Cuddy, Ernest Heimgartner, Virginia Cantril and M. C. Halliday.

Lightning Storm Does Damage

The terrific lightning and rain storm which hit this area Wednesday night did considerable damage, particularly to the George F. Brocke & Sons TV coaxial cable. Lightning hit near the cable on the hill south of town, and carried with it power enough to burn out all fuses, and to go on to wreck a complete power relay, putting the cable system out of business for a couple of days.

However, the worst damage occurred at the Brocke & Sons warehouse, where two TV sets, hooked to the line, but not turned on, were damaged, one having the speaker circuit destroyed, the other losing a picture tube. The sets were shipped to Spokane for rebuilding.

By Friday evening service on the cable was restored.

Kendrick Wins Fair Honors
Kendrick's progressive spirit was much in evidence at the Latah County Fair held in Moscow last week-end. It was reflected in the various booths showing the versatile interest, projects and talents of Kendrick and her people.

Taking a first was the Kendrick Kanyon Club booth (Homemakers Club) which was unique with a large mural painting of peaceful, prosperous Kendrick—looking toward the hill at the east end of town, and showing plainly the big "53." Some of the residential area down the long Main Street was brought into view, along with the towering grain elevators. Mrs. Werner Brammer, a member of the Klub, did the mural work—and with this as a back ground a clever display of their year's projects were arranged, which included landscaping, baking, candle making and dress making. The Kanyon Klub can well be proud of their endeavor.

The Kendrick Grange was awarded a red ribbon on their booth, which featured two large wheels as the focal point, and bore the caption—"Wheels of Progress." Their display was an abundance of farm produce of every kind.

The American Ridge Hi-Hope Club (Homemakers) also won a red ribbon on their entry, with the theme: "How Fire Safe Is Your Home?" A miniature house, complete with furnishings was featured, and from this real-life replica "fire safety measures" were cited.

We understand many youths from the 4-H Clubs in this area won ribbons and other awards. However, this list is not complete, and will be published at a later date.

All in Kendrick can be proud of the progressive, lively spirit shown by Clubs and other organizations in this area.

Several truck-loads of clean, bright shavings have been hauled up from Mr. Cook's planing mill, and distributed on the playground, in an effort to keep clothes, hands and faces of students cleaner. It is well realized that this is far from the perfect answer to the swirling clouds of cinder dust—but at least it will help for a time.

Those who would like to receive this training are asked to contact Mrs. Ray Scherer at Julietta, or Mrs. Wm. Cuddy at Kendrick.

The date has not yet been set, but it will probably be in October.

To Allow "Fallow" Practices
Burley, Idaho (Special) — Senator Henry Dworshak was advised this week by the Department of Agriculture that final details were being worked out for administering the new farm law's provision allowing extra 1955 acreage for wheat growers who follow summer fallow practices. Idaho is one of the eligible states under the summer fallow section.

"I have been informed that a few technicalities remain to be ironed out before the department is ready to announce the detailed formula for making the additional acreage available," he said.

Dworshak strongly supported the inclusion of the summer fallow provision when the farm bill was under consideration in the Senate.

Officials of the grain branch of the Agricultural Stabilization Service told Dworshak that a "basic" formula has been developed in accord with the law. Each farm will be considered as a separate entity.

To be eligible, a farmer must have followed fallow practices in both 1951 and 1952.

As an example of how the "basic" formula would work, grain branch officials cited the following hypothetical case:

If a farmer summer fallowed 100 acres in 1951, and 100 acres in 1952, and had 100 acres of wheat planted in 1952 and 100 acres planted in 1953, then all of his acreage — both fallow and planted — would be averaged. In this case, the average would be 100 acres. Applied against this would be the county factor used for determining the normal acreage allotment, which, in this hypothetical case is 60 percent. This would give him a normal acreage allotment of 60 percent of 100 acres, or 60 acres. However, the new law's summer fallow provision provides that in no case shall farmers eligible under this provision be required to take a greater reduction than the national average, which happens to be 67 percent for 1955. Thus by applying 67 percent to the 100 acres, it would give the farmer 67 acres, or seven acres more than he would have received if he had not engaged in summer fallow practices.

The national average, or factor, of 67 percent, was obtained by dividing 81,550,000 acres, which was the average for 1952 and 1953, into 55,000,000, the acreage allotted for 1955.

Lions Club Has Meeting
The Kendrick Community Lions Club met at the Fraternal Temple last Wednesday evening for their regular monthly meeting, with 35 members present.

