best meat, since they consist largely of protein, while the plant plankton equal rye flour. The main difficulty seems to be in harvesting. A biologist who studied the matter has said that to meet the normal food energy requirements of one person would require the animal plankton each day from a volume of ocean water equal to an area the size of a football field, and about five feet deep.

Fertilizing Important In Balanced Farm Plan Lime, Fertilizer Pays Off in High Hay Yield

Farmers in every part of the nation are realizing more and more the importance of well-balanced fertilizing programs to build production and soil structure.

Ben Vossen, who farms near Watkins, Minn., believes his investments in lime and fertilizer have done more for his farm than anything in his career.

The results of one of his investments are shown in the above picture. At the right is a run-down field of bluegrass overgrown with buck grass. At the left is a field of oats after the buck grass was sprayed to kill it, grubbed and plowed under.

Farmer Vossen inspects his field of oats. At the right is the field of bluegrass overgrown with buck grass. Fertilizing has turned the oat field into a high producer.

Vossen limed and fertilized the oat field with plant food carrying nitrogen, phosphate and potash before he seeded it. He keeps the field in oats two years, then seeds down to an alfalfa crop. He takes hay and pasture off as long as the stand is productive. He helps lengthen its life by top-dressing regularly with manure.

The use of lime and fertilizer pays off in much bigger hay yields. Vossen reports. He harvested eight tons of hay on two acres that used to produce about one-half ton of timothy.

Total Feed Supply Will Be Higher Than Last Year

With the approach of the 1951-52 feeding season, livestock feeders will be interested to know that the expected total supply of feed grains and concentrates will be greater than last year, according to the bureau of agricultural economics.

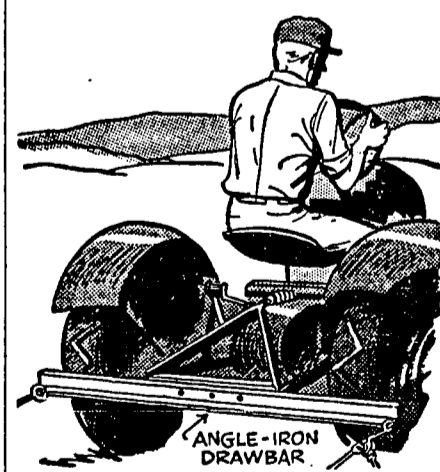

The available supply of feed will permit livestock to be fed at about the same rate per unit as last season. The number of animals to be fed, however, is also expected to be greater. An estimated 174 million animals will be on hand as compared with last year's 168-million.

A large acreage and a fair carry-over is expected to provide a larger corn supply. About 4 billion bushels is expected to be available for the 1951-52 season.

The total supply of corn, oats, grain sorghums, and barley for the coming season is estimated to be 127.1 million tons. This compares with last season's total of 125 million tons of grain.

The department reported total crop production may be the second highest in history in 1951.

Tractor Drawbar

A heavy piece of angle iron bolted to the rear of a tractor and extending well beyond the wheels makes harrowing easier fastening the harrow with a long chain hitch, especially when making turns at ends of the field. Bolted to the drawbar it can be removed when not in use.

Iowa Tests Show Value Of Alfalfa for Swine

Everyone knows that alfalfa pasture is good for hogs. But just how good? The Iowa experiment station thought that one way to find out would be to feed one batch of hogs on dry lot; and another on alfalfa.

They found that the biggest value in alfalfa comes from a saving in high-cost protein and mineral supplement. Hogs gained faster on alfalfa.

A Safety Tip Worth While

Clearing the rear ledge helps prevent injuries in automobile accidents. Safety experts agree that many injuries could have been prevented in accidents if the rear window ledge had been cleared off and a sudden stop could not have catapulted objects into the back of the passengers heads and necks.

Can You Take Responsibility

A survey conducted of 97 industrial firms showed that only 10 per cent of the men fired lost their jobs because they were technically incompetent, while 90 per cent lost theirs because they couldn't take responsibility. — Changing Times.

Ancient Paper Comes To Light
While doing some remodeling work a couple of weeks ago, Otto Silflow found underneath the floor of their old home at Cameron a copy of "The Canyon Echo," dated at Kendrick, Idaho, September 5, 1902. The volume number is 9, and the paper No. 1. The motto of the paper was: "Hew to the Line, Let the Chips Fall Where They May." E. E. Alderman was listed as the Editor, with the subscription price at $1.00 per year. Written on the upper left hand side of the front page in pencil appears the name "Fred Fordice," or at least that appears to be the name, as time has rather dimmed the writing.

