JOINT DISTRICT P-T. A. MEET MONDAY NIGHT ON BIG BEAR

The Joint District No. 283 P-T. A. met at the Big Bear Ridge Community hall Monday evening, with Mrs. Russell Perkins, president, presiding.

The meeting opened with the group singing of "America The Beautiful" followed by the Invocation by Rev. F. C. Schmidt.

Committee reports were called for: Mrs. Wm. Johnson, chairman for the Defense Savings Stamp sales were not very brisk at the Kendrick school.

Mrs. E. M. White announced that 476 quarts of fruit and vegetables had been processed since the last meeting, along with 60 more chickens. Mrs. Perkins reported 22 chickens had been added at Southwick. On Membership Mrs. Gerald Ingle reported 70 members now on the roll — with many more needed!

Mrs. Robert Magnuson announced that the Study Group material had not as yet arrived, but that she expected it any day.

Under new business Mrs. Magnuson read the legislative list to be discussed at Lewiston on Oct. 26th. All were invited to avail themselves of this information.

Following an open discussion from the floor a motion was made and carried that our P-T. A. group go on record as favoring some type of legislation that would protect teachers from personal liability suits arising from official duties. After another discussion was held a motion was made and carried stating the local P-T. A. go on record as favoring The Idaho Congress of P-T. A. should support a law to allow district election of school trustees to be conducted the same as election of County Commissioners. This showed 21 votes for and four against.

Mr. Cook announced National Education Week for Nov. 7 through 13. A new plan has been set up, whereby there will be an educational program for parents as well as children. On Nov. 8, parents with elementary school children may meet at their respective schools, and on Nov. 12, parents with Junior and Senior High school students, may meet at the Kendrick High school, both sessions to begin at 7:30 p. m. and last for possibly one and a half hours. The idea is to put the parent in the school room and take him or her through some of the class room routine his child passes, in order to bring the parents and teachers to a better understanding, and thus give the parent a better picture of the entire school program. All parents are invited to share in this program.

Announcements were then called for with Mr. Racicot calling attention to the football game scheduled for Friday evening at 7:00 — Kendrick vs. Kamiah — and urging all to come out and support the team.

The Band Mothers announced a meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bob Magnuson. They also disclosed plans for a card party on Nov. 3 — another project to help pay for those Band Uniforms. All were invited to attend.

Then came the "White Elephant" award, with Gerald Ingle the winner. The program was then turned over to Mr. Meserve, who gave a most interesting as well as enlightening discussion on "The Financial Future of Our Schools, 1954-1955."

The meeting was then adjourned and all enjoyed delicious refreshments served by the Big Bear Ridge ladies.

Land Mark Falls

The big Lombardy Poplar tree at the edge of the Kendrick park — planted when Kendrick was young — and which survived many a town catastrophe, was felled last Friday at the hands of Wayne Kuykendall.

The big tree which stood over 100 feet high and 5 feet through at the stump, had to be taken down in pieces, as it stood so close to the home owned by Mrs. Lettie Israel — and the Memorial Swimming pool. And, just to add difficulty to the situation, TV and light and phone wires were close about.

However, the giant was leveled with no casualties.

Picketing Ends On Road Job

Management and organized labor reached a settlement and union workers were back at work Monday on the road surfacing and reconditioning project at Kendrick.

The only statement either management or labor representatives would give is that the differences were settled and Kenaston & Huntley, which is doing the road work, is all "unionized."

Picketing, which began Wednesday and came as a surprise to company officials, was called off Saturday afternoon. Dale Kenaston, company co-owner, said Monday night. He said any further statements would have to come from union representatives. Harold Fields, Clarkston, representative of Teamsters Local 551, AFL, said Coeur d'Alene union officials told him that the settlement had been reached and that the union men were to return to work. He added that he got no details of the settlement except that the company would be calling for union men as soon as jobs are available.

He had said Friday that the picketing was a result of the company's "stalling on signing a contract for health and welfare insurance for workers and dependents."

Both union and non-union workers were employed at the site and Wilson J. Huntley, company co-owner, had commented Friday that he understood the picketing was being done because the company would not sign a closed shop agreement with the unions involved. Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Heavy Equipment Operators unions, all AFL, Fields had denied then that the unions were asking for a closed shop. — Lewiston Tribune.

Wonderful Fall Weather Ends

Tuesday marked the end of another week of wonderful fall weather — a chill wind and rain reminding one that fall is almost gone and winter is at hand.

A week of sunshine, even warm nights, gave farmers the days of working weather they have been needing to finish late fall work — and most of them took fullest advantage of the opportunity.

