It is not known whether or not the house and furnishings were covered by insurance.

No Oiling This Year

Despite the fact that a contract for oiling and seal coating most of the streets and alleys in Kendrick was obtained some weeks ago, it is not thought likely that the work can be done this year — for warm weather is needed to insure a good job — and warm weather (enough for such a contract) is not thought likely.

The village fathers sought for some months to find a firm to do the job — but when it was finally located, and the required time for a contract to be published and signed — the warm weather was gone.

Well, better luck next year.

EDGAR H. TAYLOR, JULIAETTA PIONEER, DIES THURS.

Edgar H. Taylor, 83, former postmaster, mail carrier and farmer, and a resident of Juliaetta for 50 years, died at a rest home in Moscow last Thursday, October 6, following a brief illness, although he had not been in good health for some time.

Mr. Taylor was born near Asheville, North Carolina, Aug. 23, 1872. He grew to young manhood there, and was united in marriage at Asheville to Elsie L. Roberts, Aug. 5, 1900. That same year they moved to Wardner, Idaho, where he went to work in the mines. Shortly thereafter they moved to Juliaetta, and lived there the rest of their lives.

Mr. Taylor purchased a farm near Juliaetta, then became a rural mail carrier and later the town's postmaster. He retired from the postal service in 1947. During many of these years he also served as Juliaetta Village clerk; on election boards, and was always active in community affairs.

Mr. Taylor was one of the oldest continuous Juliaetta residents. His mind was keen, and he was able to recount the history of the village to information seekers. His jolly laugh and high sense of humor endeared him to all who knew him. His passing will leave a gap that will long remain unfilled.

Services were held in the Juliaetta Methodist Church at 1:30 p. m. Monday, October 10, with the Rev. F. C. Schmidt, officiating. Music was furnished by Mrs. Burton Souders, Jr., and Miss Donna Kanikbeberg, who sang: "It Is Well With My Soul" and "Goin' Home," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. M. C. Halliday.

SHORT NEWS ITEMS FROM OUR LOCAL SCHOOLHOUSE

Teachers' Institute
This week is conference for Teachers' Institute, which meets at Lewiston Oct. 13th and 14th.

New Library Books
Mrs. Merrick has received several more new books for the library. They are: "Captain Horatio Hornblower," by C. S. Forester. This tells of an English sea captain who fought against France in the Napoleonic wars. It is good for a report in English literature.

"The Artic Doctor" by Dr. Joseph P. Moody, tells of the exciting experiences of a doctor beyond the Arctic circle. It is nicely illustrated and a good non-fiction selection.

The two new Reader's Digest books contain some very interesting material, such as: "Onions in The Stew," "Man Bait," and "The Year The Yankees Lost The Pennant."

School Comparisons
Having listened for years to students complaining about the strictness of our local institution, we thought it would be interesting to compare it with a foreign school.

One privilege which we abuse, and which is strictly forbidden in German schools, is chewing gum. During classes we calmly pull our gum out, wind it around our hands (sometimes dropping it on the floor) and then poke it back into our mouths. We snap and pop our gum; throw the wrappers on the floor, or else use it as a spit-wad to clip someone on the side of the head. The students attending school in Germany would never in their wildest dreams think of doing such things. If someone were to get caught chewing gum, he would be expelled from school.

To obtain a high school diploma one must attend school for 13 years in Germany. In American schools only 12 years are required.

German students are not allowed to utter a sound during class, without first obtaining permission from the teacher. Students attending school in Kendrick may confer with one another if they whisper or keep their voices low, according to the individual instructor.

In Germany, only recently have girls been allowed to attend the same schools as boys. Private schools were set up for girls who wished to go beyond grade school. Both boys and girls have mingled in American schools for many years.

So — students of Kendrick High don't have it quite as tough as they think they do. Not one of us would trade places with a German student and miss the privileges we have at this school.

