Your Handy Helpful Hardware Man suggests: HOW TO MAKE A PENCIL HOLDER

One sure way for those school youngsters of yours to keep a pencil at hand inside the cover of a notebook is to insert a rubber band through two holes punched in the cover. Notice in the drawing that the band is knotted near each end to provide loops for the pencil and also to keep the band in place. A small ruler, dividers and other school equipment can be carried in the same way. A flat rubber band is preferable to a round one for this particular purpose.

Man-Made Light Moves Ahead By New Inventions

There is nothing to show that our anthropoid ancestors used candles to find their way around among the trees after dark, but there is ample evidence that the hairy cave man used fire to scare away prowling beasts.

Man-made illumination has come a long way since those remote days. By far the greatest strides have come in the past 75 years—greater progress than through all the thousands of years before. From the cave man's torch to electric light, the flame was the only source of illumination.

Within recent weeks, a new source of artificial light has been announced wherein electricity appears to serve merely as a match to light a wick! Powdered phosphor on a sheet of glass emits a mellow glow of its own under electric impulse. Your house of tomorrow may have these panels installed in walls and ceilings. It is claimed the cost of maintenance will be so low that the only need for switches will be to turn lights off when you want darkness. Clockfaces, stair risers and other incidentals will be permanently connected.

With this revolutionary development in man-made light comes wonder as to how it all started. Archaeologists have concluded among the earliest to whom the cave man passed his flaming torch were the ancient dwellers of Mesopotamia where lamps, fashioned from terra cotta, were found to have been used during 7000-8000 B.C. Copper and bronze lamps were used by the Persians and Egyptians in 2700 B.C. Homer described a "Festival of Lamps" in 950 B.C. The Romans were using lanterns a century before Christ.

The candlesticks of Biblical times and the lamps of the vestal virgins used animal and vegetable oils. Pliny mentioned the use of a mineral oil for lamps in 50 A.D. The Phoenicians appear to have been the first to use wax for candles in 400 A.D.

Atom Disaster Would Demand Many Trained 'Mass Feeders'

"In case of enemy attack or atom bombing, the disaster would demand more trained persons for mass feeding than we can hope to have today," two Red Cross workers who conducted an emergency feeding program during the flood disaster in Kansas City last July, warn in an issue of the Journal of Home Economics.

"Disaster feeding at best is a hodgepodge affair because there are never enough experienced people and survivors to do an ideal job." Jane Griswold, assistant national director of the American Red Cross Food and Nutrition Service, and Kathleen Kienstra, director of the Midwestern Area division of that service, explain in an article pointing out that experience in the flood disaster indicates what the situation would be in event of enemy attack. While urging the home economists to be ready with their professional help, the authors pay great tribute to the work of the community organizations who carried out the feeding program during the Kansas flood.

"It is encouraging to see the common purpose that draws people together when disaster comes to a community. The simple, basic, practical things that people can do for each other helps to ease the impact of catastrophe and turn the mind from despair," the authors conclude in the article, "Red Cross Fights Flood Disaster."

Treating Addicts

Law enforcement, education of the public and treatment of the individual are the three most important factors in combating the alarmingly increasing dope addiction among teen-agers, according to an article in Today's Health, published by the American Medical Association. "Regardless of where the upsurge of addiction started, it has jumped racial, economic and social boundaries," said the author of the article, Dr. Victor H. Vogel, medical officer in charge of the U. S. Public Health Service Hospital at Lexington, Ky. The hospital is one of the two federally operated for the treatment of drug addicts. Dr. Vogel reported that admissions at the two federal hospitals for drug addicts rose from 2,700 in 1949 to 4,500 in 1950, with an estimated rate of 4,200 in 1951. "An alarming part of this increase was due to the admission of addicts under 21, which jumped from 22 in 1947 to 440 in 1950—an increase of 2,000 per cent," Dr. Vogel stressed.

Early Inventors

Among the early American inventors who founded great industries, few struggled against adversity more desperately than Gail Borden (1801-1875), who was the first to obtain a patent (August 19, 1856) on a process for condensing milk. His first invention was a meat biscuit for which he was granted a prize at the International Exposition of London in 1851. Returning from London he was anguished by the death of infants on the ship who had been fed milk from sick cows. As a result of this experience, he spent years of experimentation to invent a process that would preserve milk under wretched conditions.

Prepare For Epidemic
Preparations to cope with a possible polio epidemic this summer in Idaho are rapidly nearing completion, according to Frank Nihil, Idaho representative for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.
"While we have no idea what this summer may bring, past experience indicates that we must be prepared for any emergency," Mr. Nihil said.
The Idaho Polio Planning committee has completed arrangements to check all of the Foundation emergency equipment located throughout the state so that it may be instantly available when and where needed. Treatment centers have been requested to alert medical personnel in the event the polio incident rate reaches epidemic proportions.
Joe Imhoff, chairman of the Volunteer state group, pointed out that a nurses pglio workshop has been conducted in major cities in Idaho, so that a reservoir of trained nurses will be available when and if needed.
Government economy is another thing much talked about, but seldom practiced.
Some men are well-to-do because others found them hard to do.

"Traded her for a jug of mountain dew."
"I reckon you're beginnin' to miss her."

"Nope, but I'm thirsty agin."

Don't try to go through harvest on "banana peel tires." Come in and how cheaply you can roll out on rugged U. S. Royals. You'll be surprised at how little it will cost!

Isn't There Someone?

Yes, isn't there someone willing to take on the task of writing the Cameron Community news?

Mrs. Fred Newman, who wrote it for so many years, said that the new mail schedule and the distance of their home from the mail box made it impossible for her to continue — and our thanks as well as that of the Cameron community go to her.

But surely there is someone else with a little time and closer to a mail box who is willing to write news of the thriving community. If so, please come in, phone or write the Gazette. Cameron News has occupied the back page for years — we would like to see it continue.
