To Go On Vandaleers Tour

U. of I - Thirteen performances in eight days have been scheduled for the University of Idaho Vandaleers, who will leave Moscow Sunday, Mar. 20, on their tour of southeastern Idaho.

The choral group, known throughout the Northwest for its outstanding vocal renditions, will open its tour with a concert at Fruitland, March 20. Final performance will be given March 27 at Lewiston, at the district convention of Rotary International.

Featured on the Vandaleer program this season is a choral and instrumental work taken from the church music of Franz Schubert "Little Mass In G Major." Also highlighting the concert will be selections from the Broadway musical hit, "Brigadoon." In keeping with Vandaleer tradition a section of the program will also be devoted to favorite University of Ida-

On Sunday Roy Tumulson and some friends from Lewiston staged a cougar hunt in that area, and killed two cougar kittens before being forced by darkness to depart — leaving a dog, which was so interested in his work they could not get him.

Monday morning the group return-ed to resume the hunt, but in the meantime a party made up of Jim Farrington, Ralph Reid and Ervin Swenson obtained dogs from Bill Holt and entered the canyon from another point — and sure enough, the dogs picked up the trail and treed two of picked up the trail and treed two of the big cats. Jim bagged the old mother cat, and Ralph Reid a kitten. The old cat, not a large one by "cougar standards" measured six feet and two inches from tip to tip. The kitten was probably half grown. Accidental Falls Kill as Heavily As Tuberculosis

NEW YORK - Accidental falls take about 20,000 lives each year in the United States-approximate-My as many as tuberculosis-report statisticians of a major life insurcance company. According to their estudy, falls rank second only to motor vehicles as a cause of ac-«cidental death.

The home is the scene of about * wo-thirds of all fatal falls. Only about 3 per cent occur in workplaces, a substantially smaller portion than 10 years ago, and undoubtedly reflecting the success of industrial safety programs.

The death rate from accidental Talls is higher among males than among females at ages under 75. Above that age the reverse is true. More than half of all deaths from falls are concentrated at ages 75 and over.

Below age 15. falls from winadows, porches, roofs, swings, trees and fences are the most common type. Diving accidents account for an appreciable part of the fatalities from falls among boys in late teens. Falls on stairs account for nearly a fourth of the deaths in the 25-44 age group, and close to one-third in the 47-75 group. Among older people, a considerable proportion of the falls occur when they are merely walking about the house.

Heavy loss of life from accidental falls can be reduced matexially, the statisticians say, through safety education. Programs should call to attention the environmental hazards and the human factors responsible for these fatalities, indicating how they may be overcome. Simple safety measures, such as having handrails on stairs, providing adequate illumination in and about the house, anchoring rugs, and keeping stairs clear, can prevent many falls.

Annual Rings Tell Rattlesnake's Age

LOS ANGELES-Like the annual wings of a tree, "growth rings" in the bones of the rattlesnake Mell how old he is, says Bayard Brattstrom, zoologist on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California.

Each year the rattler deposits a mew layer of calcium and other minerals in his bones. These layers can be identified and counted with the aid of a hand lens or lowspower microscope.

These "growth rings" occur Throughout the snake's skeletal system. Brattstrom uses a small bone From the head of the snake, in which the rings are more discernible to determine its age.

This is the only accurate method of determining how old a rat-Mesnake is. Laymen have frequent-Ly attempted to tell a rattler's age by its number of rattles. This is guesswork, says the zoologist, and is seldom more accurate than plus mr minus a couple of years.

A rattlesnake adds a rattle every time he sheds his skin. This ccurs several times a year when he's young. As he grows older, the frequency of his shedding tapers. Also in older snakes, rattles are often broken off.

Sad-Faced St. Bernard Losing Out to Shepherd

WASHINGTON - Time honored tradition is giving way to efficiency in the Alps, where the massive, sad-faced St. Bernard is being replaced as a rescue animal by the smaller German Shepherd dog.