We found no names that we knew in its columns with the exception of R. M. Walker and Walter Harris, the latter being listed under the Southwick correspondence, and which reads as follows:

"Walter Harris has been courting lately, but quit for a while till a new case comes along."

In the advertisements is listed a flour sale at 75c a sack — the Julietta Flour — the Flour that Everyone Asks For — D. J. Rowlands."

There also appears an advertisement of Hamley & Co., Kendrick Idaho, established in 1890. This advertisement says: "Our Binder Whips are about all sold but just take a look at our line of new saddles. We know the price is right and you can see the quality!"

This is the first copy of "The Canyon Echo" that we have ever seen, and we appreciate the opportunity to examine one greatly. It would seem to settle the argument about which paper, "The Canyon Echo" or the "Kendrick Times" that consolidated with the Kendrick Gazette — for since this paper is dated in 1902, and the Gazette was established in 1890 — the "Echo" appears to have outlasted the "Kendrick Times."

Anyone interested may see this old paper at the Gazette office.

Facts Vs. Fears

There's nothing like a fact to prick the balloon of gossip. Ever since automobile manufacturing got going as one of our big big-time industries — nearly fifty years ago — motor cars gravitated into price-classes, just like most other products. And year after year, as you might expect, the leaders in sales volume were always to be found among the lighter-lower-priced cars, most purchasers preferring a new small car to a used big one.

This year, when so many people are making a full-time job of "crying the blues" "viewing with alarm" and talking "hard times," a big car zooms into the sales stratosphere of the top three for the first time in automotive history. The fact that the American people are buying a big car in greater proportion than ever before is of course a great tribute to both the confidence and genius of the builders who went all-out in styling, engineering, safety features, luxury of appointment and horsepower for their 1954 models.

But, in a far larger sense, such record-breaking public acceptance is one hard, sharp fact, that lets the air out of the recession balloon.

How to Make Home Piano Appear Less Conspicuous

How to make your piano as decorative as it is musical is often a problem in home decorations, points out Mrs. Kate C. Archer, extension specialist in home furnishings, Kansas State college, Manhattan. With the introduction of the new spinet-type pianos much better arrangements are possible, as well as novel ways of placing the old upright models.

"If your upright piano has a beautiful finish and a nice grace of line it is most pleasing with no decorative articles on it," says Mrs. Archer. "If any articles are placed on top of it, they should be low ones. The horizontal picture is best above a piano."

"However, if your upright is quite undistinguished you might consider painting it the same hue as walls, or picking up the background color of the wallpaper. Pianos can be used as space dividers between living and dining rooms or may be placed in an alcove in a bedroom."

Sometimes it is satisfactory to build in a space that fits the piano with wall space on either side given over to radio or record player or book cases. Such a musical group, with chairs placed for easy listening, is a nice solution.

A piano always appears larger when it is against a narrow wall space, particularly between two doors or two windows; when the end is close to an entrance; when it is against the best-lighted or most prominent wall when it is across, or when it stands alone against a long wall without other furniture near it.

'Big Top' Grows Bigger, Circuses Become Scarcer

Are new dangers looming for the high wire walkers of the circus, the daring bareback riders, and death-defying trapeze artists? Yes, say the "big tops" friends, but not in the form of the ever-present risks to individual performers. The fear is that a slow process of attrition may be menacing the circus itself.

A half dozen circuses have closed during the current season. Only 10 are left of the scores which once flourished in the U.S.

America's spangled show of fleas and 'freaks, of wild animals and wistful clowns, has had many ups and downs since it first took to railway wheels more than three quarters of a century ago. Today the paradox of the "Greatest Show on Earth" is that, while numbers dwindle and costs mount, the remaining outfits grow bigger and more spectacular.

Early Railroads

The earliest railroads in the United States were built of wooden rails capped with thin strips, or "straps," of iron to provide a running surface for the wheels. These were called "straprails." Iron rails 18 feet in length were imported from England as early as 1831. The first iron rails of American design were rolled in the United States in 1844. By 1850 most railroads were being built of iron rails. The first Bessemer steel rails manufactured in the United States were rolled at the North Chicago Rolling Mills on May 25, 1865, and by 1880 about 30 per cent of all tracks in the United States were laid with steel rails. At the end of another ten years, 80 per cent of the country's mileage was equipped with steel rails, and by the late 1890's steel had almost completely replaced iron.