Those in attendance might be said to have literally "rubbed their eyes" in astonishment at the beautiful buffet table that was set out for them by the Ladies Auxiliary of the V. F. W. It was truly a thing of beauty.

The centerpiece was a huge, whole baked steelhead, compliments of Cecil and Vernon Choate. And with it was everything to please an epicure's heart.

Following the dinner a short business session was held, chief item of which was a discussion of Sales Day. The date for this annual event was set for Saturday, October 9. Something of an innovation was planned, in that the auction itself will no longer be free. There will be a minimum charge of 25c per sale, for all sales up to and including $5.00, beyond that figure 5 percent will be charged. This action was taken in an effort to improve the type of merchandise being offered — and no longer will the sale be confined to farm items — it is open to anyone who wishes to make use of the facilities offered.

A committee consisting of Gordon Peters, Willard Schoeffler, Frank Abrams and W. L. McCreary was appointed to complete arrangements.

We might add that exhibit prizes are to be sponsored by various merchants, rather than being offered by the Club.

The evening closed with a short talk on the V. F. W. and Auxiliary by Joe Forest, who explained the aims and work of the two organizations.

O. E. S. Friendship Night
Friendship Night was observed by over a hundred guests and members of Canyon Chapter No. 67, O. E. S., Tuesday evening, Sept. 14, at the Fraternal Temple.

The program presented for the guests included saxophone solos by Mrs. Howard Hoffman, accompanied by Mrs. John Johanson; a humorous reading by Miss Helen Mielke; and a group of old-time songs by a mixed quartette composed of Mrs. Jud Lee, Mrs. Dennis Racicot, Eugene Taylor and Nolan Weeks.

Julietta melons featured the refreshment hour, served in the banquet room, which was beautifully decorated with roses and other fall flowers.

Neighboring Chapters represented on the guest list were Ruby, Laurel, Lily, Pine, Craigmountain, Queen Esther and Nitosa.

Circles To Meet
The Evening Circle will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Barbara Choate home. Mrs. Helen Brocke will have charge of the program. A welcome to all who are interested.

Afternoon Circle will meet Thursday with Mrs. Paul Lind. All are urged to be present as this is the last regular meeting before the bazaar.

SCHOOL TIME — SAFETY TIME

The school term is now open throughout the country, bringing with it the children on their way to and from school. These youngsters will once again have to become accustomed to the proper places to walk along the roads, and the proper places to cross. It is a difficult task for the teachers and parents to instruct these young ones properly, especially after they have followed their parents across the streets between intersections during the long summer vacation.

Nevertheless, it is essential that these children learn the proper manner of conduct if they are to survive. It is also the responsibility of every motorist to be especially alert while passing the school zones and cross walks during this training period.

Our hats are off to the School Boy Patrol, who have done such a good job of piloting the little people across the dangerous streets in years gone by. The enthusiasm and care that these boys exhibit, and all without remuneration, merits the thanks and recognition of each of us. The School Boy Patrol consists of students from that school who are interested enough in the safety of everyone in their school that they spend a good many of their play time hours each year, conducting other students across the streets to safety. The position of "Patrol Boy" is actually sought after by the boys of the upper classes.

It is through the efforts of these little patrolmen that the accident record has been held down to practically nothing in our state. They are schooled in the methods that they use, and the other students are taught to obey their instructions.

If you do not have a School Boy Patrol at your local school, it would be a wise move for you, as a member of the local P. T. A., or service club, to look into the development of such an organization. Every parent would rest more easily if they were sure that their children were being properly escorted across the hazardous crossings, and the expense of the organization of this patrol is practically nil.

The next time that you see a little fellow in a red shirt and sam brownie belt stopping the children while he signals you to go through, give him a smile and a salute. He is out there doing a big job, and taking it very seriously. He is trained to detain you no longer than necessary to safeguard those who are crossing. — Dwight Crofford, safety director, Idaho dept. of highways.

Ready To Serve People

U. of I. — Stressing that "we are here to serve the people of Idaho — not ourselves," Acting President D. R. Theophilus this week officially opened the University of Idaho's 62nd academic year with an address before the general faculty.

The dean of the college of agriculture, who was named acting head of the university following the resignation of President J. E. Buchanan, said in his first formal appearance before the entire faculty.