Trucks loaded with beans, and even some wheat have been quite a common sight this past week, and had we not had that early killing frost — this would have been one of the most bountiful years that anyone could wish.

Lewis Mill Still Shut Down

The Lewis Sawmill at Kendrick, which closed down about ten days ago due to lack of a steady supply of logs, is expected to remain closed this week, at least.

It is not known just when operations will be resumed.

Word Of John (Mac) McDonald

The first authentic word regarding the whereabouts of John (Mac) McDonald, who disappeared on Thursday, Sept. 23, while supposedly attending the Nez Perce County Fair, at Lewiston, reached here this past week-end from Mrs. A. Onstott, former resident.

Mrs. Onstott, in a letter to Dick Cuddy, and in talking with her son, Manning Onstott, says that she saw Mr. McDonald at the bus depot in Walla Walla, Wash., about 4:00 p. m., on Friday, Sept. 24.

She was in the depot awaiting the departure of her bus, and Mr. McDonald was at the ticket window. Very shortly after she saw him a bus left for Seattle, and he either left the depot at that time, or took the Seattle bus — and it is believed he did the latter.

Mrs. Onstott adds that she did not talk to "Mac," but he was dressed exactly as described in the Gazette, and as she has known him for many years the identification is positive.

Since this information, the Seattle police have been notified, and it is hoped Mr. McDonald can be located — as it is possible he is suffering with amnesia.

At any rate it is a relief to his friends to know that he is not at the bottom of the Clearwater river, as has been feared for some time.

WHY WE BELIEVE IN THE BIBLE

1. Jesus placed His approval on the Scriptures and continually referred to the law, the prophets and the Psalms.
2. Because of its fulfilled prophecies — Hundreds of prophecies, fulfillment of which was exceedingly improbable when made, have been fulfilled in the minutest detail.
3. Because of the Unity of the Book. The Bible is composed of sixty-six different books, written in three languages, by some forty different authors over a sixteen-hundred-year period, yet has an absolute unity of thought.
4. Because of the immeasurable superiority of the teachings of the Bible to those of any other and all other books. The Bible contains all truth, nothing but truth, and more truth than all other books put together.
5. The history of the Book, its victory over attack. The Bible has been forbidden, chained, burned and banned. If it were man's book it would have been forgotten long ago.

Soap Holes Found Value in Disguise

Produce Magic Mud With Multiple Uses

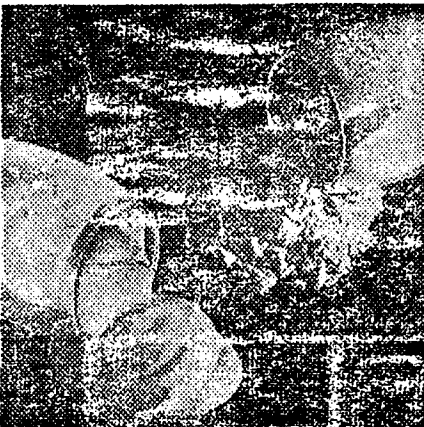

Ever since Belle Fourche, S. D., was a rip-snorting cattle town at the end of the old Chisholm trail its residents have been damning the "soap holes" that plagued the area.

Fast-riding cowboys often took a nasty tumble in this super-slippery mud and cattle were forever getting bogged down in them.

But now, like a man discovering his hives are really a blessing, Belle Fourche has found its soap holes are one of its biggest assets.

Every one of them is filled with a magic mud called bentonite. It's an odorless, tasteless, soapy mud with a thousand uses and scientists are thinking up new ones every day.

Most of us already are using it a half dozen times a day, but almost nobody has heard of it. Men use it in shoe polish and hand cleaners. Women use it in face powder, lotions, beauty cream. Bentonite also is found in many types of paint, plaster and cleaning agents. It's handy for filling holes in giant dams and for casting moulds for molten metal. Forced down thousands of feet into the earth this magic mud lubricates the drills in oil wells and sends the debris up to the drillers.

Bentonite is the most absorbent material found in nature. When moistened it swells to several times its normal size. This quality makes it useful in waterproofing housing foundations and many other industrial uses.

Its new uses and increasing popularity for its older uses all add up to a boom such as Belle Fourche hasn't seen since the gold rush.

In the past 10 years the population has practically doubled and bentonite now pours $600,000 a year into the town in the form of additional purchasing power.

Fifteen years ago Belle Fourche shipped out three carloads of bentonite. Last year its production was 6,187 carloads and this year they expect carloading to go considerably higher.

