Donkey Basketball Game
 It was fun — and more fun — when two teams of "basketball" players — mounted? — on donkeys, tangled on the Kendrick gym floor Wednesday evening of last week.

Comprising the "Red" team was Elroy Kuykendall, Dave Crocker, Ronald Lohman, Wayne Baillie and Bob Magnuson. On the Yellow team was to be found Nolan Weeks, Ira Havens, Don Millard, Ron Craig and Pete Stump. Chas. Candler was the official "groom" for the evening — but actually had nothing to do.

It was nip and tuck basketball all the way through, the first quarter ending, Reds 6, Yellows 4. At the half it was 10-all — and in the final accounting the Reds — or was it the Yellows? won 24 to 26.

Wayne Baillie, mounted (?) on Annabelle put on, beyond a doubt, the best bucking exhibition of the evening, and Wayne said he was "plumb tuckered out" towing that d--- donk around the floor. He added he didn't realize how many acres were in a gym. floor until last Wednesday evening.

Proposes License Increase
 Boise, — State Rep. Harold Snow (R) of Moscow, said this week his Highways and Aeronautics Committee plans to introduce legislation that would provide the state with increased revenue from truck licensing.

The measure, Snow said, would be introduced in the House as a companion bill to last week's proposal to boost auto license fees as much as $20.00.

Snow, who holds membership on the House Agricultural and State Affairs committee as well as being the chairman of the Highways and Aeronautics group, said the auto license fee boost, if passed, would take effect January 1, 1956.

Under the proposal it would cost $25.00 to license a car one year old, $20.00 for vehicles two and three years old; $15.00 for cars four, five and six years old, and $10.00 for vehicles seven years or older.

Present fees are a flat $5.00 per year for any car, regardless of age.

Snow explained that if application is made for a new license after July 1st of any year, under the new proposal, only half of the annual fee would be collected.

He added that the age of a motor vehicle would be determined by subtracting the manufacturer's year designation from the year in which the fee is paid.

The ring was placed on a nosegay and passed by her roommate, Janice Christensen sang "With These Hands."

No date has been set for the wedding.

DONALD A. MILLER, VETERAN MAIL CARRIER, PASSES SUNDAY

Donald A. Miller, veteran mail carrier on RFD No. 1, Kendrick, died at 2:30 p. m. Sunday. Death was caused by a heart ailment, from which he had suffered for the last two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller, accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crocker, had driven up onto Big Bear ridge on a short ride, and in turning around at the road intersection near the Wild Rose Chapel, got a little too close to the edge of the road, and the car became stuck in the soft snow. Mr. Miller produced a shovel, dug a little snow from in front of the wheels, got back into the car, started the engine to drive out, announced that he felt faint, and passed away, his heart having failed.

Mr. Crocker went to the K. D. Ingle home, from where Dr. D. A. Christensen was called, and aid obtained, the body being brought to Kendrick and then taken to the Brower-Wann Funeral Home, Lewiston.

Mr. Miller was born July 12, 1899, at Warsaw, Ind., and came west with his family four years later to the Big Bend country in central Washington. When he was 20, he moved to Kendrick, where he had lived since. He was united in marriage to Eula Crocker, Dec. 9, 1922, at Lewiston.

In 1925 Mr. Miller became the carrier on RFD No. 1 from Kendrick, and had held that position since.

He was one of the friendliest of men, always calling a greeting: "Hello Ed," "Hello Bill," "Hello Bob," etc., as he walked down the street. He was always ready to help out a friend or neighbor, and when someone along the mail route was ill or travel conditions had frequently delivered the mail right at the door — a deed which endeared him to all.

One might also add that Don loved little children, and was never in too big a hurry to play with them, fix a skate, repair a kite, or do a like "good turn" for the youngsters. His kindly ways and deeds will long be remembered.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Eula Miller, at home; a son, Wallace D. Miller, Lewiston Orchards; a half-brother, Wallace Brammer, Harrington, Wash.; a step-brother, Alfred R. Brammer, Omak, Wash.; two step-sisters, Mrs. Della Johnson, Portland, and Mrs. Helen Johnson, Spokane; and a grandson, Jon Miller, Lewiston Orchards. One son, Dale, preceded him in death.