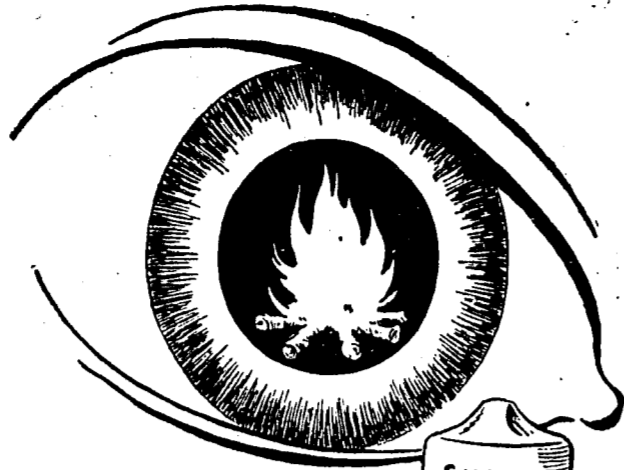

"Again, we as a public-supported institution must appear during this academic year before the bar of public opinion and justify, not of existence — that has been done by you and your predecessors — but our needs for the future. Personally, I look with favor upon giving an accounting of our stewardship of the state university every two years before the legislature, and of explaining the planning of the future. This requirement keeps us constantly alert to our responsibilities and opportunities. It likewise reminds us that this institution was created to serve the people of Idaho."

Elected by the faculty at the meeting to serve on the Academic Council as faculty representatives-at-large were Prof. Mabel Locke, chairman of the department of physical education for women, and Prof. Warren K. Pope, associate agronomist.

Step-Ramp Loading
 Chutes Are Safest
 Many Livestock Yards
 Are Remodeling Ramps

Livestock markets across the nation are continuing in their program of modernization and the installation of step-ramp chutes to replace old wooden chutes that cause great damage to animals.

Cattle prefer steps to the old-style cleats. Many animals are injured and much meat lost from bruising due to the constant prodding necessary to get the animals up and down the old ramps, cattlemen have reported.

The Chicago stock yards recently opened 12 of the modern step-ramp chutes. Of concrete and steel construction, the new chutes are designed to ease the task of unloading stock, and insure safe and efficient operations. Galvanized steel fencing and grates add to the safety features of the dock area. Waffle-grid concrete floorings provide safe footing for animals during the penning process.

The first truck to unload over the ramps brought 24 head of Hereford and Angus steers shipped by Carroll Snola of Onslow, Ia.

Cracked Corn Found Best
 Feed for Suckling Lambs

Tests made at the University of Kentucky experiment station indicate cracked yellow shelled corn is the cheapest and best ration for the creep-feeding of suckling lambs.

Experiments carried on over a period of nine years compared cracked yellow corn with mixture of feeds. These included cracked corn, crushed oats and pea-sized linseed oilmeal; cracked corn and commercial milk substitute, and a third ration composed of "sweet feed" made of corn, oats, bran, linseed oilmeal, molasses and salt.

The experiment was conducted under the most controlled conditions possible. Kentucky educators reported.

The conclusion of the experimenters: "None of the three more costly mixtures showed any consistent or significant superiority to corn alone in rate of gain, efficiency of gain or market finish of the lambs."

The experiments were not designed to answer the question of whether creep-feeding pays, but rather to determine what rations are best for creep-feeding under Kentucky conditions.

Helium Effect on Living Organism Reported at U.C.

Helium, argon and possibly other inert gases—gases which do not combine chemically with other elements—are far from inert in their effect on living organisms.

This is reported by Dr. S. F. Cook, professor of physiology in the University of California school for medicine.

Dr. Cook has completed experiments in which he studied the reactions of small animals living in an artificial atmosphere consisting of oxygen and helium or of oxygen and argon.

The artificial atmosphere contained the same amount of oxygen found in the normal earth's atmosphere—about 20 per cent. But nitrogen, which forms nearly all of the remaining 80 per cent of the earth's atmosphere, was removed and the inert gas substituted in this same proportion. The ordinary atmospheric pressure of sea level was maintained.

When helium was used in such an atmosphere, the physiological processes of mealworms, lizards and mice were markedly changed. Similar, but less marked, changes were observed when argon was used.

The principle effects of the two gases were retardation of growth in the animals and an increase in the metabolic rate—a stepping up of the pace of work done by the body in the living process.

The research indicates that it may be useful to substitute helium for nitrogen in air used by men working in some tunnels, underwater construction projects, and some other conditions of high pressure.

Hard Pad Canine Disease
 Gives Dog Owners Scare

A serious distemper-like infection that leads to hardening of the foot pads and nose is being seen in American dogs, but there is no evidence that it is a new disease or that it is becoming more prevalent.