Senior Ball
The seniors this year are carrying through the tradition of having a Senior Ball. The theme chosen for the big event is "Stormy Weather."

It will be held on Saturday evening, Oct. 22nd, with the Grand March at 9:00. Admission for students is $1.50 until Friday noon. Buy your ticket before that time or pay the regular price of $2.00.

The Ball will be semi-formal, and unlike last year's Junior Prom — corsages will be in order.

Attend Road Meeting

Monday evening a group from the Kendrick Commercial Club — Roy Glenn, F. C. Cuddy and Ross Armistage drove to Orofino where they met with the Orofino Chamber of Commerce, members of the State Highway Board and representatives of the Southwick, Teakean and Cavendish communities in an effort to obtain the oiling of the Ahsahka-Teakean-Cavendish-Southwick-Kendrick road.

The members of the Highway Board stated that they had been over the road, and well knew that it was in need of attention, but due to the recent expenditure for graveling and other work, and the fact that Idaho was short of matching road funds — they thought it unlikely that oiling could be done in the near future.

Three Dogs Poisoned

Three dogs have been poisoned in the past few days in the west part of town. However, it is not known at this time whether they died as a result of distributed poison, or whether they caught poisoned rats coming from the local warehouses where the so-called "10-80" poison is used.

David Clayton, local pharmacist says that should your pet come home suffering with poison, pour him full of mineral oil and milk — and hope for the best. If he consumed strychnine or similar poison, it may save him. If it is "10-80" as a result of biting a poisoned rat or mouse — nothing will help.

Your children visit a new world each week

Each Thursday, teacher turns a knob and the class enters a new world—a world many are visiting for the first time via the Standard School Broadcast.

Since 1928, this program has introduced man's musical heritage to Western children. Now playing for its second generation, the Standard School Broadcast is probably the biggest "classroom" in history. It has an audience of nearly 1,500,000 listeners throughout the West, Alaska and Hawaii... students in 54,000 classrooms and adult listeners at home.

They hear a symphony orchestra, a dramatic cast, choral groups and guest artists. Standard provides Teacher's Manuals as program listening guides.

Goal of the School Broadcast is to help listeners gain an absorbing new interest in music, and—through music—a broader knowledge and understanding of the world around them. We suggest that you listen in at home to enjoy the world's best music and to gain one more link with your children's interests. TUNE IN every Thursday... check your newspapers for time and station.

Final Rites For Minnie F. Jones

Final rites for Minnie Florence Jones, who passed away in the Orofino hospital October 4, were held in the Brower-Wann Memorial Chapel at Lewiston on Thursday, October 6, at 11:00 a. m., with the Rev. F. C. Schmidt of the Kendrick Community Church officiating. Music was furnished by Betty Jones, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Oscar Slind.

Fallbearers were Ronald Jones, John Jones, George Jones, Donald Jones, Leslie Hamilton and Ted Hamilton. Interment was in Normal Hill cemetery at Lewiston.

Minnie Florence Jones, daughter of James W. and Elvira Jones, was born Oct. 8, 1879, at Aurora, Nebraska. She lived there until 1889, then moving to Kansas City, Mo., and a year later went to Derby, Iowa. There she made her home until coming to Kendrick, Idaho, in 1947.

Miss Jones graduated from the Methodist Hospital as a Registered Nurse in 1908. She followed this profession which she dearly loved until her health failed several years ago. Her life was devoted to giving comfort and loving care to others. She was a life-long member of the Goshen Baptist Church.

She had been in poor health for the past three years, and passed away at the Orofino Hospital Oct. 4, at 10:00 o'clock. She would have been 78 years of age on Oct. 8th.

She leaves to mourn their loss, a brother, Ernest H. Jones of Kendrick; sisters, Mrs. Edith Patterson of Charlton, Iowa, and Mrs. Maude Horton of Osceola, Iowa; a large number of nieces and nephews, and a host of friends.

