MAIL SERVICE POORER THAN THAT OF 40 YEARS AGO HERE

Disapproves Of Mail Changes
In line with a formal protest sent in a telegram to Grace Pfof regarding the cutting of mail service to this area in half, by the Kendrick Community Lions Club, the following airmail reply letter was received by the Lions Club from Mrs. Pfof:

Feb. 18, 1955
Kendrick Community Lions Club
Kendrick, Idaho
Gentlemen:

This is to acknowledge receipt of your telegram, which has just arrived.

I am making your views known to Mr. Miller M. Bodell, Superintendent of the Postal Transport Service, at Seattle, Washington. I hope he will contact the Kendrick Lions Club personally. I think your request is a most reasonable one and should be given every consideration.

I want you to know that I am completely dissatisfied with the way in which the Post Office Department has handled the whole matter of the proposed change in postal service. The Post Office Department has been guilty of incredibly bad mismanagement, inefficiency and poor public relations. The people of the area could not be more disgusted than I am.

I feel very strongly that all of the local problems should be ironed out to the satisfaction of the people involved before this plan is put into operation.

With all good wishes, I am,
Sincerely, Grace Pfof, Member of Congress.

Our Note: The above is completely self-explanatory. According to information appearing in the Lewiston Tribune, the following will be the one-mail-a-day schedule for Juliaetta, Kendrick, Cameron, Southwick, etc.:

To Cameron and Southwick: Leaving Lewiston at 8:00 a. m.

To Juliaetta and Kendrick: Leaving Lewiston at 8:00 a. m.

All the star route trucks will be scheduled to return to the main routes in time to meet the returning highway postoffice van or closed pouch trucks.

The Lewiston Tribune further says, (in the same issue): "Two Lewiston area railroads yesterday announced they will seek to discontinue passenger service for economic reasons."

Spokesmen for the Camas Prairie Railroad Co. and the Washington, Idaho & Montana Railway Co., said the move was brought on by lack of passenger patronage and the loss of mail revenue expected when a highway postal system is inaugurated in the area March 1.

I. A. Wolters, manager of the CP-RR, said notices were posted yesterday at all CPRR depots and that the company will apply to the Idaho Public Utilities Commission Feb. 24 for a hearing on discontinuation of the passenger service. "Even with the mail contracts, we were losing money, and there wasn't really enough patronage to justify keeping the service on," he said.

It is the belief of this writer that similar action will be taken soon by the Northern Pacific Railway Co., on discontinuing the operation of the new "bug," scheduled to operate between Spokane and Lewiston, due to the fact that it replaces the train, and will carry no mail. Just why it will not be far from clear to us — and we are of the opinion that this is just a "polite way" of riding this branch of the Northern Pacific system of passenger trains, which interfere with high-balling of the huge freights that daily roar through Kendrick.

If you want to see the last passenger train to pass through Kendrick, better be at the depot about 4:00 p. m., Monday, February 28!

No Schedule Yet
No definite schedule has yet been worked out on the new "N. P. Bug," says Roy Ramey, local depot agent. However, a train master was in Kendrick Monday, he saying nothing definite had been set up, but plans call for a change over by the 1st of March.

No doubt a schedule will be published within a few days.

Kindergarten Scheduled
Kindergarten will start this year on March 14th, and run for six weeks. It will be held at the Fire Hall, between the hours of 8:30 and 11:30. Tuition will be $12.00, plus $1.00 for incidentals. Youngsters may ride the buses into town, but parents will be responsible for returning them to their homes.

Those interested should contact one of the following as soon as possible, so that necessary books may be ordered: Mrs. Robert Meserve, Mrs. John Wilson, Mrs. George Johnson or Mrs. Ben P. Cook.

Compaction Of Soil Problem
More traffic by heavy farm machinery may be causing soil compaction, or it may develop from conditions within the soil itself. At any event, the problem is getting worse and requires a good deal of research, according to Charles Painter, soils specialist of the University of Idaho Extension Service.

He said the university and U. S. Department of Agriculture are working on it, but may not arrive at an answer for some time because the situation is complex.

