You can save all the work of mixing colors if you use Standard Shingle Stain to coat barns or any other unpainted exterior wood surfaces, such as fences and lattice work. It comes, ready to use, in three colors, red, brown and green.

Standard Shingle Stain penetrates, seals the wood pores against dampness and stops cracking and warping. Unlike heavier paints, it will not form ridges on shingle butts to retard water runoff.

Apply Standard Shingle Stain with a brush or by spraying. New shingles can be dipped. Depending on dryness of wood, 1 gallon covers 90 to 125 square feet.

Johnson's Story of Success Started About 65 Years Ago

When Samuel Curtis Johnson began making parquet flooring in his Racine, Wis., workshop 65 years ago, he little dreamed of the turn his business would take.

It was a small operation, with two men and two boys doing all the work, but they were thorough craftsmen. Their flooring can still be found in old American homes.

Mr. Johnson, reading his mail by lamplight in the evening, noticed that more and more customers were turning to him for information on how to care for floors. Knowing that many floors in Europe had withstood the tread of centuries, thanks to wax, he recommended that his customers use the same substance.

Within a few years the Johnson company was manufacturing its own wax and wood finishing products. They subsequently found that the sideline was outstripping the main products in volume of sales. In 1916, with simple tastes in home decorating becoming more evident, the company abandoned its parquet business and concentrated on wax products.

Today, with the founder's grand-son, H. F. Johnson, at the helm, the company ranks high in American industry. Its main office and laboratory in Racine, the plans for which were drawn by Frank Lloyd Wright, is a symbol of in-dustrial growth. The company has offices and plants in Canada, England, France, Australia and other parts of the world. It has a refinery and plantation in Brazil where the world's supply of carnauba wax is obtained.

The little group that began the manufacture of parquet flooring in the back-street workshop 65 years ago could never have guessed they were sowing the seed of a business that was to make Racine the wax center of the world.

Nurse Braved Fever, Risked Life to Help Malaria Fight

Feeding disease-laden, killer mosquitoes once was the hobby of an elderly Baltimore nurse.

Miss Lena Townshend, now 76 years old, hoarded spare time from her nursing duties to provide life-sustaining sugar water for the caged mosquitoes used in yellow fever experiments by the late Army doctor and scientist, Major Walter

As a civilian nurse, Miss Townshend's 16-month affiliation with Dr. Reed and his important work was unofficial but she made a definite contribution to the project's success. Her experience with the menacing mosquitoes today are a fond memory in her career, 38 years as a practicing nurse.

While the Army prepared to honor Major Reed by observing the centennial of his birth, September 13, the gray-haired nurse was proud but modest in a discussion of her work in the fever-ridden country that was Cuba in 1901. Miss Townshend went to Cuba due to a post-war shortage of nurses and a personal desire for foreign duty at the turn of the century. As night superintendent of Havana Municipal Hospital No 1, she had a role in the fight against another epidemic of that time. typhoid fever.

Her "spare time" work was done in Dr. Reed's laboratory, one part of the hospital, after she already had put in 12 hours of night ward duty. She worked on the yellow fever charts which Major Reed maintained for the benefit of government and private hospitals in this country in addition to feeding the mosquitoes.

Interested both in the capture and care of the man-killing insects, Miss Townshend paid little heed to the other laboratory animals, guinea pigs and rats. She said she wasn't afraid of them but "I just didn't like them."

Although she nursed both yellow and typhoid fever cases—so many that she is unable to count them-Miss Townshend escaped both dis-

Sunken Ore

About 100 years ago on the Marquette Range in Michigan, ore cars were sent down a long, descending grade to a Lake Superior dock. But sometimes the ore plunged to the bottom of the lake. In the 1850's, a strap iron railroad was built down the grade from the mines to the docks in Marquette harbor, 12 miles away. Strings of cars were loaded with ore and coasted by gravity down to the waterside. A brakeman rode each string of cars. The hand brakes of the period were far from efficient. Sometimes the cars continued off the end of the dock, and landed at the bottom of Marquette harbor. At intervals later cargoes of iron ore were dredged up where the old cars leaped to a watery grave.