She was a sister of the late Walter Jones of Kendrick, and the late Mrs. Clara Hamilton of Lewiston. Also preceding her in death were four sisters, Delores Ellen Jones, Edna A. Jones, Mrs. Dora McDaniel, and a brother, Fay L. Jones, all of Derby, Iowa.

Rain Falls In Torrents

The "drouth" in this section was certainly broken this past week-end, with several heavy downpours occurring Friday through Sunday, but the one of Sunday night was undoubtedly the heaviest — the rain literally falling in torrents.

Bill White, village custodian, a rain coat on his back and a shovel over his shoulder was kept plenty busy opening storm drains Monday morning — as well as calmly announcing to all: "Sprinkling restrictions are lifted. You can water all you like!"

The rain, of course, effectively put an end to all logging operations — as well as field work.

We understand there still remains some peas, clover and barley in the fields.

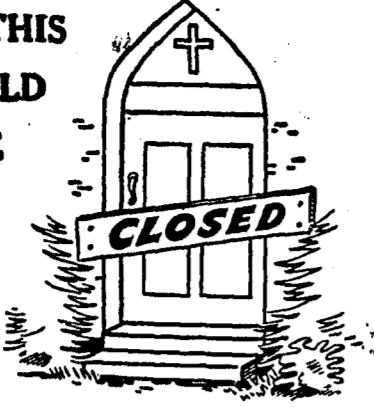

P.-T. A. Monday, Oct. 17

The regular monthly P.-T. A. meeting will be held on Big Bear ridge at the Community hall, 8:00 p. m., October 17. F. C. Schmidt will present the topic: "With Guidance For Growth."

Hostesses are Mrs. Oscar Slind, Mrs. Hardy Holt, Mrs. Joe Clemenhagen, Mrs. Homer Emmett, Mrs. Raymond Polunsky and Mrs. Earl Raymond.

Hunters — let us fill your grub box. Blewett's Market, Kendrick, adv

WHAT IF THIS SIGN SHOULD BE ON THE CHURCH DOORS IN OUR LAND?

In many countries today the people know what it is to be forbidden to enter the church of their choice. How thankful we should be for a place to worship the Lord as we please! How careful we should be to avail ourselves of this opportunity that still is ours! Are you in Sunday School each Sunday morning? There's a place in Sunday School for YOU. Our Sunday School invites you to join us this week as we gather to worship the Lord. You will find new strength for the days ahead as you come to His house on the first day of the week. We have the glorious freedom of worship in America. Let us not neglect such a privilege!

Dairy-Livestock Short Course
U. of I. — Idaho's first dairy-livestock short course was announced this week by Dean J. E. Kraus of the University of Idaho college of agriculture. What is planned as an annual fall event has been scheduled this year for November 7 to 10, inclusive. Cooperating in its sponsorship are the departments of dairy husbandry, animal husbandry and veterinary science. "With Idaho showing a 23 percent increase in the number of beef cattle on feed, and being one of the few states in the nation reporting an increase in dairy cattle numbers, the demand for a short, practical course of this type has been growing," explains Dean Kraus. Requests for the dairy-livestock course came from dairymen and livestock producers through G. C. Anderson, extension dairymen, and Herman Hilfiker, Ada county agent. "More Idaho farmers are getting into dairy and livestock production in a small way," Dean Kraus continued. "Settlers on the newer reclamation developments are incorporating livestock in their basic plan and are asking for help in getting off to a right start." Latest developments in feeding, breeding and disease control will be covered during the four days. Appointed by Dean Kraus as the committee to organize and direct the course are D. L. Fourn, head of dairying; Carl F. Sierk, head of animal husbandry, and James W. Bailey, W. Bailey, acting head of veterinary science. Bird's Eye Fresh Frozen Foods of many varieties are obtainable at Blewett's Grocery-Market in Kendrick — and they're good. 1-adv.