Funeral services were Wednesday, January 26, at 2:00 p. m. from the Kendrick Community Church.

Chimney Fire At Temple

Monday evening at 7:20 the fire siren sounded, and inquiry revealed a blaze at the Fraternal Temple.

Logging Operations Cease

The rain and snow of the past few days has very effectively stopped all logging operations in this section, so far as hauling and general woods work goes, but some loading, on cars, from previously hauled logs has been going forward.

Local mills, however, have a very good supply on hand, and should be able to continue operations until it is possible to resume hauling this coming spring.

Condition Unchanged

Ira Foster, who suffered a stroke some months ago, is reported to be in about the same condition, showing little or no improvement.

The total weight of all insects on earth today is estimated to be greater than the weight of all land animals.

A LONG TIME AGO

Forty Years Ago
 Phone Company Makes Changes — The Gold Hill and Park Telephone Co held a meeting at Gold Hill last Saturday evening. Considerable business was transacted. The plan is to continue the metallic system from Pine Creek through to Park, thus making one of the best lines in the country. Another improvement will be to remove all wires now fastened to trees and place them on regular poles, thus making it a still more substantial line.

Business Is Good — Those who think that times are dull in this city just watch the way farmers are coming to town with four-horse teams and taking out farm supplies. Farmers in this big Potlatch creek area are becoming acquainted with the fact that they can get good merchandise and their money's worth in this town.

Is Improving — Marvin Long, who has been quite ill, is slowly improving.

Thirty Years Ago

The local Red Cross Chapter still has funds, according to a report by Mrs. Edgar Long, treasurer. The balance of the first year was $231.28.

Mrs. Mary McCall and son Walter were guests Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilken.

Virgil Flesman and family visited at the Ed. Flesman home in Leland.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Wegner were dinner guests in the C. L. Wegner home Sunday.

Homer Parks, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Parks, Leland, underwent surgery last week in Lewiston for the removal of his tonsils.

The following were named from this area to serve as jurors in the District Court for the ensuing year: James Langdon, E. A. Deobald, George Davidson, F. C. Lyons, Ole Lien and C. G. Compton.

Twenty Years Ago

Lloyd Farrington is quite ill with pneumonia.

Had Narrow Escape — Archie Candler and Ben Westendahl were coming down the road with entirely too much speed last week and tried to make the crossing at the Vollmer-Clearwater Warehouse, where they are employed. The road was slick and so were the tires. The crossing "moved up the track" and Archie couldn't find it. The car crossed several rail road tracks and landed in a hole about 7 feet deep (so it seemed) with a bang! The only damage was one "busted tire" and a very bad scare. The young men said they were going to see if Wade Keene wouldn't make the road wider.

MRS. DORA HEFFEL, A TRUE AREA PIONEER, PASSES

Mrs. Dora Heffel, a resident of the Kendrick area for 75 years, died on Thursday, January 20th, at the St. Josephs Hospital in Lewiston, where she had been a patient for 16 days, at the age of 84 years and three months.

Dora Belle Woodward was born at Kansas City, Missouri, on October 20, 1870, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Woodward. Her parents passed away, leaving her and an elder sister to be reared by their aunt, the late Mrs. Sarah Jane Hartinger.

In 1879 she and her sister came west to Idaho by covered wagon, traveling in a wagon train with their aunt and her sons. They arrived at Boise the night before an Indian war broke out, and remained at Boise for one winter.

In the spring of 1880 they arrived on Potlatch ridge, homesteading on the ranch that is known as the "Grandma Hartinger Place." Only a few families were living in this area at that time. She attended school at Cameron, but only for a short time. They rode horseback to Juliaetta for their mail, and groceries and supplies had to be purchased at Moscow or Lewiston.

The first church established at Leland was the North Methodist Church, and she joined it as a young woman, remaining a member all her life.

On January 28, 1898 she was united in marriage to Stewart Heffel, at the Hartinger home. For a few months they lived with his mother, Mrs. Sybil Heffel, on the North Juliaetta Cream, then homesteaded a place on Cream ridge.