Dogs are essential in Alpine rescue work, even though modern communication and transport facilities have somewhat reduced their activity. A dog can reach remote mountain areas in which mechanical transport is of no use, and he can guide human rescuers in blinding and bewildering storms.

For centuries this was the work of the giant, gentle St. Bernard, especially trained by the monks of the Alpine hospice founded by St. Bernard de Menthon nearly a thousand years ago.

The St. Bernard is an efficient snow dog, but tests in the past 15 years have shown the German Shepherd better as rescue work. On one occasion only the keen mose and persistent efforts of a German Shepherd uncovered the body of a traveler buried deep Deneath the snow of an avalanche.

Barnyard Briars Still Cling to Popularity

WASHINGTON, Mo .- More corncob pipes than ever are being made this year, mostly by three firms in this city. The barn-yard briar came into existence in 1869 when the idea of making and smoking one first came to a Missouri farmer. The three firms turned out better than 7 million "Missouri Meerschaums" last year, plus 21/4 million fancy ones of cob and hickory.

Among famed corncob smokers -Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the late F. H. La Guardia, Mayor of New York, and H. L. Mencken, who made his name satirizing the "booboisie."

Every Day Fire Strikes Some 800 American Homes

NEW YORK-This very day fire will strike some 200 American homes. Hundreds will be badly damaged, many will be totally destroyed. An untold number of persons will die, suffer painful burns, or be maimed for life.

Does this sound alarming? It does, but there are figures and statistics to make it even more convincing, Statistics of the National Board of Fire Underwriters show that in the five year period 1948 through 1952 an average of 284,000 homes were struck by fire every year, that there were 10 per cent more dwelling fires in 1952 than in 1948-274,000 in 1948, 300,000 in 1952and that the resulting property loss from all the million more fires in the United States in that same five year period increased over 14 per cent from $715,074,000 in 1948 to $815,134,000 in 1952. In 1953 fire losses amounted to $864,863,000. The number of dwelling fires in 1953 totalled 294,737.

The death toll for the five-year period mentioned above is estimated at 55,000—an average of 11,-000 a year.

Most fires in the home are caused by carelessness-by such thoughtless acts as tossing away a lighted match, cigarette, or cigar, allowing rubbish to accumulate, overloading electric wiring, leaving children at home alone.

The combination of matchessmoking and misuse of electricity account for close to 50 per cent of all fires of known origin. The smouldering cigarette that is dumped into an open trash can, or that drops between a chair's upholstery, or onto the bed is a chief cause of fires that destroy homes and take lives.

Fewer Catastrophes In First-Half 1954

NEW YORK-Catastrophic accidents-those killing five persons or more-took less than half the number of lives in the United States during the first six months of this year than in the comparable period of 1953.

This year's half-year total was slightly over 500 deaths.

In general, the trend was toward decreases in catastrophic deaths from tornadoes and civilian aviation, railroad, and water transportation accidents; and towards a slight increase in similar deaths in military aviation and in dwelling and apartment ares.

The greatest decreases in catastrophic deaths were in civilian aviation and in tornadoes. Only 21 fatalities were recorded in civilian aviation this year, while last year's toll was 172. The first-half deaths from major tornadoes last year mounted to more than 400; this year there were less than 10.

The largest single catastrophe in the first half of this year was the flood in Southwest Texas, which cost 23 lives.

Early Account Book Reflects Mining Heydey

LOS ANGELES-The daily life of an early California silver mining town during its heydey is reflected in an old account book acquired by the University of California at Los Angeles.

The book was kept by the manager of a general store in Panamint City in Death Valley. Daily entries covering the last four months of 1874 show living things weren't cheap, probably because all supplies had to be hauled more than 275 miles by wagon train from the town of San Pedro.

Prices: Coffee, $1 a tin; catsup, $1 a bottle; soap, 25 cents a bar; a 100 pound sack of flour, $10; a wheelbarrow, $8; and a keg of powder, $18.

Tobacco was selling for $1 a packet and some miners doing particularly well blew themselves to hand-rolled cigars at $4 a box.