Scientists say that bentonite, a strange mixture made up mostly of dust from prehistoric volcanoes, is found almost nowhere in the world except in the Black Hills of Wyoming and South Dakota.

It is the most absorbent material nature ever has devised, they say, and a half dozen teaspoonful will soak up a glass of water.

Report Thorough Cooking Of Pork Cuts Down Disease

Thorough cooking of fresh pork can help to reduce materially the incidence of trichinosis, an infection from diseased pork, it was shown in a report made public by Dr. Rodney R. Beard of San Francisco.

Dr. Beard credited that as one of the factors in an apparent two-thirds reduction in the incidence of trichinosis in San Francisco since 1936.

Trichinosis is caused by Trichinella spiralis worms which sometimes are found in pork. The worms lay eggs in the human intestinal tract. The embryos work their way into muscles, especially the diaphragm, where they develop. Diarrhea, nausea, colic and fever are the usual early symptoms of the disease, followed later by stiffness, pain, swelling of the muscles, fever, sweating and insomnia. The seriousness of the infection depends upon the degree to which the pork has been infected. Severe infections may cause death.

Dr. Beard cited a 1936 study in San Francisco of a random sampling of 200 human diaphragms taken at autopsy. Trichinosis worms were found in 24 per cent of the organs. A more recent study of 161 diaphragms, also a random sampling, showed only 8 per cent were infected—a decrease of two thirds.

He first pointed out that federal, state and local regulations now assure adequate processing of pork products intended to be eaten without cooking. In San Francisco, for example, stringently enforced rules by the local Department of Public Health provide for adequate salting and drying of Italian style salami, an uncooked product, or possible prior killing of trichinae by freezing.

Another factor he mentioned was the reduction in the proportion of pork from garbage-fed hogs. War-time scarcity of labor, difficulties of transportation and other factors.

Statisticians Report Life Safest Ages Nine and Ten

Life in the United States is safest at ages nine and ten, according to Insurance Company statisticians, and less safe during the first year than at any age to and including 66.

This is based upon an analysis by the statisticians of mortality data for the general population in 1949, as reported by the National Office of Vital Statistics.

An all-time high of 67.6 years in expectation of life at birth registered during the year represents a gain of fully 4 years since 1940, the statisticians note, and a gain of 18 1/2 years since the start of the century.

Our greatest gains in life expectation, it is pointed out, have been at the early ages. At birth the gain in life expectation for males during the decade has been more than three years, whereas at age 40 the increase was less than a year.

"This reflects the strides made in the control of the infections of early life," the statisticians explain, "in contrast to the limited progress which has been made in the control of the chronic diseases of middle and later life. Then, too, with an unchanged life span limit of about 100 years, the closer that limit is reached the smaller is the margin left for gain."

The extent to which women live longer than men is greater than ever before. According to mortality conditions prevailing in 1949, women outlive men by an average of 5.6 years, as compared with 4.5 years at the beginning of the decade.

Even if there should be no further improvement in mortality, most people now living in the United States can expect to live beyond the biblical three score and ten years, according to the statisticians.

Finding Fingerprints

Criminal investigators use various methods to make fingerprints visible, depending on the surface where the fingerprint is located, its age, and other factors. When one touches a surface with the fingers, the ridges on the finger tips usually leave an invisible pattern of perspiration. If the print is on light-colored paper, and not more than a few days old, finely powdered lampblack or graphite dusted over it will usually make it visible. On a dark surface a white powder would be required. For older prints, there are various methods using chemicals which react with the minute amount of salts, such as potassium and sodium chloride, left after the perspiration has dried. In one such method, the paper bearing latent prints is dipped in a weak solution of silver nitrate, which converts the chlorides into silver chloride.

Aid for Key Losers

Motor-car-key forgetters or losers will be interested to know that Edward J. Tobin of Norfolk has come to the rescue with his invention of a combination lock to take the place of keys for automobiles. With this dial on your instrument panel, you can forget your key, but not your combination. It works like the combination on a safe. National Patent Council suggests that the combination numbers be kept with your driver's license. Tobin's patent is good for 17 years, and by that time he hopes combination locks will be clicking in autos throughout a good part of the motor world.

When he was seeking their votes in 1952, candidate Eisenhower promised American farmers: "The Republican Party is pledged to the sustaining of 90% parity price supports. . . . We must find methods of obtaining greater protection for our producers of meat, milk, eggs, fruit and vegetables."

GLEN TAYLOR says: "I stand squarely on the broken promises of the Republican Party. I am for the kind of program the Republicans promised. I am against what they have done."