In 1902 they purchased school land at the top of the Sperry grade, where they resided for 35 years. To them were born three children, an elder son dying in infancy.

In 1937 Mr. and Mrs. Heffel retired from farming and moved to Kendrick, where they lived until his death on October 18, 1943. Since that time Mrs. Heffel had made her home near her daughter, Mrs. Roy Craig and family, at Leland.

Survivors include her daughter, Mrs. Roy Craig, a son, Jesse H. Heffel; grandchildren, Paige Craig; Gerald, Elaine and Kenneth Heffel, all of Kendrick. Other survivors include nieces and nephews: Mrs. Robert Draper and Marvin Vincent, both of Kendrick; John Vincent, Southwick; Mrs. Lyman Withrow, Kellogg; Mrs. Wm. Brooks, Spokane, and Mrs. Jerry Fitzpatrick of Alberta, Canada.

Rain And Snow Fall In Area

Monday night, following three mild days, that saw a few small snow flurries, rain began falling here in the canyon and continued most of the night, largely removing the small amount of snow and ice that lay on the ground.

However, on top the hills the rain came down as a wet, sticky snow, adding as much as two inches in some sections — and it was more than welcomed by the farmers, not only as a crop protection from freezing and thawing, but as moisture, for to date all are agreed that moisture is very short for this time of the year.

Dear And Elk Kill Heavy
Big game hunters brought in a few more deer this year than last, and the final total may approach that of 1952, the Idaho Fish and Game department said this week. The elk harvest will equal or better last year's when all reports are in, the department added.

Levi Mohler, chief of game management and preliminary reports show hunters in special and general big game hunts this past fall took 29,093 deer and 8,914 elk. The final figures will be somewhat larger than these totals, since some reports are still to be received.

For comparison Mohler said the 1953 totals were 28,076 deer and 9,098 elk, and for 1952 they were 30,454 deer and 8,792 elk.

Mohler pointed out that the general hunt figures contain some estimated numbers, and these are usually lower than the actual kill, as indicated by comparison with totals computed from replies to a hunter's questionnaire last year.

Other animals taken in this year's big game season were 970 antelope; 105 moose; 15 bighorn sheep and 18 Rocky Mountain goat. These numbers are also roughly equal with last year, except that a decrease in the number of antelope permits this year is reflected in an equivalent reduction in the number taken.

He Got One Vote At Least
A candidate for office in Simpson County, Kentucky, was about to knock on a voter's door when he realized he had tracked across a freshly painted porch. Having three or four of his opponent's cards in his pocket, he quickly tucked one in the door and departed — confident of at least one household's votes. — Reader's Digest.

Valuable Prizes Offered

Residents of this community are being offered another chance to win electric appliance prizes in a new "Sunshine Guessing" contest sponsored by the Inland Empire Electrical League.

Frank A. Tool, league manager and spokesman for local electrical dealers, said 14 electric clothes dryers, 14 dryer wiring jobs and 21 half-year supplies of "All" brand washing detergent would be given to Inland Empire winners during the seven-week contest, which gets under way next Monday, January 31.

"Contestants have only to guess the amount of sunshine that will fall on Spokane on wash-day Mondays," Tool explained. At the close of each week's contest, a new electric dryer will be given for the closest prediction of entrants from outside Spokane, and another to a winner from that city. The two-second best guessers — also one from Spokane and one from the rest of the area — will receive a free dryer circuit installation provided they purchase a dryer from a league member before April 1, 1955.

The three runners-up, irrespective of location, will receive half-year detergent supplies.

The new contest is patterned after last year's "Winter Sunshine" guessing game sponsored by the electrical league in cooperation with the Washington Water Power company — one in which over 8,000 persons submitted weather predictions to win similar prizes.

Free entry blanks may be obtained from any electrical appliance dealer, Tool said. Entries for the first contest must be postmarked before midnight, Saturday, January 29. Each Saturday midnight following will be the deadline for successive contests of the next six weeks.

India's Study Attracts Many

The pot-luck supper and fellowship at the Community Church Sunday evening launched a new study of India, Ceylon and Pakistan.

