INTERESTING NEWS NOTES FROM THE SOUTHWICK AREA

Missionary Society

The Southwick Community Church Missionary Society met on Friday at the home of Lola Thornton, with nine members spending the day working on quilts and poem books for the missions. Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd Loubaugh were also in attendance, with Mrs. Laubaugh taking over the presidency vacated by the transfer of Mrs. Swinney and family of Hermiton, Oregon.

Program Much Enjoyed

Those who were not privileged to see and hear the program put on at the Community Church here Monday evening by Rev. C. W. Thomas, president of Western Pilgrim College, at El Monte, Calif., and his group of four young men, "The Pilgrim Harmonies," certainly missed a wonderful display of talent in music and voice. They are really outstanding.

Rev. Thomas announced that two of our young people of this community have received scholarships at the college — Ronald Benjamin and Elvora Swinney. This is also the school Joan and Stanley Davis attend.

Ground Observer Corps

Special attention is being given at Southwick to the recently established "Ground Observer Corps," which is functioning quite smoothly in spite of the fact that there is work for more people — to relieve the burden some are carrying in lieu of help. The ladies here are putting in a 16-hour day at the watch, and some are carrying hours which they should be able to turn over to others who are not helping with the work. As many as 69-hours per month has been added up by some of the watchers.

Those manning the station steadily are Christina Cuddy, Virginia Cantrell, Lulu Lettenmaier, Edna King, Lola Thornton, Eula Davis, Marie Kachlemier, Betty Kazda, Goldie Mustoe, Alice Fry, Helen Cowger, Ruth Armitage, Millie Harris, Agatha Perkins, Edith Wells, Betty Mustoe, Priscilla Armitage, Helen Cantrell, Patricia Cowger, Sandra Cantrell, Mrs. Alex Lawrence and Marge Wright. Millie Harris is now ill, and someone else is taking her watch.

Surely there are those in the vicinity who have just as much time to work as these ladies and would be willing to spend four hours a week to help in a cause that means so much to our community, our state and our country. Come out and volunteer to help us with this work.

Contact Virginia Cantrell or Christina Cuddy, who are our supervisor and assistant.

Yes, It Really Warmed Up!

Following several days of rather mild 80-degree temperatures, Old Sol decided that it was again time to turn on the heat, and did so with a vengeance.

Saturday the mercury registered a high of 95 degrees on the "official" thermometer, and Sunday went a couple of degrees higher — to 97. The heat was felt all the more Sunday, however, due to the high humidity, and that night was quite warm, the thermometer reading 70 degrees at 10:30 p. m.

Monday a gentle breeze held the mercury to a reading of 90, but Monday night was cool and comfortable — and it seems as if the weather man is "again on the beam."

VOTERS SAY "THUMBS DOWN" ON SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

For the third time property-owner voters of Kendrick Joint School District No. 283 said "No" last Wednesday to a proposed school bond building program totaling about $304,000.

The issue failed by 49 "No" votes of carrying by the necessary two-thirds majority — but voting was far heavier than in the previous elections. Out of an estimated slightly more than 600 eligible voters in the district, which includes the communities of Juliaetta, Kendrick and Southwick, a total of 507 cast ballots.

The same issue failed in June by 40 votes, when only 387 throughout the district chose to visit the polls. In the election last week school officials authorized three polling places in the district, one at each community, instead of only one at Kendrick, as was the case in the two previous elections. This was done to give all a better opportunity to vote.

Total vote was 289 For; 218 Against.

Vote by polling places was:

Juliaetta:
Yes	27
No	74
Kendrick:
Yes	203
No	124
Southwick:
Yes	59
No	20

In plain English the issue failed by 49 "No" votes.

The bond issue would have provided for a building addition and remodeling at the present Kendrick school for $223,858; the addition of a new wing with classrooms at the Juliaetta grade school costing $55,040; and reconstruction of the Southwick grade school for $25,842, this building being destroyed by fire last year. The remainder of the bond money would have been used for purchase of furniture and other school equipment in the three schools.

Election judges were: Kendrick — Nora Callison, Mrs. Geo. F. Brocke, Sr. and Mrs. Hiram Galloway.

Juliaetta — Ira Havens, Mrs. Chas. Nelson and Henry Brammer.

Southwick — Ted Mielke, Mrs. Abner Cowger and Mrs. Ervin Fry.

Due to absences of Board members there has been no official meeting of the trustees, and no statement of any kind made by them since the election.

Said Robt. Meserve, superintendent: "I don't know what the next step will be — but something must be done to house the students and provide classrooms."