On September 25th, Secretary Benson announced that acreage controls on feed grains were to be removed. On September 22nd, three days before this announcement, The Wall Street Journal said: "The decision to cut supports on these crops had, in fact, already been made but would not be disclosed until after election."

Sit-Down Dentist's Career Is Longer, Professor Says

Several years of service will be added to the life of the average dentist if he sits down part of the time while he works.

This is the belief of Edgar W. Swanson, D.D.S., M.S.D., professor of operative dentistry at Northwestern university dental school, who recommends that dentists use operative stools at least 50 per cent of the time.

Dr. Swanson said students in the operative technique laboratory at the Northwestern dental school use operative stools about 60 per cent of the time. Students in the clinics use the stools from 10 to 80 per cent per operation.

Northwestern, convinced that operative stools will be used more widely by dentists to eliminate fatigue and extend their years of service, trains students in the use of the stools.

To obtain more accurate information on the reaction of students to the stools, the school recently sent a questionnaire to every member of its senior class.

The first question was: "Do you feel as tired at the end of the day when you have used an operating stool as you do when you have operated from the conventional standing position?" All but three answered "no." Two of those answering "yes" said it may have been due to their limited experience with the use of a stool.

The second question was: "Do you like the idea of sitting while operating?" All answered "yes." To the question, "Would you do more operating from a sitting position if more stools were available?" All senior students answered "yes."

Dr. Swanson points out that the operative stool enables a dentist to change his position during the day, which is extremely important in preventing fatigue.

Sugar-Graving Animals Lured by Poison Plants

There may be danger ahead when livestock pass up lush pastures in favor of weeds and tough plants.

The attraction may be a poisonous spray or other chemical that gives ordinary unpalatable weeds and plants a special taste-appeal.

A bulletin issued by the American Veterinary medical association explains it this way: Certain chemicals used in farming, such as sodium chlorate, turn plant starches to sugar, and animals with a "sweet tooth" readily eat the sprayed plants.

Not all the chemicals used for spraying crops and treating soil are poisonous to animals, the AVMA emphasizes, but many of them are. The severity of poisoning varies directly with the kind of chemical and the amount of treated plants the animals consume.

Experiments are still being made to test the safety of various new chemicals on the market, and until all the facts are known, livestock farmers are advised to use only those proved to be safe and to follow manufacturers' instructions.

Resistant Plants

Plant diseases are no respecters of experimental plots. As a result scientists have sometimes acquired valuable information in the nick of time. So it was in the case of Victoria blight of oats, which invaded breeding plots and demonstrated to plant breeders of the U. S. department of agriculture and some of the middle west state experiment stations a type of disease resistance soon to be needed on a large scale. Clinton—and some of the other new varieties of oats derived from the Bond variety—in that way became known as resistant to a disease soon to be rampant in the Mississippi valley. This disease attacked the widely-grown oat varieties derived from the Victoria oat brought in from South America.

Vanishing Wildlife

Gone from the British Isles since World War II is the great bustard, Europe's largest land bird. Going or gone from haunts in Florida and vicinity is the ivory-billed woodpecker, largest of its clan. Deserting the Bahamas in alarming fashion is the tall, scarlet, hued flamingo, whose one United States haven is at Hialeah park, Miami, Florida. Whales, vital food source for many Europeans, long have been reduced to scarcity in northern hemisphere waters. Blue whales, biggest of all, currently show signs of sharp depletion in Antarctic whaling grounds. A new international treaty shortens the hunting season as a whale conservation measure.

First Tank Car

On November 1, 1865, about six years after the world's first oil well was opened at Titusville, Pennsylvania, the first tank car was loaded in that city. It was a flat car fitted with two wooden tanks shaped like inverted tubs. Many of these "rotary" oil cars, as they were called, were used for transporting oil from the Pennsylvania wells, until replaced by the present type of horizontal cylindrical tank, fitted with a dome which allows the oil to expand without injury to the tank. The first of this type was introduced in 1868.

Find Clue to Mortality Among Baby Calves, Pigs

Nobody knows definitely why many newborn calves and pigs die shortly after they begin to nurse, but a theory advanced by research veterinarians is winning acceptance because it seems to be the most logical explanation yet offered.

Picture a starving man who eats food that makes him violently ill, only to die from the illness rather than from starvation, and you will have an idea of what is believed to be happening to countless pigs, and calves too, on the nation's farms. The main difference is that the newborn animals die after consuming their mother's milk—the very thing upon which they depend for life.

This is how the trouble starts: While the cow or sow is pregnant, she is attacked by a virus disease that may or may not be apparent to the owner. Her natural body forces produce substances called antibodies that fight off the infection, and at the same time some of these antibodies find their way to the unborn calf or pig.