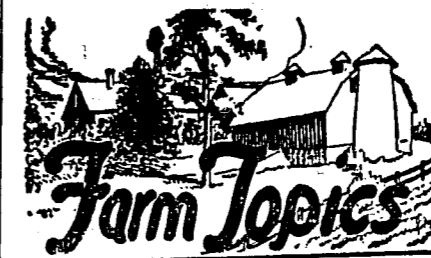

It's in the Finish

Simulated pearls are no longer thought of as imitations, but as fashion accessories, acceptable in themselves. The impression of depth and softness in a pearl is the result of light reflections from a multitude of points within the pearly film, making it impossible to focus on any single layer. In simulated pearls, this effect is conveyed by layers of crystals incorporated in the finish which is applied to plastic and glass beads. The crystals used are guanine or pearl essence crystals. They are obtained from fish scales and are only 40 millionths of an inch in thickness.

Gregorian Calendar

In 1582, Pope Gregory VIII ordained a simple reform. Astronomers showed him that the sun-year is some 11 minutes less than 365 1/4 days. In the course of a dozen Julian centuries, spring's first day had moved forward from March 21 to March 11.

To correct this, Gregory directed that October 4, 1582, be followed by October 15, and that leap-year days be omitted in the last year of each century except years divisible by 400 (as 1600). His reform reduced the annual error to 26 seconds, which will add up to one day by about 4900 A.D.

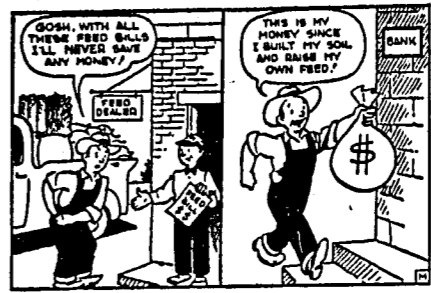

Good Pasture Program Means More Profits

Over-Grazing Can Kill Out Pasture Growth

Now is the time to plan a "complete pasture program" that will give your dairy cattle an abundance of high quality, low cost feed at all times next year, says the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

The Farmer who has an all-season supply of succulent forage, grass silage or hay is the farmer who will have bigger milk checks, lower feed costs and more overall profits, the committee points out.

Earl Jones, Ohio State University extension agronomist, says that a well-rounded pasture plan should include: (1) Seeding well adapted legume-grass mixtures; (2) The use of lime and commercial fertilizer; (3) Good grazing management.

Jones recommends alfalfa, ladino clover and grass for summer grazing. Where alfalfa does not thrive, ladino clover and grass will do a good job. Timothy, brome grass or orchard grass may also be used.

He cautions farmers to avoid killing out pasture growth by over-grazing and to provide palatable and nutritious pasture by avoiding under-grazing. Jones suggests dividing pasture areas into lots. Cattle are allowed to graze down growth in one lot and then are moved to another.

Along with good legume-grass mixtures and managed grazing, Jones emphasizes the benefits from adding lime and fertilizers carrying nitrogen, phosphate and potash.

Poultry Industry Expects To Boost Production

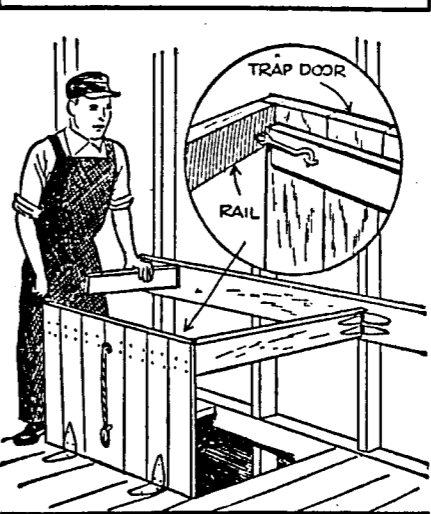

One of the nation's newest agricultural industries is expected to boost the value of poultry products beyond the four billion dollar mark this year.

This new industry—known as the broiler industry—is expected to account for almost half the chicken meat consumed in 1954, compared to an almost negligible amount 15 years ago. Poultry breeders have succeeded in developing chickens that eat less and still grow from two to three weeks faster to reach marketable size.

H. H. Alp, Director of Commodity Departments for the American Farm Bureau Federation, recently credited the success of the new industry to the nationwide Chicken-Tomorrow program sponsored since 1945 by A & P Food Stores.

Only a few years ago, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture reports, most of the chicken meat consumed in this country came from so-called "backyard flocks." Records of specialized broiler production in 1934 show that these chickens accounted for only 3 per cent of total consumption of 18.8 pounds of chicken per capita. In 1951 broilers are expected to account for 51 per cent of a per capita consumption of 29.7 pounds.

Hayloft Door

If you have a trap door in your barn loft, here is an idea that could possibly save you a dangerous fall. Fit it with guardrails as shown above. The rails, which are hinged to the barn wall, swing outward and are hooked to the trap door when it is in the upright position. When the door is closed the rails are folded flush against the wall.