Pvt. Bob McCall Commended

From Headquarters of the 6th Armored Division at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri, comes the following letter, addressed to Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. McCall, under date of Aug. 4th:

"Dear Mr. and Mrs. McCall: Knowing full well that you are very much interested in your son's activities, I am very happy to be able to inform you that today, Robert was selected as the Outstanding Private of the Guard of Fort Leonard Wood. As such he was assigned to my office to accompany me in the place of honor as my orderly for the day.

His selection was based on those attributes of outstanding personal appearance, military bearing, and general knowledge of the Army. To have been selected as the Outstanding Private of the Guard from representatives of all the units at this station, most certainly reflects great credit upon himself and his background. It is my sincere belief that you have just reason to be very proud of your son for his accomplishment in the Military Service. I am sure that his future achievements will be of the highest calibre.

Sincerely — Frank O. Bowman, Major General, U. S. A., Commanding."

Billy Wilson Escapes Injury

MARLENE WILKEN BRIDE OF SGT. CHARLES R. BOWERS

A very pretty and impressive wedding took place at the Lutheran Church at Cameron, Idaho, Saturday, Aug. 6, at 8:00 p. m., when Miss Marlene Wilken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Wilken of Kendrick, and Sgt. Charles A. Bowers, son of R. H. Bowers of Jacksonville, Florida, exchanged nuptial vows in a double-ring ceremony. The Rev. Theo Meske, pastor of the church, officiated.

Soft music was played by the organist, Mrs. Herman Schupfer, while the ushers lit the candles for the candlelight service.

To the strains of Lohengren's Bridal March, the bride and groom marched down the aisle to the altar, where they were greeted by the pastor.

A friend of the bride, Miss Dorothy Meyer, a missionary to India, sang "Ich Liebe Dich" (I Love Thee).

While the organist played a beautiful march the bridesmaid, Mrs. Kenneth Wilken, sister-in-law of the bride, entered, followed by the maid-of-honor, Margaret Wilken, sister of the bride. Next came the best man, Bob Short, a close friend of the groom, followed by the ushers, Kenneth Wilken, brother of the bride, and Reinhard Schroeder.

After they had taken their places beside the bride and groom, Miss Meyer sang "O Perfect Love." The bride was given in marriage by her father.

After the bridal pair exchanged their marriage vows, Miss Meyer sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The recessional march was "Praise to the Lord the Almighty God."

The bride designed and made her full-skirted white slipper satin gown, which ended in a cathedral-length train, with a fitted bodice and a rounded neck line, with tiny satin buttons fastening the long pointed sleeves.

Her two-tiered waist-length veil was held by a head band of satin adorned with pearls. She wore a single strand of pearls about her neck, a gift of the groom.

For something old she carried the embroidered linen handkerchief which her mother carried at her own wedding. For something borrowed she wore her mother's pearl earrings. She also wore the traditional blue garter and a penny in her shoe for luck. Her bouquet was a nosegay of single white gladiolus, each centered with a pink rosebud.

Her attendants wore identical floor-length gowns of frosted green taffeta with a shoulder-drape of paler green. Their nosegays were pink carnations and white double daisies with a pink rosebud and pink streamers.

The church was adorned with baskets of white and pink gladiolus and ferns. The altar was decorated with pink and white carnations.

Mrs. Wilken chose a pink dress and hat for her daughter's wedding, and her corsage was of deep pink rosebuds.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the parish hall. The decorations here were also keyed to the pink and white color theme, with baskets of white and pink gladiolus.

The serving table was covered with a white linen cloth and crystal holders with white candles. The four-tiered bride's cake was beautifully decorated and topped with delicate white wedding bells. The bride's and bridesmaid's nosegays formed the floral decorations for the table.

After the bride and groom had cut and served the first piece of wedding cake, Mrs. Reinhard Wilken and Mrs. Henry Wentt cut and served the cake. Miss Hermine Meyer poured coffee, and Mrs. Walter Koepf presided at the punch bowl. Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Homer Parks, Mrs. Fred Siffow, Mrs. Otto Siffow, Mrs. Herman Meyer and Mrs. August Brammer.

The groom's cake, wrapped in pink net and tied with white ribbon to form a bell, was passed to the guests by Miss Mildred Brammer and Mrs. Glen Wegner.

Miss Marga Wilken had charge of the guest book.

At the gift table were Miss Rose Larson of Kelso, Wash., and Miss Marion Leonard of Portland, Ore., college mates of Miss Wilken, the latter a roommate.

