at Genesee, but lost some prestiege

Early in the second quarter Kendrick attempted a short pass, which was blocked, and caught behind the line of scrimmage by a Genesee guard, who ran untouched for 30 yards and 6 points. The try for point was unsuccessful, and the score remained 6 to 6. Both teams had scoring op-portunities before the half ended, but were unable to take advantage of them Late in the third quarter Genesee put two nice running plays together, and with the help of several penalties, scored from about three yards out. The Genesee ball carrier was stopped short of the goal line and fumbled the ball going over the line. However, it was recovered by an alert Genesee ball player. The try for point was not good and Genesee lead 12 to 6 at the end of the third Kendrick received the kickoff and was set in scoring position with a nice 50-yard run by Darrell Brocke. Jim Armitage scored from 10 yards out, but the play was called back because Kendrick was offside.

Genesee gained possession of the ball but lost it several plays later. Kendrick failed to break the tie when a fumble gave them little chance to convert on the extra point.

With little time left both teams managed to gain possession of the ball, but neither could put themselves in scoring position, and the gun sounded with the score 12 to 12. More Hot Lunch Canning

Almost Unbelieveable

In talking with Clarence Perryman of the local State Forestry office Tuesday morning he told us that the 'local brush crew had been forced to discontinue burning operations - because it was too dry!

Sounds almost unbelievable, when you see the bright green lawns about town and notice the heavy dew each morning. However, in the woods it's a different story — it's just too dry -to burn brush.

Buying Feeder Pigs May Pay Off

Saves Equipment, Labor Expenses

Buying feeder pigs may be the solution for farmers who can't. afford to house or provide labor or equipment to farrow as many pigs as they can profitably feed out for market.

According to the nation's live stock publication, the National Live Stock Producer, there's a limit to what you can afford to pay and still make a profit feeding them.

It's best to get paper and pencil and do a little figuring before making any decisions. There are four things: to consider: What price are you expecting to get for market hogs; How much does thefeed cost; How much feed will it take to get your pigs to market

The wise farmer will take note of the above four important considerations in determining whether or not he should buy feeder pigs or do his own breeding. Buying feeder pigs is something less of a risk, since farmer does not have to predict market for a full year ahead.

weight; What costs are you going to have-labor, equipment, veterinary or death losses?

The answers to these questions will give you a good idea of what you can pay for pigs; and still make a profit.

The farmer who buys his piges has the advantage of only having to predict what is going to happen four months ahead. The man who must decide in September

how many sows to keep for breeding purposes is actually trying to predict the market a year ahead

LP Gas Must Be Stored. Handled Carefully

Like all other fuels, LP gas must be stored and handled right if you're going to get the safest. most satisfactory results and you can determine whether your installation is the best possible by looking at the "code."

The code is a pamphlet on safe storage and handling of liquefled petroleum gas. It is published by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, and the rules set forth in the code have been accepted as law in many states.

Every LP gas dealer and fire insurance company inspector should have a copy of the code book. If your dealer has done a good job of installation, he won't mind checking your system against the code. If he doesn't know the code, better call on your fire insurance company inspector. As a starter, check the location of your tank. If it holds between 125 and 500 gallons, it must be ten feet from any important buildings. A tank holding 500 to 2,000 gallons should, be 25 feet from buildings, and if you transfer the gas into a tractor or other tank, the job should be done at least 50 feet from buildings.

Firestone Honored

In recognition of "distinct contributions to the nationwide development of the 4-H Club Program" and in consideration of other important services to the field of agriculture in general, Raymond C. Firestone (left), was honored with a citation by the extension service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Washington. The presentation was made by Administrator C. M. Ferguson of the Federal Extension Service. Mr. Firestone is a Director of the National Committee on Boys and Girls 4-H Club Work and has rendered other important services to Agriculture.

Well-Stocked Soil Makes Best Corn

Nutrients, Moisture Mean Top Yields

Corn is one of the hungriest members of the crop family.