Following the supper classes for all ages were held. Paul Lind led an interesting discussion on the culture, social and economic problems of that vast country.

Special music was furnished by a group of young people preceding the study hour. Robin Magnuson played a trombone solo, accompanied by his mother at the piano, and an instrumental trio by Ila Johnson, Patty Nelson and Ruth Hoffman was enjoyed.

This Sunday evening at 6:30 the study continues with Mrs. Raleigh Albright leading the adult group in a discussion of the different religions. Plan to attend these sessions with your family. If you have small children, bring them, they will be cared for in a nursery.

IDAHO HEADS DIME DRIVE

Mary Kosloski, 1955 March of Dimes Post Child, helped open the national drive for funds in Idaho and here she greets U.S. Senator Henry C. Dworshak of that state in the Nation's Capital. Idaho is one of the very top states in supporting the March of Dimes and last year an Idaho boy was the poster child. Senator Dworshak told Mary that she is doing a big job for a big job in aiding polio prevention and patient care and the people of his state will roll up another record in the present drive.

omy. In addition, we feel it to be a stimulus to the 4-H and F. F. A. programs, which are accomplishing so much in our community life."

"Dimes" Expenses Are Low
 "The March of Dimes campaign in this state has one of the lowest expense ratios in the nation," said Preston Capell, Idaho State drive chairman. "For every dollar obtained in 1954, it cost the local Idaho chapters .0315c for campaign costs. This is an extremely low figure and reflects the economy of operation and the efficiency of our volunteers in every county."

The administrative expense for conducting each chapter's business is practically nil, running less than one-half of one percent. All county chapters and March of Dimes committees of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in the state are administered entirely by local non-salaried volunteers. These volunteers make the decision as to all chapter expenditures. There are only two full-time paid employees in Idaho, a state representative and his secretary.

"We are keenly aware of our responsibility of keeping the people of Idaho informed as to the distribution of their contributed dollar," said Capell, "and that is one of the primary reasons why a certified audit is required of each of the chapter accounts in all 44 counties. Also, campaign results are forwarded to every newspaper in the state for publication, when these figures become available. We are proud to announce that every cent realized through March of Dimes campaigns have been spent for the medical care of Idaho polio patients."

"The New York office of the National Foundation has advanced approximately $1,300,000 to Idaho chapters for payment of medical commitments for polio patients in their respective counties," Capell added.

There has not been one polio patient, attacked within the last seven years, who has not been aided, directly or indirectly, through the National Foundation programs that provide trained professional personnel, equipment and improved standards of care.

E. W. Holstad, regional manager for Standard Oil of California, at Spokane, in announcing this new scholarship program, commented: "We are most happy that our company has established these scholarships for our youth of Idaho. From past experience we have seen what scholarships of this nature have done to encourage the furtherance of education on a part of potential leaders in our econ-

Elves and Leprechauns Took Blame for Everything

It may not be on the official employment records, but the fact is that there are hundreds of sheeps leprechauns, and elves out of a job. Since each one of them has a long history of diligent service to humanity, it seems a real shame they can't be put back to work. Each of us needs one to take the rap for the petty annoyances of daily living. These out of the way, we could devote ourselves to the big problems.

According to the Childcraft reference library, our ancestors used the little people to full advantage. They let them take the responsibility of souring the milk, rattling the windows and creaking the stairs, and breaking Aunt Nellie's best china.

A nice feature of the little scamps, too, is their wide range of nationality. Did your parents come from Scandinavia? Then you will want to select an elf. This pint-sized creature will live in your home and help keep the kitchen neat. If he occasionally cracks a dinner plate or burns the toast, you can't very well complain. That's what you want him for, to take the blame, isn't it.

Pixies are your choice if you have British ties, and there is a fine assortment of sheeps for you Scottish folks. If you are Irish you may select between the revelry-loving sheeps and the rather dour leprechauns, who, incidentally, are apt to ignore you as they spend most of their time making shoes for the sheeps.

If you favor France you will have to get along with a goblin. But maybe he's better than a German poltergeist, who is downright rowdy. He will cause no end of commotion until someone bakes him a spice cake.

Just a word of warning before you adopt one of these little chaps—they believe in people, and definitely expect people to believe in them.