"At least we know what won't cure compaction, and that's something," he said. "In the study of this condition that interferes with plant growth and penetration of moisture into the soil, experiments show that subsoiling in most cases is of little value. Although deep tillage has increased crop yields in certain years on some soils, benefits did not last or were not obtained on difficult claypan soils."

Attention is given to the possibility that compacted soil layers may be created by heavy tractor traffic. As traffic has increased with mechanized farming the problem has steadily grown.

Cows Take Lots Of Water
Cows that give the most milk drink the most water.

County agent Elbert McProud has it from G. C. Anderson, dairyman of the University of Idaho extension service, that a cow producing more than 40 pounds a day will give as much as 10 percent more if she has water on hand all the time, rather than being watered once a day. Watering twice a day is better by once by about four percent in amount of milk.

The high-producing cows are more likely to show an increase than the ones that give moderate amounts.

Cows take in about five pounds of water for each pound of milk they produce. It is not all consumed in drinking water. Some of it is in the feed.

In winter, the county agent said, it is particularly important to keep water above freezing. This can be done by electric cables and other devices.

Research shows that cows watered from bowls drink about 10 times each 24 hours. About one-third of the water is drunk at night. If livestock bowls are not available, dairymen have found that watering under cover increases the amount used.

Weather Continues Mild

The fine wintery weather of February has continued this past week, although on Friday night it dropped to within two degrees of the winter's low — 10 above. However, skies continued sunny until Sunday, when a bit of snow fell, depositing about half an inch here in the canyon — and a bit more on top the hills.

Monday night, true to the weatherman's prediction, snow fell, about 1 1/2 inches covering the ground here Tuesday morning, and enough on the hills that the state snowplows were put in operation. Tuesday evening, however, under the impact of a warm sun, the snow had all but vanished.

We understand that Marvin Long does not yet have his garden in — that sign of spring having failed us.

Receive Word Of Death

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Travis received word Sunday night that his nephew by marriage, Mike Bergan, of White Sulphur Springs, Mont., had been killed Saturday night in an automobile accident. He was the sheriff of that county and was returning from Fort Logan, where he had been on official business, when he crashed into a snow bank, and was found dead. A later call to the Travis family said the cause of death was a heart attack. Mrs. Bergan and Mrs. Rol Bryant are sisters, and both nieces of Mr. Travis.

U. of I. — KUOI, student operated radio station on the University of 35 announcers, according to Jerry Idaho campus, now boasts a staff of Chandler of Salmon, production manager. He points out that this is one of the largest staffs of its kind in the nation.

Included in the list is Louis Rathbun of Kendrick.

RFD's To Be Consolidated

Everett Fraser, RFD carrier on Route 2 (Big Bear Ridge) has been appointed by the Postal Inspector to carry the mail on RFD No. 1 (American Ridge) also.

The official appointment has not yet come through — but then, "red tape" always takes time.

Mrs. Hiram Galloway has been appointed Cancer Drive Chairman for Kendrick this year. A school will be held for the Latah county workers at Moscow on March 12th, and Mrs. Galloway urges all workers to attend.

The annual Cancer Drive will begin on April 1st.

Very Pleasant Winter

In a brief note accompanying a subscription remittance, Verner Davis says: "We have had a nice winter to date. Have had but little snow, and no really cold weather, about 12 above being the coldest. Mother is feeling fine this winter and likes it down here (Pendleton, Ore)."

Only A Truck

Out for a drive with my wife, I pulled to a stop at an intersection and, unable to see to the right, asked her if any cars were coming.

"No," she replied, and, as I proceeded onto the highway, added: "Just a truck." — Reader's Digest.

Thought For Today

Before you crack an eggshell, you don't know in what condition the egg will be. People are much the same, and we should all "crack the outer shell" before we decide what kind of person someone is.

Five-Grass Mixture Popular in Indiana

Pays Off in Higher Quality Hay, Pasture

Farmers in 12 northeastern Indiana counties swear by a 5-grass mixture that pays off in extra tons of high quality hay and pasture. The combination includes timothy, brome, red clover, Ladino clover and alfalfa, reports Walter Rusk, county agent of Huntington county. This legume-grass combination, he said, could profitably be used by farmers in other states.