How big is its appetite? Midwestern agronomists estimate that a 109-bushel corn crop including clover eats up about 140 pounds of nitrogen, 54 pounds of phosphate and 135 pounds of potash per acre. This adds up to a healthy appetite, they say, and also points up the fact that a soil must be well stocked with nutrients in order to produce top yields per acre.

Soil tests are the best guide in

Corn will grow and be healthy when it is well fed. The above illustration represents a balanced diet for the crop agronomists say has an enormous appetite and must be well fed if top yields are to be returned on each acre.

determining which nutrients are needed and how much should be applied. Then the plant food can be added in the form of commercial fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphate and potash.

But a high nutrient supply isn't the whole story, agronomists remind. You also need a stalk population big enough to make use of all the nutrients the soil can supply.

portant, too, say the agronomists: 1-An ample moisture supply; 2-Good soil structure and a steadily replenished supply of organic matter; 3-The use of hybrid seed best adapted to your soil and the growing conditions of your area; 4-Control of weeds, insects and diseases.

Most Farm Accidents Occur In Homes

Corn pickers and tractors are dangerous farm machines, but more than twice as many fatal accidents in 1953 occurred in farm homes as outside the home.

The Illinois Agricultural Association points out in its monthly publication that homemakers are in the best position to concentrate on a farm safety program.

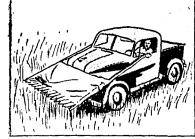

While corn pickers and tractors are dangerous, such seemingly harmless things as slick floors, loose scatter rugs and toy-littered floors appeal to offer as' much danger to human life. There 'are about 16,000 fatal accidents to rural people every year and the largest percentage results, from falls inside the farm home.

Dangerous falls happen anywhere and are not restricted to stepladders or steep stairways. Actually, about 80 per cent of falls occur when the victim falls on the same level, and only 20 per cent down the stairs, or off ladders, the report says.

Thus the most Linocent-appearing places cause the most accidents.

"Safety must be a continuing project, with attention to details, if it is to pay off. Putting shields around power take-off shafts while overlooking loose scatter rugs is not an adequate safety program," the publication asserts.

Auto Reaper

One farmer disgusted with slow progress after getting only a bushel of seed the first day out with a hand reaper devised the illustrated rig and stripped ten bushels of seed in a comparable time the following morning. Simple arrangement features sharpened 1" x 4"s, tacked on canvas.

Borrowing Money Sometimes Wise

Some Farmers Much Too Conservative

A Michigan State University farm economist says that borrowing money to buy fertilizer and other profit-building production items can be good business in the present farm cost-price squeeze.

John Doneth, of the university's agricultural economics staff, says many farmers are too conservative about the use of credit. Some farmers, he reports, are using makeshift operations when they are actually in position to get a loan and go on to bigger and more efficient operations.

Credit is playing an ever-increasingly important role in farm production, yet some economic experts believe the average farmer exercises too much caution in carrying on makeshift operations rather than borrow money needed to establish a profit-building production system. Being too conservative is as faulty a policy as overestimating future income or underestimating expenses.

He cites the case of one Michigan farmer who has greatly increased his profits the past several years by going into debt to buy fertilizer.

Three years ago, says Doneth, this farmer spent only $500 for fertilizer on 250 acres of crop land. Soil tests indicated this was not enough.

The farmer doubled his use of plant food the following year. Then last year, he spent $2,000 of borrowed money for fertilizer. This investment not only paid for itself but gave extra returns per acre. Doneth suggests these precaution, however, for farmers considering the use of more credit: 1-Don't overestimate your future income; 2-Don't underestimate your expenses; 3-Make sure you allow enough leeway for poor crop years and low prices.

University Seeking Twin, Triplet Calves

In an effort to further expand and speed up dairy research, the University of Minnesota Dairy Department is seeking additional identical twin and triplet calves of good dairy breeding.