Your Handy Helpful Hardware Man suggests:
HOW TO CAULK AROUND A CHIMNEY

Homeowners know the kind of damage a leaky roof causes. By proper care, especially around the chimney, this trouble some condition can be eliminated. When caulking around a chimney use screen wire as reinforcement under the caulking. This will prevent caulking from pulling away from bricks to cause a leak. Screen wire is tacked directly to chimney and to roof and caulking compound is applied over it. Compound should be forced into the mesh of the screen. Hardware cloth may be used in place of screen wire.

Life Insurance Funds Going To Nation's Defense Plants

Life insurance funds are moving to the aid of the defense activities of the country in increasing volume, and loans made by the life insurance companies in support of the defense program may reach $3,500,000,000 for 1951, according to the Institute of Life Insurance.

"In keeping with the usual policy of directing new funds into channels where they may be most useful for the national economy, the current trend in life insurance investments is towards meeting the capital needs of the preparedness program," Holgar J. Johnson, Institute president, commented. "This is in line with the voluntary credit restraint program under which defense needs have precedence over all other elements in the economy. Defense financing now accounts for the greater part of the life insurance company placement of policyholder funds in business and industry."

More than $1,000,000,000 has been loaned by the life insurance companies so far this year to defense plants and indications are that a like amount may be loaned in the remaining months of the year.

In addition, some $800,000,000 has this year been invested in loans to utility companies and railroads, which are basically involved in all defense activities. This amount may be nearly doubled by the end of the year. Thus, the total of financing made available during the entire year for defense industries or defense-supporting activities may come to $3,500,000,000.

The loans for defense or defense-supporting purposes represent two-thirds of all loans made in the first six months by the life companies to business and industrial concerns, and the ratio has been increasing since mid-year.

Contrary To Superstition, Oysters Edible Year-Round

Contrary to superstition, oysters are edible in all 12 months. Hot-weather shipping problems helped to build the R-month legend. The taboo remains appropriate even with modern refrigerated transportation, however, since May to August is the natural spawning season. The adult female oyster's feat of discharging as many as a half-billion eggs in this season leaves her a bit too thinned down for prime succulence.

Shad were surpassed only by cod and salmon among U.S. commercial fisheries before the turn of the century. Overfishing, industrial pollution, and high dams barring the way to upstream spawning grounds have forced shad far down on the list now. Although the Chesapeake Bay still accounts for one fish out of three, the total catch is less than one-fifth that of 19th century peak seasons.

Crabs, alewives, rockfish, croakers, sea trout, and menhaden all figure importantly in Chesapeake Bay commerce. Like oysters and shad, they are studied for rehabilitation purposes by such organizations as the Chesapeake Biological Laboratory at Solomons, Maryland, and the Chesapeake Bay Institute, Baltimore.

Pearls and Pipelines

Iranian nationalists have laid verbal claim to Bahrein, oil-rich island across the Persian Gulf where Arabian dhows put in bearing huge milky pearls from the sea floor. Persia has been claiming Bahrein without avail since 1783, however. An independent sheikdom under British protection, Bahrein is the site of an American oil field and refinery. Saudi Arabia's oil wells were joined with the Mediterranean coast in 1950 by the competition of Tapline, a 1,068-mile, 30-inch pipeline across the burning Arabian desert. American and British engineers proposed to build next an even bigger "Middle East Inch" (34-36 inches in diameter) from Abadan to the Mediterranean. Iran's oil would thus be linked by a tunnel of steel with the Western world—if the hot desert wind from Tehran does not blow the project away.

Turbans

In a survey of "fashions down through the ages," made by The Book House For Children the turban was found to be a favorite head covering of many ancient peoples, among them, the Armenians, Babylonians, and Phoenicians. Today's favorites include variations of the cloche, beret, and "beanie," a small disc of felt or straw that is anchored to the head, usually with hatpin or veiling.