When plenty of fertilizer carrying nitrogen, phosphate and potash is used at seeding time and plant nutrients are top-dressed each year, this 5-grass mixture has yielded as much as 3 tons of hay at the first cutting on many farms. One farmer in the area insists that 5 acres of the mixture provides more forage than he previously got from about 60 acres of pasture.

Norman Thompson, who farms near Huntington, Indiana, reports that he grazed 27 head of cattle, including 16 milk cows and 11 calves, as well as 100 small pigs and 18 sows for 5 weeks on a 5-acre pasture seeded to the 5-grass mixture.

Rusk points out that the well fertilized legume-grass mixture is doing an important soil building job, besides giving farmers a preferred position in forage supplies. The tap-roots of the legumes drill down deep to keep the soil open and well ventilated. They add organic matter to improve the soil's tilth and drainage. Large quantities of organic matter in the soil mean increased water-holding capacity. They also make it possible to get the best possible efficiency out of every ton of fertilizer used.

Improved Ever-Bearing Strawberry Developed

Strawberries from your garden from June to October are possible with the new, improved ever-bearing strains. Although the biggest crop comes from mid-to-late June, plants will continue to produce enough for breakfast cereal and dinner desserts until frost arrives.

Planting should be done as early in the spring as possible.

Said to thrive in any type of soil, is a new high-yielding variety developed by plant breeders of the Westerhauser Nurseries of Sawyer, Michigan. Called the "20th Century", this ever-bearing type is said to fruit in about 60 days and produce large, sweet, full-flavored berries all season long.

Seasoned gardeners recommend picking off the first blossoms so as to enable the roots to develop plenty of strength. They point out that while you may lose the first few fruits, you will gain in much bigger yields later in the summer.

Grand Champion

Time of Plowing Should Depend on Type of Soil

Ohio State University farm experts report type of soil should determine whether a farmer plows his land in fall or spring. Tests over a 14-year period indicate spring plowing is preferable on light soils. If plowed in the fall the ground has a tendency to become compacted by spring. On heavier soils tests show late fall plowing gives as good or better granulation of the soil than spring plowing.

Trees Die in Winter, Too, Without the Proper Care

Trees die in winter just as they do in spring and summer.

They can be killed by drought and storms, by insects and diseases, by man's indifference and neglect, says Dr. Rush P. Marshall, director of the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories.

Death may not be sudden. Next spring the trees may try to leaf out, then collapse and die within a matter of weeks.

Deciduous trees which appear to "sleep" in winter must take up a certain amount of soil water to replenish that lost by evaporation under high drying winds. Evergreens and pines which do not shed their leaves need an even greater amount. Unless trees go into winter with sufficient water around their roots before the ground freezes, injury or even death by drought may result.

Wind, ice and snow storms take a toll of trees in winter, toppling them over, or breaking branches and limbs. If a tree is conditioned properly by pruning out dead and dying wood, by cabling and bracing weak crotches and limbs, storm damage can be held to a minimum.

Not all insects are dormant in winter. Bark beetles often crawl from the thick bark to the cambium layer on mild winter days and girdle a tree as they feed. Elm bark beetles that carry Dutch elm disease present double trouble. For the fungus they carry builds up in the sap stream, and even in winter there is a certain pulsating of the sap that will send the disease further into a tree.

It is just as harmful to disturb a tree's roots in the winter as in summer. Trees are frequently killed in winter by a careless bulldozer used in construction or by roots mangled when a water main is laid or a sidewalk and driveway put in. Trucks and autos that bash into trees in winter can loosen or scrape off the bark as effectively as in the summer.

Death even for trees takes no holiday. Yet your tree needn't die any time of the year if you give it proper care.