Horns and Antlers Horns, such as occur on cattle, sheep and Old World antelope, have a bony core. Over this is a layer of a material called keratin, which is similar to the calluses that occur on the palms of the hands or the soles of the feet. The antelers of the deer are different, as they consist of a growth of connective tissue which becomes hardened with the deposition of calcium. Antlers are shed annually and grown anew, as also are the horns of some animals, such as the prong horned antelope.

Medina Mosque Is Younger Building than White House

According to tradition, Mohammed journeyed north from Mecca to the region of Yathrib's oasis, where he loosed his camel to wander unguided until it stopped and knelt. There the mosque was built. Disciples renamed Yathrib Madinatal-Nabi, meaning City of the Prophet, now varied to Medina.

The original house of worship has been rebuilt several times. No existing relics of previous structures bear proof of use earlier than 1306. The present Great Mosque is actually newer than the White House in Washington and replaces an earlier mosque which was destroyed by fire only a century ago.

Though somewhat crowded by other buildings on its south side, the mosque stands out gracefully from most angles of approach. Its mina-rets are shapely, its dome a restful, dull green. Dominant construction material is a locally quarried crystalline rock of pinkish hue, with oc-casional elaborate inlay and faience decoration.

Pilgrim trade is easily the chief business of Mecca, Medina, and Jidda, the Red Sea port by way of which nine-tenths of the worshiping tourists now travel. The two shrine cities each have sacred areas where unbelievers are not welcome and subject to trespassing fines or ail terms.

Date growing is the second industry around Medina's oasis, which is larger than Mecca's and can support more population. Under Turkish rule prior to World War I, Medina counted 80,000 people and was the southern terminus of a railroad from the cities of present Jordan, Syria, Turkey, and Iraq to the

Not until Mohammed moved from Mecca to Medina, did his creed begin the expansion that now encompasses 250,000,000 followers.

Drug Given By Mouth Said To Relieve Pain in Cancer

A chemical compound which can be given by mouth is reported by seven New York doctors to be useful in bringing temporary relief to patients suffering from fatal cancer-like diseases of the white blood cells and tissues.

The oral use of triethylene melamine on 58 patients is described by Drs. David A. Karnofsky, J. H. Burchenal, George C. Armistead, Jr., Chester M. Southam, J. L. Bernstein, L. F. Craver, and Cornelius P. Rhoads. The doctors are all associated with the Memorial Center for Cancer and Allied Diseases, New York.

Triethylene melamine is a valuable addition to the small group of drugs now known to be effective in relieving pain in these types of disease, according to the doctors. This is due primarily to the fact that it can be given by mouth, releasing the patient from his dependence on a doctor for administration of the drug. All the other drugs, they point out, have to be injected intravenously, which almost always makes hospitalization necessary.

Clinical trials with the drug are now being widened to include a greater variety of tumerous conditions, they said.

Cleaning Up

In the Smithsonian Institution's laboratory of vertebrate paleontology, six tons of fossil bones belonging to the extinct gigantic ground sloth, Megatherium, are being cleaned and repaired. The skeletal remains of this grotesque animal were collected in western Panama by Dr. C. Lewis Gazin, curator of vertebrate paleontology of the U.S. National Museum, as-sisted by Dr. Theodore E. White, paleontologist of the Smithsonian's River Basin Surveys. The Smithsonian Institution paleontologists will attempt to reconstruct for exhibition in Washington a complete skeleton of the giant sloth. A large part of the collection will be returned to Panama for exhibition there.