Life Expectancy for Man Reaches 65-Year Average

Man once shared the life expectancy of a pack-donkey, but over a 2,000 year period has attained a 65-year average—almost rivaling the 70-year expectancy of the whale, the longest-lived mammal in the life chart.

But this increased age has drawbacks in the form of cancer, diabetes and heart disease.

The average Roman of about 50 B. C. lived only 25 years. Modern medicine and sanitation now give man at least 40 more years—and a greater chance of having one of the diseases usually associated with the aging of the human body.

Human progress up the life-expectancy ladder is something of a triumph for man, who is not too well endowed with protective equipment. He is the only mammal in the higher brackets who is without some form of protective armor. For example, he ranks with the whale, 70; the elephant, 60; the hippopotamus, 40; and the alligator, 40 years.

Domesticated mammals range in life expectancy from the dog, 10 years, to the cow and horse, 20 years, and the burro, 25. Lowest mammal in the chart is the mouse, who lives from 2 to 6 years.

"Breaking Up" Water

Water, which consists of hydrogen and oxygen, can be broken up into these elements by electrolysis. If two wires, carrying a direct electrical current, are placed in water, bubbles of oxygen form around the one connected to the negative side of the battery or generator, while oxygen forms around the wire connected to the positive terminal. Usually a small amount of acid must be added to the water to make it conductive of electricity. Also, if water, in the form of steam, is heated to a very high temperature, around 3500 F, it separates into hydrogen and oxygen. These recombine to form water as the temperature is lowered again.

Longer Life for Sheets

To lengthen the life of sheets follow these suggestions. Reverse sheets every other time by putting a bottom hem at the top. Cover bare springs with heavy sheet or sheeting to avoid snagging bed linens. And check all beds for needed carpentry. Put a mattress pad between the sheet and the mattress to avoid the abrasive action of the rough ticking against the sheet. Loosen the edges of the sheet until all around before stripping the bed. Use mild solution of bleaches and rinse thoroughly, or better still, let the sunshine do your bleaching. Always rinse thoroughly to remove traces of soap and soap powders.

Study Premature Babies

An instrument corresponding to a miniature iron lung has been used by University of Michigan researchers in studying premature babies. Object of the studies was to find out why premature babies breath irregularly—in gasps or jerks. The research has shown that the cause of this irregular breathing is that oxygen is not reaching the tissue of the brain center which controls respiration.

News Is Very Scarce
 This is one of those weeks when it seems as if there is just no personal news. Two of our correspondents called in to say: "There just isn't enough going on to be worth reporting. We'll include it with next week's items" — and this also seems to be the case in Kendrick. A great deal of phone calling produced nothing. Storms and icy roads kept many at home.

In Loving Remembrance Of
 Mrs. Dora Heffel
 We miss thee from our home, dear Mother,
 We miss thee from thy place,
 A shadow o'er our life is cast,
 We miss thy kind and willing hand,
 Thy fond and earnest care,
 Our home is dark without thee —
 We miss thee everywhere.

Card Of Thanks
 We wish to thank our many friends and relatives for their kind expressions of sympathy, the beautiful floral offerings, and memorials received during the recent illness and death of our beloved Mother, Mrs. Dora Heffel. — Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Heffel and Family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Craig and daughter.

Sit-Down Dentist's Career Is Longer, Professor Says
 Several years of service will be added to the life of the average dentist if he sits down part of the time while he works.
 This is the belief of Edgar W. Swanson, D.D.S., M.S.D., professor of operative dentistry at North western university dental school who recommends that dentists use operative stools at least 50 per cent of the time.
 Dr. Swanson said students in the operative technique laboratory at the Northwestern dental school use operative stools about 60 per cent of the time. Students in the clinics use the stools from 10 to 90 per cent per operation.
 Northwestern, convinced that operative stools will be used more widely by dentists to eliminate fatigue and extend their years of service, trains students in the use of the stools.
 To obtain more accurate information on the reaction of students to the stools, the school recently sent a questionnaire to every member of its senior class.
 The first question was: "Do you feel as tired at the end of the day when you have used an operating stool as you do when you have operated from the conventional standing position?" All but three answered "no." Two of those answering "yes" said it may have been due to their limited experience with the use of a stool.
 The second question was: "Do you like the idea of sitting while operating?" All answered "yes."
 To the question, "Would you do more operating from a sitting position if more stools were available?" All senior students answered "yes."
 Dr. Swanson points out that the operative stool enables a dentist to change his position during the day, which is extremely important in preventing fatigue.