The bride attended and graduated from the Kendrick High School, and the Pacific Lutheran College at Parkland, Wash., receiving her B. A. degree with the class of '35. She has been employed by a wholesale drug firm at Tacoma, Wash.

Sgt. Bowers is a veteran of the Korean conflict, and is now stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash.

WATER SITUATION DESPERATE

For the first time in the years since Kendrick has had a deep well and pump — this community is facing a critical water situation — for the water table in the well has dropped to the point where it will no longer carry continuous pumping, even with the big suction draw turned back.

The situation first became apparent Saturday night when the reservoir failed to fill over-night, as was the usual case. Investigation disclosed the big pump drawing air instead of water. An inspection of the supplementary springs, which usually prove adequate for the winter needs of the community, were doing nicely — but this supply is far from adequate in summer.

An emergency meeting of available members of the Village Board was called and it was decided that fire protection was the "big must," and the reservoir necessarily needed to be at a high level — or insurance would probably be cancelled.

It was also felt that the swimming pool and park were entitled to their share of available water — so the following watering or sprinkling hours were set:

East part of town — from Bob's Garage eastward: Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock.

West part of town — from Bob's Garage westward — Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings from 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock.

Sunday — No watering at any time by anyone!

Further: The above hours and locations will be strictly enforced. If violated, a fine will be assessed and added to the water bill. In case of a second violation — water will be cut off without further notice.

The Volunteer Fire Department adds this: "Should the fire alarm ring during any sprinkling period — said sprinklers, nozzles, etc., must be shut off immediately.

Residents will be notified when the above regulations and restrictions are lifted.

The co-operation of everyone will permit laws to be kept green and flower beds reasonably moist. Please co-operate and avoid a fine.

Word From Dick Coulter

From Sgt. Dick Coulter, who has been stationed on Okinawa for some time, comes the following note, that should be of interest to many:

"Just a short note to tell you to stop sending my subscription to Post's address, 4000 Church St., Boise, because I'm leaving sometime in August for the states and discharge. Of course, getting out of the army means getting married to me. Fran and I have set a tentative date of the 11th of September, but then, you know how unpredictable the army is, so we can't be sure of things just yet.

I can't say that I regret spending this time overseas. However, I do regret spending it on Okinawa. Parker is certainly lucky to be on the continent, but by the same token, I suppose that I'm lucky not being in Korea. I did get off the "Rock" for two weeks in May when I took a leave to Tokyo, Japan. I enjoyed it very much. Tokyo has a western atmosphere, so that at times I almost felt as if I were in the states.

As far as my job here goes, I've had a pretty good deal. I've been appointed Sgt. Major of the battalion, which gives me quite a bit of responsibility as well as a few headaches, but then I can last out another two or three weeks without any trouble at all. I have the pleasure (?) of supervising the administration for the battalion, which is about 600 men strong. I keep plenty busy and the time goes zooming by. It really does not seem possible that I've been here 15 months. I think that basic training seemed longer to me than this.

As far as plans for next year go, we have some pretty big ones. I'm going to study organ and choral music at Union Theological Seminary in New York City. I haven't any idea how long we will spend studying there — might even try getting a job there — but I'm quite excited about it. We had hoped to spend some time in Northern Idaho before going east, but it will be impossible as I'm getting out just ten days before registration. Consequently, we are going to just have time to get married and get ourselves to the big city. — Sincerely, Dick."

That's why every sale of goods or services represents another satisfied customer for our local businessmen . . . why they offer prompt, courteous and efficient service. . . fair and reasonable prices . . . cheerful exchanges or adjustments whenever warranted.

Local businessmen aren't in business to get rich from high volume sales or excessive profits. Their future security lies in continuous customer satisfaction through quality service, fair prices and reliable transactions.

That's why the firms serving this community ask for customer criticism as well as customer complaints. They have a genuine interest in keeping their customers satisfied and are constantly looking for new ways to improve existing services and add new ones.

Patronize the local businessmen at every opportunity. You'll soon be convinced that it's the wisest thing to do. When you do business with people who are anxious to please — your promise of satisfaction never ends with the sale.

FORESTRY - U.S.A.

200 YEARS AGO he strode all alone across the land, planting tree seed wherever he found a farm home. Today, tree planting is a united effort by State, Federal and Private Landowners. They face the need to make millions of loafing acres more productive.

MODERN MACHINES CAN PLANT 1,000 SEEDLING TREES IN AN HOUR.