Early Iron Men Served Country in Many Fields

The brothers Curtis and Peter Grubb, owners of Pennsylvania's historic Cornwall blast furnace during the Revolutionary War, not only made cannon but also test fired them and probably used them against the enemy while serving actively as colonels in the field. In addition, they manufactured stoves and supplied the equipment to support a war emergency salt industry, doing all these things with a furnace which produced 24 tons of iron a week.

The outbreak of hostilities cut off the salt supply of the United States and seriously affected the salting of meat and curing of fish for both military and civilian use. Colonel Curtis Grubb told the Council of Safety that he was prepared to cast the iron salt pans for making salt from sea water on the Jersey coast, but asked the army to release his manager, founder, carpenter and colliers from military service so that he could do it. The men were released to him immediately.

Cannon manufacture was a necessary innovation in this country; so much so that Generals Washington and La Fayette visited Cornwall furnace to watch the casting of the first 24 cannons ordered for the Continental Army. Early guns made at Cornwall showed lack of experience, for an official letter complained that they were too heavy and costly.

Cornwall furnace was built in 1742, and for many years thereafter was called "the hub of the iron trade." The famous Cornwall iron ores have been mined continuously for more than 200 years, the longest record of operations in the country.

Seeing Babies

For the first four months of life an infant has no effective vision but sees the world as more or less of a blur. Then eyesight starts its development at an incredibly low level which an ophthalmic specialist would rate as 20/2400. This means that the baby can only see at a distance of 20 feet objects which normal mature eyes can see at 2400 feet, or nearly half a mile. By the end of the first year the child's vision has improved to 20/130, which would indicate extremely bad acuity in an adult. Not until the fifth or sixth year is a level of 20/40 attained. During all this time the child is learning not only how to see clearly, but how to see single instead of double. Some time between the sixth month and the end of the second year binocular single vision develops, whereby the separate images formed in the two eyes are fused into one in the brain.

Revealing Facts

Publication of the newest Army history book, "Washington Command Post: The Operations Division," brings to light the complicated task of the military staff that planned and directed the first worldwide military operations. The book, seventh to be published in the "U.S. Army in World War II" series, is a part of nearly 100 contemplated volumes covering all aspects of the war.

Idaho 4-H'er Wins National Honor

AN IDAHO 4-H Club member was announced as national winner in the 1954 4-H award programs at the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

Gary Nygaard, 16, of Latah County, was one of eight national winners in the Dairy Achievement program. He was presented a $300 college scholarship by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

Over 1,200 4-H Club boys and girls from the 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and Canada attended the Congress, along with young people and youth leaders from 25 foreign countries.

A highlight of the Congress was the major policy address by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles at the opening banquet. Thus the 4-H'ers learned more of their Congress theme, "Working Together for World Understanding," from the Nation's No. 1 diplomat.

During the week, the delegates participated in discussions, heard other outstanding speakers, met top stars in the sports world, enjoyed top-flight entertainment at banquets and major meal events, attended the International Live Stock Exposition and Horse Show, took part in press conferences, radio and TV appearances, toured the city and visited the museums, and attended a party at of the Utah Oil company will give instruction. Gene Craig, agricultural engineer with the University, will be on hand to give further training in maintenance of implements used with the tractors in farming operations. All emphasis of the training is in care, proper operation, and maintenance. Repairs of machinery or tractors has no place in the outlined program.

Enrollment in the school is open to 4-H leaders and FFA members who wish to instruct clubs in their communities.

"We have had fine results from the schools in the past," Shephard says. "With all the good leaders we already have in this field plus those that will take over clubs after the Twin Falls session, most Idaho boys and girls who wish instruction in this work will be able to get it right in their own communities."

The tractor schools are held from year to year in various areas of the state as demand arises.

Roger Jones Honored

U. of I., Moscow — Three more student organizations at the University of Idaho have elected new officers. They are the University 4-H Club, Eagle and Anchor Club, and the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Roger Jones of Kendrick was elected president of the 4-H Club. His assistants will be Arthur Misner, Reuben, vice president; Eula Gray, Nampa, secretary; Theresa Mattiesen of Filer, treasurer, and Thomas Cooper, Idaho Falls, historian.