Forming Pearls

Although some pearls are formed in fresh-water clams and oysters, the most valuable come from the marine pearl oysters of eastern Asia. They occur when some foreign object-perhaps a tiny grain of sand gets between the shell and the body. The animal then secretes around the object successive layers of a material called nacre, which consists of calcium carbonate. This is the same material as the "mother of pearl" lining of the shell. The Japanese make "culture" pearls by deliberately introducing small particles of graphite into the oyster and keeping it for several years as the pearl is formed.

Intrared Rays Infrared rays are similar to rays of visible light, except that the length of their waves is greater than those of red light, which are about 1/40,000th of an inch and are the longest that the eye can detect. The longest infrared waves are about 1/65th of an inch long. Any hot object—the Sun, an open fire, a red hot poker, a warm radiator, an electric lamp, etc. — sends out infrared radiation, often with visible rays as well. Special electric lamps to generate these rays, used for applying heat, have a filament which operates at a lower temperature than is used in one designed mainly for purposes of illumination.

Light Bulb System Hastens Vegetables Speed Up Development In Backyard Hotbeds

Burn 25-watt light bulbs in a backyard hotbed and you'll eat your own early June peas next May.

That advice for home gardeners comes from Robert L. Zahour, Westinghouse lamp engineer. Such miniature "greenhouses" warmed by low-power bulbs hurry vegetables to the table 10 days ahead of regular seed plantings outdoors. Flower seeds started in hotbeds are brought to bloom one month earlier, he added.

The 25-watt bulb is best for hotbeds because higher wattage bulbs are more apt to create hot spots in the soil, stunting seed growth or scorching the tender young plants. The cost of a bulb-heated hotbed averages only three-tenths of a cent per plant for electricity during the entire six-weeks season in northern United States, the engineer calculated. This is 30 per cent less than the cost of soil heated by electric cable and only half the cost of manure. Manure, which requires soil preparation such as digging into frozen ground, depends upon fermentation for its heating effect in a hotbed.

Seedlings coddled in electric hotbeds like these hurry vegetables to the table 10 days earlier and bring flowers to bloom a month earlier.

Term 'Hybrid' in Swine Applicable to Offspring

The term "hybrid" has come to mean superior producing ability to the corn grower. It is natural. therefore, that the terms "hybrid hog" and "hybrid boar" should interest corn belt pork producers.

It seems quite clear, most agriculturists are agreed, that "hybrid vigor" eventually will increase greatly the efficiency of livestock production. Informed breeders, however, believe that there are not yet available adequate dependable sources of boars for producing hybrid hogs.

Furthermore, the name "hybrid in the accepted sense of the term should be reserved for the litters produced by the market-hog farm-

Organic Matter Loss

Maybe you don't need a triphammer to work your land. But if you have a hard time plowing the ground, don't blame it on the weather or your implements. The trouble may be due to loss of organic matter from the soil.

G. P. Walker, Purdue University extension agronomist, says that when soils can't take plowing readily, it's a sign they are dangerously low in organic matter.

Walker's advice is more sod crops in the rotation to give the soil an easily worked texture. Sod crops well fed with nitrogen, phosphate and potash put life in the soil and build up its organic matter supply. They improve structure and tilth.

Farmers Given Warning Of Newcastle Disease

Bold Ellis, poultry specialist of the Wyoming agricultural extension service, discloses that many farmers may be acquiring a false sense of security over the threat of Newcastle disease to their poultry flocks. He pointed out that the disease has spread to every state in the union, and although there is less talk about it today than there was casualties are still very heavy.

Strip Cropping Helps Hold Soil in Place It's Only First Step In Conservation Plan

Strip cropping, an important part of soil conservation, is a good deal like putting a splint on a broken bone. The splint holds the bone in place, but it doesn't knit it. Strip cropping helps hold the soil in place, but it won't rebuild rundown fertility.

The above picture is a beautiful example of strip cropping, but it was not accomplished by mere contour plowing. It was accomplished by sound soil conservation, based on use and treatment of land with all proven, appropriate measures that are needed to keep it permanently productive while Strip cropping on a field just north of Neillsville, Wis., is a beautiful example of one step toward soil conservation.