Large amounts of them also go into the colostrum or first milk, that will nourish the youngster after birth. These disease-fighting substances have a sensitizing effect on the unborn animal. Then, after birth, when the youngster starts to consume colostrum, it gets a large dose of the antibodies and dies from shock.

Prevention of such losses is a problem now confronting veterinarians. While the colostrum from affected cows and sows is obviously harmful, it also has many properties vital to the survival and health of calves and pigs. Ordinary milk and other feedstuffs do not contain all of these essential properties, and so far satisfactory artificial foods have not been developed for practical farm use.

Veterinarians Tell Ways To Prevent Pig Scours

These five suggestions for keeping scours out of the spring pig crop are offered by swine disease authorities of the American veterinary medical association:

1. Set up a definite schedule for feeding the sow. Irregular feeding results in an uneven flow of milk that causes nursing pigs to go hungry at one feeding and then scour from overeating at the next.
2. Don't overfeed the sow. Newborn pigs often scour because the brood sow is being overfed. Give her only warm water and no solid feed the first day after farrowing and a small amount of bran or oats the second day. After that, the ration can be increased a little each day so that she is on full feed within two weeks.
3. Feed a balanced ration. If the sow gets too much corn, her litter is almost sure to scour.
4. Keep sows away from mud holes, manure, and filth. Many cases of pig scours are traceable to filth consumed while nursing.
5. Protect pigs against sharp changes in temperature. Failure to keep pigs warm when the weather suddenly turns cold will cause outbreaks of digestive trouble.

Saws Used in Home

The saws commonly used in the home are the hacksaw and the handsaw. The hacksaw is used to cut metal and the handsaw to cut wood. There are two types of handsaws, the rip saw to cut with the grain and the crosscut to saw across the grain. All saws should be kept sharp. In starting a saw cut, the thumb of the left hand should be used to guide the blade until the cut is started at the desired location. The first stroke of the saw should be in the up direction. Sufficient pressure should be used when starting the cut so that the saw immediately begins to bite into the wood.

Warning to Cattlemen

Stock owners who use grazing land that adjoins oil lines and tanks are warned to watch out for crude oil poisoning in their herds. A bulletin from veterinary medical authorities cautions that the lines and tanks occasionally spring leaks, leaving pools of oil, and cattle may consume enough of it to be fatally poisoned. Animals on poor grazing land seem to have a special liking for crude oil, the bulletin adds. Cattlemen also are advised to keep their animals off pastures fronting recently oiled roads, particularly during rainy weather. The reason is that rain may wash enough oil onto the pasture to poison all or part of a herd.

Early Days of Indiana

Indiana territory's initial 1,000 settlers came from Kentucky, Virginia, and the Carolinas. They built their cabins in the south, along the Ohio and lower Wabash. They found the farm land rich, and when, in 1813, they moved their capital to Corydon, 20 trail miles west of Louisville, their number was 30,000. The total had jumped to 75,000 by late 1816, when statehood was won. There were a million and a half Hoosiers in Civil war days. By that time, the state's "naturals" in crops—corn, wheat, and hogs—had been found. Hominid and hogs continue to be good Hoosier fare.

Night-Time Speed Limit

Shorter autumn days and longer nights have come to Idaho, and the Traffic Safety division of the department of law enforcement, is reminding motorists of the state's night-time speed limit.

The top legal night speed is 55 miles per hour, but slowly changing conditions from summer into autumn and into winter are catching many motorists unaware. Only a few short weeks ago it was still daylight at 8:00 p. m., but now?

Idaho's legal code says that speed must be reduced to 55 miles per hour during the night-time. The best rule for motorists to use in determining when to change from daytime limit to night speeds is to slow down when the gathering dusk becomes heavy enough to cause headlights to be turned on.

The department warns, however, that the twilight hours just before sunrise and after sunset are considered the most dangerous. Conditions of semi-darkness make it difficult to see clearly for any great distances down the road.

Safe driving makes it advisable to turn on one's headlights as soon as bright daylight begins to fade. It makes your own vehicle more easily visible to approaching drivers as well as aiding your own "see-ability."

The department also warns of the danger of over-driving one's headlights at night. He pointed out that the car's speed should be such that it can be safely brought to a full stop within range of the headlights.

— Harold Davis, Safety Director.

Plant Lawns In The Fall

U. of I.—Sowing the lawns in the fall of the year gives the grass time to become established at a time when the temperature and season are not suitable for weed growth, says Earl New, flower and landscape man at the University of Idaho.