Power Of The Press
If anyone around South Viking, M. D., expresses any doubt about the power of the press, he has Ted Lindahl, a local farmer to answer to. Ted sends the scoffer to The Standard, at Maddock . . . or takes him there.
It seems that Mr. Lindahl lost a couple of Holstein calves some time ago, and when they were still a w. o. l. after nine days, he went to town to put an ad. in the Standard. When he got home, and before the paper was published, he found the truant peacefully grazing in his pasture.
Since there is an explanation for almost everything, The Standard forthwith printed the story. It seems that in stacking straw, a "wide-open hole" was made between two stacks. The calves subsequently wandered into it, and the "hole" fell in on them. They were trapped, and their whereabouts completely hidden from searchers. And it took nine days for these not-too-bright animals to develop sufficient thirst to yield to instinct and push their way free . . . and while Mr. Lindahl was driving to town to place that ad!
There is a very fine implied compliment back of this story. And compliments are among the things that every editor lives for whether he admits it or not. But the editor's wife will tell you they are not very nourishing.
No matter how great a subscriber's faith in the paper, he is displaying his confidence rather negatively when he waits for misfortune of some sort to nudge him into using the community readership and influence. If any ad. will restore the lost, the strayed and stolen, it will also sell extra livestock or used equipment, or most anything a reader may consider "surplus," as they say here in Washington. Likewise, an ad. can save both time and money in locating equipment, materials, livestock or services a reader may wish to buy.
Some people only pray when they are scared to death. But even more people think of the power of the press only when they've got troubles — such as "please keep this out of the paper." — Bob Taylor.

Cattle Will Help Themselves
Cattle can rid themselves of horn flies and other insects if you provide them with a rubbing unit, the University of Idaho says. Good commercial models are available, or a self-treating apparatus can be set up by stringing a loose wire between two posts and wrapping it with burlap saturated in a solution.

Freak Accidents Costly To Farmer

Insurance, Equipment, Care Saves Money

Costly freak accidents on the farm can be avoided only through the use of more than ordinary caution.

A farmer takes several liability risks, more than the average city dweller. The farmer is responsible for his own negligent acts, for negligence in the upkeep of his property and for damaging acts of his animals. As head of a family, he may also be held liable for negligent acts of members of his family.

Falling from a ladder can hurt both a farmer's pride and his pocketbook, even if the fall is suffered by an employee. The wise farmer has liability insurance.

Since he often works with machinery, the farmer risks personal injury to himself or his workers, injuries which might arise from carelessness, faulty equipment, or other reasons.

As an employer, he may be held accountable for his negligence when such brings harm or accident to his employees or injury to others by his employees.

Many farm accidents involve common law liability in which awards or damages prove costly. Even the cost of proving lack of negligence can sometimes cost as much as paying damages. For this reason adequate liability insurance is a safe and wise investment for the average farmer.

Keeping equipment in good operating order is a safety "must" for every farm. Just being careful isn't enough to prevent costly accidents if you're working with faulty equipment.

USDA Under Secretary Grew Up On Small Farm

Under Secretary of Agriculture True D. Morse, designated major USDA official responsible for the direction and coordination of the Department's work in developing a program to provide more effective assistance for low income farm people, grew up on a small farm near Carthage, Mo., an area with many low income farms.

For more than 26 years, Morse worked actively with low income farmers and has been responsible for efforts that have been effective in improving their welfare. This assistance included work in some 20 states following World War I and during the depression years.

Opportunities for rural development through more effective planning and work by local leadership have long been advocated by Mr. Morse. He was called upon to originate a rural community development program for Tupelo, in northeast Mississippi. The success of this plan stimulated many other such developments and attracted national recognition. Morse later directed the development of plans for Asheville, N.C. and Beckley, W. Va., areas. He also has worked with numerous other areas, groups and organizations in similar efforts to improve the incomes and general welfare of lower income farm areas.

New Cameron Correspondent
After three long weeks with no Cameron News, Mrs. Harl Whiting has agreed to become "Cameron Correspondent", and she will without a doubt make a good one, having had previous experience in the writing of news.
However, all are reminded that their help is needed - so don't wait for Mrs. Whiting to call you. If you have news - call her. She, as well as the Gazette, will appreciate it, and it will all make for a better column from that lively community.

Inspect Dam Sites
Some 24 newspaper editors and photographers were the guests of the Northwest Power Companies last Friday and Saturday on a boat trip up the Snake river to view the proposed Pleasant Valley and Mountain Sheep dam sites.

Contrary to the impression some people may have gathered from newspaper descriptions, neither of these proposed sites interferes in any way since they are below it some 20 miles. Neither do they affect in any way the fish migration of the Salmon or Imnaha rivers - since they are above the mouths of both rivers.