Frozen Foods Show Huge Gain During Past Year

A record percentage of farm produce is moving to consumers in frozen form. Figures compiled by A & P Food Stores, operator of 4,500 markets in 37 states with six million customers daily, show an overall increase in frozen food sales of 33.9 per cent. Leading this list of foods are citrus juice concentrates, orange and grapefruit juice, a blend of the two, and lemon mix. Peas, and strawberries also increased.

Thank Practical Eskimos For 'Deep-Freeze' Invention

Thanks to practical Eskimos and a shrewd Yankee fur trader, we are now able to have seasonable fruits and vegetables "fresh" at any time of the year. The quick-freeze pack keeps them fresh.

The Yankee fur trader is Clarence Birdseye of Gloucester, Mass., who still indulges his fancy for adventure in the Far North. While dealing with Arctic Eskimos up the Labrador coast during 1912, he was amazed at the excellent meat and fish they seemed always to have available. The secret was in the quick-freezing of game freshly caught. "Quick-Freeze!" That was the Big Idea he mulled over as he sailed home. Invent a special kind of freezing machine to freeze almost instantly, patent it, make fresh foods available to everyone!

Inspired by this thought, and stimulated by this hope of protection afforded by our patent system, he built his first crude machine, which he called the "Multiplate Quick Freeze." This consisted of a new garbage can of corrugated iron with layers of steel plates between which codfish and rabbit meat were placed. It was supplied with coils that contained salt brine as a refrigerant. Incredibly, but true, this unpolished mechanism was the forerunner of our gigantic lockers of today. Encouraged by the success of his invention in food preservation, and the patent protection obtained thereon, Birdseye endeavored to promote his idea.

A skeptical America was not too eager to accept quick-frozen foods, and our inventor, in 1924, after making stabs in both Gloucester and New York, went broke. Unbeaten, his perseverance and ingenuity urged him to try again and, in 1927, after securing a $2,250 loan on his life-insurance policy, and obtaining $375,000 from backers, he again launched into the business. This time it took a year to interest the public sufficiently.

Cretaceous Geological Period Shale Collected In Fresno

More than a ton of shale and marl containing 100-million-year-old fossils, collected in Fresno County, Calif., last summer by Dr. Alfred R. Loeblich, Jr., Smithsonian Institution paleontologist, is being processed at the U.S. National Museum.

The Fresno County locality has one of the thickest known deposits—in some places as much as 25,000 feet—of sediments laid down in the ancient sea bottoms during the Cretaceous geological period, the heyday of the great dinosaurs on land and of the weird swimming reptiles, the plesiosaurs in the sea. The material collected by Dr. Loeblich, however, contains fossils far less conspicuous than these monsters, but in some ways they represent even stranger forms of life. They are minute Foraminifera, or shelled protozoans. Although constituting a very large branch of the Animal Kingdom, the Protozoa are one-celled animals and nearly all are microscopic; the best-known of the living forms are internal parasites which cause some of the most deadly diseases.

Foraminifera are a specialized group of Protozoa that build an external shell, and these shells may be preserved as fossils. During the Cretaceous period, represented by the material collected this summer, many of the more modern shell forms were first developed. These fossil shells are often used by the oil industry to determine the age of geologic strata and thus are of economic importance, as well as being of value to the scientist in showing evolutionary trends.

Although single-celled, such sea creatures may have many chambered shells. As they grow they form new chambers all connected by openings through which the protoplasm of the cell flows. But, however many chambers of this sort are produced, the protoplasm is continuous through all and the animal still remains a single cell.

Looking Back

Haile Selassie's 1,150-man, hand-picked battalion in Korea is a far cry from the desperate army he raised in 1935. Then, as Mussolini's men marched into his land, he issued this draft notice: (1) When this order is received, all men and boys able to carry a spear will go to Addis Ababa. (2) Every married man will bring his wife to cook and wash for him. (3) Every unmarried woman he can find to cook and wash for him. (4) Women with babies, the blind and those too aged and infirm to carry a spear, are excused.

Ptolemaic System

The Ptolemaic System was the ancient concept of the universe, proposed by the Greek astronomer Hipparchus, who lived about 130 B. C. It is named after Claudius Ptolemy, a later astronomer, who popularized it in a famous book known as the Almagest. According to this system, the Earth was fixed at the center of the universe, and the Sun, Moon, planets and stars all revolved around it in varying periods. It has been superseded by the system proposed by Copernicus in 1543, which places the Sun at the center of the Solar System, and has the Earth as one of a number of planets revolving around the Sun.