"The grasses that we grow in this country seem to do best in cool, moist weather such as we find in the usual Idaho autumn," New explains. "And weeds do best during the warmer days. If we can get the grass well along with its root system in the early fall, we have fewer weeds to fight when spring comes."

COME AND HEAR A MAN WITH A MESSAGE

REV. I. G. CANARY

There will be services at the COMMUNITY CHURCH IN SOUTHWICK, EACH EVENING AT 7:30. OCT. 24 — NOV. 7.

Rev. I. G. Canary, recently resigned from a successful pastorate in Portland to move to Clarkston, Wash. He has conducted successful revival meetings in Yakima, Wash., and in Coeur d'Alene.

Rev. Canary has had a number of years experience in pastoral work as well as in the field of evangelism. He knows his God and his Bible, and he knows how to preach.

You are invited to come and enjoy the services.

New's choice of the lawn grasses is still Kentucky blue or Merion blue, with creeping red fescue for the shady places. A light mulch of peat moss, sawdust, or a mixture of the two is good to hold moisture until the grass is large enough to cover the ground, New points out. Liberal amounts of commercial nitrogen fertilizer give the grass seedlings a needed boost for the first few months.

You can save yourself a lot of trouble by not borrowing any. A man is usually known by "the company he keeps away from."

Buy it in Kendrick — it's home! gets ahead.

Fight Weeds In The Fall

Good licks against weeds in grain can be struck in the fall. Three methods are recommended by the county agent on the basis of research by the University of Idaho.

Plowing, discing or spraying the stubble immediately after harvest will stop the seed production of all weeds. It chops them off before they can lay the groundwork for an infestation next year.

A spraying of 2,4-D will prevent seed production of weeds that are sensitive to that chemical. It will knock down some common pest plants but the weed specialists warn that it will not stop the seeding of grass weeds or resistant broad-leaf species.

Modern Dentistry Can Aid Youth with Cleft Palate

The role of modern dentistry in the total rehabilitation of young men and women with cleft lip or cleft palate so they can lead happy useful lives is revealed in the Journal of the American dental association.

Asserting that more children are born with this condition than any other congenital deformity, Dr. Herbert K. Cooper, director of the Lancaster, Pa., cleft plate clinic, estimated that at least one out of every 700 children has this handicap.

"The most frequently found condition has been getting the least amount of attention," he said. "The citizens of this country should be as well informed on the subject of cleft palate as they are on poliomyelitis, cerebral palsy and rheumatic fever."

Citing cases of patients treated at the clinic, Dr. Cooper told of a youth, 17, born with a cleft lip and cleft palate. During infancy, surgery had been performed, leaving him with a flat upper lip and very poor speech.

"He shunned all social contacts," Dr. Cooper said. "He left high school and was driving a truck. His whole family was extremely upset."

Dr. Cooper said the youth was given a medical, dental, speech and psychological examination. An appliance was constructed to build out the upper lip and cheeks and thimble crowns were placed on his five remaining upper teeth. At the same time, he was given speech instruction.

The boy was persuaded to finish high school, Dr. Cooper said, and he then was admitted to college. He added:

"The first two years were quite difficult for him because of his social adjustment problem, which he gradually overcame. Then he was taken into a fraternity and was graduated on the dean's list. He is now attending law school in a large university."

U.S. Still Leads World In Production of Matches

It's pretty difficult to get something for nothing these days, but there's one item left that is used by the average person 14 times a day, and two out of five times he doesn't have to pay. That little item is the match.

The manufacture of matches is a $25 million-a-year industry in the United States. Each year, more than 500 billion matches are produced, and of 200 billion book matches made in the United States every year, about 196 billion are given away with the sale of cigars, cigarettes, and tobacco.

Sweden had us topped for many years in the production of matches. The Swedish Match Company, formed in 1913 by Ivar Krueger, had match factories in 43 countries of the world and manufactured most of the world's matches. Krueger is said to have invented the common superstition that "three on a match" is unlucky, in order to sell more matches. His match empire lasted until 1932, when it was discovered he'd been using the company's capital for his own speculations.

Sweden now ranks fourth down the line led by the United States. Great Britain ranks second and the Soviet Union third.

Spices In History

There are many references to spices and herbs in the pages of history. They play important parts in the development of our civilization. The ancients attributed strange powers and accomplishments to spices. Basil, for example, is venerated by the Hindus who plant it outside their temples and homes to insure happiness. The famed laurel wreaths which crowned Greek heroes of war and sport are the same bay leaves we use today in our cooking.