Government financing does not enter into the construction of either dam - as both would be financed by private capital, as would the transmission lines.

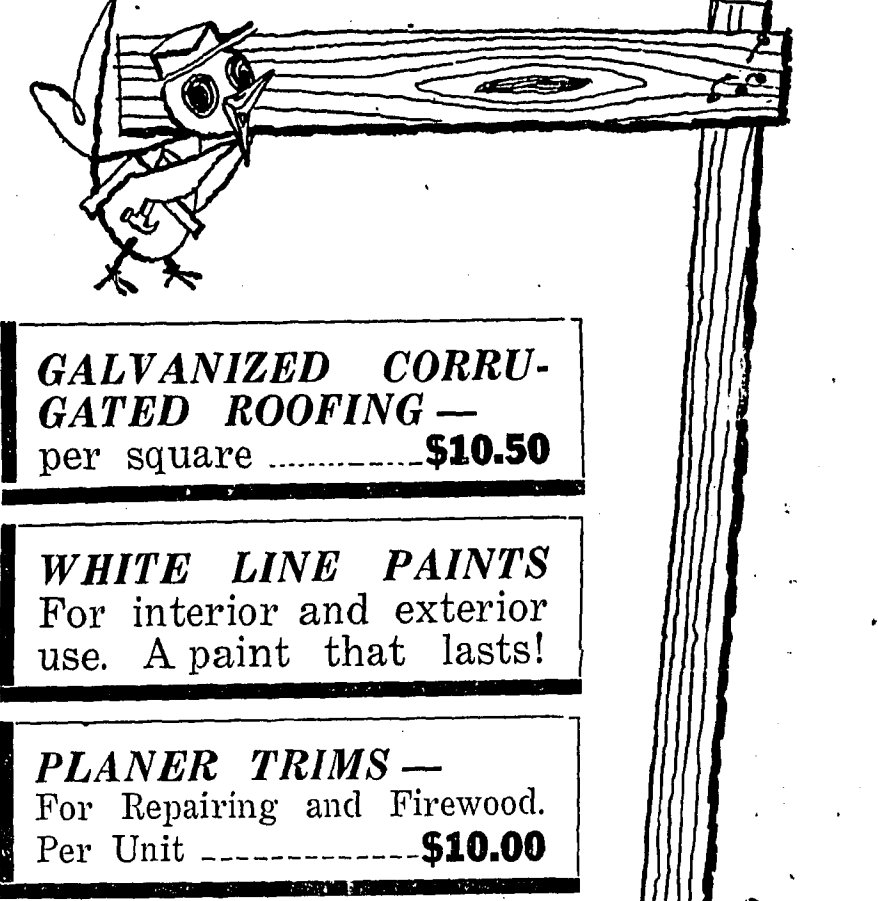

These projects should not be confused with the controversial dams proposed by the Idaho Power & Light Co., as the construction proposed by that company lies upstream above the Hells Canyon proposed project.

Preliminary diamond core drilling has shown that both of these projects (Pleasant Valley and Mountain Sheep) are feasible, and the formal application for permit to build will be filed by the Northwest Power Companies shortly - and should receive prompt approval.

Published Weekly by the Union Oil Service at Kendrick
W. L. "Bill" Rogers, Editor

HELLO, FOLKS:

Yes, you bet, we've had some pretty hot days the past week — and that's not made for cool running truck and combine motors — but if you'll just fill the crankcase of that motor with famous Royal Triton Motor Oil, and lubricate the rest with Union Oil Co. products you'll find that it will go a long ways toward keeping that motor cooler. All you have to do is Phone 1251 — and we will deliver those products to you! Try them, won't you?

Little Jimmy raced to the camera shop and breathlessly stated: "I heard you enlarge photographs to life size. Is that true?" "Sure is," said the clerk, "what's on your mind?" "Gee," exclaimed Jimmy, "here's a shot of the Empire State Building, I'll wait."

Are you operating on "Banana Peel" tires on your car, pickup or truck — or combine? If so, why? Why take chances on losing precious harvest time when you can roll right along on those famous U. S. Royals? Come in and find out how little tire satisfaction and safety will cost.

Hubby (bragging to guests): "When anything goes wrong around our house, I just get busy and fix it!"

Wife: "Oh, yeah! Since you fixed the clock the cuckoo backs out and ask, 'What time is it?'"

Let us wash, grease and care for your car during this busy season. We vacuum the interior with every wash job, too!