Sound conservation means terracing land that needs terracing; contouring, strip cropping, and stubble-mulching the land as needed; along with use of supporting measures of crop rotation, cover and green manure crops and the use of the right commercial fer-

No farmer should undertake a conservation program without expert advice. He should first contact any one of his soil conservation district officers and apply for assistance from his district. If he doesn't know who his officers are, he can locate the address of his district office in the phone book, or he can call his county agent. Districts help only farmers who request their assistance.

Number of U. S. Farms Lowest Since the 1890s

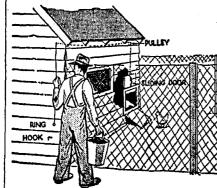

The number of farms in the Unit ed States has continued to decline since the end of World War II with the current total the lowest since before the turn of the century.

The department of agriculture reports there were fewer than 5.4 million farms in the country last year. This figure compares with approximately 5.9 million in 1945, and with the peak number of 6.8 million in

Thus the number of American farms has declined over 1.4 million, or more than a fifth, in the last decade and a half-a period in which land in farms has continued to increase and in which total agricultural production has likewise shown a spectacular increase in aggregate volume of products raised as well as in total market value.

In 1900 there were some 5.7 million farms in the U.S., approximately 350,000 more than at present. A decade before, in 1890, the number of farms was about 4.6 million.

Sliding Door

Poultry raisers can save many a step by a sliding door in poultry houses which can be operated from the outside. A small rope attached to the door by a screw eye runs to the ceiling or roof boards, along the wall, through the side of the chicken house and terminates in a ring. A hook can be attached to the side of the building and thus hold the door open.

Farm Exports Increase 14 Per Cent, Report

The agriculture department reported recently that farm exports increased 14 per cent over the preceding fiscal year. The total was placed at $3,409,245,000. Cotton exports led the group in 1950-51 with a total of $935,332,000,000, the second highest in 26 years. Wheat and wheat flour ranked second in value at $747,570,000, up 9 per cent over the $683,229,000 the preceding fiscal year.

College Zisplays Wealth Of Prehistoric Illinoisan

Wealth buried by a prehistoric Illinois resident who may have lived several centuries before Christ now is at the University of Illinois. It consists of 55 pieces of flint, ranging from raw blocks to expertly-fashioned big spear points as finely-formed as any ever found.

The cache was uncovered last year at the Seimer farm near Batchtown in Calhoun county between the Mississippi and Illinois rivers northwest of St. Louis. In this area are many remains of the prehistoric Hopewell or "moundbuilder" Indians, whose culture recent radiocarbon research has tentatively dated at 200 to 600 B.C.

The flint was obtained for the university's archeological collec-tions from W. L. Wadlow, amateur archeologist of Dow, Ill., by the Illini Achievement Fund of the University of Illinois Foundation. Through his cooperation, the collection is being kept for research and teaching use in the state where it was found. Prof John C. McGregor, University of Illinois archeologist, says that the find undoubtedly represents the wealth of an individual. He explains that the blade spear points, several inches long, are far too finely-made to have used for hunting or war, and were more likely a medium of exchange — the "money" of their day.

He suggests that the cache was the treasure of one of the prehistoric Illinois residents of the highly-civilized Hopewells, who left their important dead buried in mounds from the Great Lakes to the Gulf, and from Ohio to Kansas, and of whom much is still to be learned.

Uses Sought for 'Freak' Liquid Metal Gallium

Anyone who wants to try to find a use for gallium, a metal which the average layman would classify as a "freak" because it is liquid at normal temperature, can buy it at a special "research" price, accord-ing to Dr. Ernest L. Bickerdike, associate professor of chemistry at Santa Barbara College of the University of California.

Despite its unusual characteristics, no specific use has been found for gallium, although its presence has been known since discovery by a Frenchman in 1875.