Sugar-Graving Animals Lured by Poison Plants
 There may be danger ahead when livestock pass up lush pastures in favor of weeds and tough plants.
 The attraction may be a poisonous spray or other chemical that gives ordinary unpalatable weeds and plants a special taste-appeal.
 A bulletin issued by the American Veterinary medical association explains it this way: Certain chemicals used in farming, such as sodium chlorate, turn plant starches to sugar, and animals with a "sweet tooth" readily eat the sprayed plants.
 Not all the chemicals used for spraying crops and treating soil are poisonous to animals, the AVMA emphasizes, but many of them are. The severity of poisoning varies directly with the kind of chemical and the amount of treated plants the animals consume.
 Experiments are still being made to test the safety of various new chemicals on the market, and until all the facts are known, livestock farmers are advised to use only those proved to be safe and to follow manufacturers' instructions.

Resistant Plants
 Plant diseases are no respecter of experimental plots. As a result, scientists have sometimes acquired valuable information in the nick of time. So it was in the case of Victoria blight of oats, which invaded breeding plots and demonstrated to plant breeders of the U. S. department of agriculture and some of the middle west state experiment stations a type of disease resistance soon to be needed on a large scale. Clinton—and some of the other new varieties of oats derived from the Bond variety—in that way became known as resistant to a disease soon to be rampant in the Mississippi valley. This disease attacked the widely-grown oat varieties derived from the Victoria oat brought in from South America.

Vanishing Wildlife
 Gone from the British Isles since World War II is the great bustard, Europe's largest land bird. Going or gone from haunts in Florida and vicinity is the ivory-billed woodpecker, largest of its clan. Deserting the Bahamas in alarming fashion is the tall, scarlet, hued flamingo, whose one United States haven is at Hialeah park, Miami, Florida. Whales, vital food source for many Europeans, long have been reduced to scarcity in northern hemisphere waters. Blue whales, biggest of all, currently show signs of sharp depletion in Antarctic whaling grounds. A new international treaty shortens the hunting season as a whale conservation measure.

First Tank Car
 On November 1, 1865, about six years after the world's first oil well was opened at Titusville, Pennsylvania, the first tank car was loaded in that city. It was a flat car fitted with two wooden tanks shaped like inverted tubs. Many of these "rotary" oil cars, as they were called, were used for transporting oil from the Pennsylvania wells, until replaced by the present type of horizontal cylindrical tank, fitted with a dome which allows the oil to expand without injury to the tank. The first of this type was introduced in 1868.

THE Bull itin

Published Weekly by the Union Oil Service at Kendrick
W. L. "Bill" Rogers, Editor

HELLO, FOLKS:

You know, the other day we were asked why we used so much of this space telling about Union Oil Products, Fuel Oil, Grease Jobs, Wash Jobs, U. S. Tires, and the general service we give. Well, the truth of the matter is that we are proud of those products, and have them to sell — including Burner Oil — Phone 1251 — we do the rest! But anyhow, just to show you we're sports, we are going to devote the rest of this ad. to fun!

She: "You remind me of Negro!"
Date: "Why?"
She: "Here, I am burning, and you're just fiddling around!"

On the first day of school the teacher explained that if anyone had to go to the washroom, he or she should hold up two fingers.

One puzzled little boy plaintively asked: "How's that going to help?"

"I-I-I think," began the witness. "The jury is not interested in what you think, they want to hear what you know, now talk up!" shouted the Judge angrily.

"Well, I can't talk without thanking," replied the witness, "I'm not a lawyer."

"Is there anything you'd like to eat before your execution?" inquired the warden.

"Yes, I'd like some fresh mushrooms, please," replied the condemned prisoner. "I've always been afraid to try them before."