Freezing of Water Pipes

Freezing is most likely to occur in pipes which run along an outside wall. This hazard should be corrected by re-location of the pipes, if possible. If this is impractical, thorough insulation with from two and one-half to three inches of good pipe covering is the only safeguard. Should any of the piping freeze, the work of thawing it should not be entrusted to a handyman. It should be done under the supervision of an experienced master plumber. Blow torches or other methods involving open flames are extremely dangerous. They not only involve fire hazards but also permit the generation of high pressures which may cause explosions.

Gregorian Calendar

The form of our present calendar was set by Julius Caesar with some additional innovations by Augustus Caesar. However, in about 1500 years the length of year adopted by the Caesars proved incorrect. Therefore, Pope Gregory, in 1582, appointed a commission which revised the calendar sufficiently to bring it back in step with the seasons. Now it takes 3000 years for the calendar to slip out of line one day. The Protestant countries did not accept the Gregorian calendar until 1752 and this is why certain dates in history sometimes appear to be confused.

Most Life Policy Benefits Go to Widows, Children

Reflecting the basic use of life insurance in family financial planning, wives, children and other relatives appear to be the directly named beneficiaries in more than 80 percent of all life policy death claims, the Institute of Life Insurance says. This is indicated by an Institute analysis of one month's claims in the United States.

Applied to the year's probable total of death claims, the one month's distribution would indicate that this year, wives, children and relatives will be beneficiaries of some 1,200,000 life insurance policies, with total benefits about $1,400,000,000. Wives and children alone would account for $1,225,000,000. In addition, they will receive a considerable share of the 7 percent of claims and 14 percent of benefit payments which go to estates and other beneficiaries, excepting husbands.

Husbands were shown to be beneficiaries in 11 percent of the policies, although they received only 4 percent of aggregate benefits, reflecting the smaller average size of policies owned by women.

The month's claim analysis also revealed that, while the majority of death claims were paid on policies which had been in force a number of years, there was a large number in the early life of policies, even in the first year. Although great care is taken in selecting applicants, with those to whom policies are issued being in apparent relatively good health, nearly 5 percent of policies becoming death claims were found to be less than a year old. This would indicate that this year there will be some 70,000 death claims within a year of issuance of policies, with nearly $100,000,000 involved.

Nearly one-sixth of all claims were shown to be under policies less than five years old. Almost 40 percent of the claims and just over 40 percent of the amount of benefits paid were under policies in force 20 years or more.

Preventive Measures Urged As Safeguard Against Stroke

The best way to avoid a stroke, third among leading causes of death in this country, is to recognize its possibility and make physical readjustments that may help to stave it off.

In the absence of serious systemic diseases such as diabetes and syphilis, there is not much chance of the average person having a stroke before 45 years of age, according to Dr. William Bolton, associate editor of the magazine, Today's Health. But, virtually everyone past middle age is a possible candidate. The following precautions were recommended.

1. Obtain prompt, active treatment of systemic diseases.
2. Do not become or remain overweight.
3. Watch blood pressure that tends to become high.
4. Obtain regular physical check-ups.

"Strokes vary from widespread, devastating ones that bludgeon their victims into oblivion to tiny ones producing such vague, indefinite signs that they often escape immediate detection," he said. "The basic cause in both extremes is identical: escape of blood into the brain tissue. The amount of bleeding and its location near to or far from vital centers or important nerve pathways are the chief factors that determine severity in strokes.

"Not all strokes are the result of direct escape of fluid from blood vessels into brain tissue. Some physicians lean strongly to the belief that temporary spasm in a blood vessel may be a common cause.

"Another fairly common event is formation of a clot within one or more of the tiny arteries in the brain.

"There is increased possibility of stroke in certain diseases."

Tough Case

Recognizing the fact that portable movie projectors are often carried into all sorts of climates and that they must withstand the hard knocks incident to travel, the manufacturer of one such machine has devised a special carrying case that is able to "take it." Built of birch and basswood, high frequency radio waves are used to set the adhesive that binds the panels so they can never pull apart. The case is then dipped in a synthetic resin sealer that checks decay and minimizes moisture absorption. It is then primed, sanded, and painted with a spatter finish. Allowed to cure for three weeks, the finish is hard and durable. Even after years of intensive service, it does not become brittle or chip away from the wood.

Pre-War Army

Six months before World War II began, the Army contained 29 infantry and cavalry divisions at nearly full strength, totaling more than 450,000 officers and men, plus an armored force of four divisions with a total strength of 40,000 troops. The Army history, "Washington Command Post: The Operations Division," credits mobilization of the National Guard and induction under the Selective Service Act for this rapid expansion of strength.