Alarming reports from England, where the so-called hard pad condition is reported to be widespread, have made many United States dog lovers overly fearful of the disease.

Thickening, hardening, and peeling of the foot pads and nose sometimes occur in advanced stages of distemper or distemper-like illness, but this condition always is seen in company with other symptoms—never alone.

Among theories as to the cause are:

(1) The canine distemper virus may undergo a change, under certain conditions, that causes it to produce symptoms that differ from those seen in typical distemper cases. "Hard pad" may be one of the symptoms so produced.

(2) In some cases, the pure distemper virus—which causes fever, respiratory distress, and diarrhea—may be accompanied by a second virus that brings on the changes in foot pads and nose.

(3) The severe illness caused by distemper or complicated distemper can lead to a temporary nutritional deficiency and loss of body fluids that may account for the thickening and hardening.

Immunization with biological products is the best means of preventing distemper and the hard pad condition.

New Course in Science

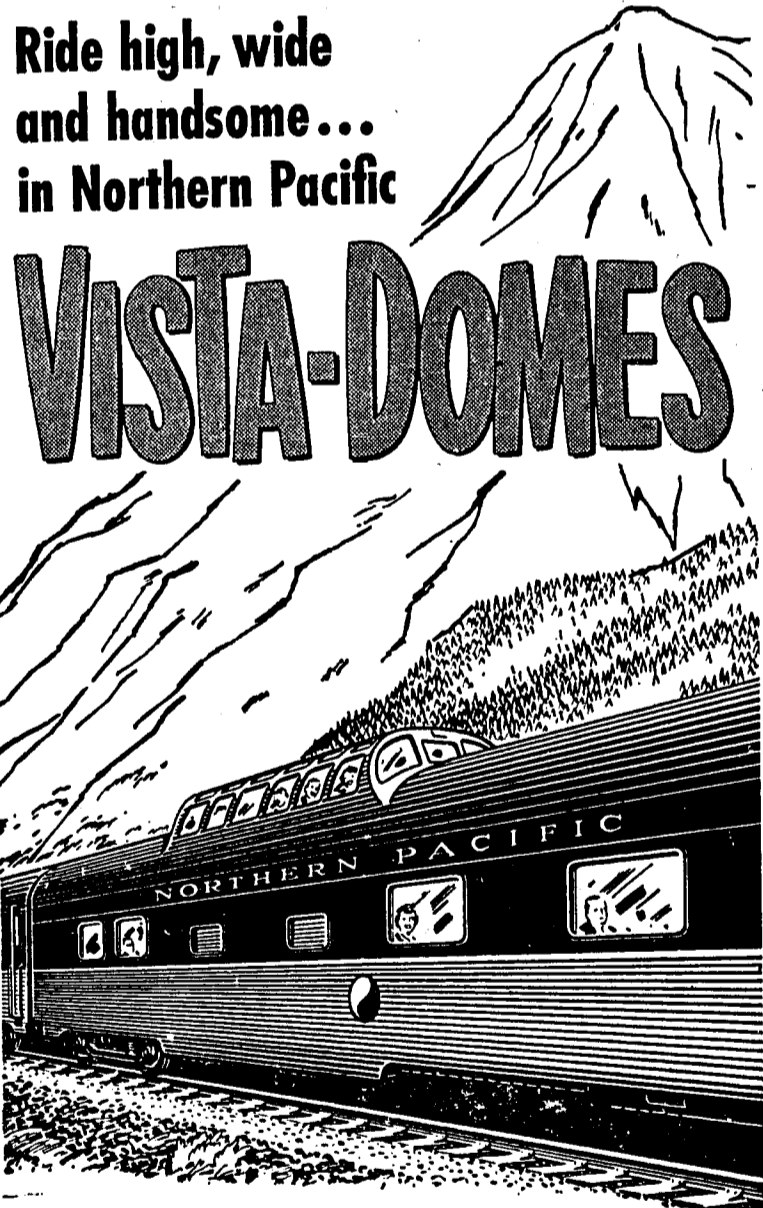

A revolutionary approach to the teaching of science which combines all the sciences in a single course emphasizing their relationship to man was described to the 118th national meeting of the American chemical society held in Chicago, by Dr. John Xan, head of the department of chemistry of Howard college, in Birmingham, Ala. Taught without a text, the course is designed to give students a broad acquaintance with the modern scientific world and an effort is made to stimulate their interest in scientific discoveries and periodicals by basing examinations mainly on knowledge acquired outside the classroom, Dr. Xan reported. Ninety to 95 per cent of students finishing the combined general science course have voted for it in preference to the conventional type of science course.