The farmer's barn on which he carried insurance, burned. After explaining to the adjuster all his plans to build a modern structure with his insurance money, he was much put out to learn that his policy called for replacement of the barn exactly as it was at no cost to Mr. Farmer. He thought a few minutes, scratched his head and then said: "Well, if that's the way you do business, just cancel the insurance on my wife right now."

Speaks Mind On Killing Deer
Under date of Feb. 5, from Bates, Oregon, Homer Jones, well known former resident of the Leland area, writes:

"Dear Bill — When I read your item on the deer slaying that is going on up there by your Indian boys, it really makes my blood boil. I can't figure out for the life of me what the private land owners are thinking about by letting them come in and slay those deer like that.

"I can remember fifteen years ago when I lived there just before going into the service, the only deer we ever saw was an occasional stray passing through the country.

"I don't know how your state laws read, but here is a clipping I cut out of the Portland, 'Oregon Journal' on how this state deals with the Indian poacher. If your boys had a shot of this punishment they would be somewhat more careful.

"We have a real deer country here only by careful management on the part of the Game Commission and Forest Rangers, working together. It's part of my life to live right here in the mountains and see the deer come in the spring, raise their fawns, grow all summer. Hunting season comes and we see the deer migrate in the late fall to lower country for the winter. Therefore I think you people, as citizens, are overlooking a very important matter. — Cordially yours, Homer H. Jones."

The clipping from the Oregon Journal, says:
"Indians Face Deer Charge (The Dalles, Feb. 2) — Four Warm Springs reservation Indians Wednesday were fined a total in excess of $1200 and each was sentenced to 90 days in the Wasco county jail for illegally killing seven deer and eight unborn deer fawns.

"Justice of the Peace Richard Crane said the offense was the worst of its kind ever to come before him. Pleas of guilty to charges of hunting deer in closed season were entered in justice court by Kip Culpus, 23, Warm Springs; Lawrence Squinthen, 29, Amenus Thomas, 24, and Alvin Charley, 31, all of Simnasho.

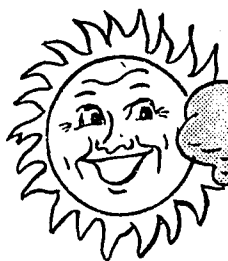

"The four were arrested Tuesday at Squat Prairie, south of The Dalles, by Robert Freeman, state police game warden, and Paul Ebert, game commission agent."

4-H'ers Have Chance To Learn
U. of I. — The Idaho 4-H Club girl who would rather drive her dad's tractor in the field than do dishes in the kitchen will have an opportunity to learn more about maintaining the tractor this year. There will be from 50 to 60 more 4-H Club leaders trained to pass tractor operation and maintenance on to her and other club members after a tractor maintenance school at Twin Falls Feb. 15 to 18.

"Of course, we'll have a lot more boys than girls enrolled in this phase of Club work," says Howard Shephard, assistant state 4-H Club leader for the University of Idaho Extension service. "But some of our farm girls will get in, and they'll do a good job. A girl took national honors in 1953."

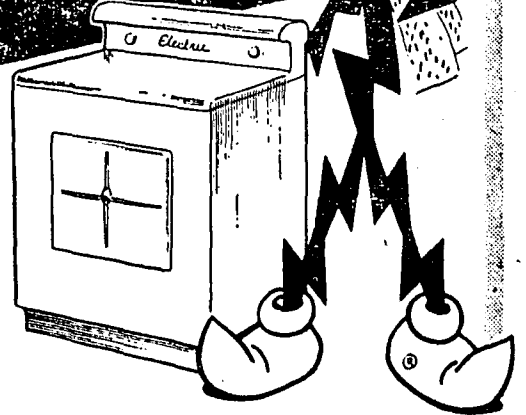

Shephard says Don Yountz, assistant county agent of Twin Falls county, and the Twin Falls Tractor Dealer's association are in charge of the school. Tractor maintenance experts

Standard's Arctic research helps keep the Pacific Northwest rolling

At 50° below zero a diesel truck, a farm tractor, a snow plow—can be started in an instant... thanks to a product called Chevron Starting Fluid. It was developed by Standard's researchers for U.S. Army needs in Arctic service. Since the end of World War II, this and other special products for cold weather have been helping civilians, too. Although winters in the Pacific Northwest are not this severe, trucks, busses and other important equipment in the area can't be frozen out of action. They keep rolling to keep the Pacific Northwest going ahead.