Color Blindness

Most common in color blindness is the confusion of red and green, which may affect as many as 80 men and 5 women per thousand population. One person out of several thousand has trouble with yellows and blues. Very rare is complete color-blindness, in which everything is seen as black, gray and white. Not more than a hundred such cases have been reported in the scientific literature. Even a partially color-blind person usually learns to name colors properly a great deal of the time. For example, one with red-green deficiency may learn by experience that what he sees as dull dark yellow is really red, while a light yellowish-gray is what other people call green.

New Landing System

A new system of landing aircraft at sea with mirrors and colored lights underwent its first tests this month on the navy attack aircraft carrier, USS Bennington.

Based on an idea developed by the British navy, the new landing system consists of a large concave mirror and banks of green and amber lights mounted on the port side of a carrier's flight deck.

About 150 feet astern of the mirror is another row of lights, amber in color, which are reflected as an image or 'blob' of light. It is the image in relation to side reference lights which the pilot sees when making a landing.

As the pilot approaches the flight deck for a landing, the position of the lights and an image in the mirror indicate whether his glide path, speed and altitude are in proper relation to each other for a safe landing.

The new system, for both day and night operations, is known as the "deck landing mirror sight."

The combination may eventually replace the Landing Signal Officer, who now brings the pilot and his aircraft to a landing with the use of hand-held paddles or lights.

With the advent of jet aviation and the increased size and speed of modern aircraft, carrier operations have become more demanding on the LSO's abilities.

A very important man

As the General Petroleum wholesale agent in Kendrick, J. M. Hedler is one of the most important men in the complex organization required to make our Mobilgas, Mobiloil and other Mobil products available anywhere all of the time.

J. M. Hedler is in business for himself. Among his principal customers are the three Mobilgas dealers in Kendrick, Juliaetta and Southwick who also are in business for themselves.

To prosper in this highly competitive oil business, J. M. Hedler and the Mobilgas dealers have to sell fine products with fast and friendly service. Just as we take pride in our Mobil products, we also take pride in the manner in which they are sold to you.

Many of these independent members of the Mobil family are active in community affairs. They know that much of the growth and development of their city depends on them as local businessmen and citizens just as we know that much of the progress of our company and our industry depends upon them as oil men.

During this nationally observed Oil Progress Week, we would like here to pay our compliments to J. M. Hedler and the Mobilgas dealers for the fine job they are doing for the people of Kendrick, Juliaetta and Southwick — and for us.

U. of I. Enrollment Way Up

U. of I., Moscow — Fall enrollment at the University of Idaho climbed this week to 3,468, a rise of approximately 12 percent over the same period last year, with the biggest increase coming in students looking to teaching careers.

College of Education students total 655 — 100 more than last fall. Many students of the other colleges, particularly Letters and Science, which had substantial increases, are also seeking teaching certificates. Figures on these students are not available at this time, but it is estimated that the number of teacher-minded students has increased more than the number of students in any other field.

"The university's big rise in enrollment has given us problems with budget and space, but we are particularly pleased with the increased number of students looking forward to teaching careers," said Dr. D. R. Theophilus, president of the university. "Idaho, like every other state, needs more teachers, and the number of potential teachers in our classrooms today is gratifying."

"Greater financial inducements being offered teachers has no doubt had its effect. The law of supply and demand is operating. We still have a long way to go before the supply will catch up with the demand, but this year's enrollment indicates progress is being made."

As in the past, the men outnumber the women at the university about 3 to 1. The men total 2,577, and the women 891.

Short Bits About This And That

Certified seed bears the tag of the Idaho Crop Improvement association and is the only seed of known genetic identity and purity.

Omar, a soft white wheat resistant to smut, was released for seed production in Idaho, Washington and Oregon, this fall. Twenty-three growers in northern Idaho are cooperating with the University of Idaho in the development.

Home economists recommend Jonathan apples for a pie that will bake in 20 minutes.

One-fourth of the married women in America have jobs outside their homes, according to a survey by the Ohio State University.

A cereal sundae makes a good start to a breakfast, in the opinion of Idaho home demonstration agents. Top your favorite cereal with vanilla ice cream. Add fresh fruit.