By using identical twins and triplets the University is able to carry on more experiments with fewer animals. One pair of identical twins, for example, will give as much valuable information as 20 ordinary cattle and one pair of identical triplets as much as 60 ordinary cattle.

Since Minnesota introduced this research method to the U.S. in 1947, 7 sets of triplets and 89 sets of identical twins have been used.

Dairymen having identical twins or triplets man contact the Dairy Husbandry Department, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul. They should include information on date of birth, sex and breed. The University will purchase either grades or pure-

Post Savers

Fence posts capped with sheet metal keep rain from soaking through to rot the inside and flat tops eliminate pointing or sloping posts tops says Reynolds researchers. Easily worked do-ityourself aluminum sheet never rusts and makes the job simple. For square posts, snip corners using ordinary scissors. Fold edges with flaps down first, then fold flaps around sides of post and cover them with flap from top. Only four aluminum nails, one through each corner flap, hold cap on. Cover end of round posts by cutting out disc as shown and snipping out pie cuts. Overlap with nail through sach corner all around post.

A "Fast Buck"

Practically everyone has heard the phrase — "A Fast Buck."

Fast bucks, or easy dollars are being made every day. But it takes a "deal" to promote a fast buck and it's a safe assumption that no one in his community would pay as much as a penny for an option on the Brooklyn Bridge.

If the businessmen serving this community depended upon "The Fast Buck," we'd soon have no drug store, groceries, dry goods stores, service stations in fact, few, if any, business firms.

Because local businessmen offer reliable, efficient service, we urge everyone to shop at home. The firms which we consider local institutions are only so because they have established a reputation for quality, value, service and courtesy through the years.

We urge you to trade at home, not only because local stores need your patronage — but because they offer better bargains, nationally advertised brands, better service and greater courtesy than you could hope to get elsewhere.

And — because the local merchant realizes that there aren't enough "Fast Bucks" in the country to compensate for the loss of one satisfied customer.

Trade at home for your own sake — and community progress.

We are prompted to sponsor the above advertisement through our desire to serve the best interests of our community in every way possible.

Care Of Flowers Pays Off

When frost is on the garden it's time to dig cannas, glads and dahlias. It doesn't take long and pays in the performance the flowers will give you next season. Tony Horn, horticulturist of the University of Idaho extension service has some suggestions about the treatment of each. Take cannas first. When the tops have been killed by frost, let them dry a few days, then cut them off. Dig the roots and dry them in the sun for several hours. Store the roots in a cool, moderately dry, frost-proof cellar on racks or in slat boxes so air circulates freely. The best storage temepature is 40 to 45 degrees. A potato cellar serves very well.

HELLO, FOLKS:

Well, did you ever in your life see more beautiful fall weather than we have had the past few days — and beautiful coloring all over the landscape. However, much as we (as well as yourself) may dislike the thoughts of winter it's coming — and now's the time to let us fill that fuel tank. Just call 1251 — say "Fill it up," and we'll do the rest!

"Never waste household scraps," says an economy hint. Agreed. Open the windows and let the neighbors hear!

Is your equipment ready for winter? Is the radiator full of Prestone or other good antifreeze? Is the crankcase full of Union Royal Triton? Is the transmission and differential filled with winter grade

Applying for a scholarship a student at the University of Colorado explained as follows why he needed assistance: "My wife and I are now separated, which has left me as my sole means of support."

How about mud and snow tires? Do you have them? If not, come in and talk over this very important item with us. We can "shoe" your equipment completely, and you'll be surprised at how little it will cost.

Come in and talk over your tire problems. You'll find a U. S. Royal that will fit your needs at a price you can afford to pay. There's no substitute for quality. U.S. has it!

Pheasant Kill Very Light

Saturday afternoon of this week saw the opening of the Chinese pheasant season, and reports from Saturday and Sunday indicate that the kill was very light. In only one case did we hear of anyone making the limit kill of three. Most said: "I just got one," or "no luck at all — I never saw the birds so scarce or so wild."'