On a recent sabbatical leave at the University of Michigan, Dr. Bickerdike engaged in research on this metal under the direction of the eminent analytical chemist, Prof. H. H. Willard. Although he believed he was on the track of finding a new reagent for use in working with the contradictory metal, his research did not come up with an answer to that question: "What is gallium good for?"

Found in small gantities in some zinc ores and some aluminum ores. the Aluminum Co. of America (Alco) offers it for research purposes at $3.25 a gram, as compared to the normal price of $4.50 a gram. This would make an amount the size of a nickel come at the "bargain" price of $16.

Anemia in Pigs

Blood studies in horses, which revealed the cause of a fatal type of jaundice in foals, offer a new clue to the prevention of baby pig losses. Horses belong to blood groups, much as people do, and the mare and the stallion to which she is mated may be of conflicting blood groups. When this happens, the two kinds of blood do not mix as they should during the fetal devel-opment of the foal. Anemia and jaundice develop after the newborn foal consumes its dam's milk, which contains the conflicting properties, and death often follows in a few days unless the foal is transferred to a nurse-mare.

It is highly probable that certain types of anemia seen in baby pigs are caused by blood factors which operate in a manner similar to those found in horses.

Where We Get Pepper Pepper is native to the East

Indies. We import most of ours from India and Indonesia, with lesser amounts from various ports all within a 1000-mile radius of Singapore. Pepper vines are trained to climb poles or other supports like a grape vine. Berries appear within two or three years of planting, although the vine does not attain maturity until the age of seven or eight years. When ready for harvesting, the berries look like clusters of red currants. While spread out for drying they change color and shrivel, finally becoming the black wrinkled berry with which we are familiar.

Cabbage Production In the United States, New York leads in the production of cabbage for both fresh and sauerkraut markets. Texas and Florida, with winter crops are close competitors in the fresh market. Wisconsin rates second in the output for sauerkraut. Cabbage-whose name is an Anglicized form of the French word "caboche" (head)—is a member of the Brassica family which includes such diversified types as Brussels sprouts, cauliflower, kale, broccoli, turnip and rutabaga. It is generally classified in terms of head shape and comes in three colors-green, white and red (magenta to purplish).

Don Brown, John Groseclose and Lavernne Gibbs were Orofino and Kooskia visitors Sunday.

Mrs. Lawrence Kress and son Leroy were callers at the Ed. Groseclose home Monday. Leroy had fallen from a horse, breaking his right arm at the elbow, tearing ligaments and muscles. The arm will be in a cast for several weeks.

Eugene Groseclose attended a class reunion at Lewiston, Saturday night. This was the Senior graduating class of Juliaetta in 1934, and at that time the graduates agreed to meet again in 20 years — so Saturday, May 22, they met at the Majestic Cafe in Lewiston, and had dinner. Of this class one is deceased, Josephine (Lackey) Noble. Those attending were Francis (Pierce) Philips and family of Spokane; Emma (Shine) Williams and family of Orofino; Hazel (Cook) Honsley and family, Genesee; Macie (Fix) York and family of Lewiston; Elsie (Dennler) Riggers and family, Lewiston; Opal (Weatherby) Paul and family of Troy; Marcella (Burns) Wilson and family of Farmington, Wash; Elmer Heimgartner and family, Juliaetta; Walter Dennler and family, Juliaetta; Blondell E. (Gene) Groseclose, Juliaetta; time the graduates agreed to meet dell E. (Gene) Groseclose, Juliaetta; Leland Irwin and wife, Ritzville, Wash., and Edith Anderson Pierce of Clarkston, Wash. Gene Groseclose was the toastmaster, and special mention goes to Macie York, Elsie Riggers and Opal Paul for table decorations, which were carried out in the class colors. It was fortunate that all the graduates lived nearby, so that all might attend — and they voted to meet again in five years.

Move Back To California

Word has been received that Mr and Mrs. Wm. Koepp, former Southwick residents, who moved last year to California and then to Elk River, Idaho, have gone back to California settling at Red Bluff.