Weasel Shares Food With Intended Victim

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.-A weasel at Grand Rapids public museum made friends with his expected dinner.

A white mouse was placed in the weasel's cage as a special treat. Three days later the mouse was not only alive, but sharing the horsemeat given to the weasel for between-mouse snacks.

Museum attendants say the weasel normally likes mice to eat. He devoured a previous gray mouse offering. They think perhaps it is the white color of the mouse that stops the weasel from making a meal of the rodent.

Suprises Mourners

CHICLAYO, Peru - There was plenty of excitement when Mrs. Josefa Arbula De Soto, 75-year-old socially prominent widow, sat up in her coffin before numerous relatives and friends mourning her passing.

A few hours earlier, while in good health, she suffered a collapse and two doctors certified that she was dead.

India Seeks Oil To Fuel Growing Nation's Industry

WASHINGTON - The young republic of India, where nearly a seventh of the world's population lives, is reaching for more oil to fuel its industries and drive the engines of an increasingly mechanized society.

In Bombay on the west coast, an American oil company is going into production with a $35,000,000 refinery. A still larger plant is being built by a British concern in the same city. Another American refinery is going up on the east coast at Vizagapatam. Together the three operations are expected to meet most of the country's needs.

India has little crude oil of its own. The only working fields of importance are in Assam province in the northeast, which produce less than a tenth of the demand.

.India's oil imports have come largely from the Middle East. Iran was the chief source until troubles over the industry's nationalization there cut off the sup-Now, the Indian government is preparing not only to process imported petroleum but also seeking domestic wells. Intensive prospecting is going on in Assam and nearby West Bengal Province.

More and cheaper oil will aid India's ambitious program of industrialization, one of the major features of the nation's first Five Year Plan inaugurated in 1951. The government has already built or is planning new iron and steel works, airplanes and locomotive plants, and factories making penicillin, telephones, machine tools, radio equipment and fertilizer.

Tiny Clutch Aids Planetarium Use

CHICAGO-The "jack of all trades" in the field of industrial mechanization, the electric clutch, has been drafted into a new rolethat of bringing the heavens a little closer.

A tiny electric clutch has been designed to control the inner workings of planetariums, those complicated devices which make it possible for persons to watch the movements of the stars and planets as if they were only a short distance away.

The latest - model planetarium weighs only one-fifth of the ordinary type and was made exclusively to provide astronomical research facilities for those institutions which could not afford usual expensive installation. The new small electric crutch controls the movement of the planetarium in all directions. It enables the planetarium to demonstrate the positions of certain constellations, such as the Big Dipper, either 100,000 years in the past or the same distance in the future. This is the first time a device has been able to span this many years and the 1,100 pound planetarium is expected to more than double the use of planetariums throughout the world.

Oldest Pill-Rolling Equipment on Exhibit

WASHINGTON—The oldest pillrolling equipment in the United States has been presented to the Smithsonian Institution to become part of an exhibit of early American pharmaceutical manufacturing equipment.

The copper pill-rolling pan was used in the middle of the last century by William R. Warner, Philadelphia druggist, the first to manufacture and mass-produce sugarcoated pills.

The French had begun sugar coating bitter pills in the 1830's and Warner introduced the process of mass production to the United States in 1856. His coated pills became so popular with long-suffering patients that he branched into wholesale manufacturing.

The antique copper pan, when still in use, was suspended from the ceiling of Mr. Warner's shops.

WASHINGTON WATER POWER CO. ON ITS 66th anniversary Salutes its Trailblazers

On its 66th birthday, The Washington Water Power Company honors 438 employes who have served the company for 25 years or more. These "Electric Trailblazers" represent every type and level of work in the company, from vice president to headgate attendant. The strong bond which unites them is their pride in helping to build the area with dependable electric service.

Pioneering, so characteristic of the company and its personnel in the past, continues in this atomic era. Plans for increased generation and distribution facilities are in various stages of work. Some projects will begin immediately; others are carefully timed to anticipate future area requirements.