N. I. C. C. To Meet Nov. 12-13
The city of Moscow and the Moscow Chamber of Commerce will host the fall meeting of the North Idaho Chamber of Commerce on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 12 and 13.
Victor S. Casebolt of Moscow, president of the N. I. C. C., reports that a large delegation representing the 11 north Idaho counties is expected. Also expected to attend will be the newly elected legislators from these counties and the newly elected Governor of Idaho.
Several speakers for the program have already been obtained, said Mr. Casebolt, among them being Gov. Len Jordan, who will speak during the Saturday morning session. Others are Dean D. R. Theophilus, acting president of the University of Idaho; W.

R. Jarmon, Spokane, president of the General Telephone Co. of the Northwest; Hamilton Owen of the Industrial Bureau, Spokane Chamber of Commerce, and F. H. Garrett, Boise, executive director of the Idaho Employment Security Agency.
Among the many important items of business to come before the group will be the adoption of numerous resolutions, selecting the place for the 1955 spring meeting, and the election of new officers.
N. I. C. C. sessions will actually adjourn on Saturday at noon to allow delegates to witness the "Dad's Day" football game between the University of Idaho, and the University of North Dakota.

4-H Leader Meetings Set
U. of I. — Dates for six 4-H leader training and recognition meetings were announced this week by Dan E. Warren, state club leader of the University of Idaho extension service. The series will start at Moscow on November 11.
At each meeting leaders of the youth clubs will receive instructions in conducting programs and methods of teaching. Men and women who have long service will receive pins.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES FOR IDAHO LEGISLATURE

WHY IS THE TREND DEMOCRATIC ? ? ? ?

- It's because since 1951, farm prices have fallen 18 per cent, but consumer food prices have remained at record peaks. The price of wheat went down 32 per cent, but the price of bread went up 23 per cent.
 - It's because the 1952 GOP platform promised "a farm program at full parity prices for all farm products in the market place." Instead from the GOP inauguration until June 15, 1954, the farmer got a 7 per cent drop in the parity ratio and a 10 per cent drop in farm prices.
 - It's because there was a $700 million drop in net farm income (1953 as compared with 1952)—and in the first five months of this year, net farm income ran $400 million behind the first five months of 1953.
 - It's because the only report the administration issued on defense contracts showed that 100 corporations were getting 64 per cent of all defense contracts—a record high.
 - It's because a Republican congress has refused point-blank to do anything about the crisis in U. S. education needs.
 - It's because the American family of today with a $3,500 income is paying 25 per cent of it in taxes.
 - It's because under the new tax bill a worker for the Idaho Power Co. earning $5,000 per year would pay $420 in taxes—but a shareholder receiving $5,000 in dividends would only pay $200.
 - It's because the Eisenhower "tight money" policy has cost us taxpayers an added $450 million in higher interest rates.
 - It's because interest rates on commodity loans have been raised by 1/2 per cent, which will mean a $14 million annual loss to farmers and $14 million gain for the bankers who handle these loans.
 - It's because the administration talked about "massive retaliation" and at the same time launched a series of defense cutbacks.
 - It's because of many other reasons—such as the well-known "give-away" policy of the administration—that the trend is definitely Democratic.
 - In short, it's because the voters have once again learned that the Democratic party is the party of the people. And when the ballots are cast this November 2nd, the Republican Party will once more be shown that this country won't hold still for a government solely for Big Business.

THE Bull itin

Published Weekly by the Union Oil Service at Kendrick
W. L. "Bill" Rogers, Editor

HELLO, FOLKS:

Well, here it is the third week in October — and hasn't it been wonderful fall weather? Warm and pleasant. Of course, we have not yet reached a decision on whether the warmth has been due to the "hot air" the politicians have been putting out, or whether it came from stoves and furnaces burning Union Stove Oil. Could it be both? —

Anyhow, it's time to bring in your car, truck or pickup and have it filled with Prestone, Zerone, or some other good brand of anti-freeze — for winter's bound to come!

Minister: "It is said that the advent of the auto has increased the use of profanity at least 50%." Country Minister: "Maybe, but think how it has cut down horse stealing!"

There is no substitute for good lubricants. We sell them and know how to apply them to your car, pickup or truck. Bring that vehicle in and let us prepare it for winter with a "lub job, oil change, etc." Try our products and our service. You'll like both.

Giddy Gal: "Was your uncle's mind vigorous and sane to the last?"

Play Boy: "I don't know. The will won't be read until tomorrow."

Come in and let us show you the famous U. S. Royal Mud and Snow Tread tire. Its scientifically developed tread assures you the utmost in traction and safety. One look will make all its advantages plain.