... and we help you start your car faster in cold weather, too. Besides pioneering petroleum for industry and commerce, Standard's scientists have produced new products for your car—like RPM 10-30 Special Motor Oil. It has the protective strength of a heavy oil, but the free-flowing characteristics of a light oil. Makes starting easier by reducing engine drag; saves gas, too—up to 1 gallon in every 8. Try a crankcase-full—at Standard and Chevron Stations.

A warm welcome to all.

Farm Electrification Program
U. of I. — An expanded 4-H farm electrification program is shaping up in Idaho, reports Dan E. Warren, state 4-H Club leader with the university of Idaho agricultural extension service.

Warren got the green light on this new activity at the annual meeting of the state farm electrification committee, composed of farmers, representatives of power companies, and officials of the university's colleges of agriculture and engineering.
"With more than 40,000 of Idaho's farms getting electrical service — one of the highest percentages to be found in any state — 4-H farm electrification should be one of our biggest project fields," said Warren.
Electricity for homemakers will get top billing in the 4-H field this year. Open both to boys and girls, the project activity will feature care of electrical appliances in the home and will stress safety rules in home use of electricity.
County agents and farm power field men have been attending a 4-H farm electrification clinic at the university this past week. Now they will return to their home counties and conduct local schools to train 4-H Club leaders in the new program.

Agricultural Engineers Needed
U. of I. — "Never have the career opportunities for a young man with a farm background and an interest in engineering been so great," declares J. W. Martin, head of agricultural engineering at the University of Idaho.

"Our population is doubling every 50 years, the need for skilled workers is doubling every 20 years, but the need for high-trained scientists and engineers is doubling every 10 years," he explains.

Martin reports that at the present time more than 5,000 companies are competing for engineers and science graduates, as compared with about 1,500 companies in 1940. Even with an average of about 30,000 engineers coming out of college each year since the war, Martin cites figures to show there is at present an unfilled industry requirement for a total of about 30,000 men.

Although the need for all engineers is great, that of agricultural engineers is the most serious of any field. That is because farms are becoming highly mechanized and electrified, with more engineering principles being applied to crop and livestock production.

"One large corporation has an advertisement in an engineering publication calling for 40 agricultural engineers. I don't know where in the United States they could find that many."

No solution to the shortage of engineers is in sight. Actually, Martin points to a possibility it could get worse as our population increases.

The Truth Will Out
A man wanted a divorce. "That woman never stops talking," he told the judge. "She keeps going steady morning, noon and night — day in and day out. A person gets so that he just can't stand any more, Judge."
"What does she talk about?" asked the Judge.
"That's just the trouble, your Honor, she doesn't say."

Perhaps, hidden in the twice-mentioned Section 28, Chapter 273, Idaho Session Laws, 1953, there may be such an attempt to usurp the rights of the Village Trustees to control the affairs of a Village. At any rate, it is going to make interesting reading for a good many people.

HELLO, FOLKS:

Well, here it is the last week in February — and although the weather continues mild — it's far from being spring. However, don't put off that "lub job" until spring — just figure the mud and slush you have driven your car through — and we believe you'll come up with the answer: "By golly, I've got to get the car greased!" Then bring it to us. We use a special lubricant for every particular need.

The boy sat quietly in the day coach, a large wicker basket beside him. An old lady sitting across the aisle noticed something dripping from the corner of the basket. Reaching over she caught a few drops on her finger and smelled it. "Fresh country vinegar?" she asked the boy.

reply, "puppies."

Thinking about taking off those sawdust winter tires soon? If so, come in and let us show you the wonderful U. S. Royal Tires that are made to meet today's modern driving conditions. Be set and ready for real spring motoring pleasure.