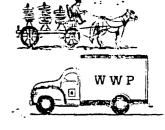

With research and planning, present day electric Trailblazing continues to chart the course of future regional progress.

J. E. E. Royer, Vice Pres. and Gen'l Mgr. of the Washington Water Power Company.

Mr. Royer is dean of all Washington Water Power employes, having rounded out his 47th year of service. Employed on a generator repair crew in 1907, he is now the oldest active employe in years of service. Among the other Trailblazers are 161 employes who have completed 30 years of service, and 72 employes who have passed the 40-year mark. One hundred sixty-nine Trailblazers are now retired.

Vaccination To Be Offered Dr. Quentin Mack, medical chairman of the Idaho State Polio Planning committee of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said this week that "tentative plans call for all children in the first and second grades in Idaho, to be offered the Salk polio vaccine, providing it is found effective and is licensed. In addition, all those children who participated in the field trials and did not receive the vaccine will be offered the Salk the vaccine will be offered the Salk innoculations." In excess of 2,800 children in Ada, Bannock, Bingham and Nez Perce counties were inoculated with the trial vaccine last spring."

Over 435,000 children in the United States have been given the Salk vaccine. The results of this massive field trial is now being studied by Dr. Francis of the University of Michigan. His report is expected to be released about April 1. The Salk vaccine field trials and the subsequent evaluation as well as the manuquent evaluation as well as the manufacturing of $9,000,000 worth of vaccine is financed by the March of Dimes, which drive is now being concluded throughout the nation.

"Here are some interesting figures," said Dr. Mack, "in connection with the study at Ann Arbor, some 144,000,000 facts from tons of records are being poured into computing machines; in excess of 40,000 blood samples were taken from children all over the nation, reports are being compiled from 2,000,000 test tubes. Aerial Crop-Control Is Booming Industry 25.000.000 Acres Were Treated in U.S.

A midwest wheat tract was so overrun with weeds that the farmer was about to plow it under. He decided, however, to try treating it with 2,4-D and hired an aerial crop-control specialist to apply the chemical at a cost of $2 an acre. The result: at yield of 20 bushels of grain per

Other instances: Aerial spraying of weed-killing chemicals enabled a southern cotton planter to cut hoeing costs from $14 to $6.50 an acre while a California citrus grower improved his lemon crop by spraying his orchards from the air.

25,000,000 acres of U.S. crop, range and forest land were treated last year with chemicals sprayed or dusted by airplane.

Some 6,000 pilots are engaged in the aerial battle against insect pests, weeds and plant diseases. And they are doing the job faster, more efficiently and in many instances at lower cost than ground distribution ingicides and herhi

Store Unused Tractors Under Shelter in Winter

If you want to ruin your tractor in a hurry, just let it sit outdoors, exposed to the weather, this winter. Farm machinery specialists say no amount of tough use will wear out your tractor as fast as leaving it out in the rain and snow.

Tractors are fairly expensive and may be hard to get. So, if you're not going to use your machine this winter, it will pay you well to find storage space for it in some building. Clean the machine thoroughly, especially the motor, and then store it in a dry protected place.

Block up the tractor to take the weight off the tires. Then drain the radiator, block, gas tank, fuel lines and carburetor. Put fresh oil in the crankcase and add a rust inhibitor. Most important of all, remove the spark plugs and pour one-fourth cut of light oil or kerosene in each cylinder. Then turn the crank a few times to work the oil around the rings and pistons, and replace plugs. Cover the exhaust pipe and crankcase breather pipe with old rags to keep out dirt and moisture.

Rodent Proof

If wire mesh is applied to joining sections of a poultry house, it will help keep the building free of rodents. The mesh is applied at the floor and ceiling ine as shown in the above illustration and should be well nailed,

Farmers Are Advised To Store Fertilizer

Farmers are still being advised to buy and store sufficient chemical fertilizer to meet their needs during the next 12 months. The supply is expected to be somewhat limited. Be sure it is stored in a dry place where there is little temperature variation, don't pile it any higher than five or six bags, and never pile it on the ground or even a concrete floor-the ideal storage place is an

Keeping Eyes Right Is Task of Six Little Muscles

NEW YORK-Six little muscles -that's the number which control the position of the eye and try to keep the eye on the beam, sometimes unsuccessfully.