"Candling" Eggs

Candling is used on practically all eggs before they reach the stores. An electric light is placed inside a box with a hole about the size of an egg, in which the egg is placed. In a darkened room, with some practice, it is possible to detect cracks, blood spots, developing germ and the size of the air cell. The latter is the most important criterion of freshness because it gets larger as moisture escapes and is replaced by air. By comparing a few eggs known to be fresh with others that are older, one may learn how to judge the size of the air cell and the age.

Changing "Hand-Me-Downs"

Giving "hand-me-downs" a new and different color via the dye-bath is one sure way of getting little sister or brother to wear them without resentment. Adding a hem, collar or belt will still further accentuate the "new look." Wash and thoroughly rinse all articles before dyeing, and also remove buttons, buckles and trimmings. Use color remover first, the bureau counsels, when the article is unevenly faded or spotted and when changing to a different color.

LIONS CLUB SPONSORING COMMUNITY CALENDAR PROJECT

The Kendrick Community Lions Club members are attempting to contact everyone in this area to see if they wish to have their name listed on their birthday in the Kendrick Community Calendar.

On the front of the calendar will appear a scene of the community. There will be 28 ads. of local business firms, many of them offering valuable discounts or premiums to subscribers on their birthday anniversary.

Meeting dates of local organizations, so desiring, will also be listed on the calendar.

Chairman Nolan Weeks has named the following team captains to select their cheer crews and canvas the area: Chester Vincent, Joe Forest, Frank Benscoter, Art Foster, Denny Racioc and Vern Choate.

To assure delivery of the calendars by the first of the year it is necessary that orders be placed with one of the solicitors not later than Friday, Oct. 1. Due to the vastness of the area to be covered there will undoubtedly be some who the workers are unable to contact. Those desiring calendars are urged to contact any of the above named Team Captains and place your order — if you have not already done so.

THE Bull itin

Published Weekly by the Union Oil Service at Kendrick
W. L. "Bill" Rogers, Editor

HELLO, FOLKS:

Well, here it is close to the 30th of September, at which time the Washington Water Power Co. is putting on a Cooking and Freezing School at the K. H. S. Gym — sponsored by and proceeds benefit of District Band Uniform Fund. And folks, before you start up that school house hill just before 8:00 p. m., to attend this school, drop in and let us fill your tank with Union 76 or Union 7600 Gasoline. Then notice how easy the "old bus" takes the hill, and how easy it starts after the program is over. There's no substitute for good gasoline and lubricants — and Union has them.

"But my dear," gushed the girl in the railway car, "one must have the right clothes. When I go riding I wear a riding habit; when I go out in the evening, I wear evening dress . . ."

"Really," interrupted the man who was trying hard to read his paper. "And what do you wear to birthday parties?"

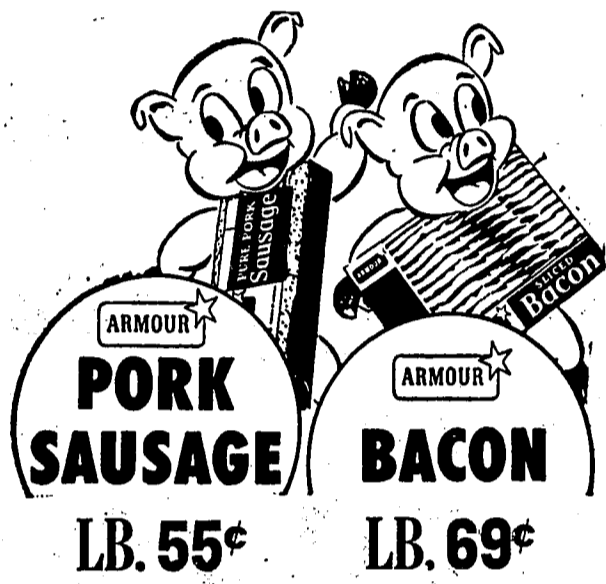

Going big game hunting? If so, let us service your car, pickup or truck before you leave — and talk over your tire problems. There's nothing worse than "banana peel" tires on a slippery mountain road. A grease job, oil change, tank of Union gas — and you're set to take off.

Meal service had be very poor, so the diner did not tip.

"Pardon me, sir," said the waiter taking up the money, "but this includes nothing for the waiter."

"I didn't eat one, did I?" growled the diner.