The department of agriculture has developed a new flame-resistant treatment for cotton cloth. The finish is said to be highly durable under washing and dry cleaning.

To cure a broody hen, Robert Black, poultryman of the U. of I. extension service, recommends confining her for a few days in a suspended cage.

The best place for your autumn leaves is a compost pile, Tony Horn, horticulturist of the University of Idaho says their value as humus and fertilizer makes them too valuable to burn.

The spring pig crop, much larger than a year ago, will provide an abundant supply of pork this fall and winter. Potatoes and rice are other plentiful foods.

Don't Become Lost

1. Be sure to have plenty of dry matches, either waxed or in a waterproof case.
2. Have a reliable compass. Trust the compass. What little local attraction there is will not throw you off enough to do any harm.
3. Have a sketch map of your locality. Some member of the party can make a sketch that will serve this purpose very well.
4. Discuss your plans with other members of the party. Do not change these plans afterward when you are alone.
5. Learn how to build a fire. A short piece of candle carried in the pocket makes an excellent starter. It is always dry. Carry a belt axe to secure dry fuel from stumps, snags and trees. Dry twigs may be broken even from green trees. Pitch of pitchy wood can usually be found handy.
6. Watch where you are going. Do not hunt aimlessly. Have a plan. Be sure to study your section from a commanding spot and fix landmarks in your mind.
7. An inexperienced hunter should never be out alone.
8. Be careful in crossing ridges. After crossing a ridge you may be in an entirely different watershed.
9. Always try to be back to camp well before dark. Remember night comes on early in the fall.
10. If you do get lost — build a fire — keep it going — and stay with it. By day, burn green limbs to give off smoke.

New Dormitory Dedicated

U. of I., Moscow — Referring to the late Dean Permeal French as the "University of Idaho's Miss Chips," Regent Marguerite Campbell, New Meadows, gave the dedicatory address at ceremonies held for the opening of Permeal French house for university women.

The new dormitory, housing 60 women, was named in honor of the former dean of women, who served the university 23 years before her retirement in 1936. Miss French died at Seale in 1954.

"She was like the Mr. Chips of James Hilton's famous book 'Good-bye Mr. Chips,'" said Mrs. Campbell. "Neither had any children of his own, but each in reality had thousands of them — the students to which they devoted their lives."

Pointing out that the University of Idaho has long been known as "an inspirational place to study," Mrs. Campbell said:

"This new dormitory should do much to enhance that reputation. And when a university builds to improve study — to turn out thinking and better-informed graduates who will make better citizens — we have progressed."

White Eggs — Brown Chickens

A new drug called nicarbazin produces white eggs from hens that usually lay brown ones, according to Bob Black, poultry specialist of the University of Idaho extension service. The drug is added to feed for control of coccidiosis. Production of white eggs is one of its side effects.

HELLO, FOLKS:

Well, the "Weatherman" certainly hit it when he predicted "rain," for it certainly did — and it was one of the "wettest rains" that had their fuel tanks comfortably full of those fine Union Burner Fuels didn't seem to mind too much — for at least they could keep warm and dry their wet clothing. So, why not let us fill your tank? Just phone 1251!

Judge: "Didn't I tell you the last time you were here that I didn't want to see you here again?"
Prisoner: "Yes, your honor, and that's what I told this policeman, but he wouldn't believe me!"

Mud and water we now have — and soon snow will be added. So, we suggest that you come in and talk over the mud and snow tire problem with us! You'll be surprised at how little it will cost you to "shoe" your car, pickup or truck for winter safety.

Slim: "Did Pat give you that black eye?"
Pat: "He did not. He only gave me the black. The eye I had all the time!"

Why worry about the radiators on your equipment. Bring them in and let us fill that radiator with Prestone — or take home a few gallons — but play it safe. Prestone is not expensive — radiators are!

Need truck tires? Come in and talk it over with us. We can and will make you a deal that you can't resist.