In order to produce an image of an object at the renter of each retina, both of your eyes must point to an object. If it's far away, your eyes have to point almost straight ahead. If it's close, they should turn inward.

But the muscles of some eyes rebel against a proper pointing job. Eyes may have a tendency to point outward (exophoris), or too far inward (esophoris); or one eye may tend to point above or below its mate (hyperphoria). Such deviation can occur in viewing both distant objects and nearby ones, but the distance and the near phoria conditions are usually different.

All this has to do with binocular vision, because, unless your two eyes point correctly, they won't produce images that correspond and you'll see double. If you have a phoria, your eye muscles will generally maintain the correct positions by making an effort. (It's this ability that distinguishes a phoria from a cross-eyed condition). But the effort is liable to cause discomfort, and if you should grow very tired, ill, or intoxicated, your eyes might relax and endure double vision. In extreme cases, the eyes are then noticeably out of

If a person surrenders permanently, the brain may do away with the confusion by suppressing impulses from one eye, so that the double vision is eliminated.

Superstitions Seldom Fade Away

LOS ANGELES - Superstitions seldom die, nor do they recognize any class distinctions, says one of America's greatest folklorists.

Dr. MacEdward Leach, a member of the University of Pennsylvania faculty, is making a collection of modern-day superstitions that are scrupulously observed by persons in all walks of life. . Some current popular beliefs: A pair of baby shoes hanging inside the cab of a truck will protect the driver against an accident; balls of cotton hung on strings in open doorways will keep out flies; if a black ace falls on the floor during a bridge game, don't play any more; whiskey will cure colds and butter or greasy foods will protect against getting tipsy at the boss's cocktail party; after opening canned foods, place any leftovers in a glass jar before putting them in the refrigerator.

"In addition to these," adds Dr. Leach, "there are thousands of personal superstitions. A famous Philadelphia surgeon, for example, will operate only if he is wearing the same white gown he has worn for years.

One-Bath House Fast Going Out of Style

CHICAGO-If you're buying a home soon, look before you leap. A survey among recent home buyers shows that more than 85 per cent of those with single-bath dwellings now wish they had at least two baths.

The growing demand for more bathroom facilities has brought about a major revolution in modern home planning. For instance, more than 25 per cent of all homes now being built are equipped with more than one bathroom. The trend is not confined to moderate or to high-priced homes for many lowercost developments are featuring homes with 11/2 baths.

One reason for the popularity of muti-bath homes is the added convenience offered by an extra bath. A second bath or powder room helps to eliminate waiting in line for the facilities during the morning and evening rush hours.

Maybe Cats and Dogs, But Never Little Frogs

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.-Frogs and other small creatures do not fall with the rain, despite superstitious beliefs to the contrary.

General Electric Co., scientists say it is conceivable that a tornado might carry frogs aloft so they would fall to the ground later, perhaps with rain, but that it isn't too likely.

It is more plausible, they say, that a heavy rain would flood underground homes of frogs and other small creatures, forcing them into the open in large numbers. People seeing them on the ground might mistakenly think they fell with the rain.

Some Stump! OLD SAYBROOK, Conn. - Col.

Roger Whitman, having failed three times in attempts to burn out a pesky tree stump, piled automobile tires around it and set another blaze.

The flames were so hot they scorched a nearby tree and ignited a utility pole, but after the smoke subsided the stump was still intact.

Skilled Workers Now Dominate Labor Force

NEW YORK - Industrialization and technology have brought a pronounced change in the skill and make-up of the American working population, with far-reaching social and economic consequences, according to data compiled by the U. S. Department of Labor.

Perhaps the most dramatic of these developments has been the diminishing role of the unskilled laborer, once such a familiar and important part of the American scene. Back in 1910, for example. common laborers represented close to a fifth of the entire male nonfarm labor force and outnumbered the craftsmen, or skilled workers, by more than a million.

Since then the number of unskilled workers has fallen by nearly two million while the skilled groups have known a big increase. As a result, unskilled laborers made up only one-twelfth of the male nonfarm labor force in 1950, and they were outnumbered by the craftsmen by a margin of more than two to one.

The number of skilled workers nearly doubled in the 1910-50 period, but the biggest gain has occurred in the semi-skilled group in which the typical machine operator is classified. There were some five million more semi-skilled male workers in 1950 than in 1910, and the group as a whole now makes up about 20 per cent of the male nonfarm working population as against 11 per cent in the early part of the century.

Water Witches: Art or Accident?

KENT, Ohio-Water witches are making water wishes come true. Call it art or accident, science of superstition, but water witches and their tree-branch divining rods still play an important part in the hunt for life-giving water. Water witches, or dowsers, usually have their own favorite branches to use in their dowsing operations. Popular trees for water - hunting sticks include the apple, beech, willow, haze, peach as well as many others. While innumerable kinds of forked branches can become magic rods in the hands of experienced dowsers, nothing will work for some would-be water witches who are not endowed with the necessary "mystic power". Holding his forked stick in front of him, the dowser walks slowly over the area where he wants to locate water. When he reaches a spot where water lies beneath the earth's surface, the stick automatically points downward. Why it becomes agitated, no one knows. Not even the water witch,

In England, members of the Society of Dowsers report good demand for their services. The Royal Engineers, during World War II, included a special company of dowsers to assist in finding water for troops in arid regions. Their services were considered invalu-

Sky's No Limit Where Bird Flight Concerned

WASHINGTON-How high can a bird fly? When Sid Edmund Hillary and Tensing Norkey were nearing the top of Mount Everest last year. they were astonished to see a bird flying at the 27,000 foot level.

But that particular avian high flier failed by some 2,000 feet of beating what is generally regarded as the world altitude record for

Scientists photographing the sun over India once sighted a flock of geese at 29,000 feet, the approximate height of Mount Everest. In migration across the lofty Himalayas, these geese set the record. Orinthologists for several reasons do not stress altitude records of birds. They point out that the birds themselves do not strive for marks, flying high only to clear obstacles or storms, or to find tastier insects. The record-holding geese probably could have gone higher had they wished.

Did Somebody Bad Steal Church Wedding Bells?

SAN FRANCISCO-Who's stolen the wedding bells? This was the puzzling question for a time when the wedding chimes disappeared from the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

When the bells were missed the Rev. Victor Brazzanella notified police and a search was started.

The priest himself solved the mystery. He said he was informed that his own parishioners had the chimes taken out for repairs and had forgotten to tell him.

HELLO, FOLKS:

Well, we've certainly had lousy weather for the past ten days but indications are that the break will come soon, and when it does,

will probably come with a rush. Are you ready? Do you have that diesel tank and gas tank filled? Have you laid in your stock of lubricants to keep that tractor running? If you haven't, come in and talk it over with us, or just pick up the phone and call 1251;2tell us to fill that tank, and what lubricants' you need, we' of Union Oil will do the rest.

Battered Motorist: "Where am

Nurse: (soothingly): "Take it easy now. You're in Number 127." Motorist: "Room or cell?"

Have you tried those wonderful new Union Gasolines, "7600 Regular" and "76 Royal?" They give your car peak performance.

Strolling around a mental home a visitor asked an inmate his name. "George Washington," was the reply.

"But I seem to remember the last time I was here you were Abraham Lincoln," the visitor said. "That," explained the man, "was by my first wife."

Let us wash the winter grime from your car. We vacuum the interior, too — and the cost is low!

She: "Oh, George, do you realize it's almost a year since our honeymoon and that glorious day we spent on the sand? I wonder how we'll spend our anniversary?' He: "On the rocks!"
